The Spice Of Life

By Amy Price and Helen Dorr. This poem is dedicated to all June (and other) brides. You who are about to marry: Here's a word to guide your way. All is not the misadventures that will mark your wedding day. Men are grouchy in the morning (often the evening, too). Men are prone to indigestion from foods that agree with you. Men leave dirty towels and stockings on a dirty bathroom floor. Men are apt to roar and grumble at the smallest household chore. Men don't like to go to movies where a girl can have a say. Men object to too much silliness love the carolers in a pile. Men say women's hats are silly, then make eyes at gals in cute ones. Men say brainy women bore them, then snore you for astute ones. Men think housework's automatic and there's really nothing to it. Men implore you, "Take it easy," and upbraid you if you do it. Men believe like fools at parties, eat like pigs and drink like fishes. Men ask college chums to dinner and leave you to do the dishes. Men... But what's the use of I said? You who are about to marry... GO AHEAD!!! Shirley Shapiro Pugh Congratulations to: the fraternal contributors $1,200.57 of Jim Shackelford's $1,748 doctor bill. Jim was hurt in an intramural wrestling match and since part of the bill is still unpaid, donations from any organization will be welcomed. Why do all the Delta smile when the number 716 is mentioned? Jack Veesh and Jimmy Thompson had girls up from Florida for the Phi Delta sober dance last Friday. Parties on the way: After being pinned for two years and engaged for a year, Jane Ellen Buchanan (C) and Morris Beebe (PTT) have broken up. The Kappa Sig got the shock of their lives when they found out that two of their members, who had had trombones laying around the house, really could play them. They proved it by playing a duet at the Kappa Sig formal. The red face of the week belongs to Tom Yentsev (DTD). He was practicing the line on an innocent bystander when to his amazement he turned around and saw his steady girl friend Anne Shouse (DDD) standing behind him. Squeaky Thomas and Georgia Fortman make a striking couple. They're together everywhere these days. Mixups do happen. The other day a visiting ROTC officer came to speak to freshmen trainees. One of the freshmen was instructed to take the officer to the Bluegrass Room and he did only he got the wrong Bluegrass Room. A few minutes after they arrived the officer inquired if that was where he was supposed to speak. Only then did the boy realize the mistake he had made. Why is Andy Clark (DTD) saying "Never again." He's reformed.

Constant twosomes: Jack Eversole and Margaret Berry; Joe Young (DTD) and Freda Cornelius (Alpha Xi); Mary Ann Faulkner and Eddy Goode; Martha Myers and Sam McWhain (DX); Ruth Mcracken (Chi O) and Ken Midkiff (PSK). Pinings: Dol Shoemaker and Jim Wesley (DX); Nancy Shubinsk (Chi O) and George Dudley (SAB); Jamie Wright (KECK) and Bill Simmons (SX); Frances White (DDD) and John Morrow (SX); Alva Matthews (SD) and Jim Curtis (SX). Engaged: Pat Jackson and Tommy Penge.

John Hutson Continued from page One European countries as a representative of the Foreign Agricultural Service. In 1941, Dr. Hutson became president of the Community Credit Corporation. Later, he served as deputy commissioner of the Division of Agriculture of the Council of National Defense, director of the Food Production Administration and of the Office of Production of the War Relocation Administration. War Mobilization and Reconstruction director James Byrnes brought Hutson into his white house office in January, 1945, to become deputy director for Agriculture. Six months later he returned to the Department of Agriculture as under secretary. Late last summer he resigned from the government service to become assistant secretary-general of the United Nations, a position he retained until January 19 when he announced his intention to return to private life.

Librarian is aware that the lights are dim. In fact, it seems that the Librarian realized this fact at some date before the first unheralded student set foot, or something, in the library. High hopes are held by the Librarian and the library administration that better lights will be provided at such a time as they may become available. Now to sum up the matter. The students, at least certain students, want better lights in the library. So does the Chief Engineer of the University. So does the Librarian. No does The Kernel. And, if we may be whimsical about it, we may presume that those lights which someday may grace the reserve room, entertain similar feelings. Enlightening, what?

"A little learning is a dangerous thing." Perhaps a few more "Caution" signs on the University campus would help. Professors are absolutely necessary to a University, but why do they have to spend so much time convincing their students of that fact? The time when one is most conscious of being a co-ed: on entering the Dorm Grill at 10:30 p. m. Some persons at the University stand up when drinking and others sit down. But those who stand up sit down a lot faster than those who sit down stand up.

Letter To Editor

Locked Doors

Editor, The Kentucky Kernel: Open that door, Richard! This is the cry of the student who, rushing to class, finds himself in the hallway, is confronted by locked doors. Of course, one out of every two doors of a building is always locked, but having to stop and guess as to which is the locked and which is the unlocked door is trying. The tendency of a person is always to go through the door on the right, but with one locked all of the time this is impossible, which only serves to frustrate the already confused student. Have you ever walked up to a building and, finding one door locked, stepped over to the other door, only to have it flung open and a half-dozen students rush out "Daywood" style, leaving you wondering why you wanted to go into the building anyway? Why didn't the building with two, three, or four doors if several of them are to stay locked all of the time? This is definitely a fire hazard. If a building were to catch on fire the hundreds of students in the building would have a hard time getting out through a narrow single doorway. It could be that the person or persons who unlock these doors each morning find it easier to open one instead of two. But wouldn't it be better for one person to have the trouble of unlocking all the doors of the building rather than hundreds of students who pass through doors during the day to have the inconvenience? Students must hurry across the campus and go up and down steps in the ten minutes between classes and they should not have the unnecessary inconvenience of having to wait in line to get into or out of the buildings. So let's open the doors and eliminate some of the wear-and-tear upon the nerves of the students. Anne Orr Taylor

SuKy Congratulated

Editor, Kentucky Kernel: I enjoyed the May Day Parade so much that I feel it is only fitting to express my congratulations to the SuKy Circle and the campus organizations participating. It was the most effective May Day I have seen in many years and showed the ingenuity and capabilities of the various students participating. Please permit me to congratulate them through the columns of the Kernel. Sincerely, Helen G. King

Teachers Busy?

Editor, Kentucky Kernel: The educational system at the University is lacking. That is on the faculty side, at least. The teachers on making an assignment, demand prompt attention to it and presentation. It makes no difference to them if the student is carrying 19 or 20 quarter hours. The student stays up half of the night preparing this lesson in order to get it in on time. He brings it in the next day and awaits the mark on it. When asked about the paper the teacher "Daywood" style, leaving you wondering why you wanted to go into the building anyway? If these teachers are to require tests they should have previously decided to get the tests graded and handed back in a reasonably satisfactory period. I suggest that the SOA president take an interest in this problem and try to get a little cooperation from the faculty. Sincerely, J. F. Daughtry

Our Obligation To The Future

As commencement time approaches once again and the class of '47 prepares to leave the University and to make its own way in the postwar world, a few thoughts appropriate to the occasion come to mind. First of all, commencement reminds us once more that our campus problems and our campus training are not merely campuswide in scope. As we see University graduates taking their places in business and in the professions, we are made to realize anew that all that we do here affects our later lives and in turn the life of the non-college world.

Since it takes a fairly good education to be a leader in today's world, it naturally follows that the students in our colleges and universities today are the leaders of tomorrow. It is quite probable that the leadership of our state and nation in the next twenty to thirty years may be found in large measure in our colleges and universities today.

Because leadership is a critical responsibility and we college students of today are going to have to shoulder a great deal of the burden of leadership, it is imperative that we must realize the tremendous importance of the times in which we are living. Man is now confronted with a choice between two alternatives and only two—peace and survival or war and utter chaos. In large measure it will be the students of today who will help make that choice in the coming decades.

Since this is a transition era—a transition from the ways of war back to the ways of peace—the present time is more important than ever.

Not only our own education is of tremendous importance, but also we must realize that our children (the boys and girls of the 1950's and 1960's, must also be educated for peace. If it is important that we secure in our University today training for the ways of peace, think how much more important it will be that our sons and daughters get the same training in the years to come.

Now we come to the application of this to us here and now. That is, how can the University play its part in this program? The University owes it to the state to educate its citizens in the broadest possible way for the work they

Lights For Library

Let it not be said that The Kernel is laboring under any delusions that students are palpating with an insatiable desire to spend uncounted hours in the library, but it would be a bit deaf if it did not give heed to a common campus gripe. That gripe is, of all things, the lack of proper lighting in a certain building, namely the library, and the reserve reading room in particular.

Let it now be said that The Kernel will shed a little light on the subject through the necessities of reporting and of rhetoric may result in edifications (darkness). But if there is not a sufficiency of light in the library, let it also be added that The Kernel has at last tried to lighten, if not brighten, the subject.

As a selected number of students knows, these temporary fixtures have not been replaced, for, it seems, various, and good, and some satisfactory reasons.

The lights are admittedly inadequate upon even better evidence than that of squinting students. Tests have been run in the library from time to time. Unfortunately, from a reportorial point of view, the results of these tests cannot be spread here for public edification. Someone failed to lug the reports out of the burning building of the Department of Maintenance and operations a year or so ago. Let's be brief—they were burned up.

After talking over the matter of lights with the Chief Engineer, The Kernel next turned to the Librarian. It may now be revealed that the

Don't Complicate Exams With Superstitious Fears

Don't let superstitious fears add to your exam week worries. If you are squeamish about breaking a mirror or having a black cat cross your path just before exams, you would do well to find out the origin of your fears so you may alleviate them.

For instance, if you believe that exams falling on Friday 13 will bring extreme misfortune at the slightest provocation, it is fitting for you to know why you think so.

It all began when Julius Caesar was murdered in the Roman Senate chamber on March 13, 44 B.C. Since then Friday 13 has developed an evil reputation that has carried down through the ages. However, history records no evidence that the day before or the day after the thirteenth would have been any less acceptable for his assassination.

Bad luck associated with the number thirteen probably stems from the fact that there were thirteen persons present at the "Last Supper" which led to Christ's betrayal by Judas. Subsequently this evolved into the credence that when thirteen guests met for dinner, one person would be dead within the year. Insurance company statistics reveal that when a group of thirteen persons convene, one is likely to die within the year from natural causes. But this is a far cry from the belief that the death was the result of some occult condition that dates back two thousand years.

Salt spilling as an unlucky omen is also connected with Judas, who overturned the salt at the disciples' last meeting, and this is cited as the origin of the superstition. Some contend that this superstition began with the Greek and Roman custom of mixing salt with their sacrifices. They considered salt an emblem of the sacrifice, and not a mere adjunct. Therefore, it isn't strange that pagans' shoulders are traceable to the belief that evil spirits congregated on the left side of a man's body and salt would render them powerless.

Old Conventions Now Disregarded

By Frank King

(NOTE: This article on spring fever and its effects on students is authenticated by interviews of J. W. Archibson, Ph.D., and R. E. Humphreys, Ph.D., and reference work in the University library.)

None are the old convictions that a rigorous application of sulphur and molasses forced down squalling throats provided the needed thickening of the blood thinned by winter.

No longer are farmers' almanacs read with credence when they tell us that sassafras tea and rubarb cure can rid the body of winter ills.

Dr. J. W. Archibson, professor of physiology at the University, had this to say of spring fever. "In the spring of the year the thyroid gland builds up thyroxin which makes the body peppy and energetic. But before this endocrine secretion begins the body is sluggish, which accounts for that springtime let-down."

Excessively the popular trend is to consider spring fever as a purely psychological factor. Physical ailments are disregarded and, supposedly, the individual's lassitude is taken as a sign of moral weakness. According to Dr. William Peterson, professor of pathology at the University of Illinois, this lassitude is caused by a depletion in the body's store of vitamins and rare minerals. Other rival concoquants of spring fever are low metabolism and anemia, both of which have an effect upon the heart. Some eminent medical authorities believe that strenuous activity during this lazy period can be detrimental to the organ.

Hibernating in warm houses and behind storm curtains all winter, housewives accept the first bright days of spring as an inducement to launch an intensive house-cleaning program. Nature lovers are compelled to take long hikes in the woods. As spring flurds the body deficient in blood proteins and calcium supply, the resulting loss of appetite, feelings of exhaustion, and insomnia are viewed cynically as the spring and its alternating cycle of elation of fatigue are seized upon by some students as an excuse to floundering in their studies. Many students who have been on military leave since December 30, 1946, have decided to stay in the Army and will be terminated as of May 1.

Retired Geologist To Celebrate 90th Birthday

By Byrvk Rucker Dr. Alfred M. Peter, retired Experiment station chemical-geologist, celebrates his ninetieth birthday Monday. He and his father, the late Dr. Robert Peter, are credited with putting Kentucky on the map concerning the sciences of chemistry and geology.

His father was instrumental in securing a grant from the legislature to start the first geological study of Kentucky soil. During Dr. Alfred Peter's early life he assisted the elder Dr. Peter and continued to carry on the chemical work relating to geology, soils, and crops at the Experiment station for more than 40 years after the death of his father. It was during the years that he worked with his father that the "young" Dr. Peter became known as "Little Doc."

He is the author, joint author, and collaborator in a number of the station's publications. The manuscripts and proofs of practically everything that has been published at the Experiment station for more than 40 years of his existence were carefully scrutinized by him before publication.

He was graduated from the department of chemistry of the Agricultural and Mechanical College in 1900 with a B.S. degree. He was then appointed assistant professor of chemistry in the State A. and M. college and also assistant chemist of the Kentucky Geological Survey. In 1905 he obtained his master's degree from the A. and M. college.

In 1913 the University, in recognition of his scholarly and distinguished scientific work, conferred upon him the honorary degree of doctor of science.

Filling-In Of Sink Hole Unearths Old Memories

The filling in of a hollow near the southside of the University campus, long known familiarly among students and faculty as the "sink hole" with dirt from the Auditorium-Fieldhouse excavation this week caused reminiscence on the part of campus old-timers.

They remember that "way back when" stones were dug from the site and hauled "up the hill" to become the foundation for the present Administration building which was erected in 1882.

One year, "back in the eighties," a commencement address was held on the very same spot which now is covered with 10,000 cubic yards of dirt, according to Prof. Ezra Gillis, former registrar and a member of the University's administrative staff for 40 years.

People have told him, Prof. Gillis said, that deep underground on the historic location there are caverns. Once someone built a fire in the entrance of one of the caves and smoke came out in several places on and around the campus, leading to a theory that a long series of caverns may extend under the campus.

Learn to fly with the AAF!

When you graduate, you will have one of the finest opportunities to learn to fly ever offered young men in peacetime.

The Army Air Forces' Aviation Cadet Training Program gives you that chance. It cannot be duplicated anywhere at any price. Leader in new things for aviation—in jet and rocket propulsion, far-ranging heavy aircraft, improved navigation facilities, and many other of the latest developments in a fast-moving field—the AAF can help you begin a brilliant future.

The Air Forces have reopened Aviation Cadet training to qualified civilians 18 to 26½ years of age. Men selected for training as pilots under the terms of the program must be single and have had at least two years of college education, or the equivalent, in an accredited institution. Upon successful completion of the course, graduates will be commissioned Second Lieutenants, Army of the United States, and assigned to flying duty with the Army Air Forces.

Reactivation of the Aviation Cadet program is typical of the AAF's continuing effort to provide selected young men every opportunity to earn advancement. Cadets who win their wings as today's pilots will be the same kind of men who, in wartime, built and manned the world's mightiest air arm.

Make your plans now to get in at the start! By applying immediately after graduation, you can take your qualifying examinations and enter the July 1st class, or—if you want a summer vacation—you can take your examinations now and be ready to enter this class beginning October 15th. Further information is available at AAF Bases, U. S. Army Recruiting Stations, local Civil Air Patrol headquarters, or by writing to the Commanding General, Army Air Forces, Washington 25, D. C.

The Wildcats' new right halfback Dick Martin, comes from Oak Park, Ill., located just outside of Chicago. He starred at Fenwick High School in football and basketball. In 1945, Martin captained the football team that won the Chicago high school football championship when Fenwick defeated Tilden Tech. 29-6, before some 80,000 people in Chicago's massive Soldier Field.

Cage coach Adolph Rupp leaves early next month for Alamosa, Colorado, where he, along with Henry "Hank" Iba, of Okla. A. & M., will be basketball instructors at the coaching school of Adams State College. The school sessions will be from June 9 thru the 14th. Football tutoring will be conducted by Ray Elliot, head grid master at Illinois; Dana X. Bible, the athletic director at Texas; and Blair Cherry, head football coach at Texas University.

Tennessee's new basketball coach is Emmet P. Lowery. He comes from the Orange and White from Purdue University, where he was assistant football and basketball mentor. The new cage director will have many headaches since only two veteran hoopers will be back from the 1946-47 squad. They are Hawkins and Burtis. Paul Walker, who made All-American in 1944 at "the Hill," left the Volunteers and will enroll at Long Island University. Walker, a native of Covington, Ky., has two more years of eligibility left.

Jumping Jack Tingle, who made second team All-American this year with the Wildcats basketball team, has signed a four-year contract with the Louisville professional team. Dick Mehan, has also gone professional. He will play with the Toledo pros in team next season along with his famous brother, Bernie. Also signed by Toledo was St. John's, ransy star, Harry Boycott.

Richard Raskovits, star quarterback of Fenwick High, Chicago, city champ of last season, will not come to Kentucky as rumored some weeks ago. Raskovits was recently awarded a scholarship by the Illinois Club of Chicago, sending him to the University of Illinois. He was considered one of the best high school grid players in the Midwest last season.

Speaking of football, Ole Miss will be considerably stronger next fall.

The Rebels have acquired several outstanding high school footballers for Coach Yungt. The best prospect is Cecil Puckett, a backfielder from Kingsport, Tenn., where he made All-Tennessee and All-Southern in football for two years. He is also a fine hardwood and diamond athlete. The 180 pound athlete also set a new conference record for high school when he hurled the javelin 157 feet, which is pretty good for a youngster in high school. UK's Bob Drury won the javelin throw against Tennessee recently with a toss of 165 feet 8 inches.

High School Regional Meet On Stoll Field

Even though the track activities of Kentucky's wildcat harriers are at an end, battle royals for high school athletes on the Stoll Field oval are not, since the regional track meet will be held here this afternoon with the winners and other qualifiers slated for final trials in the state cinder carnival, also on the Lexington's Henry Clay is tabbed for the favorite's role, since winning the Central Conference championship last Friday, with 57 points. Lafayette, also of Lexington, is rated a serious contender for regional laurels, while the less impressive Admirals of Danville, which cupped second place in the CCK meet with 29.5 points, will be

Netters Top Berea; Play Centre Here

As usual, a Kentucky tennis match score was 9-8, but for the first time this season, Kentucky had the nine points Saturday's match was a second defeat for Berea Academy at the hands of the UK netmen. Danny Dickerson easily whipped Cooper 6-0, 6-2. Tommy Ashbury quickly finished Warming 6-1, 6-2. Ed Landig struggled with Bush but finally left him 7-5, 4-7, 7-5. Bill Collins, cold at first, triumphed over Wilson 4-6, 4-2, 6-3. Raskovits' match for Kentucky in the number five match, whipped Richards 3-6, 6-0, 6-4; Juan Balboa, moved from the number five match squeaked Centre 6-3, 3-6, 6-3. May 15th the Wildcat netmen met Centre in a scheduled match on the

UK Linksmen Seek 14th Win

Kentucky's par-busting golfers will travel to Oxford, Ohio, tomorrow for a return match with the Miami University linksmen. In meeting the Ohio nibblers, whom they defeated here April 22, in taking their sixth victory, the Wildcat shotmakers will be seeking win No. 14, as against a tie with Notre Dame's Irishmen and the lone loss two weeks ago to the Yellow Jackets of Georgia Tech, 13-3.

Coach Frank Atkins' UK team was rained out of its match with Centre College at Danville Wednesday, but the match will probably be re-slated within the next week.

Last Saturday the Wildcats at Danville whitewashed the Eastern State Teachers College greens outfit, as they easily downed the Maroons, 17-1, over the tough Richmond course. Marvin Lear bested Eastern's No. 3 man by firing a 73 to Maroon Charlie Lee's 80-effort, and earning the meets low scoring honors.

Only one match remains on the Kentucky schedule, besides the rained-out Centre match at Danville, and that is a return match with Centre's Colonels over the Lexington Country Club course, May 28.

Wet Track Slowed SEC Annual Meet

By Winfield Leathers

Only two of the championship times recorded in the 18th annual Southeastern Conference track meet held last week-end in Birmingham, Alabama, has been equaled or bettered by this year's edition of Kentucky Wildcats.

Those were the times of Tiger freshman Buddy Powlkes, who compiled 18 points for Louisiana State, winner of the Conference meet by losing out Georgia Tech, the pre-meet favorite, 52-1, to 47. LSU's Tigers have now won the crown 12 times in 15 years, and finished second to Georgia Tech in the cinder carnivals of the other three years, '7, '45, and '46.

Blond-headed Powlkes, winning first places in the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes and the low hurdles, along with a third place in the broad jump, now covets a record unequalled in the meet's history.

Powlkes winning times of 9.9 in the 100 and 22.2 in the 220-yard dash have been equaled or bettered by Kentucky's "Daddy" Phelps. In a dual meet against the combined strength of Georgetown and Centre, Phelps ran the 100-yard dash in 9.8 while in the last pre-SEC meet against Berea, he was clocked in 9.7 for the same distance.

Phelps' fastest time in the 220 dash was recorded against Tennessee in a dual meet, when he burned the cinder-stretch in 22.2. But the strong headwind and bad track conditions of the Birmingham oval must be taken into consideration, which had it been in better shape would have allowed a faster pace in all events.

However, UK's two points gained in the SEC meet were not won by dashman Phelps, who qualified by finishing third in the second heat of the century in preliminary runs last Friday, won by Bienn of Tulane in 9.9 seconds. In Saturday's tests, Bienn was second only to Powlkes, who won the event in the same time.

Jim Weber, performing his last season for Kentucky, picked up a marker by placing fifth in the 120-high hurdles and Johnny Miehaus tallied a point by finishing fifth in the broad jump. In the preliminary, Weber ran second to Fleming of Georgia Tech in the third heat of the high hurdles, won in 15.6 seconds. The next day, Fleming failed to take one of the top five positions as Weber finished fifth behind Pennington of Auburn, whose championship time was 15 seconds flat. Miehaus placed fifth in the trials of the broadjump as he spanned 29 feet 9 1/2 inches, while Wilcox of Florida leaped an even 22 feet to head the qualifiers. When the chips were down, Miehaus covered more territory, but so did everyone else. Wilcox jumped a quarter-of-an-inch farther to take second place behind Athas of Tulane who had a 22 foot 6 inch distance.

Miehaus' longest jump in the meet was 21 feet 2 inches, although in a local meet against Tennessee he covered 21 feet 11 inches, which had he equalled would have been good enough to beat Powlkes out of third place.

Bobby Louther, star LSU pole vaulter, won the event by clearing Florida leaped an even 22 feet to head the qualifiers. When the chips were down, Miehaus covered more territory, but so did everyone else. Wilcox jumped a quarter-of-an-inch farther to take second place behind Athas of Tulane who had a 22 foot 6 inch distance.

Lowther, it will be remembered, beat out UK's Wilbur Schu in the SEC basketball tourney in 1945-46 to be the lone non-Kentuckian on the all-tournament squad. Named with Louther in the all-SEC berths were Jack Parkinson, Jack Tingle, Ralph Beard, and Wallace "Wah-Wah" Jones.

While Louther topped 12 1/2 feet, five men cleared 14 feet in the pole vault event of last week's West Coast Relays, won by the undefeated Trojans of Southern California, who registered 55 5-6 points in hanging up their 14th relay's crown and their second in a row.

Tony Dallas, low hurdles and high jump, and George Kirchner, 440, only other two UK representatives failed to qualify for the finals.

HALYARD'S SPORT SIDE SHOW

Featuring Today —
"Tennis at the University Has Too Long Been Neglected by Too Many"

Rumor has it for some time now that a building is soon to be constructed on the present site of the Downing Tennis Courts. And lately the rumor has been circulating more frequently, so in order to learn the straight and complete story we went to see Dr. Leo M. Chamberlain, vice-president of the University.

Dr. Chamberlain said that the first plans for a badly needed Chemistry and Physics building are under discussion, and that its probable location will be the present tennis courts. However, he added that a number of approvals are still needed on the new Physical Science building and that it would be a year or so at the earliest before any final approval was received.

It is inevitable, however, he told us, that sooner or later with the constantly increasing demand for new buildings that such an ideally situated location as the tennis courts would be used, and the tennis courts moved.

In adding to a campus one of the big problems is to keep the buildings located in a compacted enough area so that students can change classes in the ten minute break between periods. While tennis courts can be three or four blocks from the main campus without too much inconvenience.

Dr. Chamberlain thinks though that physical fitness and recreation is a necessary requirement for both the students and the faculty, and that tennis is a splendid means for this. But at the present time to his knowledge, there is no plan under consideration as to what to do with the tennis courts and when. We understand, however, from a reliable source, that Bill McCubbin, acting head of the Physical Education department, included in his annual report a request for a new location to be considered for the tennis courts as soon as possible.

Thus we say that it is inevitable for the tennis courts to be moved sooner or later, and we can see good reasons for the move, then let's start considering new locations and set the job done before next season.

Money has been allowed to be taken out to construct several hard surface all-weather courts, but work was held up on them this spring because of the anticipated move of the courts and the folly of spending several thousand dollars for one or two years' use.

Any money spent on the present courts except for the absolute necessary maintenance of them, would be foolish. Yet if we are ever going to play tennis on a competitive basis, we can't depend upon the weather and clay courts for the team to practice. Look at this year as just one good example.

We say, determine the new location and build at least 12 or 15 new courts except for at least four of them hard surface for all weather play with bleacher set up for spectators to watch tournaments and match play.

Tennis has too long been neglected too many at the University. Now the opportunity to make a change for the better. Let's do it now instead of dragging back in the dark for another year or two.

Rejuvenated Cat Nine Plays Vols Two Games

The unpredictable Wildcat baseball line will meet the tough Tennessee Vols today and Saturday. Both games, weather permitting, will be played at Legion park. Friday's game will be played at 3:30 p.m., while Saturday's contest starts at 1 p.m.

Kentucky has a season's record of five wins against nine losses, and will take into the Vol series a three game winning streak. The Orangemen from Knoxville have won nine games in twelve attempts. Two weeks ago the UT Vols captured both games played against Kentucky; this week Coach Harry Lancaster will strive to return the gesture.

Cliff Barker will toss Friday for Kentucky and Wallace Jones will start his second contest Saturday, while for Tennessee, it will likely be Wall Slater, and Jim Stewart, son of big lugger Walt Stewart Slater, the football star, is leading the team in hitting with a .455.

After the Vol set, UK will travel to Richmond to end the season against the powerful Eastern team. This game is scheduled for Wednesday, May 28. Eastern has overcome the Cats in an earlier tilt, 12-4.

For the Eastern squad, DeVenzio will probably go to the mound, after his seventh victory in as many starts and Barker will be called back for the Cats. The line-ups for the Friday Wildcat-Volunteer game will probably be:

UK: Rollins, CF; Tabb LF; Beard, 2B; Barker P. Stough SS; Thomas C; Smith RF; All Cummins 3B; Laudemann 1B.

UT: Hawe 2B; Strong SS; Byrd 1B; Rose C; Drost 3B; Littleford CF; Acuff LF; Richardson RF; and Slater P.

The rejuvenated pitching staff of the Wildcat baseball team allowed only two runs and 11 hits in winning the last three games against Vanderbilt (two) and Georgetown College.

Perhaps this may be attributed to the fact that the defense behind the moundmen have committed only two errors in the last three games and 25 innings of play.

Last Saturday, Kentucky's improved nine reached the high spot of the season when they trounced the Vanderbilt Commodores twice. These two hurries allowed the Tennesseans only nine hits in the twin-bill and not a run. Barker, who seems to be improving with each game, gave up only 3 hits in the initial fracas and then allowed six hits while striking out seven Vandy swingers. Tabb, Stough, Rollins and Barker continued their good hitting.

Tuesday, the Cat crew whipped Georgetown College for the second time this season, 6-2, in a game played at the Tiger's home park. Hatchett and Yankee were on the hill for Lancaster and gave up only two safeties to the feeble Tigers in giving the Wildcats their third straight triumph. Hatchett won his second game of the season, both against Georgetown, against one loss—that being to UC's Bearcats.

SX's And SAE's Look Like Sure Bets In Intramural Track Finals Today

Qualifying 12 entries each Tuesday afternoon in the preliminary run of the Spring Intramural Track Meet, the Sigma Chi and the SAE's now loom as the two teams to beat this afternoon when the finals are held on the Stoll field oval at 4:15.

In the meet the two fraternities took all ten first places.

The SAE's bid for top honors will be rather equally divided between four or five men, while the SX's main hopes will be riding on feet-footed Bill Chambers who is winning in six events.

Winning in the 60 and 100 yard dashes, the 70 yard low hurdles, the 70 yard low hurdles, the number four man of the fra's victorious 440 and 880 yard relay teams, the blond headed footballer was busier than the three-legged dog called Tripod that ran in nearly every race.

Chambers' time of 42 for the 60 yard dash was the best time recorded in the trials, as was his 1:04 for the 100 and his 8:5 for the 70 yard low hurdles. However, in the broad jump he finished third to SAE's M. Mayes and Del's L. Brewster.

The SX's clipped off a better time in winning the second heat in the 440 relay than did the Delts and Phil Sims who finished ahead of the SAE's in the first heat. The relay team claimed first place in the 880, while S. Branch tossed the discus 115 feet to give them lead spot in that event.

M. Moore qualified in three events to head the SAE finalist. His 43 feet eight inches put of the shot was tops in that event, and he was just 13 feet behind Branch in the discus throw. Along with H. Hammet and Buddy Parker, he was among the top five in the high jump as the SAE's took three of five positions in this event.

Other events in which the SAE's will probably finish strong are the broad jump which Mayes' 20 feet 6 inches tops, and the 220 yard dash led by Lee Truman and D. Womack. Parker turned in the second best time in the 70 yard hurdles just five-fifths of a second behind Chambers' 8.5.

The Delts qualified six entries for the finals, while the PKT's got five places, the ATO's four, the PSK's and the PDT's three, the SX's two, and the Sig Eps and Independents one each.

Events to be run this afternoon and the contestants, their frats, and qualifying times are:

60 yard dash—L. Truman, SAE, 42.0; D. Phillips, SX, 7.0; B. Chambers, SX, 6.5; P. Bunch, SX, 6.5; and S. Goudever, Ind., 6.6

Softball Elimination Tourney Starts Monday With 18 Teams

The elimination tournament in intramural softball will begin Monday afternoon with the top six teams from each of the three divisions entered.

Teams have been seeded and drawings made, and complete listings will be posted on the intramural bulletin board today. All intramural managers should check for days when their team plays.

Bill McCubbin, intramural director, stated that because of the excessive number of games that have been rained out, he believed the fairest thing to do was to take 18 teams into the elimination tourney instead of the originally planned nine.

However, one loss or a forfeit will still eliminate a team, and only one winner and one runner-up trophy will be awarded. Thus the grind for the team that goes all the way will be considerably tougher than it would have been with only nine teams.

Most of the play will be on the intramural field, beside Alumni gym. However, intramural managers are again warned to check the bulletin board carefully as some games may be scheduled on the U-High lot.

Rain Gives Tennis, Golf Tight Squeeze

Rain has consistently hampered intramural tennis and golf, and seriously slowed up play in the two tourneys.

Every effort is being made to keep the courts in shape as much as possible except for at least four of them tenants are urged to play their tilt just as soon as they can in order that the tourneys can be completed before the end of the month.

Expediency in contacting new opponents and making arrangements to play games as quickly as possible and turning results in to the intramural office as soon as the games are finished will help advance the tourneys.

Lancaster Cuts Baseball Squad

Coach Harry Lancaster sliced his baseball squad to 16 men last Monday. Clipped from the team were, among others, Phil Catchin, Dick Ramsey, Glenn Daniels, and pitchers Wild. Hendrick and Greenhaw. Chambers is no longer on the squad, as he has joined an independent team.

The team is now composed of five pitchers, two catchers, four outfielders and eight infielders. The pitchers are Barker, Jones, Hatchett, and Yankee. Catchers are Thomas and Buttermen. Rollins, Stough, Smith, and Cummins (left) are the infielders. Behind Beard, Stough, A. Cummins, Littleford and Yessin form the infield.
