Activities of UK Faculty Revealed in Old Record

By JOHN ST. JOHN

Campus standstill and campus history of 33 years ago has been found in the bottom of a trunk in the attic of the Oklahoma home of a former Kentucky State college student.

Unearthed after years in their solitary confinement, the earliest copies of the Kentucky State College Record reveal the inside of campus life in the days when the present faculty were students.

Campus politics must have been the hands of women students because an entire ticket of six girls was elected to offices by the class of 1901. President of the class was Miss Helen Lary, now the wife of Prof. W. S. Webb, head of the department of physics. Miss Ella Williams, who was elected corresponding secretary of the class, is now an instructor at Henry Clay High school.

Women Students Plan Courses In Horseback Riding

W. A. A. Program Will Include Class in Interpretive Dancing

Courses in horseback riding will be established if a sufficient number of girls desire to take a class in this sport, according to tentative plans which were made at the first meeting of the Women's Athletic Association council, Tuesday night at the home of Miss Rebecca Averill, faculty sponsor for the council.

Girls who are interested in horseback riding may sign up for the class in Miss Rebecca Averill's office. As cavalry mounts will be used, the class will be principally for experienced riders, though a few beginners will be admitted to the class.

An innovation in the annual program of the W. A. A. will be the addition of classes in interpretive dancing. These classes are scheduled to begin in January and will probably be held under the direction of one of the University students. Points toward W. A. A. awards which will be given for this course will be the same as the points given for a minor sport.

VARSITY HALTS KITTENS IN DRILLS

Returning from a two-day rest, the Kittens again took up the task of being one of the best freshmen teams ever to be assembled on Stoll field. They resumed practice again last Monday amid a downpour of rain that turned Stoll field into a quagmire.

The practice on Monday was light due to this incessant downpour. On Tuesday, however, the Kittens gave the Varsity one of the toughest scrimmages they have had this year. In fact it was tough stalling for both teams.

During the first part of the fracas, both first teams were used, but later Coach Gannage put in his second string men, and gave the regulars a rest. This week, so far, the Kittens have not shown up as well against the Varsity they did last week. This is due to the fact that the Varsity has improved a lot in the last few days.

Bert Johnson, the former Ashland ace, again led the Kittens offense with his driving slashes through tackle and his wide sweeping efforts. There is no doubt that Johnson is one of the best fresh prospects in years.

His running mates in the backfield are Walker, Kunze, and Ferris. They certainly do their share of the work, however, with their good blocking. Bates, Meyers, Nicholas, Rodes, Golewitz, Siler and Wallace have been showing up very well in the line during the last few practices.

The Kittens tried quite a few passes but the Varsity defense was always on the alert, and broke the passing attack of the Kittens seems to be a little weak. The men on the receiving end of the passes are very seldom in the clear at the time the pigskin is there.

With a few more weeks of practice the Kittens will be in fine shape to do business with Vanderbilt and Tennessee yearlings. Last year the greens broke even, beating Tennessee and being defeated by the Varsity.

The enthusiasm for these two freshmen games runs as high as the Vanderbilt game will be played on Stoll field, while the Tennessee game will be played in Knoxville.

First Dance Will Follow Tech Game

Square Dance Is Slated For Season Opener; Contests To Be Held

A Barn dance will open the dance season at the University when the Grants and Aids committee sponsors a square dance at 8 p. m. Saturday, October 7, at the Alumni gymnasium.

Plans are being made to make this an elaborate affair and the dance will be unique in that round and square dances will be featured. Two orchestras will play for the dance. The committee plans to make this an annual affair.

The dance, held on the night of the Georgia Tech-Kentucky football game will have as its honor guests the players and coaches of the Georgia Tech and Kentucky football teams.

Two types of dances will be given as it is expected that many of the old as well as the younger people will attend the dance. The square dances will be held first, beginning at 8 o'clock, the round dances will begin later in the evening and will continue until 12.

The fraternities and sororities will have booths depicting different forms of Kentucky life. Silver cups will be given to the fraternity and sorority having the best booths.

A best dressed couple contest will be held during the dance. Silver cups will be given to the best dressed couple of the older generation and of the younger generation.

PROF. W. W. JENNINGS HAS BOOK PUBLISHED

A foreword to the book was written by Dr. A. W. Fortune, pastor of the Central Christian church and former head of Phi Kappa Psi, student luncheon organization.

Tennis Players To Participate In Fall Tournament

All Matches Must Be Completed by Oct. 15; Cup To Be Given

By SUNNY DAY

During the time that has elapsed since Tuesday, the hopes of the 1934 tennis squad have been strengthened by the reporting of several experienced candidates, and Coach H. H. Downing has completed the plans for a round-robin tournament which will include both freshman and varsity players, and will be completed by October 15.

Three more players who were members of the 1932 freshman squad, but failed to report last season, have returned this fall. They are Alfred Miller, Paul Gullen, and Milton Ross. Miller played number two position two seasons ago, defeated the number one man in the playoffs, and in the final he was defeated as a doubles team. Also the addition to the squad of William Headley Heath, the Benton flash, who was ineligible last season, as well as Nathan Elliott and Darrel House should bring considerable strength to the varsity net.

For the tournament, Coach Downing has divided his entire squad into four groups, mixing some freshmen and some varsity players in each group. The winners of groups A and C will play members of groups B and D respectively, and the winners of these two matches will play in the finals for Coach Downing's trophy.

In group A, there are four varsity players, Captain "Hack" Downey, George York, "Chuck" Randall, and Lawrence Jenkins, and three freshmen, J. O'Brien, W. Donohue, and N. Samuel. "Hack" Downey will come through as winner of this group, and will be likely to win the tournament, but nevertheless he had better watch this freshman, O'Brien.

Group B includes just one freshman, Dave Randall, and six varsity men, George Tulloch, John St. John, Milton Ross, J. Bishop, Marston Brown, and F. Dalley. The Oklahoma star, George Tulloch, will very likely come through on top here, but he should be on his toes, sliding because every man in this group is a first class player.

Group C contains two freshmen and the seven varsity netters are Elvin Stahr, Jimmie Moore, Sam Woodard, Alfred Moberly, and F. Weed, and probably Headley Heath. Heath, if put in this group, may win if he can overcome Stahr.

Group D is probably the weakest and contains four freshmen: C. Dunn, F. Montgomery, J. Spive, and Ed Stepp. The varsity men will be George Skinner, Willoughby, and probably either Nathan Elliott or Darrel House. Big George Skinner, who was for three years a letterman in football and basketball and now all kinds of honors for himself in scholastic as well as athletic, is now a graduate student and has gone in for tennis, hot and heavy. It would be a big surprise if George did not come through as the winner of this group.

Each man may play six matches. This means two a week between now and October 15, when the semi-finals and finals will be played.

Law Scholarships Awarded Students

This year's scholarships in the Law College have been awarded to Kirk Moberly, Lexington; Bruce Colford, Ewing; Robert Hatton, Collettsburg; and Harry Stegmaier, Cumberland, Maryland.

Each year the Law College offers four scholarships for excellence in scholastic work in that school. Two of these scholarships are given to the two members of the first year class having the highest standing at the close of the year. These were given to Hatton and Stegmaier.

The other two are given to the two with the highest standing for their second year in law. These were awarded to Moberly and Morford.

Some service is required from students holding these scholarships by way of assistance in the library. These men are also members of the staff of the Kentucky Law Journal, one of the highest honors awarded to students of the Law school.

AG DEANS JUDGE PRODUCTS

Dean Horlacher, Prof. A. J. Olney and Prof. E. J. Kinney, of the College of Agriculture, will attend the Stamping Ground Commercial fair in Scott county today. Professor Olney will judge horticulture products, fruits, and vegetables, and Professor Kinney will judge farm crops. Livestock will be judged by Dean Horlacher.

Well now that the sorority rushing season is over we can stroll about the campus with these charming little freshman girls without feeling that some old monster "big sis" will gobble us up along with our cute lit pledging companion.

Education Groups Organize For Year

Phi Delta Kappa and Kappa Delta Phi, Honoraries, Hold Meetings

Phi Delta Kappa, men's honorary professional education fraternity, will hold its first meeting of the scholastic year at a luncheon early next week.

For the past two summer terms, the fraternity has been holding weekly luncheon meetings, the majority of which were informal. The first term about 40 men attended and during the second term more than 20. At present, a committee is working on plans for a noon luncheon of all members at Richmond, October 6 and 7, during the Central Kentucky educational conference.

Requirements for Phi Delta Kappa membership are scholarship and leadership. Officers of the fraternity are: Professor Armstrong, president; Leonard Meece, vice-president, and Louis Clifton, secretary and treasurer. Prof. C. C. Ross is faculty sponsor and advisor.

The first meeting of Kappa Delta Phi, honorary education fraternity, will be held October 4 in the Training school building, and officers for the next year will be chosen at that time. It was announced today by Prof. L. E. Meece, sponsor of the club.

This year the fraternity is offering a scholarship of $50.00 to the junior in the College of Education who fulfills sufficient requirements in scholarship and leadership. This scholarship will be presented to the student when he returns for his senior year. Other activities planned consist of the sponsoring of a tea, in cooperation with Phi Delta Kappa, for members of the educational convention which will meet at Memorial Hall October 27 to 29, and the procuring of some money to give to the Student Union building fund and plans to donate $100.00 of every initiation fee this year to the fund.

Freshman Y Cabinet Selects Officers

Freshman Y. M. C. A. cabinet held its organization meeting at 7 p. m. Tuesday night in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, and elected the following freshmen as officers for the coming year: President, Harold Dyer, Portsmouth, Ohio; vice-president, Donald Laques Clifton, New Jersey; secretary-treasurer, Walter Also, Lexington.

The Rev. George Heaton, pastor of the Felix Memorial Baptist church spoke on "Conscientious Objectors." Reverend Heaton has been a member of the Y. M. C. A. since 1928 and is popular with various groups of the University.

John M. Carter, prominent in Y. M. C. A. activities, and director of the Freshman cabinet, presided at the meeting.

U.K. Home Ec Club Has Active Plans

The Home Economics club will hold its next meeting in the form of a reception for all freshman women at 7:30 p. m. Monday in the Women's building.

At a called meeting held September 11, plans were discussed for the next year. It was decided to continue the relief work done by the club last year which consists of the gathering of toys and food at Christmas time and distributing them to poor families and children. This will probably be made an annual custom.

Officers of the club are Virginia Asbury, President; Harriet Williams, vice-president; Dorothea Wilfred, secretary; Mary Louise Scott, treasurer. Doctor Erison, head of the department, is sponsor and advisor of the club.

Scandal Snickerings

By KAY BEE

Several brunettes on this campus are pretending to go platinum because of blonde competition.

And now dear readers, we will present the latest release of grand old frat pins—Sigalif J. D. Hulet lost his pin at the Alpha Gam house none other than the irresistible Sue Layton. Kay Joe Cecil weakened the other night and left his pin in the care of "Scottie" Hobart.

The K. D.'s seem to be just as popular since their light bill has gone from 80 cents to $3.48.

And have you heard about the sweet young freshman who went to the music building and applied for the position of band sponsor. Also of the freshman who nonchalantly walked into the men's dorm thinking she was at McVey hall. Was her face red?

Wonder why Sigalif Hugh Van Antwerp goes to "Winters" so much? And the story of the little Alpha Delta Theta who went canoeing with a certain young gentleman and had the misfortune of being overturned. It is said that she was forced to do the rolling act to escape catching cold. Well, accidents will happen.

Have you noticed... Kitty Cook's slimmest?... Babe Brown's distinctive voice?... the new 35 cent plate at the commons?... That last year's student body president, Billy Lowenthal, is wearing this year—last year's suit... that Wesley Carter, editor, is very easy on the eye... that the people never notice the clock in the reference room at the library.

Further in the Bertha case... for lost pins go to a jewelry counter downtown... and Gordon, you may have to ask the Price.

So, in conclusion, just heard that Alphasie Ira Lytle has pinned Delta-Gayle Elliott. Alphalambda-Delma Adams has discovered another Nancy.

ALUMNUS QUARTERLY TO APPEAR OCTOBER 4

"The University and Its Place in the Life of the Commonwealth" by James H. Richmond, state superintendent of public instruction, will be the feature article in the Alumnus Quarterly which will be issued September 15, 1933. This article points out the necessity of the University as a state institution and its importance to its citizens.

Other important features will be radio talks by President McVey, and Mr. William Gess, Lexington attorney. President McVey's address, "The Opening of the University," was given over the extension studios September 15, 1933.

In past years the Alumnus Quarterly was published monthly, but this year it will be issued quarterly and will be twice as large. Two thousand copies will be sent out.

AG SOCIETY GIVES PARTY

Agricultural society will have an acquaintance party at 7:30 p. m. Thursday in the livestock pavilion on the Experiment station farm. The party is to be given to enable freshman agricultural students to become acquainted with upper classes.

There will be games, music and refreshments. Upper classes with or without dates will be charged an admission fee of ten cents. Freshmen with dates will be admitted free, while freshmen without dates will be charged five cents. Members of the faculty will be admitted for ten cents. Every freshman who does not have a date is asked to call Horace Nicholson at Ashland 4128.

University High To Open Season Today With Nicholasville

University High school's football team will meet the Nicholasville High school team this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Nicholasville. The Uthians are playing their first game of the season and only four of their veterans are on the squad.

Coach Kemper is taking his team to Nicholasville to match a practically inexperienced team against a team which has had both experience and practice. Little is known of the actual strength of the Nicholasvillians, but Davis, stellar halfback, is said to be the main threat of the tarantulas.

The lineup for Nicholasville is not known as yet, but it is understood that nine regulars from last year's team will be in the starting lineup.

U. K. Professors Compile Results

More Than Two Volumes On Archaeology, Anthropology Prepared

Archaeological and anthropological survey results of the past two years in Kentucky have been jointly compiled by Professors Webb and Funkhouser of the University faculty into more than two volumes of material, published, and in manuscript. The first volume, composed of six parts, has been published and deals largely with separate grave sites and rock shelters.

A summary of the work of the two men is included in the volume whose title is "The State Archaeological Survey of Kentucky." When published it will approximate 600 pages. County maps will be included for all counties having four or more sites. The second volume is completed in manuscript.

Part I of volume three is completed in manuscript and is a study of the McLeod bluff site of Hickman county as made by Professor Webb. The second part of this volume, entitled, "The Occurrence of Remains of Edentata," is under preparation.

During 1931 and 1932 was the only time the University was assisted financially. The Smithsonian Institute at Washington during these two years matched dollar for dollar for the University's expenditures.

A meeting of Phi Delta Phi, honorary law fraternity, was held at 12:15 yesterday in the University commons. Bruce Morford, president, presided at the meeting.

Detailed plans for the coming year were discussed by the members. Committees were also appointed.

Mr. Wesley E. Carter,
Editor-in-Chief,
The Kentucky Kernel,
McVey Hall.

Dear Mr. Carter: I wish to voice my appreciation for the fragrant bunch of roses the Kernel sends the Department of Buildings and Grounds every Friday, September 22, viz: an editorial entitled "Our Campus Beautiful." We of this department are interested in whether students of the University ever give such matters much thought. We wonder if they ever consider that all these things are wrought and brought to pass for them and their enjoyment. It is truly an endless labor of love by a small force of men who earnestly strive from day to day to make a more fitting place for the bloom of Kentucky's most valuable crop, her noble aspiring youth.

The men who are responsible for the beauty of the campus and who daily push wheelbarrows, dig ditches, cut grass, prune trees, plant flowers and seed, shovel snow, haul garbage, ashes, waste paper, ice, coal, and fire boilers, paint buildings, fix water pipes, clean pipes, electric lights, drinking water machinery, refrigerators, motors, build platforms, stages, clean buildings, and tea though other things were denied the privilege such as you now enjoy, the opportunity of a college education. Nevertheless they have a just pride in the work they are doing for the University and you. They are proud of their boys and girls, students of the University of Kentucky. This expression from you from the student body will gladden their hearts and speed them on their way to still greater achievements.

Please bear with us in the future if we seem to fall at many points. As you mentioned, extremely low budget due to greatly reduced revenues, curtails the work, placing it below the level of 1926 when the departmental budget was 18 percent greater than it is today. In those days we had 7,000,000 cubic feet of building space, today we have 15,000,000. Then we had 379,000 square feet of floor area, today we have 871,000. Acres of ground and campus areas have increased 24 percent.

Roads and sidewalks have more than doubled. These statements merely indicate the difficulty.

It will be a pleasure to post this editorial on the Bulletin Board so that all may enjoy it as much as I have. We trust we can be of service to you some time. We are proud of The Kernel and all of its good people from Uncle Knoch on down. Keep the good work going. Sincerely yours,
M. J. CREUTCHER

New Director of U. K. Band Is No Nove

By SAG KASH

John Lewis, Jr., the University's new band director, is no novice at the game. He started in the high school band at Pikeville, on the Big Sandy, assisting his father direct the Pikeville High band. He came to Winchester in 1927 and entered school at Kentucky Wesleyan. He directed three bands while there, the Kentucky Wesleyan band, Winchester High, and a band made up of the townspeople of that place.

The Winchester High school band under the direction of Mr. Lewis has always been successful in all the Kentucky band contests, and has never failed to place in any of the contests. In the years of 1928, 29, and 30, this band placed in three classes, A, B, and C. It won in class A at the Tri-State contests, consisting of West Virginia, Ohio, and Kentucky in the years 1929 and 1930. Mr. Lewis had the pleasure of winning over his father for the first time in 1929, and John Lewis, Sr., has not been to recoup his laurels from his son; in fact, he has suffered defeat from the hands of his son more than once.

Not only does this man Lewis turn out champion bands, but also state champions on various instruments as well. He has had winners of cornets twice, winner of clarinets once, baritone once, and bass clarinet once.

When asked about the prospects of the "Best Band in Dixie," he smiled and said in his own Welsh accent, "The band seems to be well-balanced. The boys show Turkish tobacco is packed thousands of tiny leaves to the bale. It averages 400 leaves a pound.

Why—

Tobaccos grown in this country are "seasoned" with tobaccos from Turkey and Greece

THE ANSWER IS VERY SIMPLE:

TOBACCOS to taste right in a cigarette need to be flavored or seasoned just the same as you might season a steak or a pudding.

No tobaccos have ever been found that equal the spicy aromatic tobacco of Turkey and Greece for this purpose. That's why we send 4000 miles for aromatic tobaccos from Samson and Smyrna, Xanthi and Cavalla.

When blended and cross-blended in just the right amounts with Chesterfield's mild ripe Domestic tobacco, the result is a rich flavor and a fine fragrance.

Chesterfields are seasoned right—they taste right. May we suggest you try them.

COME TO KENTUCKY

Although highly commercialized, the Century of Progress Exhibition attracted millions of visitors from all parts of the world to Chicago this past summer. Kentucky, with its many places of historic interest and miles of beautiful scenery, should be advertised in 1934 in such a manner as to appeal to this class of traveling Americans.

If a person would pay money in this time of economic distress to witness Sally Rand's fan dance and also to gasp with wonder at Ripley's collection of freaks, then surely that same person would seriously consider visiting a state noted for its natural beauties which defies his flesh and bones.

Two freshmen arrived at the Lafayette, Indiana school to learn how to make bones of their own design and provision. They park the old Model 'T' and drive back to their father's farm and load up on supplies. Evidently their mother has taught them to darn and wash and iron, as well as cook and sweep.

The people of the state are justly proud and intelligently conscious of the impressive grandeur contained within the boundaries of the former hunting ground of Daniel Boone. John Finley and the vigorous warrior, Simon Kenton. Houses of national historical value containing rare old relics of the dark days when the first settlers in this country fought to establish themselves and their posterity in an ideal land, carry a tremendous appeal to all patriotic citizens.

RISE AND SHINE

Where is the college spirit of the Kentucky student? The large group of students attending the Kentucky-Maryville game Saturday night were indeed impressive by their lack of enthusiasm and interest in the contest. The voters, it is true, were in a little better mood to defeat the Blue gridders but this fact was no excuse for the lethargy indulged in by the so-called college men and women.

When asked why she attended games if uninterested in the sport, one sophomore replied that it was an excellent opportunity to see what the other girls were wearing this season and to note whether or not the girls were courting the same men they did the previous year. Sophistication in its most vulgar form is slowly but surely grasping the students of the University.

The effect of this student attitude upon the players must be discouraging. While the Blue team is conscientiously attempting to live the colors and spirit of the University into the field of competitive college athletics, the student body is sitting comfortably in the stadium commenting on the clothes worn by the co-eds!

We are urging the return of the old fighting spirit that characterized the students in previous years. Stand up and give vent to your natural enthusiasm. Others will follow your example. Let us be gay! Lend your vocal support to the team that represents you on the football field. Give them all you can spare, they will appreciate it and you won't regret it.

FRESHMAN CAPS

According to an announcement appearing elsewhere in this issue the freshmen of this year will wear caps. A tradition of the University of Kentucky is being preserved. Despite all predictions to the contrary, members of the Student Council, in a meeting with the dean of men, decided that this was a custom which should not be allowed to disappear or lapse even for a year.

This ruling will be made compulsory with no idea of bringing embarrassment to first-year men, but is an act which they must abide by. The freshmen have their first opportunity to display the colors of their chosen University. For many years it has been enforced for the purpose, not to point out freshmen as inferior in rank, but rather as superior in judgment in choosing their own school.

The wearing of these caps is a long-established practice—almost a convention—so that new entrants to the University may have an opportunity to possess during their first year, a blue and white emblem of Kentucky.

Freshmen: Display your caps proudly! In wearing them, you are doing much more than merely displaying yourselves as freshmen. You are preserving a tradition of your University.

THE NEW DEAL

Six months have elapsed since the inauguration of President Franklin Delano Roosevelt and certainly much has been done during that period. It is well for us as students to stop and contemplate what has happened since and what is planned for the future.

Last year both candidates urged upon the people the thought that they were changing their political philosophy, but it is doubtful if many of their supporters realized what is now a proved fact. We changed completely from rugged individualism to the policy of state control and a greater power in private business to be exercised by the state. This editorial will not concern itself with merits or defects, but only with what has taken place. In order to do this, a resume of the policies and program of the Roosevelt administration must be presented.

Among the outstanding features of the New Deal was the bank holiday, which was declared on March 6, and held forth until Congress met the following Thursday. The nation was in the throes of a gripping fear that the entire financial structure of the country would collapse and only through the President's swift action was confidence restored. All banks that were reopened had the Federal Government behind them and therefore the people felt secure. As this action was taken, the country awakened to the fact that it had a leader and in him it placed the utmost faith and trust.

Roamin' the Rialto

By BEN BLACK

Beginning Thursday and running through Saturday "Beauty for Sale" will be on the bill at the Ben All. This picture is taken from the Faith Baldwin story "Beauty"; and the setting for most of it is behind the scenes in fashionable beauty salons. Three sharply contrasting types of actresses, Madge Evans, Una Merkel and Florence McKimney share the story interest in this picture. The masculine lead is played by Otto Krueger.

Madge Evans, as Letty Lawson, the daughter of a southern family, finds herself stranded in New York City, her landlady's daughter, gets her a job in a beauty parlor, over the objection of her brother, Bill, who offers marriage instead. In the beauty parlor Carol sees life as it lived in a modern city. In the same shop there is Carol, the sweetheart of married millionaires, and Jane the trustful admirer of Bert, the beauty proprietress' adored son.

Letty meets Sherwood, a lawyer, who is married to a social climber. She and Sherwood fall in love. Finally Letty realizes that all she can hope to become is a married man's mistress. In the meantime the divorce of Bert and Jane ends in tragedy. Disillusioned Letty turns to Bill. She doesn't love him, but she offers herself and safety. She decides to marry him. A dramatic coincidence brings Letty into the knowledge that Sherwood's wife, having had a romantic interlude of her own, is planning a divorce. Letty leaves Bill flat, and rushes into the arms of the waiting Sherwood.

A picture which can best be described as "a might have been picture" is being offered by the Kentucky latter part of this week. This is "Turn Back the Clock" featuring Lee Tracy, Miss Clark and Otto Krueger. In this picture an impetuous middle aged man, during the war, marries a girl who was 20 years and set just what would have happened if he had married "the other girl" instead of his wife. After viewing 20 years of what his wife in her would have been he is glad to be in his present life.

Strange as it may seem, husky-voiced Bing Crosby plays the part of a young college professor in "College Humor," the current picture at the Strand. Even if this picture does have the time worn plot of having the hero win the game in the last few minutes of play, it is good entertainment. Richard Arlen plays the football player who is expelled; Jack Oakie is the boob who comes to college falls in love with Mary Korman, helps fraternity brother Dick Arlen through his troubles and in the last minute of play wins the football game; Bing Crosby is the young professor who eventually becomes a crooner; and George Burns and Grace Allen provides the comic relief.

Friday and Saturday the Strand will be showing "Charlie Chan's Greatest Case." This picture, taken from a story by Earl Derr Biggers, again brings the inimitable

Your Stetson Hat can take it

There is a story circulating about the campus telling of a certain University professor who, walking down the street reading a newspaper, became so absorbed in his meditations that he ran smack-dab into a stone wall. Must have been reading our scandal column, weren't you, prof?

THAT'S what value means in a hat. Your Stetson has the stuff in it to stand a beating—open car, rough weather, anything you hand it. And all the time it keeps smiling—keeps that smartness of line and beauty of color which makes you admire a Stetson.

New Stetson styles are being shown now. Ask particularly to see the new Suede Finish and color mixtures.

asked to sing a series of scales, in order to find his range. He is so frightened by now that his range—once, perhaps two octaves—from G sharp to A flat at the same octave.

Then comes the crowning event of the try-out. He is asked to sing "America!" Whether because of fright, lack of patriotism, or poor memory, I do not know, but hardly a would-be canary knows all the style of talk of Rat O'wyll—O' Ratwilly—I mean, Roy Atwill.

Well, to go on, our much-be-dragged young man, having finished his ordeal, is assigned to the proper voice-part, tenor or bass, as the case may be.

He is followed by a second, a third, and on down the line of self-styled Curious. Occasionally a more or less experienced singer rather scornfully sings through the exercise, his nonchalance admired by those to follow, who are vainly seeking a murmur in the crowd.

The try-out is well worth what it costs. I give you fair warning, reply, first, or second, tenor; first, or second, bass!

This we-begetten fellow is then asked to sing a series of scales, in order to find his range. He is so frightened by now that his range—once, perhaps two octaves—from G sharp to A flat at the same octave.

Who knows what the morrow brings? A letter from Ma, says the homesick Frosh; a check from Pa, says the spend-thrift Soph; a note from Dea, says the Lovelock junior; a heck, another quiz, says the disgusted senior.

From reports which reach the campus from down Sewanee way, it looks as if the Wildcats are through with their set-up opponents.

Last year the Purples had a very strong line that gave the Cats quite a bit of trouble. With a year's experience it would not be surprising if they played a fairly close game with the Big Blue Saturday night.

Filmore Gilmer, sophomore halfback who was declared ineligible during the summer because of participation in football at another institution, was reinstated Tuesday afternoon by the athletic council of the University.

The ruling restores to active competition a fine athlete, and one of the most likeable boys to ever attend the University. Gilmer is a fine ball carrier, is almost as great a punter as Kercheval, and is the best passer on the Big Blue squad.

The lack of scoring punch which the Cats displayed in their initial engagement is perhaps definitely relieved as Jack Jean, "The Ripper" from Owensboro, is on the loose again. Given a chance to carry the ball in the workouts this week Jack never failed to gain when the team was near the twin-white stripes.

To Ernie James, the hardworking Big Blue center, now an apology. There was only one thing wrong with the play of the Cat centers in the opening game: their blocking, and that can be remedied by intensive drills.

"Babe" Wright, former Big Blue captain, was recently released by the Brooklyn Dodgers, members of the National Pro League. Babe was one of the greatest linemen ever to wear the Blue and White and it is hard to understand why he did not make good in the pro game.

Coach Harry Langage has announced that on Wednesday of each week he will throw the gates of the practice field open and allow all and any who desire it to come and watch his proteges work out. But all spectators must stay in the stands erected along the outside fence.

Maybe it was the artificial lights out on Stoll field Saturday night; maybe it was the reflection of the lights on the glass of the pressbox; maybe it was the novelty of the night play; but something certainly made the gentleman who ran the public address system commit numerous and glaring mistakes.

Sewanee will have a fighting team from all reports, but they will be playing their first game this year. So should not be too very dangerous. However, they have a neat aerial game and a couple of fast backs. They may score. It is likely but not too probable.

The athletic council is continuing its program of keeping out all persons from football games who have not paid the price of admission. Additional detectives have been engaged and all persons trying to gain admission to the field will be arrested, tried and summarily fined or imprisoned.

Sewanee, Tenn., Sept. 28—Handicaps by a scarcity of material, Coach "Doc" Clark is striving hard to weave together a first string eleven capable of facing the U. of K. Wildcats in the Tigers' opening game of the season at Lexington, Ky., on September 30.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 28—Coach Dana M. King, assisted by Tay Brown, former U. S. C. captain and star, and Red Halliday are incorporating a variety of offenses for the U. of C. Bearcats.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 27—With his early season tackle worries well taken care of, Coach Bob Neyland has two new worries, that of keeping his Volunteers at top speed for such opponents as Virginia Tech, Duke, Alabama, Florida, Vanderbilt, Kentucky, and L.S.U., and finding a new center to take the place of Captain Maples.

Atlanta Ga., Sept. 28—Relieved by the cooler weather, the Jackets of Georgia Tech were sent through a regular practice game Saturday. With the exception of "Foot" Gibson, sophomore end, the squad is in excellent physical condition.

Filmore Gilmer, otherwise known as "Pap," promising 174 pound sophomore quarterback, brought with him from Big Stone Gap, Va., some of the best punting and passing ability seen on Stoll field in many years.

Stanley Bach, Claiming Picadome High school, Lexington, Ky., and Augusta Military Academy, Port Defiance, Va., as his alma maters, "Pug" Bach, as he is known to every football fan, will take his athletic prowess from the University of Kentucky with the senior class in June.

Sewanee-Wildcat Series Marked By Close Games

By J. B. WELLS, JR.

Despite the fact that the Sewanee Tigers suffered an 18-0 defeat at the hands of the Cats last year, they expect to give the Kentucky team "a real hot" this year when the two teams meet on Stoll field tomorrow night.

In the past, Sewanee has shown up pretty well against Kentucky having scored three victories, held the Cats to three ties; one of which was scoreless, and having held the Wildcats under the score of eight every game for nine consecutive games.

The first game with the Tigers occurred in 1908. Sewanee won this one with a score of 12-0. The next in 1915 ended in a seven to seven deadlock.

Tommy Spradling, an Atlanta boy, showed a great deal of ability at Gibson in the game. He was called upon to play at end in the game with Clemson on next Saturday.

thumb" along side of the remainder of the team which will average less than 175 pounds. The lightweight of the team is Cravens, 150-pound halfback, who along with Castleberry and seven others is playing his last year of football.

The Tigers are working hard to get off a good start in their opening game of the season, and they expect to show football fans that Sewanee is not an "easy" team. They are presenting a fighting and scrapping team which is, according to Sewanee supporters a pretty good match for the Wildcats.

Last year the Gamagemen played under adverse circumstances having lost Jean and Nicholson through ineptitude, and Bud Davidson who was called home on account of the illness of his brother. The Tigers had been having their troubles too. They were just recovering from several injuries sustained in their two preceding games.

U.K. Tennis Team Enters 13th Year

(Continued from Page One) tournaments invariably matriculate at Kentucky. With heavier stress on the sport—that is, making it a major sport and increasing the financial allotment to its upkeep, which is not excessive—the school could have one of the best inter-collegiate tennis teams in the country.

The remaining facilities are already here. Professor Downing of the mathematics department formed the first college tennis team in 1923 and has been its coach ever since.

Last year the University played the tennis teams of Tulane, Ohio State, Illinois, Cincinnati, Emory, Alabama, Indiana, St. Xavier and Berea. This schedule is likely to be duplicated this year as all the teams played showed satisfaction with their relations here, and with the type of tennis player. Webster Crose, manager of the team, is planning a tentative schedule that will include some of the best tennis teams in the country.

Tennis eventually could be turned into a paying sport. Many of the schools played last year have tennis stadiums, especially Tulane whose stadium seats 1,500.

The University has a present seven excellent courts. A steam roller was purchased this year. The courts are well drained, and screened, and are kept in excellent condition by Lee Powers, one of the best tennis court care-takers in this part of the country.

Whereas only a few can play the top-notch tennis required to be a member of a University team, still anyone can play the game and receive recreational and physical benefits which are all so indispensable to a person's well-being.

Freshman girls were welcomed into the Y.W.C.A. at a meeting held exclusively for them Thursday at 7:15 p. m. in the recreation room of Patterson hall.

Check questionnaires to determine the chief interests of the group were distributed, and the discussion and hobby groups for the year will be formed around the results of the questionnaires.
