All-Kentucky team picks of the coaches of Kentucky teams have appeared. The composite eleven taken from the selections of all the coaches forms an almost unbeat team and is the one that will be recognized as the All-Kentucky team by the football fanatics of the State. Personally, the sport writer of the Kernel never did have any use for picks of any kind since he chopped his foot with one of the ax variety one day trying to dig up a big rock.

But anyway the picks of the coaches are all well made. The State of Kentucky has had some wonderful players this year and some who will go down in gridiron annals as the best in their places in the history of football. The University of Kentucky has it all over the State of Kentucky.

The naked truth (this phrase should bring a mental image before the eye of the reader) is that the Wildcat organization is an all-star aggregation itself and every man on it deserves All-Kentucky recognition. In fact the sport writer wanted to choose an All-Kentucky team himself and put the whole Kentucky line-up down. He told this to the editor of the Kernel, who is serious minded and can't appreciate it as a thing of humor. So we won't get to pick our team.

Thus the composite team will have to be accepted altho Ye Scribe still feels that the football fans of the State should have been given the ben-

WHO ARE KENTUCKY'S 10 MOST POPULAR CO-EDS

Question Will Be Answered Tomorrow Morning in Chapel

ALL STUDES TO VOTE

Who are the ten most popular co-eds at the University of Kentucky?

The Kentuckian voting contest, to decide who will be the ones lucky enough to get their individual pictures in the feature section of this year's annual, will be held in the University chapel Friday morning, and every student who is interested in seeing some particular friends honored should be present at the regular time.

As announced before, each student who attends will be given a ballot with ten spaces, on which he or she will write the names of the ten co-eds favored. Each vote must be cast separately; that is the ballot must contain ten names. No one will be allowed to cast ten votes or even two votes for one girl. The ballots will be deposited in boxes at the doors and no one who fails to go to chapel tomorrow morning will be allowed to vote. Each student will be given one and only one ballot and any one trying to repeat will be given the limit of the law.

The editor of the Kentuckian is rather mysterious concerning the program for the morning, but it is understood that he has prepared one that will make up in quality what it lacks in quantity. A speech or two from members of the staff is expected.

All students, including co-eds, and all members of the faculty will be allowed to vote in the contest. Popularity is the only criterion for voting, and all girl students are eligible for places.

Do you want to see your friends' pictures in the Kentuckian? It's up to you! Be in chapel tomorrow.

HEAVY BIRDS LEAD EGG-LAYING CONTEST

The first month of the egg-laying contest being conducted at the Experiment Station has just closed, with the heavier birds still in the lead. The lighter fowls are not doing as well now as at first, while the others are rapidly improving.

LIBRARY ADDED TO ORCHESTRA DEPARTMENT.

Since the organization of the symphony orchestra considerable interest is being shown in all music departments of the University, due largely to the work of Director Cover.

A library, recently added to the orchestra department contains the complete scores and parts of the symphonies of the Classical School in addition to a number of other works. These are open to all students interested.

DEW

The rose that blooms along the garden walk,
Ere yet the last gray shades of dawn are fled,
Bends wearily her slender, thorny stalk,
And sadly droops her glorious, crimson head.

On yestereve, when in the ivy bower,
She saw your lips, your blushes as you sighed,
To petulance she yielded, jealous flower,
And in the night—she cried.

BASKETBALL PRACTICE BEGINS IN EARNEST

BOTH TEAMS CRIPPLED

Basketball practice was begun in the armory Monday afternoon with a large number out. The first game will be played about the middle of next month.

Altho greatly handicapped this year by the absence of Server, Hart and the two Zerfoss brothers, whose playing was responsible for many points last season, it is thought that a good team will be developed.

Two of last year's squad, Gumbert and Ireland, are back this year and with them as a nucleus for the team the prospects are considered bright. The former is captain of the team.

Gumbert, Ireland, Longworth, Barbee and McKinney were out for practice Monday afternoon and "Doc" Rodes, McIlvain and Alvin Thompson will come out later. All are considered likely material. Dr. Tigert and "Squirrelly" Tuttle will coach the team.

The girls' basketball team has also been hard hit. With Misses Heller, Flanery and Bastin out, only Misses Haydon, Innes and Cregor, of last year's squad, are left to form the nucleus of a new team.

SENIOR HISTORY MAJORS ARE AT WORK ON THESES

The Seniors in the History Department are at work on their theses, the titles of which follow: "Louis Philippe in Kentucky," Miss Helen Burkholder; "The Commercial History of Martin County," Frank Crum; "Presbyterians and Higher Education," Marion V. Condit; "A Commercial History of Nicholas County," William Dotson; "Chartered Banks Prior to 1860," Walter L. McKee; "A Jubilee History of the University of Kentucky," Arthur S. Kelley and Roy C. LITERARY SOCIETIES HOLD ANNUAL TRYOUTS

Teams to Compete For Barker Loving Cup December 15

DECLAMATORY FRIDAY

The annual try-out of the Union Literary Society to select a team to represent the society at the annual debate with the Patterson Literary Society to be held December 15, was held Monday night and out of twelve contestants the following were selected: T. L. Creekmore, J. J. McBrayer and A. L. Cole. The first two named are students in the College of Law; Mr. Cole is enrolled in the Agricultural College. Herbert Schaber was selected as alternate. The judges of the contest were: Professor L. L. Dantzler, Professor J. T. C. Noe, and Judge Lyman Chalkley. The subject of debate was "Resolved, That the United States Should Annex Mexico."

The annual try-out of the Patterson Society which was held last Tuesday night resulted in the following being selected to make up the team: A. B. Crawford, F. O. Mayes and M. U. Condit, with J. W. Kallbreier as alternate. The judges of the contest, in which there were eight contestants, were Professors Weaver and Baker.

The two teams selected will meet December 15 to compete for the Barker Loving Cup, at which time a team will be selected to represent the University in its debate with Georgetown College.

The Patterson Society will hold its annual declamatory contest in chapel tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, the contestants competing for the Crum medal. The following have entered the contest: F. O. Mayes, R. F. Richey, Walter Piper, William Shinnick, M. U. Condit and A. B. Crawford.

GEORGE WASHINGTON HAS TURKEY DINNER

The festive turkey, historic fowl, and proud hope of those who would displace the eagle as the national bird, for whom Joe Mosley, Freshman, football possibility, was named, gave way to the lowly chicken on most of the Thanksgiving tables, while hungry mess-hallers, home again, chewed on drum sticks and participated involuntarily in the boycott against the mealeagrid bird.

But one home was happy. The wry-necked, heavy feathered fowl, with the elevated hind toe, couldn't soar too high on the market to get beyond the reach of one George Washington. What cared he for the high cost of living? He could buy a herd of turkeys if he wanted to and then have money enough left to buy cranberries.

George says he got his turkey on foot. What he means is he got it on the run.

SCORELESS TIE ENDS BRILLIANT SEASON

Entire Team Stars In Turkey Day Game With Tennessee

DOC AND MAC SHINE

When Doctor Tigert told the reporter that the score of the Tennessee game was nothing to nothing in favor of the Wildcats he thought there was a trick in it somewhere and that the Doctor was trying to "kid" him. So the Kernel man asked Cue Early, who is good on deep stuff, to tell him just what Doctor Tigert meant. He said it was this way, that while the score was a tie the game was really a victory for Kentucky and a big one at that. In downing Tennessee, Kentucky snatched the claims of the Knoxville team for Southern championship out of their hands and that is all she could have done by defeating the Knoxville men. It was also a big feat when one considers that Tennessee had pulled the noses of the great Vanderbilt and also allowed Sewanee all over Waite Field.

The game was a fitting climax to a great season of the Wildcats. A season only marred by the Vanderbilt nightmare and there was some excuse for that. The defeat of Mississippi A. & M. and the scoreless game with Sewanee made the Wildcats a non-erasable name.

Story of Tennessee Game. Eleven valiant warriors fearfully marched onto the field against the terrible Tennesseans. The same eleven, without a change being made, walked off full of bruises but bearing their heads as high as any team that ever won a glorious victory. The heroes were:

Crutcher, Heick, Brittain, Dempsey, Hickerson, Murphree, Kinne, Rodes, Grabfelder, Fay and McIlvain.

The game was a tearing contest in which both sides battled in sticky mud. The fact is that since the Wildcats were playing open field and the Tennesseans relying on their strength and size, a dry field might have made a different story.

Kentucky almost won the game at one time, when Rodes caught what appeared to be a fumble and raced for a touchdown. But Referee Henry said it was not a fumble but an incomplete forward pass and that ended the argument.

"Doc" was the big star. The Southern papers have been burning with his praise and the Tennessee fans are still dreaming bad dreams about the way he tore down the field. He outkicked Hatcher who has been called by many the best punter in the South, and threw forward passes straight to the mark.

McIlvain was also a bright light. He intercepted several forward passes and played the role of life saver to Kentucky's hope, three times when the ball was behind Kentucky's goal line.

Kinne came into prominence by sensational defensive work and all the line deserves praise in great gobs for their performance.

It was a great game. The season that the game made the great finale to, is one of the most successful in the history of the University. The Wildcats have coped with the greatest teams in the South and have proved that they are worthy of rank in the vanguard. Vanderbilt got Kentucky's goat but the Commodores went home satisfied that they hadn't been in any child's play.

The whole team deserves praise. And above it all, there stands the long, lean, lanky coach who did the work. Starting with a Freshmen team two years ago, Doctor Tigert developed a "bunch" of the best men that the University has ever clothed in blue and white. This year with almost overwhelming odds against him he set his collection of two years against the best in the South. And with this result—that all the colleges in the Southland recognize the University as a strong competitor and admire it as one of them. This is the work of a great coach whose name will go down in history.

ALL STUDENTS INVITED TO SOCIAL TOMORROW NIGHT.

The Girls' Fidelis Class of the Maxwell Street Presbyterian Church will be hostess at a "measuring social" to be given in the church parlors tomorrow night from 8 o'clock to 11 o'clock, to which all University students are cordially invited. Everyone who attends is requested to bring three cents for each extra inch. An excellent program has been arranged and refreshments will be served.

Hawaiian music, Hawaiian costumes, Hawaiian scenes, Hawaiian dancing and some real Hawaiians, natives playing their ukuleles will be one of the features in the new musical comedy, "My Honolulu Girl," which opens at the Ada Meade for an engagement beginning Monday matinee December 11.

The scenes are all placed among the Hawaiian Islands where a number of American tourists have journeyed to view the beauties of the island before returning to the United States. Chas. J. Burkhart, many times the feature of leading Broadway productions, is holding down the leading male comedy end and by the many laughs he calls forth proves himself a real comedian and a thoro cure for the blues.

Alice Berry as an English maid, is one of the smallest as well as funniest little women on the stage. Her winning personality and character songs endear her to her audience and she always meets with a hearty reception.

Inez Rodriguez, as Yukalana, ward of the hotel keeper at Honolulu and Catherine Martin as Lady Highbrow, are both possessed of attractive voices while the chorus in delightful dances and newest gowns all help to make this one of the cleverest little shows ever produced.

FIRST HOUR WHISTLE
HAS PECULIAR EFFECT

Students Not Only Ones To Suffer From Big Sir-en's Noise

(By Mildred Graham.)

When the 8 o'clock whistle blows at the University of Kentucky its results are noticed far and wide. It has a mysterious power exerted not only on the campus but for miles around. The effect of this magic whistle may be noted upon every pike leading to the great center of learning. The rural Kentuckian quickens his lively pace at the sound, and wipes the perspiration from his heated brow. The flivver is allowed one more notch of the throttle and leaps forward with new vigor. An extra poke in the ribs is given Shanks' mare, which gives her more impetus. The bicycle pedal adds several more revolutions to each winged minute. Old Dobbin kicks more dust into the wagon, for from experience he knows the meaning of the sound; and a kind motorman of a country car will perhaps "put on" more speed, in response to the prayers and bribes of his passengers. Nearer the scene of action the same nervous tension prevails. The street car upon which so much depends races on at a reckless rate, much to the satisfaction of the occupants. Machines make use of the fact that two wheels, instead of four, often facilitate matters in turning corners. Fences offer no obstruction to the sprinter, who has the well-known signal as a stimulus. Thus spring's warm sunshine, fall's scurrying leaves and chill air, heavy rains and light snows find the students arriving each morning at the University in their gentle courtship of the oft-evading goddess of learning.

LEO JAY DIRECTOR OF H. S. DRAMATICS

Leo J. Sandmann, '15, who was stage manager of the Strollers in 1914 and star of "Charley's Aunt," the 1915 play, was recently appointed director of dramatics at the Louisville Boys' High School. Mr. Sandmann, who is now a prominent attorney of Louisville, has written one of his old Stroller friends that the constitution and organization of the club in the Falls City are the same as those of the Strollers, and that he is very enthusiastic concerning the prospects of his club. He is to take up the work of dramatic director of the Girls' High School of Louisville in the near future.

GET YOUR OWN PAPER.

The Kernel wishes to request every student to go to the University postoffice on Thursday morning after 11 o'clock and get his own copy of the paper. No one is expected or allowed to take more than one copy, as there is only one for each student, and when more than one is taken some one else is deprived of his. The management regrets that it is necessary to make this request, but some persons have been taking more than their share of the good news and the custom will have to be stopped.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

On Friday, Saturday and Sunday, the Annual State Student Conference of the Kentucky Young Men's Christian Associations will be held at Georgetown College. A strong program has been provided. It is expected that not less than twenty-five students will attend from the University. Delegates are urged to see Secretary Johnson not later than Thursday evening so that entertainment can be provided. Ten professors expect to attend the faculty conference at the same time.

Thursday evening in the Gymnasium Building, the Young Men's Christian Association will give a social to the men of the Freshman class. The object is to get the members of the class better acquainted. A program made up of Freshman talent has been arranged. Fruit will be served.

Next Sunday evening at the religious meeting, the speaker will be E. J. Caswell. An inspirational hour is offered. It is hoped that all new members will be present promptly at 6:30.

COMPULSORY CHAPEL
ANGERS OUR CADETS

The first compulsory chapel attendance day was last Tuesday. The University battalion was marched in formation to chapel after the roll had been called and seated on one side of the house. The co-eds of the University were also present at the behest of Dean Hamilton, and for the first time in many moons the assembly room was crowded.

President Barker read from the Scriptures and attempted to make a short talk, but some persons in the audience behaved so badly that it was with difficulty that he was able to complete his remarks. The stamping of feet, hand-clapping at inopportune times and coughing were indulged in to the great discomfort of the president. Lieutenant Fairfax made a few remarks, and later stated that the battalion would go to chapel in the future with the same regularity and that its members would preserve a semblance of order.

The order to fall in and march to chapel did not meet with the approval of the battalion and some of the soldier lads thought they should express their disapproval.

W. D. Nichols, of the Animal Husbandry Department and head of the farm management department, has returned from a week's trip to Columbia, Mo., where he visited the college of agriculture and experiment station in the interest of the course of which he is now the head.

The course in farm management, which was inaugurated at the University of Missouri in 1912, has developed a number of very useful lines of work, far exceeding all expectations. This survey work was the first of its kind carried on west of the Mississippi River.

7TH PLACE FOR U. K.
STOCK-JUDGING TEAM

The University stock-judging team, which competed in the contests at Chicago this week, finished seventh out of fifteen schools represented. In the individual competition R. B. Rankin finished eighth.

On sheep judging the Kentucky team was third, on hogs they were sixth, on draft horses ninth and on cattle fifteenth. There are no draft horses in this part of the country, and their low standing may be attributed to this fact.

Purdue University finished first in the contest.

The End of the Season.

The University of Kentucky football team last Thursday closed a successful football season in a blaze of glory, if that over-worked phrase is permissible. The Tennessee game was a revelation even to the staunchest supporters of the team, and altho the score was a tie, it is generally admitted that the Wildcats out-played and out-generated their opponents. Kentucky fight and determination again proved that superior weight and "the dope" do not make unconquerable teams.

Much of the credit for the excellent showing of the Kentucky team must be given to Coach Tigert and his assistants. Most of the men on the team—in fact nearly all of them—were developed under the watchful eye of the long logician. The great Freshman football team of 1914 was coached by him. In the two years he has been coach the Wildcats have lost but two games, in spite of the fact that heavier schedules have been made out than ever before. The Kernel would not for a minute take away the slightest bit of honor that belongs to the students who composed the 1916 team, but it is only just to remind the University that their success was due to the coaching they have received; to the football Dr. Tigert has drilled into them.

As a whole, the student body has supported the team better than it has been supported in previous years. It has been said that the students here will not support the team when it loses. The cheering at the Sewanee game, only a week after the Vanderbilt affair, was the best of the year. The Kernel feels that the students should be commended for their spirit and for the sportsmanlike way in which visiting teams have been treated. The reception accorded other teams has been the subject of much favorable comment from outside sources. The Southern coaches, and especially Coach McGugin, have expressed their appreciation of the Kentucky spirit.

It is gratifying to realize that our team did so well in its big games, but after all it is better to know that a real spirit of sportsmanship is growing up on the campus.

The Kentucky Colonel Says:

The Kentucky University football team has no dislike for Tennessee, sub, but they did kick like steers when they learned they were on the Thanksgiving menu billed as roast turkey, sub.

Now that we have compulsory chapel why not have a rule requiring all students to attend classes, say, once a week?

At any rate, the Republicans can point out the fact that Mr. Wilson's eight-hour day for railroad employees will surely be a dismal failure in Alaska this winter.

It's a risky one to "pull," but we cannot help remarking concerning that broker who has several million eggs cornered, that we hope his well-laid plans go to smash.

And Wrung the Tears from Volunteers

Our hats are off again to that thin blue line of heroes who, with odds of weight, field and "dope" against them, humbled the mightiest machine in the South on its own field and demonstrated conclusively that, whatever their other deficiencies, Kentuckians can surely fight.

Christmas Gift—Something nobody wants and everyone is angry if he doesn't get.

Plum Pudding—An excuse for the sauce. So named because the plum is plumb absent.

Mistletoe—A dangerous vegetable which in its native habitat grows just beneath a chandelier. When in full bloom it signifies an approach of damp weather.

Santa Claus—The Salvation Army's best bet.

Yuletide—The Henglish way of saying it.

Xmas—An abbreviation of the above, the first syllable indicating how we feel when it is all over.

CURT PARK WRITES OF NORTHERN TRIP

Curt Park, who is in Chicago on a "stock-jedgin'" trip, has written the editor of the Kernel a letter in regard to the little poem which was dedicated to him in last week's issue. Curt wishes one or two lines changed. In particular he objects to the line which says: "He squeezed her round the neck," because some girls, he says, would rather not be squeezed so. We take pleasure in making the correction.

Curt says that he is getting homesick. He went into a restaurant in Lafayette, Ind., and saw on the menu card a drink called the "Lafayette Beauty," which had written under it the information that "there ain't no such animal." He agreed with the critic. The boys will be back in a few days.

SENIOR-SOPH GAME SET FOR SATURDAY

The Senior-Sophomore football game, which will decide the championship of the classes at the University, will be played on Stoll Field Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. In the first two games of the season the Seniors and the Juniors tied and the Sophs decisively beat the Freshmen. The Senior-Junior game was played over two weeks ago, with the result that the Maybe graduates defeated the third-year men by the score of 11 to 6. The dope favors neither side, and the indications are that the struggle will be of the hair-raising variety.

The line-up follows:

Seniors.	Sophs.
Clark Hall
	Left End.
Potts Smith
	Left Tackle.
Gaugh Tapscott
	Left Guard.
Crum Bland
	Center.
Kelly Planck
	Right Guard.

PROHI CLUB SELECTS THEME CONTEST PRIZES

Two Attractive Books Are Offered For Best Papers

The Prohibition Club has selected the following prizes to be awarded in the theme contest mentioned in the Kernel last week. The first prize will be a Webster's Student Dictionary and the second, a complete set of Shakespeare's works attractively bound in one volume. These prizes are offered by the club, the money for their purchase being donated by Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp, of Lexington, State president of the W. C. T. U.

Professor L. L. Dantzier, who has been co-operating with the prohibitionists in the promotion of the contest, in speaking of the prizes to a Kernel representative, said: "I have seen these books and consider them very attractive. Any Freshman or Sophomore student will do well to try for one of them."

The contestants should take notice that the time limit for handing in their themes has been moved up to noon of Friday, December 15. The winners will be announced and prizes awarded in chapel Tuesday, December 19. Themes must be handed to Professor Dantzier on or before the specified time, instead of the University post-office, as heretofore announced.

ALL-KENTUCKY TEAM

eff of his unbiased and careful selections.

U. K. Men on All-Ky.

Brittain, Rodes, Crutcher, Clements and Grabfelder made the All-Kentucky team. Kinne, Murphree, Haydon, McIlvain and Dempsey had votes cast for them, but did not get enough to put them on the mythical eleven.

"Doc" Rodes, with the glories of many a victory forming a coronet for him, and Brittain, the raging lion on the defense, whose scars and bruises didn't keep him from fighting and whose fierce work in the valley of defeat turned the tide of many a battle, share with Maury Crutcher, the indomitable captain of the Wildcats, the honor of being voted for by all the coaches in the State. Their superiority is unquestioned; their titles unchallenged.

No one who saw "Doc" Rodes with little interference tear for steady gains against the valiant Vanderbilt legions, and again strike terror into Sewanee and Mississippi and speed thru the Tennessee tacklers like a winged Mercury on a message from Olympus, when the game meant the championship to the Knoxville bunch, can say that "Doc" has not won his right.

Brittain won his laurels with a man's fight. He has outclassed every man he has hooked up against this year and kept a toll station in front of the Wildcat gate that no one passed without paying the price. Brittain is a wonder. Outweighed in nearly every game and a marked man by the interference he fought his fights.

And Crutcher. Maury has made a able general. His leadership has been a big factor in the Wildcats' great season. Steady as the commandant on parade and as reliable as the hour whistle he has never been found wanting.

Grabfelder, altho out of one game and in another only a short time, shone so brightly when the big games came that he undoubtedly deserves his rank.

Clements, the Thanksgiving turkey of Professor Roberts, gained his place at center by rights.

The others deserve their picks even tho they didn't quite go over.

Dr. Tigert picks McIlvain as all-star fullback and the only reason the others didn't is because this was Mac's first appearance and he wasn't well enough known to get the honors due him.

For All-Southern.

Many of the Southern writers give "Doc" All-Southern quarterback. He is certainly out on a little twig by himself in the tipmost top of the tipmost tree. The only reason that he wouldn't

Dean Miller Again Chosen
Executive Committee
Chairman

MEETING AT PHOENIX

The Association of Kentucky Colleges and Universities met at the Phoenix Hotel Saturday, with Dean J. L. Patterson, of the University of Louisville, presiding. An election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: Dr. W. A. Ganfield, president of Centre College, president; Dean T. B. Macartney, of Transylvania College, vice president, and Dr. Frank L. Rainey, of Centre College, was re-elected secretary-treasurer for his seventh term.

The executive committee remained unchanged with Dean A. M. Miller, of the University of Kentucky, chairman; President M. B. Adams, of Georgetown College; Dr. Frank L. Rainey, of Centre College; President J. L. Clark, of Kentucky Wesleyan; Dean T. B. Macartney, of Transylvania; Professor C. F. Rumold, of Berea College, and Dean John L. Patterson, of the University of Louisville.

Addresses were made by Registrar Ezra Gillis and by Judge Lyman Chalkley, of the University.

DEAN PAUL ANDERSON REPRESENTS STATE

Dean F. Paul Anderson represented Kentucky at a congress held in Washington to consider the adoption of a uniform boiler code. Safety and economy in manufacture also was considered by the congress, which was composed of leading engineers of the country, representing the respective states. Dean Anderson was recommended by manufacturers thruout the State, hence his appointment by the Governor. Dean Anderson also represented the University at a session of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers held in New York.

PATT. HALL PARTY.

Twenty-five girls made merry Thanksgiving night at the Hall with a chafing dish party given by the Y. W. C. A. for those who did not go home for the holidays.

The girls gathered early in the evening in two "triple" rooms. As they entered they were initiated one by one into the "Distinguished Order of Slim Fingers" and other similar organizations. Everyone entered heartily into the frivolity. The fun lasted until light-winking, when a "rabbit" of the peculiar Welsh variety brought a happy end to the party.

get the pick on all the teams is the fact that Rabbit Curry is present. They are certainly the two greatest quarterbacks. Many of the selections put Rodes at half and Curry at quarter or vice-versa. "Doc" should certainly have the place on the All-Southern team.

Then there is Brittain who also should be on All-Southern and who was neglected. Brittain's wonderful ability both as a defensive man and a charger make him the terror of all the teams Kentucky plays.

Other men on the squad, while they didn't gain All-Kentucky recognition, put themselves in line for the choice next year. But that story is 365 days off.

STUDENTS LEAVE CARS; RELIEVE PASSENGERS

Crowd Throngs Stations To Meet Last Train From Home

ALL ARE JUBILANT

Jubilant youths and fair co-eds, returning from the holidays, filled the stations Sunday night as each "last train from home" appeared. The boys and girls who had not gone home helped swell the crowd as they met each train. Some of the re-unions were touching.

At 8.30 o'clock a large number was still missing and the waiting mob in the station began to grow impatient. They were beginning to grow discontent when the C. & O. train from Louisville appeared loaded to the guards. From Pullman cars, day coaches, smoking cars and even from baggage cars they came. As the last co-ed and "rah-rah" boy left the train the passengers could be seen to heave deep sighs of relief.

Once inside the gates the mob scattered. A crowd of girls surrounded one lone man, the "Magnanimous Judge," and started hallelujah. There one happy couple scattered quickly away from the crowd. Gradually the crowd drifted away and the station was cleared. The people waiting for a later train, smiled after them, then they, too, heaved a sigh of relief.

Into town the crowd went, scattered now into many little groups. Perhaps the old campus out on South Lime sensed the return of its children and happy to be released from the silence of the last few days, in its turn, "heaved a sigh of relief." Who knows?

STROLLERS ACT AGAIN.

The members of the cast of the Stroller skit, "How the Ham Saved the Homestead," appeared at an entertainment given Tuesday night at Christ Church Cathedral for the benefit of the Girls' Friendly Society of the Church of the Good Shepherd, and made quite a hit with their offering. The actors had drilled on their lines since the recent Stroller party and their work on this occasion was even better than it was before. Those who took part were Nancy Innes, Mary Turner, Emery Frazier, William Shinnick, Herbert Graham and John Marsh.
