AGRICULTURAL NOTES.

An important change in the Agricultural College, which will prove of great value to that department, has been effected by combining with it the Kentucky Experiment Station. There are to be three divisions to this department: First, Educational; second, Experimental and third, that devoted to Extension.

Mr. T. R. Bryant, of '08, who has been connected with the Experiment Station since his graduation, will have an office in the Agriculture Building, and have charge of the Extension Department.

The Experiment Station Staff will consist of H. Garman, E. S. Goode, Geo. Roberts and T. R. Bryant.

The Agricultural College is to be congratulated in having had placed at their disposal the use of the Elmdorf Farm for experimental work; most important of which will concern the large new dairy, but lately completed. Probably the finest shorthorn cattle in the country are to be found at this farm, and these will be of great value to stock judging classes.

The work in the college has been extended and the whole third floor will be used for soil work. Present indications are that this year's attendance will be larger than ever before.

Last year's graduates have been placed as follows:

Mr. G. R. Eastwood is in the animal husbandry department at the Experiment Station; Mr. Geo. Becker, in the pure food department, while Mr. H. E. Ewan is in the agronomy department, doing work, both in the soil and field divisions.

The 1910 graduates of the College of Civil Engineering are located as follows:

Allison, L. M., Cynthiana and Cincinnati Traction Company, Cynthiana, Kentucky.
Barbee, R. C. Farming, Northwestern Canada.
Crafton, M. C., Louisville & Nashville Railway, Butler, Kentucky.
Dugan, F. C. Sewer Commission, Louisville, Ky.

DEAN OF WOMEN.

Miss Hamilton, late principal of Semple Seminary, of Louisville, has accepted the chair of Dean of Women. In order that she may become familiar with both the old and new students, Miss Hamilton will assist President White by taking charge of the student Register.

Mrs. Stout will continue as Physical Directress of women. On account of her duties in the Physical Department, Mrs. Stout gave up her office as Dean of Women in order that she might devote all of her time to the Physical Department.

COLLEGE EVENTS.

All the departments of the University are expecting a large increase in attendance over that of the previous year due to the recent ruling, which entitles high school graduates to free tuition.

Postmaster Walker has placed Sub-Station A at the University. Some two hundred and seventy-five boxes will be at the disposal of the students for a very reasonable rate.

Both the new and old dormitories will have lamp cord extensions in the rooms and concealed "knob and tube work" by the students will be dispensed with.

Lieutenant Hugh M. Kelly, 26th Infantry, has taken the chair of Military Science and Tactics. Vice First Lieutenant P. W. Corbusier, 7th Cavalry, resigned.

Major Kelly will reside with his mother and sister on the campus at the Commandant's Home.

To Every Student of Old State

We want you to help us awaken our alumni, faculty and student body by subscribing for THE IDEA.

This is a student publication gotten out each week during the collegiate year by the students under the supervision of the Advisory Board and the Faculty.

Do you want to keep in touch with us and learn more about the University, the new work, athletics, and the men interested in college activities? If so, don't throw this paper aside to be forgotten until you put your name and address on a subscription blank; and DO IT NOW.

We are not financially able to establish an elaborate "follow-up" system, so we want all would-be subscribers to send in their subscriptions at once, without further solicitation.

Be a booster for our State University and help to make this student publication one of the best in the Middle West.

During the last college year thirty-five issues were published. THE IDEA is alive and is going to keep on growing. It may have its faults, but we are not aware of anything on this mundane sphere that is free from criticism, merited or unmerited. Let us get together on this matter and see if we can't get out a weekly paper of which every student and alumnus will be proud. We don't guarantee to satisfy you, but we promise to try.

There is no money in this proposition for those of us who are under the burden, trying to put it on the plane of success. We will undertake to do our part thoroughly and cheerfully, if you will do yours.

THE IDEA,
Lexington, Kentucky.

The foot-ball proposition reduced to its lowest terms is, whether we can lose eight "K" men and still "come back"?

We have to find men to replace Barbee, Rodes, Shelby, Johnson, Rout, Plummer, Ellis and Hendrickson. All of the above men played in the Thanksgiving game against Central.

The problem that is up to the student body is simply whether it is worth while to send out material to fill these places. If the students of Kentucky State want a championship team and want it decidedly enough to think seriously about getting out material for the team and supporting the team in every way possible then we may be able to get out a satisfactory team.

Never has there been a time when men untrained in foot-ball stood as good a chance to help themselves and their institution as at the present time. The change in the rules will require many of the positions to be played in a manner entirely different from that in vogue formerly, and all candidates, old and new men alike, start on practically even terms.

The group of men who can recover from the shock first, and be the quickest to adjust themselves to the new order, will make the Championship team for 1910.

With this point in mind, and in view of the further fact, that the team can ill afford to lose time from practice, as well as equipment, later in the season, it has been thought best to play the class games early in the season.

If we could secure as much earnest endeavor directed toward the production of a good varsity team as has each year been wasted on a flag rush, we will certainly get a good start toward a strong team.

By substituting class games of foot-ball, played early in the season, for the flag rush we will have an opportunity to see practically all the foot-ball material in the school at work early in the year and then have an opportunity to use these players for the first team wherever they show up well. That would give a schedule as follows:

- September 17th—Senior vs. Junior.
- September 21st—Sophomore vs. Freshmen.
- September 24th—Winner of two previous games.
- September 24th—Ohio University at Lexington.
- October 1st—Maysville College at Lexington.
- October 8th—University of North Carolina, at Lexington.
- October 15th—Kentucky Wesleyan, at Winchester.
- October 22nd—Georgetown, at Lexington.
- October 29th—Tulane University, at Lexington.
- November 5th—University of Tennessee, at Knoxville.
- November 12th—St. Louis University, at St. Louis.
- November 17th—Berea College, at Lexington.
- November 24th—Central University, at Lexington.

It is easy to see that we will find plenty of hard going in this schedule.

Ohio University is a member of the Conference or "Big Mine" of Ohio, and expect this year to have one of the best, if not the best, teams in Ohio.

Maryville last year defeated Berea by a score of 24 to 0 and have built up a strong team for this season.

University of North Carolina last season shut out such teams as Georgetown, Wake Forest, Virginia M. I., Richmond, Washington and Lee, and University of Tennessee. Losing but one game during the season.

Last season we had a hard time to score three times against Kentucky Wesleyan and their team will be much stronger this year.

Most of the students still recall the 6-5 score in favor of Georgetown at the end of the first half of the Georgetown game last year.

Last year Tulane defeated University of Mississippi, Mississippi A. and M. played a tie game with University of Texas and University of Alabama.

University of Tennessee can be counted on to play the hardest kind of a game at Knoxville on November 5th.

St. Louis has, in the past, turned out good teams in 1908. Sewanee and St. Louis played to a standstill in a no score game.

The same year Vanderbilt and Sewanee played a 6-6 game on Thanksgiving day.

The same St. Louis team won from University of Arkansas by a 24-0 score.

The last time Kentucky and St. Louis met on the foot-ball field the score was somewhat more than eighty to nothing in favor of St. Louis.

Berea had the largest and best squad out for spring practice, last spring that could be found in the state.

Those best acquainted with the men and methods of Central expect to see a stronger team sent out from Danville than ever before.

On October 17th Central meets Sewanee in Louisville.

It would be a great help toward building a winning team if the students, who come out to watch the foot-ball practice, would remain on the bleachers and not crowd out on the field of play.

TO THE STUDENTS IN GENERAL,
NEW AND OLD.

Very few persons realize the importance of the part played by advertising in the life of a publication. Still fewer realize just how little of its expense could be paid for from the receipts of sales and subscriptions alone. Hence it becomes absolutely necessary to carry a sufficient number of "Ads" to keep it up, or make it a money earner.

THE IDEA is a college paper BY its students and FOR its students. It is not—nor is it expected to be a money earner. If you do not believe this ask the Business Staff how many hours sleep they have lost figuring how much advertising had to be carried to make things split even!

Its object is to place before the students of the University, news that is of interest to them, that cannot be placed before them by other means. It must be the binding thread among the students that shall create and foster that elusive adjunct to college life known as "College Spirit." In a university as strong and as large as State it is necessary to its growth and hence MUST LIVE.

The ads in this paper represent the best, most progressive business firms in the city, not an advertiser but that is worthy of your trade!

These firms realize how much money is brought here by the students to be spent among them and they are using the Idea as a means of bringing to your notice their names and places of business.

Naturally they expect returns. They expect the students of this University to trade with THEM; not with the fellow next door or across the street whose name does not appear in this—the official college paper.

So this is what we are going to ask of you—"Trade with those who trade with us." Read our advertisements. Read carefully and remember the names of those who have advertised with us. Put a copy of the Idea in your pocket and when you go down town—trade with them. You can't find better places. Casually mention the Idea. It will cost you nothing and your occasional mention of having seen their advertisement in the Idea may be the means of continuing their advertisement throughout the year. Very few of them carry yearly contracts with us—and they are all from Missouri.

Remember boys—and girls, too—we can't run without our advertisers—they won't advertise unless they can hear the remunerative scream of the eagle on your money—and the Idea is YOUR paper—not ours—and it must succeed and shall.

So fellows, its up to you. Pull with us, and help to make the Idea the best college paper in the country. You can do your part if you will by always remembering to "TRADE WITH THOSE WHO TRADE WITH US."

By Miss Margaret Hart.

The marriage of Miss Isabella West Marshall to Dr. Graham Edgar, Professor of Chemistry of the University of Virginia, was solemnized last Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock, at the bride's home, 718 Rose street.

The house was decorated with starry clematis garlanded over the doors and windows, forming a complete bower, while Astors in huge jardinières were used very effectively throughout the house. Lighted white tapers threw a soft glow over the assemblage and altar banked with bowed palms and ferns where the Episcopal Service was performed.

Mendelson's Wedding March, played by Miss Florence Rogers, heralded the approach of the ribbon bearers, four of the bride's most intimate friends, Misses Margaret Hart, Sarah Chorn, Katherine Hopson and Louise Rodes. Each carried a wreath of Clematis fastened to a rope of Simlax. Next came the charming Maid of Honor, the bride's sister, Miss Sara Rossetter Marshall in a white chiffon costume, who carried a bouquet of pink roses tied with a large pink bow of soft tulle. Then came the bride, gowned in a white duchesse satin with a corsage of real lace, on the arm of her brother, Mr. Alford Marshall, of St. Joe Idaho. The bride was joined at the altar by Dr. Edgar, who entered with his brother, Mr. R. Bliss Edgar, of Montgomery, Ala.

After the ceremony a delicious supper was served. The emblems from the wedding cake were drawn; Miss Alice Cary Williams drawing the ring, Miss Georgia West, of New York, the thimble, Miss Aubyn Chinn, of Frankfort, the dime, Miss Margaret Hart, of Pisgah caught the bride's bouquet.

The bridal couple left over the evening train for their honeymoon in the mountains of Virginia. Upon their return they will go to house-keeping at their new home in Charlottesville, Virginia.

State will endeavor to support two musical clubs this year instead of only the Glee Club, as in former years. This never was decided on last year, and considering the amount of material in school, there is no reason for not having two first-class organizations. The mandolin club will be under the same management as the Glee, but will act as an individual organization on all the concert programs.

Nearly all the schools in the country that have a Glee Club also have a Mandolin Club and one is as essential on the program as the other. The program for each concert will be divided between the clubs, with possibly a concerted number for both.

The prospects for the Glee Club are unusually bright this year. Naturally the Freshman class is expected to furnish a large number of new men and with the old men of last year a good bunch ought to be developed. The Glee Club was fortunate in losing only four men by graduation last year, and will be able to start the season with a number of seasoned singers. New men as well as those who have been in college, but have never tried out for the Glee Club, should have no hesitancy in coming out, either for fear of not being good enough, or from bashfulness, as every tryout, although individual, will be strictly private and thus relieve some of the nervousness that is shown in singing before a number of students.

The Glee Club will require a large number of first and second tenors as well as several baritones, and will need especially several good basses.

The Mandolin Club being in its infancy, will have to depend entirely on the way the students respond to this call for members. The instruments that will be needed, are as follows: Mandolins, guitars, banjos, violins, cellos, flutes, and bass violins. Any student who can play any of the above instruments should come and give in his name, even if he is not a finished musician. No one should feel that he is not good enough to tryout, or that the old men have the places "cinched." The Glee Club personnel is not determined until some time after the tryout and no one is sure of a place until he has shown his ability. The Glee and Mandolin Clubs are very fortunate in again having Prof. F. L. Wheeler as director for this year. The officers of the Club this year have not been selected but our election will be held soon after school has started. The clubs will take several trips this year and it is hoped that a concert can be given before Thanksgiving.

The tryout for both the Glee and Mandolin Clubs will be held on September 15 at 4:30 p. m. in the Y. M. C. A. room. Everyone who is interested in this form of amusement should attend, and don't feel that there is no chance for you.

FOR COLLEGE MEN.

The trousers keep in place without suspenders,—with out a belt even. And you have to stand and walk erect. It helps develop the figure, it's a shape maker. It's the best thing done in clothes-making for fifty years.
