THE UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

. . . The State Is Our Campus

Located in Lexington, an urban community of over 140,000 population in the heart of Kentucky's famed Blue Grass region, University of Kentucky is a state-supported, land-grant institution which celebrated its centennial year in 1965.

The present school, which this fall expects 18,000 students and now offers instruction in 10 academic colleges plus a Graduate School and a Community College system, had its beginnings in 1865 when it was established as a part of old Kentucky University. This action by the State Legislature united sectarian and public education under one organization for the first time. Federal funds authorized under the Morrill Act were used to develop agriculture and mechanical arts within KU and, in 1878, A&M College was separated from KU to become a separate state institution on the general site of what is now the 706-acre main campus. Name changes in 1908 and 1916 resulted in the title by which the school is now known.

The University is on the approved list of the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. It is fully accredited in its respective colleges and departments by all of the major professional societies and educational organizations.

A new chief administrative officer, Dr. John W. Oswald, took over reins of the University at the beginning of the 1963-64 school year.

Dr. Oswald, at the age of only 48 years, came to his position at Kentucky well-equipped in academic training and administrative experience plus an unusual (for a college president) background as both player and coach during his collegiate days. The UK president picked up his bachelor's degree from DePauw University and was awarded the Ph.D. degree by University of California, the institution from which he transferred to Kentucky. At California, John Oswald held many academic and administrative positions, rising to the post of vice-president-administration for the Statewide University. The special field of the UK president is plant pathology. His athletic background that now stands him in good stead came while he attended DePauw. There he played the grid sport for three years, served as team captain in his senior season of 1937, and lettered as well in basketball and track. Later, while associated with California, the Phi Beta Kappa graduate and former PT boat skipper tried his hand three years (1949-50-51) as a football coach (by avocation) of the Davis campus team. Dr. Oswald was honored in 1962 by selection on the Sports Illustrated Silver Anniversary All-America football team.

ATHLETICS AT KENTUCKY

Kentucky's athletic program, a well-balanced and ambitious activity featuring inter-collegiate competition in ten different sports, is organized under the Department of Athletics and a corporation known as the University of Kentucky Athletics Association.

The program is conducted without overemphasis or sacrifice of educational objectives and in strict compliance with the rules of the University, the Southeastern Conference and the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

A board of directors, headed by University President John W. Oswald in the capacity of chairman, maintains overall policy supervision of the athletic program. Ex-officio members, in addition to the president, include Vice Presidents Robert Johnson, and Glen Creech, Dr. W. L. Matthews in the capacity of secretary to the board, and a student representative—all appointed by the president. Twelve other men, drawn from the University faculty and the general public, also serve on the board as appointees of the president.

Supervising the steady growth and balanced development of one of the nation's top athletic programs is Bernie A. Shively, a former Illinois grid All-American and a veteran of over 25 years in the post of Director of Athletics.

The Association's Board of Directors is composed of the following:

Dr. John W. Oswald, Chairman	Dr. Glen Creech
Robert Johnson, Vice Chairman	Dr. John Douglas
Dr. W. L. Matthews, Jr., Secretary	Dr. Lyman Ginger
Dr. Ralph Angelucci	Dr. A. D. Kirwan
Prof. David Blythe	Carson Porter (Student)
Dr. Aubrey Brown	Douglas Parrish
Dr. Loren Carlson	James H. Pence
Dr. Thomas Clark	Dr. Douglas Schwartz
	Floyd Wright

KENTUCKY'S COLORS

The blue and white of the University of Kentucky are known to sports fans everywhere. Officially the colors are Yale blue and white, but in the beginning, when the Lexington institution was still known as the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Kentucky, the colors were "Stoll blue" and white. One day back in the 1890's a group of Kentucky football stalwarts met to choose their school colors. Someone suggested blue and white—"blue like Dick Stoll's necktie"—and those colors were immediately adopted. "Dick" Stoll was to become Judge Richard C. Stoll, distinguished public servant and, for more than fifty years before his death, a member of the U.K. board of trustees.

NEW STADIUM FOR WILDCATS ONE STEP NEARER TO REALITY

For an unusual reason, the University of Kentucky grid Wildcats are now one step nearer to the reality of playing in a spacious new stadium.

While the motivating force is somewhat strange to the field of stadium construction, it is also an understandable and simple one—the University vitally needs the main campus site of the present Stoll Field-McLean Stadium for near-future academic expansion.

The University's Athletic Board and Board of Trustees, with this in mind, authorized site investigation and feasibility studies which culminated June 17 with the announcement of a Trustees' decision to proceed with physical and financial planning of the new stadium to be located on the University-owned Coldstream Farm. The site selected after extensive investigations is a 150-acre tract of generally-level farm land a few miles north of the City of Lexington near Interstate highways and other major traffic arteries.

Proposals now on the drawing board call for a modern concrete and steel structure with a permanent seating capacity of 50,000 and suitably designed to allow for addition of more seating if and when this is deemed feasible. Surrounding the stadium will be blacktopped areas capable of accommodating 10,000 cars for parking. Space on the site also will be planned for future development that might include re-locating Memorial Coliseum from its present site across the street from "doomed" Stoll Field.

While exact cost estimates await completion of the design and financing consideration, it is tentatively figured that the new stadium will cost between $4-$5 million.

Target date for completion is 1968, but less optimistic forecasters feel the stadium is not likely to be ready before the fall of 1969.

The new stadium will replace one of the oldest football structures in the South. First sections of Stoll Field (or more properly McLean Stadium) were completed in September, 1924. The 12,300 seating capacity was enlarged by 14,300 in 1948. Eleven years later (in 1959) the box seat area was upgraded and increased by 1,535. Current capacity is 36,900. Other improvements also have been made to keep pace with modern day patron demands.

However, it is obvious to most people that the stadium is antiquated. Parking facilities in the vicinity are inadequate and the street systems unable to handle the peak traffic flow properly.

Overriding all other considerations is the fact that the property now occupied by the stadium and adjacent area, once the private cow pasture of an early president and used for football since the first game in the South was played on the site in 1880, is now the most valuable and needed property not presently put to academic use.

University officials have indicated the present football area will be used to expand the school's Fine Arts facilities and architectural study programs.

PAGES OUT OF THE HISTORY BOOK

Kentucky's first inter-collegiate football game of record occurred Nov. 12, 1881, when Kentucky A & M College took the measure of Kentucky University (later Transylvania) by a score of 7¼ to 1 . . . One of the most illustrious pages in UK football history covers the perfect-season exploits of the 1898 team which became the first and only Kentucky grid outfit to go undefeated, untied and unscored on . . . Spring practice was held for the first time in UK grid history in 1926 by Coach Fred Murphy . . . Coach E. R. Sweetland experimented with a new formation at the start of the 1910 season that saw all four backfield men lined up side by side instead of in the conventional pattern with the quarterback directly behind center . . . One of the greatest individual performances ever seen on the nation's gridirons took place in Lexington in 1914 as Kentucky quarterback Jim Park, later active in politics, passed for five TD's and personally scored five more in an 81-3 rout of Earlham . . . Only All-America Babe Parilli has come close to surpassing the school record as he twice connected for five scoring aerials in the 1951 season . . . The "Kentucky Babe" still holds the all-time SEC record for TD passes thrown in a single season, accounting for 23 in regular season play in his junior year of 1950. He connected for one more as the Wildcats upset Oklahoma in the Sugar Bowl on New Year's Day, 1951 . . . Kentucky copped the Southeastern Conference football championship for the first and only time in history in the 1950 season.

NORTON AND PARILLI

The argument over who was the better "pure passer"—Rick Norton (1963-65) or Babe Parilli (1949-51)—will long persist among Kentucky football fans. Norton capped a great career in 1965 by edging some of the fabulous Babe's marks and failing to match others. For the record, the comparative performances for regular season play are shown below. For more detailed information on who holds which record, consult the records section elsewhere in this book.

Kentucky's 1898 football team won seven games, lost none and tied none for the only perfect record in the school's history. The Wildcats were also unscored upon.

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS
Bernie A. Shively

University of Kentucky is able to boast proudly of having one of the nation's most harmonious and well-balanced athletic programs—September to June activity in 10 different sports featuring more than 500 athletes in action before audiences that exceed a half million persons and involving use of facilities valued at several million dollars.

Supervising the steady growth and balanced development of one of the top intercollegiate athletic programs in the country today is a tall, silver-haired, former gridiron All-American known familiarly to thousands of UK sport fans as "Shive."

He is, by name, Bernie A. Shively. In his position as Kentucky's Director of Athletics since 1938, this gentleman of many talents has been largely responsible for guiding the University to increasing prominence in the athletic world.

In addition to a fair-minded policy direction that has resulted in "big time" stature for the school's athletic teams, Shively during his 28-year tenure has directly supervised major expansions in the physical plant designed to keep pace with the growing patronage by a sports-minded public. Among these have been the doubling of the seating capacity of Stoll Field, construction of a four-million-dollar coliseum and preparation of a spacious sports center to provide top facilities for spring sports teams and football practice.

The football stadium expansion upped the number of seats to approximately 37,500 and placed the facility on a par with stadiums located in heavier-populated areas. In addition, powerful new "iodized" lighting equipment was installed during the 1948-49 construction to bring night football into new popularity and, more recently, attention was given to improving the playing surface. A major renovation raised the level of the field to provide the fans better visibility of the action and a special, tough strain of Bermuda grass replaced the existing Blue Grass that succumbed annually to tearing cleats. Now, the far-sighted Shively dreams of an entirely new stadium located off campus and the project is in the serious "talking stage" with financing and physical planning being studied.

Proof of Shively's vision of future needs is given by the overwhelming number of cage devotees who now make use of the opportunity to see the successful basketball Wildcats in 11,500-seat Memorial Coliseum. Few besides the UK Athletic Director could foresee continual capacity crowds when the Coliseum became the biggest and finest on-campus arena in 1950.

The Sports Center—with an all-weather rubber-asphalt track, two baseball diamonds and the most spacious football practice field in the South—has few, if any, equals in the country.

Also among the impressive facilities acquired under Shively's direction are a pair of modern, ranch-style dwellings on fraternity row that serve as the home away from home for the footballers.

Shively's first claim to fame came during undergraduate days at University of Illinois as he achieved All-America recognition as a guard on the 1926 grid team.

Shively also has found time to be active in civic and alumni affairs and attained national prominence for his chairmanship of the NCAA's University Division Basketball Tournament Committee. Just prior to completing his second term at the head of this committee, Shively and the University were honored as he was named to the NCAA Executive Committee.

Born in Oliver, Ill., May 26, 1903, Shively attended Paris (Ill.) High school and there began his athletic career by participating in track and football. Although he was considered an outstanding backfield man in high school, Shively didn't attract the serious attention of collegiate scouts. He entered Illinois and tried out for the football team on his own. From that humble beginning, Shively went on to become a great guard under Coach Bob Zuppke on the same Illini team made famous by the immortal Red Grange.

Played With Grange at Illinois

Shive played two years with Grange, running interference for the "Gallop- ing Ghost" and made All-America in 1926 as a senior despite a bad knee that handicapped his playing. He also won the heavyweight wrestling championship of the Big 10 and was a standout in track to rank as one of the finest all-around athletes in Illinois' history.

Shively came to Kentucky in 1927 as line coach of football under Harry Gammage and six years later was named head of the UK Physical Education Department. He succeeded Chet Wynne as Athletic Director in 1938. During this period and the years following, he also served as track and baseball coach for several seasons and continued to assist the football staff as line coach until 1944. The next year, 1945, he assumed full charge of the grid squad for one season before turning the job over to mentor Paul (Bear) Bryant in 1946.

The Kentucky Athletic Director for the past 13 years has been president of the Southeastern Conference Coaches and Athletic Directors Association. He served as chairman of the SEC Basketball Committee for a number of years and is a past chairman of the NCAA summer baseball group.

Shively and his wife, Ruth, have two children. Doug was a star end on the UK grid team for three years ending in 1958 and is now coaching at UK while daughter Suzanne was a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of UK in 1957.

BRADSHAW THIRD ALUMNUS COACH

Charlie Bradshaw, an alumnus of the University of Kentucky class of 1949, became the third graduate of the school to take over the head football coaching reins when he was hired January 10, 1962. The first coach with that distinction was J. White Guyn, tutor of the Wildcats in 1906-08, and the only other grad to take up duties at his alma mater was A. D. (Ab) Kirwan, coach for the seasons 1938-44.

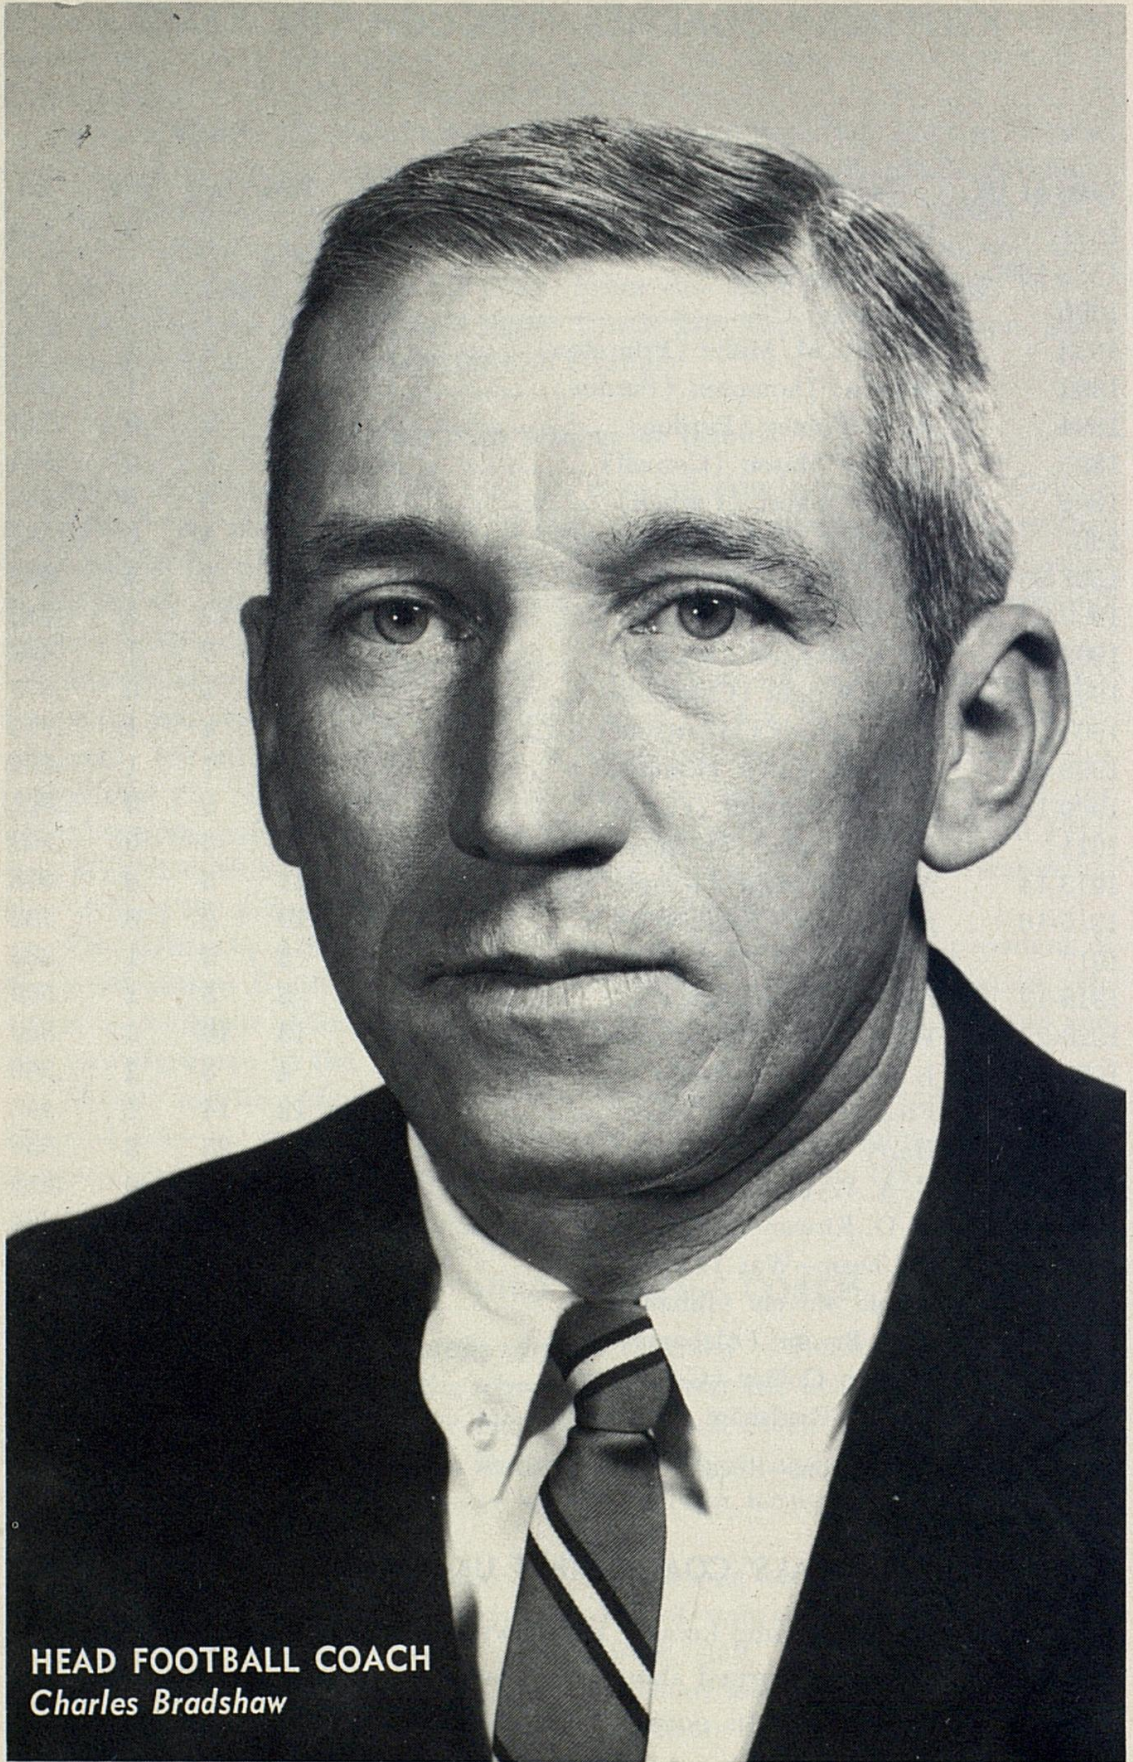

Like their boss, four members of the coaching staff did their collegiate footballing at Kentucky. The playing career of assistant George Sengel overlapped that of Bradshaw (player 1942, 46-49; staff '54-58) while aides Ray Callahan and Doug Shively played when Bradshaw was on the staff. Asst. coach Jimmy Poynter began his UK career as a freshman in Bradshaw's final year as an assistant.

GALS' COACH FIRST UK MENTOR

Prof. A. M. Miller, who became Kentucky's first football coach in 1892, was chosen because he had learned about the game from sideline observations while a student at Princeton. His only previous coaching experience was at a girls' school in Pennsylvania.

HEAD FOOTBALL COACH
Charles Bradshaw

After four hectic years, Charlie Bradshaw stands high as a coach and gentleman fully vindicated in his promise to rebuild the shattered foundations of Kentucky football into a solid front and re-establish a winning tradition.

Exemplifying the faith placed in his hard work philosophy and procedures is the unique "lifetime" contract tendered the youthful and determined ex-Wildcat upon the successful (6-4) completion of an adversity-plagued 1965 season. The new pact, believed unique to college-coach relationships, assures Bradshaw of tenure similar to that given academic personnel. At such time as he ceases to perform his current coaching duties, he will have the opportunity to take another position on the University staff.

Bradshaw, a 41-year-old former UK end and assistant coach, returned to his alma mater in 1962 to take on the difficult task of repairing a sputtering Kentucky football machine that had not run well since the glorious early fifties Bowl Era.

The magnitude of the repair job probably never will be fully understood by anyone less closely connected with it than the self-sacrificing Bradshaw. Only he could take a positive approach to the almost impossible problems—and, more importantly, stick with it in the face of increasing odds. How he tackled the assignment of producing a winner out of the meager raw material reflects the type of person Charlie Bradshaw is—the personification of qualities of inner fortitude, outwardly serious demeanor, ability, confidence, integrity and quiet determination. He is an inspirational leader possessing the valuable trait of exuding enthusiasm and confidence to a degree that inspires those around him—players and assistants—to get the job done in a way that pays off with success. He demands great effort of himself and others in the belief that success cannot be purchased easily.

Bradshaw Influence Felt Around State

Bradshaw's influence not only is paying off with success on the gridiron—his 1965 team posted the school's best record since 1956—but also is being felt around the state. Coaches, alumni, general public and prospective Wildcats are rallying to the side of Bradshaw's long-range program in a fashion never before seen in the State of Kentucky.

He believes in the direct way of doing things. The emphasis is on how to win instead of what mistakes can be costly enough to cause a loss. He makes a habit of being fair, sincere and honest with his team and in turn expects the same from his players. He stresses the pride to be gained from 100 percent effort and of doing things right—which he feels to be synonymous with winning football. The church and school also play prominent roles in the plan of devoutly Christian (Baptist) Bradshaw.

The football philosophy of Bradshaw, who assumed his first head coaching position in January, 1962, when he succeeded Blanton Collier as the institution's third alumnus coach, was schooled into him by nine years' service in an assistant's capacity on the staffs of UK and Alabama. Yet, the approach to the game taken by the Wildcat mentor is mainly and uniquely Bradshaw's own.

Charlie grew up in Montgomery, Ala., and started his football at the age of 15 in Sidney Lanier High. Upon graduation, he was attracted to the University of Kentucky and attended one semester in 1942 without seeing any grid action.

After that first semester, he withdrew to enter the Marine Corps. He served for three years and saw 19 months' action in the Pacific Theater. Following his discharge, Bradshaw returned to UK to play on Paul Bryant's first three Wildcat aggregations.. He earned the first of four letters as a center in 1946 and picked up his three subsequent monograms as a 165-pound end. Attempting to get in an allowable fourth year of competition as a graduate student in 1949, he was ruled ineligible after three games by the SEC Commissioner.

Bradshaw remained on the coaching staff as a student assistant for the remainder of the season and then, in 1950, returned to his home town high school (Sidney Lanier in Montgomery, Ala.) as coach and co-ordinator of a junior high program—a position he retained until chosen an aide on the first UK staff of Blanton Collier in 1954. After five years as end coach and later offensive back-field coach, Charlie moved in 1959 to Alabama as a line tutor for Coach Bryant.

Graduated From Kentucky In '49

Coach Bradshaw was graduated from the University of Kentucky in 1949 with an AB in Commerce and physical education and later was awarded a master's degree in school administration. He married his high school sweetheart, Martha Austin of Montgomery, in 1945 and they have a daughter, eight-year-old Leigh, and a son, Charles Austin, born prior to 1964 season.

Bradshaw's first four seasons at Kentucky have been remarkable in view of the fact that they have been beset by all manner of troubles—ranging from lack of talent and wholesale departures of players unwilling to pay the price for eventual success to untimely bad luck and injuries to key personnel. Fighting back with all the resources and determination at his command, the dedicated coach kept his Wildcats' collective head above water as he built a solid base that has begun to show results.

In 1962—his first season—Bradshaw's "Thin Thirty" (only 28 men finished the campaign) won just three games. Despite the presence of eight sophomores in the lineup the next season, Kentucky refused to give up and won three again. After suffering through two rebuilding seasons with a combined record of 6-11-3, Bradshaw's 1964 force proved itself a coming power. The team upset two pre-season choices for the national title (Mississippi and Auburn), won some other games with hard in-fighting and claimed a second place tie in the tough Southeastern Conference. The experts were startled by the bold Wildcats, who made their highest finish in more than a decade and a significant jump from 11th place the year before. Last season, Kentucky climbed another rung on the ladder as it put a 6-4 record on the books despite being plagued by injuries. The Wildcats were in bowl contention all the way until dropping the final two games following injury to All-America quarterback Rick Norton. They ranked 17th in the final UPI poll—marking their first appearance at the end of the season among the nation's top 20 since 1954.

Bradshaw, honored as National Coach of the Week in 1964 following his team's stunning upset of Ole Miss, served as an assistant on the Grays' coaching staff for the 1962 Blue-Gray Game in his hometown of Montgomery, Ala.

WILDCAT COACHING STAFF

RAY CALLAHAN

Offensive Interior Line Coach

Appointed to the Bradshaw staff just prior to the 1963 season, Ray Callahan is a former Wildcat who entered the collegiate coaching field for the first time. However, the former UK back and guard is no stranger in state grid coaching circles as he boasts a highly creditable record of 28-13-2 for four seasons as a head tutor in high school and earlier served with distinction as an assistant at two schools. Ray enrolled at UK in 1952 following a star career at home town Lebanon (Ky.) High school, where he played three years as a halfback. As a Wildcat, he was first used at fullback but switched over to guard in his junior season. Although he had never played the position before, he came along fast and played regularly through his final two campaigns. He made good in coaching following graduation, holding assistant jobs at Versailles (Ky.) High in 1956 and at Louisville's Manual High for the 1957 and 1958 seasons before accepting the head coaching position at Danville (Ky.) High. Callahan capped his fourth season with the Admirals in 1962 by winning the state Class AA title and picking up personal honor as "AA Coach of the Year." Working with UK freshmen for two seasons (head coach in '64), Ray saw his charges go undefeated in eight straight games . . . Varsity assignment is with offensive interior line. Born 4/28/33 . . . Married to the former Essie Lee Dorsey of Lebanon and they have two children, Kenny 8 and Karen 6.

WALLY ENGLISH

Offensive Backfield Coach

After putting in one season (1965) of apprenticeship on Coach Charlie Bradshaw's football staff in the role of a graduate assistant, Wally English was promoted to the status of a full-time aide in January, 1966. In his new capacity, he fills the post of an assistant offensive backfield coach and takes over duties performed in 1965 by Asst. Coach Leeman Bennett, who resigned to move to University of Pittsburgh. The 29-year-old native of Louisville has a background of playing and coaching experience in Kentucky and Texas. He attended University of Louisville and operated three seasons as a quarterback for the Cardinals (1955-57). English started his coaching career in his hometown of Louisville as an assistant on the staff at DeSales High School in 1959 after a service hitch. The next four years (1960-63), he spent as head coach of Louisville's Bishop David High and then was at Mt. Carmel High in Houston, Texas, for the 1964 season before returning to his native state. Shortly after his return, English joined the Kentucky staff as a graduate assistant. Born 6/28/37 and married to the former Peggy Karem of Louisville . . . They have three sons—Jon, 5; Steven, 4; and Daniel, 2.

LEON FULLER

Defensive Backfield Coach

Former All-Conference defensive back and academic All-America while performing at University of Alabama, Leon Fuller was added to the University of Kentucky football coaching staff shortly after the 1965 season. The slightly-built, youthful Fuller moved to the Wildcats from Oklahoma State, where he had served as an assistant for three years. A native of Nederland, Texas, Fuller was a four-sport standout in high school there before entering Tyler (Tex.) Junior College. At Tyler, Leon attained Junior College All-America honor in 1958. He then transferred to Alabama for a final two years of competition and played under Charlie Bradshaw, then a Crimson Tide assistant, in 1959 and 1960. In addition to lettering both seasons, Fuller was chosen as an All-SEC defensive back, made the Academic All-America team and was selected as Alabama's outstanding athlete in 1960. He was named to play in the Shrine North-South Game and the Senior Bowl following Alabama's appearance in the Bluebonnet Bowl. Fuller has the distinction of serving as his team's captain in his final year as a schoolboy, junior college, and collegiate performer . . . Born 7/28/38 in Nederland, Tex. . . . Not married.

JOE MOSS

Offensive and Defensive Interior Line Coach

One of the newer aides on Charlie Bradshaw's staff, Joe Moss reported in March, 1965, from a coaching position at football-famed Staunton Military Academy. He was the third new assistant added to the staff since the close of the 1964 season. At Kentucky, Moss now works with the interior linemen on both offense and defense—which should come naturally in view of his playing and coaching line experience. He was an All-Southern tackle in 1961 while performing for Virginia Tech. In addition, he served as the Gobblers' grid captain the same season—when ex-UK Wildcat Jerry Claiborne took over the head coaching reins at VPI. The 28-year-old Moss, who majored in animal husbandry, began his coaching career at his alma mater and then moved to Staunton as an assistant to spend the three seasons that preceded his transfer to Kentucky. Moss is credited with developing many fine linemen and possessing a sound knowledge of football plus an ability to inspire youngsters under his direction. An Episcopalian, he was born 9/8/37 and calls Burkes Garden, Va., home. Moss is married to the former Waverly Rogerson of Marion, Va., and they have a son, Joe III, 1½.

PHIL OWEN

Offensive and Defensive Backfield Coach

Phil (Duke) Owen, a highly-successful schoolboy coach at Mt. Sterling (Ky.) High for nine years, joined the Bradshaw staff at his state university just a few weeks before the 1964 season opened. A 35-year-old native of Lebanon, Ky., Duke (like three other current UK assistants) is tutoring in the collegiate ranks for the first time. He worked primarily with the freshmen for the past two seasons, enjoying an undefeated campaign in 1964. Owen's varsity assignment for the 1966 season will involve coaching backs on both offense and defense.

Owen attended high school in his hometown of Lebanon and later enrolled at Georgetown College, where he was an outstanding halfback for four years prior to graduation in 1953. He served as the Tigers' captain in both his junior and senior seasons. The UK aide began his coaching career at Mt. Sterling in 1955 following release from two years Army service in Europe. During his nine-year tenure, his teams posted winning records six times and he was honored as Central Kentucky Conference "Coach of the Year" in 1960. He guided the Trojans to Recreation Bowl wins in 1959, '60 and '62 and served on the staff for the 1959 schoolboy East-West classic . . . Born 1/12/31 . . . Married to former Florence Deeb of Louisville and they have two sons—David 8, and Mitchell 6.

CHARLEY PELL

Defensive Interior Line Coach

Experienced through stellar collegiate line play at University of Alabama and as a member of Coach Paul Bryant's Crimson Tide coaching staff, Charley Pell became a Bradshaw aide shortly after the 1964 season. Familiarity with his new boss and the confidence Bradshaw places in Pell stems from his three-year player-coach relationship at Alabama. Pell began his collegiate career as freshman in 1959 while Bradshaw was an Alabama assistant and missed playing under Bradshaw's direction only in 1962 when the coach had moved to Kentucky as head man. During his playing days, Pell operated as a six-foot, 190-pound guard, tackle, end and linebacker to earn three letters. He was a member of the 1961 National Championship team and also lettered in basketball and track. Pell, who played with Tide in Bluebonnet Bowl as a sophomore, joined UK tackle Junior Hawthorne as a post-graduate participant in the 1963 Crusade Bowl. Following graduation from Alabama in '63 he stayed on as an assistant for one season (1963) and then spent a year in private business in Huntsville, Ala. At UK, he now works mainly with the defensive interior line . . . Born 2/27/41 in Albertville, Ala.

JIM POYNTER

Offensive Backfield Coach

Former Kentucky Wildcat fullback Jim Poynter joined the football coaching staff of his alma mater following the 1965 season and brought with him credentials as one of the state's most promising young mentors. In five seasons in the high school ranks, he directed his teams to a composite record of 40-10-1 for one of the best marks in history among Kentucky high school coaches. The 28-year-old native of Danville, Ky., is a 1961 graduate of the University of Kentucky where he lettered two years as a fullback under Coach Blanton Collier. He capped a sterling career in 1960 by winning the Lexington Salesmen's Club award as UK's best defensive back and was cited as a member of the All-America Blocking Team the same year. Upon graduation from UK, Poynter took over as head coach at Glasgow (Ky.) High and gave the school its first winning team in 10 years. His two-year record was 12-8. In 1963, he moved to Clark County (Ky.) High where his teams won 17 games, lost only two and tied one in two seasons. The Cardinals copped a league title in '63 and tied for the top spot the following season. Another move prior to the 1965 season brought him to Lexington Henry Clay High and he proceeded to direct the Blue Devils to a perfect, 11-0-0 record. Henry Clay took the league championship on the strength of its first unblemished record in history and Poynter was honored as "Coach of the Year" in the Central Kentucky Conference. Jim is married to the former Gale Foster of Danville and they have two sons—Darrell 8 and Barry 5 . . . Born 7/1/27.

GEORGE SENDEL

Offensive Ends and Line Coach

A holdover from one year (1961) on the Blanton Collier staff, George (Chink) Sengel was retained by Charlie Bradshaw out of confidence in his coaching ability. Sengel's collegiate career at Kentucky spanned three of the same years (1942, 1946-47) as his new boss. A native of Louisville, "Chink" was an All-State end at Louisville Manual High in 1939 and started his collegiate career at Kentucky in 1940. After lettering as the team's regular end in 1942, he spent three years in the Army Air Corps. Returning to UK in 1946, he picked up two more letters prior to graduation in 1948 and then spent one year as a revenue agent. He began his coaching career as a freshman assistant at Kentucky in 1949. For the next five years (1950-54), Sengel served as head coach and athletic director at Clay County High in Green Cove Springs, Fla., and was head coach-AD at Apoptka (Fla.) High two seasons before returning to his home town as end coach for Male High. He joined Blanton Collier's staff in 1961 as coach of ends and now tutors offensive ends and line for Coach Bradshaw. Born 9/14/21 . . . Married to former Mary Alice Duncan of Lawrenceburg, Ky., with two sons—George III 15 and David 8½.

DOUG SHIVELY

Defensive End Coach

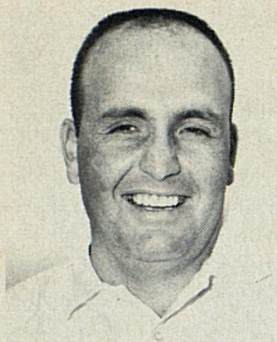

Newest appointee to the Kentucky football staff of Charlie Bradshaw, Doug Shively is a former Wildcat star and youthful veteran of seven years in the coaching profession. He returned to his Alma Mater after serving in an assistant's capacity for six campaigns with the Virginia Tech Gobblers. Doug, the 28-year-old son of UK Athletic Director Bernie Shively, played end for the Wildcats from 1956 through 1958 and served as co-captain of the team in his final season. He also handling punting chores for the gridders and was centerfielder on the baseball team. Following graduation in 1959, he played minor league baseball briefly with the White Sox rookie league team in Holdrege, Neb. Later that year, Shively started his grid coaching career under Clarence Underwood at Thomas Jefferson High School in Port Arthur, Texas. After one season, the rising young mentor switched to Virginia Tech to join the staff of Jerry Claiborne. He served the first year as a freshman coach and then was assigned duties as coach of the linebackers and defensive ends—the primary responsibility he will have at Kentucky where he replaced resigned George Boone. By strange coincidence, Shively will be continuing a pattern that has associated him all through his coaching career with men having UK backgrounds—Underwood, a former coach; Claiborne, an ex-Wildcat and coach; and Bradshaw, who played at UK and was a staff assistant during Doug's playing days. A native of Lexington and former all-sports star at Lafayette High, Shively is married to the former Patsy Moores of Lexington and they have three children—Doug (Chip) Jr., 4½; David, 3; and Kelley, born in May . . . Born 3/18/38.

CLARENCE UNDERWOOD

Defensive Coach

Back "home" after a 10-year absence from the Wildcat scene, Clarence (Buckshot) Underwood re-joined the Kentucky coaching staff shortly after the end of the 1965 season. His chief responsibility is to shore up the defense—an assignment at which he excels. The tough-but-popular West Virginia native spent eight seasons at the University of Kentucky (1948-55) in his first try at collegiate coaching and proved himself a master to two bosses—Paul Bryant (6 years) and Blanton Collier (2 years)—in the capacity of line coach. In addition to regular coaching duties, Buckshot took on the added responsibility of prodding the gridders in their academic activities during his previous UK duty tour. He started his grid career by playing high school football at Woodrow Wilson High in hometown Beckley, W. Va., and entered Marshall University in Huntington, W. Va., following graduation. He lettered in football three years and was on the boxing team at Marshall before finishing with the Class of '38. He began coaching at Beckley High School and spent four years there before serving in the Navy as a lieutenant in World War II. Returning to Beckley High upon his discharge in 1945, Underwood got in two more seasons before joining Bryant's Kentucky staff in '48. He left UK in 1956 to become Athletic Director and Head Coach at Thomas Jefferson High in Port Arthur, Texas. In 10 years, he compiled a 77-26-6 record and won six district championships. He was elected Texas high school Coach of the Year in 1957 and coached the South All-Stars in the 1960 Texas North-South schoolboy classic. Married to the former Edith Smith of Morgan, Ky., and they have three daughters—Janet, 21; Nancy, 18; Barbara, 15 . . . Born 10/3/12.

Head Football Trainer

A 31-year-old Marine Corps veteran with a background of football play and eight years of training experience, Ralph Berlin has served as head football trainer at Kentucky since 1964. He was born in Pasadena, Calif., but moved across the country to Philadelphia, Pa., at an early age and gained his first football experience there as a schoolboy. After his graduation from high school, he enlisted in the Marines and rose to the rank of sergeant. Returning to civilian life after this service hitch, Berlin in 1958 entered Iowa State University, where he played tackle on the freshman team. When an injury cut short his playing days, Ralph turned to training to stay near the game. His rise as an athletic trainer since 1959 has been swift. He served as an assistant at Iowa State three seasons before graduation in 1962. From 1962 until taking over at Kentucky in 1964, Berlin was head athletic trainer at DePauw University in Greencastle, Ind. During the summer months of 1963 and 1964, he also worked as an assistant trainer for the St. Louis Cardinals professional football club of the NFL. In 1964, he heeded the call of Kentucky Coach Charlie Bradshaw and came to the Wildcats. In addition to putting in long hours attending the needs of the UK gridders, Coach Berlin also serves as a top recruiter of future talent. He holds a master's degree from Indiana University in health and safety with a major in athletic training. Ralph is married to the former Dee Meachim of Torresdale, Pa., and they have two children—Elizabeth 5 and Steven 3½ . . . Born 7/22/35.

Staff Changes Since 1965

Departures: Leeman Bennett (offensive backfield) moved to Pittsburgh; Homer Rice (head offense) moved to Oklahoma; Bob Ford (head defense) moved to Mississippi State; Ralph Hawkins (defensive backfield) moved to Miami Dolphins; and George Boone (defensive ends) became Area Scout for the NFL.

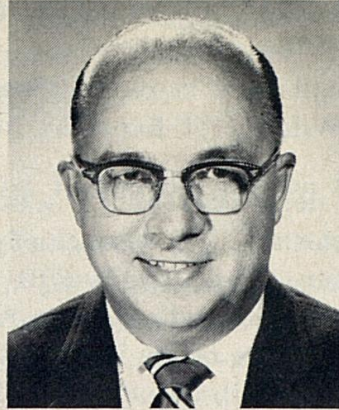

Additions: Wally English moved up from student assistant's post; C. E. Underwood joined from Port Arthur, Tex., Thomas Jefferson High School; Leon Fuller joined from Oklahoma State; Jim Poynter joined from Lexington, Ky., Henry Clay High School; and Doug Shively joined from Virginia Tech.

HONORS COME LATELY

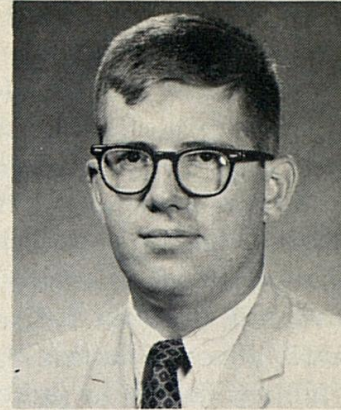

From its football beginnings in 1881 through 1942, Kentucky had only one player named to a recognized All-America team. In the short span of years since, no less than nine have earned first team mention on the national honor rolls and four of the stars were repeaters. Last season alone, three UK players added their names to the list—the first time this was done in school history. Twenty-two Wildcats have received All-Conference recognition a total of 31 times since the loop was organized in 1933.

BROWN

BAXTER

BUSTER BROWN—Equipment Manager: Handling the duties of handing out thousands of dollars' worth of football gear to the team is a seasoned veteran, S. C. (Buster) Brown. The tough-but-popular Brown served the University athletic teams in the capacity of Equipment Manager for several years before World War II. After wartime work as a stevedore on the West Coast, Buster returned to Kentucky and his old job in 1952.

KEN KUHN—Information Director: A veteran of 18 years in the job of publicizing Wildcat football and other sports activities of UK, Kuhn came to Lexington via Michigan State from which he was graduated in 1942 and later served as an assistant in the Public Relations Department. Before moving over to the Athletic Department in 1948, he worked two years as News Editor in UK's Department of Public Relations. Kuhn is a past president of the Southeastern Conference Sports Publicity Association and active in COSIDA, a national sports information group.

BILL BAXTER—Asst. Information Director: A veteran of journalistic work with two national wire services (AP and UPI), Baxter joined the UK Sports Information staff in July, 1965, as Assistant Director. In addition to general publicity work, he serves as Executive Secretary of UKATS—a booster group. Bill was born in Vanceburg, Ky., and raised in South Carolina. He completed more than three years of undergraduate work at UK. Immediately prior to taking his present position, Bill served as night editor of the Lexington AP bureau.

WILDCAT MASCOTS HAD COLORFUL NAMES

Over the years, Kentucky athletic teams have been spurred on in efforts toward victory by numerous colorfully-named wildcat mascots. Records indicate the first animal was given to the University in 1921. Named "Tom," this live Kentucky wildcat died quickly in captivity and was replaced with "TNT." Other live mascots followed—including "Whiskers," "Hot Tamale," and "Colonel"—only to pass from the scene due to death or being turned loose in the mountains after they did not thrive out of their native habitat. The current mascot, displayed at football and basketball games by SUKY (student pep organization), is a stuffed Kentucky wildcat obtained in 1958 from a Brooklyn taxidermist.

THE OUTLOOK FOR '66

Very likely no other football team in recent times lost so much that meant so much to it than did the Wildcats of Kentucky following the successful but frustrating 1965 campaign.

Represented among the departures of 18 seasoned veterans were eight offensive and five defensive starters who were chiefly responsible for the compilation of a 6-4 season ledger. Three hands (QB Rick Norton, TB Rodger Bird and OT Sam Ball) were honored first string All-American choices. And, possibly most reflective of the calibre of the losses, a half dozen claimed roughly a million dollars in professional contract offers for their services.

Against that backdrop, Coach Charlie Bradshaw starts his fifth season as ringmaster of the Wildcats.

The task of training a band of replacements for the first Bradshaw-recruited crop is bound to prove a challenging one to the former Kentucky end, who was given a vote of confidence in a new contract following the '65 campaign, and his re-vitalized staff of assistants.

One thing stands out: Bradshaw isn't crying the blues. In a realistic vein, he assesses the problems with the comment that "We have a vast gap of inexperience to cross . . . Everything depends on how well our young players and other replacements develop in our early games . . . We don't know what our record will be this fall. But with what our men put into their preparedness and play this spring, there's no doubt in my mind they will do exceptionally well. We feel our players will be properly motivated and will enjoy a fine year."

Offense A Problem, Defense Improved

However, when the UK mentor probes deeper into his enthusiastic-but-inexperienced group, he has to admit to some problems offensively—especially in contrast to a much-improved defensive outlook.

The offensive platoon is missing its two backfield mainstays (top rusher and scorer Bird at tailback and total offense-passing ace Norton at quarterback) plus six starters in the line. Fullback could be a problem with the shift of '65 regular Larry Seiple, a second unit All-SEC selection, to take over Bird's vacated tailback job. And the vital quarterback post is due to be handled by a relatively inexperienced man.

Actually, the problem on offense goes even deeper than mere shifting of personnel and bringing up of replacements. The whole style of attack will be modified to tailor it to available personnel. Most obvious of the changes will be in quarterback operations—shifting from reliance on the back-up style of Norton to the roll-out pattern of new quarterbacks Terry Beadles and Roger Walz.

There's likely to be an increased emphasis on the running game this fall and the overall attack more aggressive.

Seiple, due to settle at tailback after a year of roving at three backfield positions, is the proven operative (No. 2 rusher-scorer) who probably will be called on to provide the break-away threat and is capable of keeping the defense honest with his terrific pass-catching ability. Backing him up will be wing-back Bob Windsor and a fullback chosen from the duo of senior Frank Antonini and junior Donnie Britton.

Beadles To Replace Norton At QB

Beadles looms as the best bet to replace Norton at quarterback despite the fact that he was used in 1965 chiefly at defensive safety. He showed great potential at the job as a freshman after a fine schoolboy career. The lean Kentuckian is at his best on action, sprint-out passing plays and should prove a dependable threat capable of moving the team in aggressive fashion. His primary targets are likely to be Winsor, Seiple, E-WB Dan Spanish, and soph end Derek Potter.

Anchoring the forward wall is strongboy center Cal Withrow, on whose shoulders much dependence will be placed for providing the leadership to mold a dependable offensive line from '65 reserves and upcoming sophs. Withrow, a senior, ranks with the best in the conference at the position.

Defense is less doubt-plagued although far from perfect. One of the big bugaboos that hampered the otherwise effective UK grid machine of '65 was its defensive inconsistency. On too many occasions, the enemy was given too great an advantage in the scoring column early in the game or allowed unintentionally to break out of the hole on late down and long yardage situations. UK ranked eighth in the SEC in total defense and seventh in defense against scoring.

Hopefully this weakness has been corrected. After the defensive platoon won the spring game 34-22 (with the aid of special points awarded for stopping offensive plays), a pleased Coach Bradshaw declared: "Our defense is not yet perfect . . . But I can't help thinking it is better right now than it has been at any time during the four years I have been at Kentucky." The No. 1 defensive unit did not allow opponents to score in any spring scrimmage.

Pinpointing the reasons behing this sudden upsurge in defensive confidence is not a simple matter. But one of the big factors involved was the scrapping of last year's 4-4 defense in favor of a 5-3-3 that offered better identification of areas of personal responsibility. In addition to the change in alignment, the defensive secondary presents prospects of much improvement. Two of the top hands will be sophomores—Al Phaneuf and Dicky Lyons at the sideback spots. Veteran defensive man Jerry Davis is due to take over from Beadles at safety.

In the defensive line, senior Jim Swart stood out enough to be accorded pre-season All-SEC recognition at end. Soph George Katzenbach should be impressive at tackle. Backing up the line will be one of the SEC's best, senior Mike McGraw (157 tackles last year), and a pleasing soph named Bill Jansen—who will play rover as "the best prospect ever" at the position.

Bradshaw cites Asst. Coach Clarence (Buckshot) Underwood, former UK aide who coached Texas high school ball the last 10 years, as providing much assistance in beefing up the defense.

The defenders will not be a big unit physically (averaging less than 200 pounds), but should have good speed as well as a willingness to hit to win. More important, they have the capability of turning the ball over to the offense in good field position.

Overall, Kentucky's defense is probably stronger and the offense weaker than a year ago. The Wildcats will be woefully shallow and inexperienced at most positions for two-platoon football. The outlook generally is not as bright as it was before the '65 season and UK is pegged by the experts as a low finisher in the SEC race. In order to survive, injuries must be avoided and the inexperienced hands must come around quickly to a helpful, dependable stage.

WILDCATS OF '60 BEST PASSERS EVER

According to available statistical records, the 1960 Kentucky team was the "passingest" in school history as they amassed an average of 163.3 yards per game on the aerial arm. The mark surpassed the 156.0 average posted by the Babe Parilli-led Cotton Bowl champions of 1951 and a 155.8 average recorded by Parilli and mates in the Sugar Bowl year of 1950.

Kentucky end Al Bruno's 60 points on 10 touchdowns in 1950 were the most ever scored by a Wildcat lineman in one season.

LARRY SEIPLE

SEC's Top Utility Man

A money ballplayer is a guy who thrives on critical situations, who comes up with the big play when his team needs it most, a guy who wins games simply by refusing to be defeated.

There were times last football season when Kentucky back Larry Seiple showed signs of becoming a bona fide money ballplayer. His coaches are hoping 1966 will be the year he makes it all the way.

"This Seiple," Kentucky Coach Charlie Bradshaw says, "can be a truly great back. He's a strong runner, a brilliant receiver and a whale of a kicker."

Seiple, a 5-11, 205-pound senior from Allentown, Pa., is expected to be Kentucky's starting tailback this fall. Last season he shuttled between wingback, tailback and fullback and played all three positions well.

"There was a motion," one writer reported, "that Seiple be made the All-Southeastern Conference utility back." Instead, he made the AP's second-team All-SEC backfield.

His record was dotted with big plays:

—Against Missouri, Seiple caught a 36-yard pass for the only touchdown in a 7-0 game and had punts of 64 and 63 yards.

—Against Mississippi, which Kentucky beat 16-7, Seiple scored both of the Kentucky touchdowns on home run plays—one on a 28-yard run with a Rick Norton pass, and the other on a 70-yard fake-punt run from a fourth-and-41-to-go situation in the fourth quarter. For his work he was named the SEC's Back-of-the-Week.

—He caught two touchdown passes against Auburn, one 74 yards long and the other 44.

—He scored the margin of victory with a catch for a two-point conversion in Kentucky's 26-24 win over Florida State.

—He caught a 14-yard touchdown pass against Georgia.

—Against West Virginia, he rushed for 111 yards on 17 carries, scored one touchdown, and caught five passes for 86 yards, winning the game's MVP award.

—He opened the Vanderbilt game with a 60-yard-return of the opening kick-off, sending Kentucky on its way to a 34-0 victory.

—And against Houston, he caught a 75-yard pass from Norton for a Wildcat touchdown.

In all, he rushed for 446 yards and three touchdowns, caught 27 passes for 635 yards and six touchdowns, and punted for a 39.8 average.

"Larry is one man we're counting on for an outstanding season in 1966," Bradshaw says. "We are expecting him to take a key role in the leadership of our offensive platoon and to improve on his excellent play of last season. Once he accomplishes this, he will be one of the top backs Kentucky has ever had."

Seiple, a 21-year-old education major, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Seiple, 2349 South 4th St., Allentown.

Four additional advance football dates with Indiana will see the Wildcats and Hoosiers in a home and home arrangement from 1971 through 1974. Kentucky and Indiana open the 1971 season at Bloomington on Sept. 17 and the Hoosiers play a season opener in Lexington on Sept. 16, 1972. The next two meetings follow the same pattern, with a clash at Bloomington Sept. 29, 1973 and the final scheduled meeting in the series taking place at Lexington Sept. 28, 1974. The Kentucky-Indiana grid rivalry goes back to 1893 and has been interrupted since 1927.

The 60 games that Paul (Bear) Bryant won as Kentucky football coach in 1946-53 are the most by any one coach at the institution. Bryant's overall record at UK was 60-23-5, for a .710 percentage. His nearest competitor in games won is Blanton Collier, who won 41 games in 1954-61. Collier's overall mark was 41-36-3 and .531.

Kentucky's football teams since 1881 have won 368 games, lost 269 and tied 38, for a winning percentage of .573.

STOLL FIELD — McLEAN STADIUM

Much confusion among the general public and the sports-writing fraternity apparently exists over a seeming duplication of titles in referring to the University of Kentucky's football setup along "Avenue of Champions."

Officially, by action of the University Board of Trustees, the general area encompassing the playing field is known as "Stoll Field." Likewise, by authority of the same body, the stadium proper is known as "McLean Stadium."

Kentucky's first football field, occupying the general site of what is now an intramural field west of the stadium, was first given a name when it was dedicated on October 14, 1916, as Stoll Field in honor of the late Judge Richard C. Stoll, prominent alumnus, trustee and benefactor of the University of Kentucky. Soon after the first sections of the present concrete stadium were completed on September 4, 1924, the new field site and stadium were likewise officially known as Stoll Field.

The first attraction to be held on the new Stoll Field was a football game with the University of Louisville on October 4, 1924. A gridiron clash between Kentucky and the then-powerful Centre College team was the first game played in the fully-completed stadium on November 1, 1924.

The later reference to the concrete stands as "McLean Stadium" has existed since November 1, 1924, when the stadium was officially dedicated in memory of Price Innes McLean and a bronze plaque placed in the south stands by the Class of 1925. McLean, regular center on the 1923 Kentucky football squad, died November 7, 1923, as the result of injuries sustained in the U.K.-Cincinnati game played in the Queen City the afternoon before.

Major expansions of McLean Stadium in 1948, 1949 and 1959 have resulted in a current over-all seating capacity of approximately 37,500. The latest construction installed 3,655 new permanent box seats at a cost of $115,000 and increased capacity by 1,629. New-type, "iodized" lights were installed in 1961.

A complete "face lifting" was accomplished on Stoll Field during the spring of 1962 at a cost of several thousand dollars. In the interest of preparing a durable turf that will eliminate the almost annual resodding process, a complete new drainage system was installed and tons of specially mixed topsoil hauled in to replace the existing hardpan. The project also raised the crown of the playing surface for better visibility by spectators. With the special strain of Bermuda grass thriving to an extent never before seen at Kentucky, the Wildcats now entertain foes on one of the best football fields in the nation.

New practice facilities were prepared in 1960 for the football Wildcats on the University farm. As part of a $320,000 Sports Center, the varsity and freshman gridgers now practice on an area equivalent to five football fields in size. Along with the new field, they have space in a large new dressing room building—making a facility recognized as one of the best in the nation.

The former practice lot and dressing room building, off Rose Street, were abandoned to make way for a new men's dormitory.

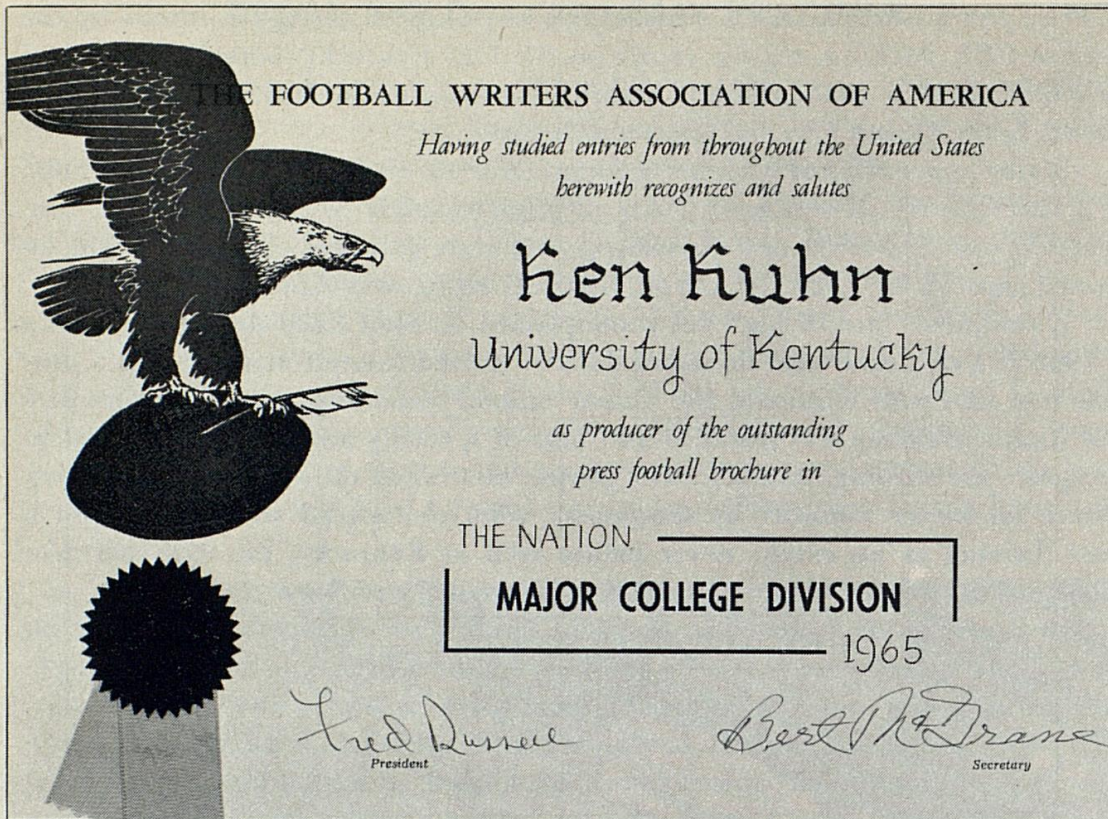

"Avenue of Champions" came into being in the spring of 1950 as an honorary title for that stretch of Euclid Avenue running between the University's $4,000,000 Memorial Coliseum and McLean Stadium. The street was officially re-named by the City of Lexington in recognition of the UK athletic teams' unprecedented success of 1950 in annexing the Southeastern Conference titles in both football and basketball and their national championships in the Sugar Bowl grid game and the NCAA cage tournament.

STOLL FIELD 'COW PASTURE' BIRTHPLACE OF DIXIE GRID SPORT

University of Kentucky's campus boasts the distinction of serving as the birth-place of Dixie football. Ironically, however, the forerunners of the present day Wildcats were not involved in the early grid contest.

The first inter-collegiate football game ever played in the South, and probably the first to take place west of the Alleghanies, came about April 9, 1880, on old Stoll Field. This gridiron, located adjacent to the present U.K. stadium, was the site of the early tilt saw Kentucky University (now known as Transylvania College) take the measure of Centre College, 13¾ to 0. The match, which was said to resemble a combination of soccer and rugby, followed by only six years the introduction of the game of football to the United States.

University of Kentucky (then called A & M College of Kentucky) did not play its first game until a year later on the same field, which once served as the private pasture for University President James Patterson's bovine herd.

University of Kentucky and its veteran Director of Sports Information, Ken Kuhn, were honored by the Football Writers Association of America for publishing the best football brochure in the United States for 1965. The certificate shown above was presented to Mr. Kuhn at the summer meeting of the organization in Chicago. The U.S. Basketball Writers made it a rare double honor by citing Kuhn's 1965-66 basketball brochure for the top national award.

Kentucky's 1949 football Wildcats allowed only six points in their five Southeastern Conference games in 1949, a school record. Kentucky shut out Louisiana State, Mississippi, Georgia, and Florida, but lost 6-0 to Tennessee.

* * * *

Kentucky won only five football games in 1960, but all five were by shut-outs. The Wildcats beat Marshall 55-0, LSU 3-0, Florida State 23-0, Vanderbilt 27-0, and Xavier 49-0.

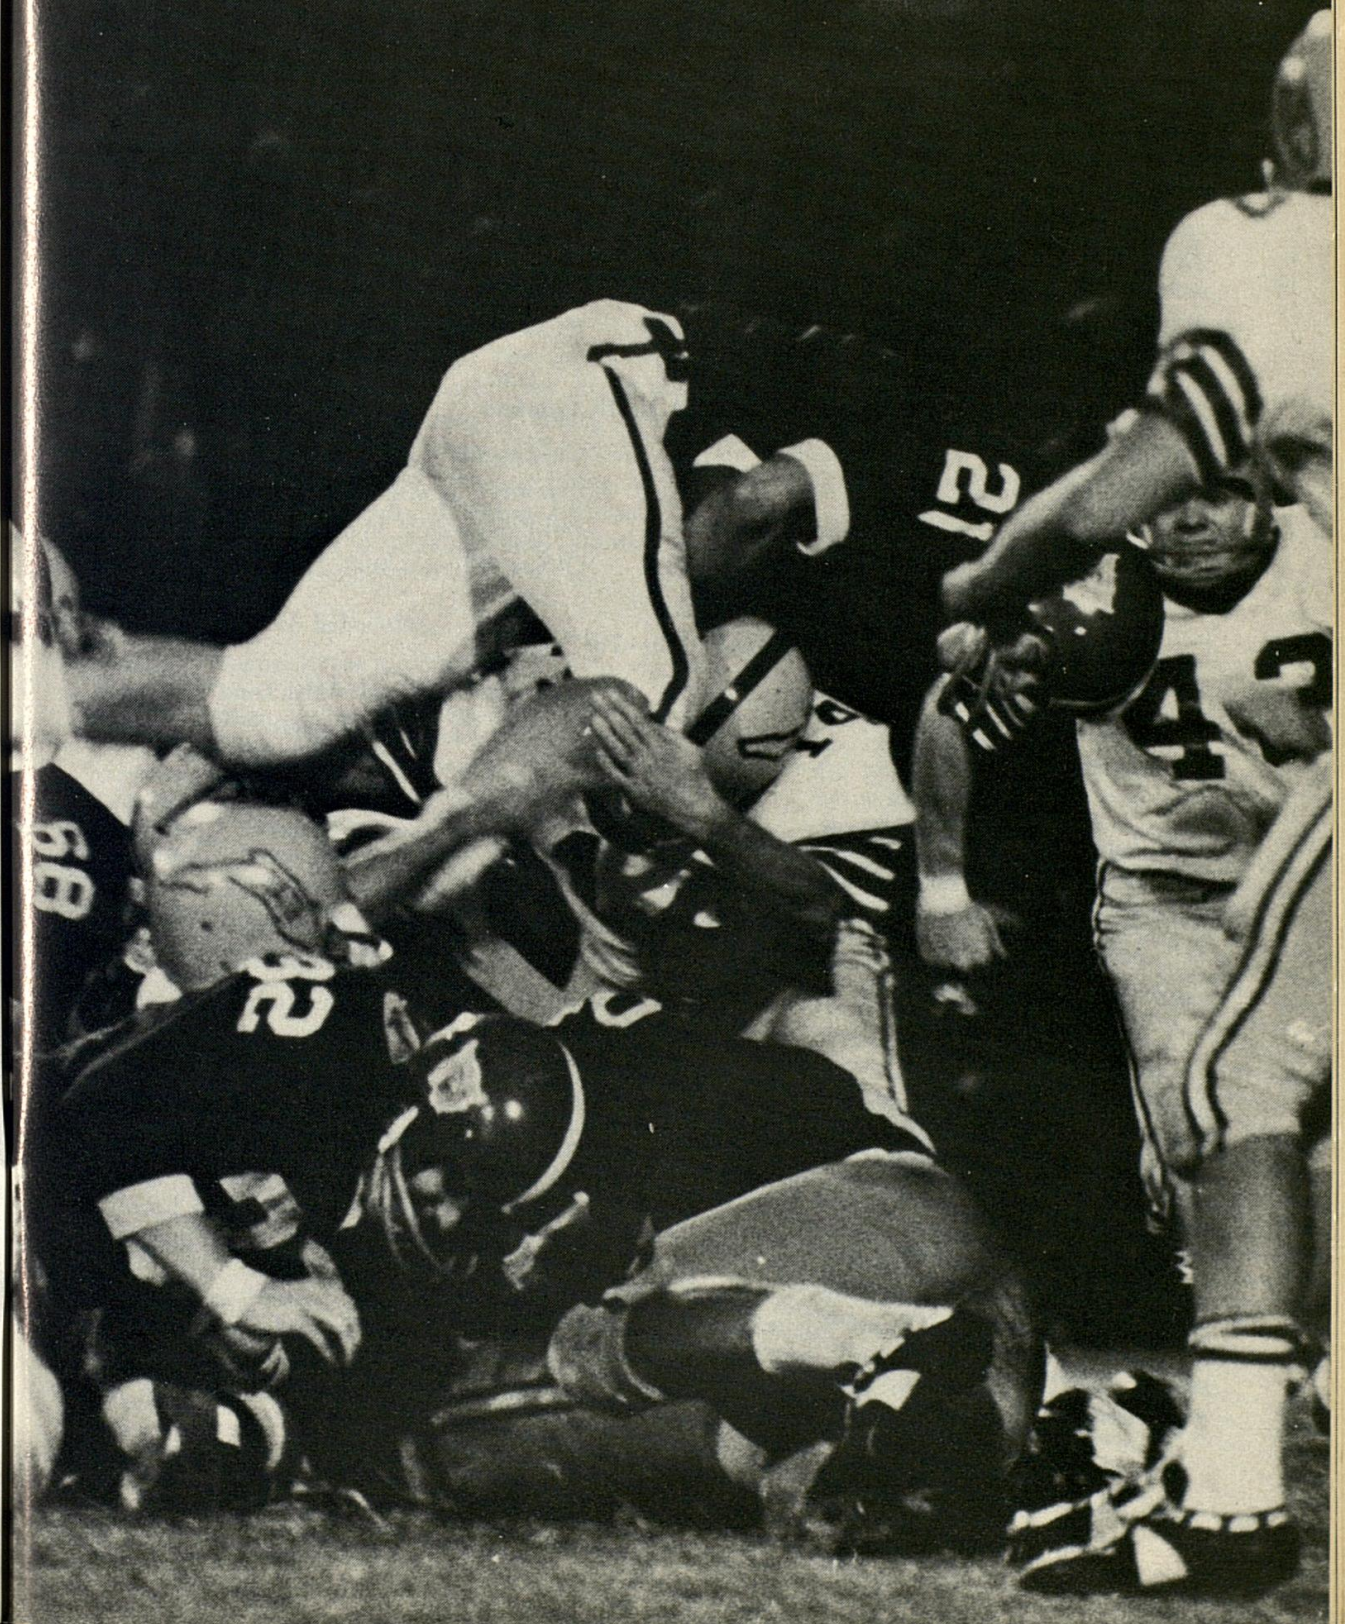

* * * *

There have been only 14 scoreless ties in University of Kentucky football games since 1881. Of these, five were against Tennessee and three against Vanderbilt. The last one was at Vandy in 1963.

* * * *

Kentucky's football team has been ranked in the top 10 at season's end only once in the 29 years of the Associated Press college poll. The Wildcats finished seventh in 1995. They ranked as high as fifth in the third week last season and wound up 17th in the UPI poll.

SERIES HISTORY: Kentucky and North Carolina have met on the gridiron only twice during the 75 years that UK has been playing football. The last match between the southern rivals came at Chapel Hill some 32 years ago, on Oct. 20, 1934. The Tar Heels annexed a victory in that meeting by the narrow margin of a touch-down (6-0). The first and only other game in the series took place in Lexington on Oct. 8, 1910 and significantly the Wildcats claimed an 11-0 decision. This will be the first (and possibly last) visit by North Carolina to Stoll Field—scheduled to be razed to make way for academic buildings before the Tar Heels come in again. The two schools have met frequently in basketball and a 10th renewal comes up in mid-December in Lexington. Kentucky holds a combined edge (8-6-1) in grid relations with five other ACC members.

SERIES HISTORY: A strange sequence of upsets and near-upsets flavors the comparatively young, but colorful and intense rivalry between the Wildcats and Ole Miss. Twenty-two meetings have been held since the series started in 1944, but it was 1958 before the Rebels could claim a distinctive edge in the battling. The Wildcats got the series off to an auspicious start by winning the first game, but Mississippi took the decision in three out of the next four meetings. The fireworks really started in 1949 as Kentucky claimed a 47-0 upset in Oxford and started on the road to big-time prominence. Since then, the Kentucky game has been a "make or break" situation on the Rebels' schedule. The 1954 meeting in Memphis was a penalty-marred spectacle resulting in several conference records for violations that still stand. In 1955, UK added new fire to the "beat the favorite" series history by upending the defending SEC champs in Lexington for their only loss enroute to a second straight title and Cotton Bowl win. Ole Miss achieved a measure of revenge by winning the next eight in a row. UK extended the SEC "Team of the Decade" seven years ago by forcing a long field goal and a freakish, 51-yard quarterback sneak TD in final seconds for a 16-0 decision. The past two years have seen Kentucky muster monumental upsets over the Rebels with the frustrating benefit of freakish big plays. Two years ago, Rodger Bird tossed an 89-yard TD pass off of a fake end sweep. Last year, Larry Seiple raced 70 yards on a fake punt.

LAST MEETING: Sept. 25, 1965 (Lexington) UK 16, OM 7—The odds were stacked high against Charlie Bradshaw's force surprising the mighty Mississippians twice in a row as they rolled into Lexington the second week of the season bent on revenge. For almost 58 minutes, the UK partisans warmed to the knowledge that their underdog club was hanging in there fighting—in fact actually protecting a very slim lead. Then the bomb dropped. Larry Seiple, a speedy junior playing at tailback for injured Rodger Bird, took matters into his own hands to provide the clincher enabling a Kentucky upset win for the second straight year. The spectacular play, which must go down as one of the biggest successful gambles of all time, developed this way: Protecting a 9-7 lead with a bit over two minutes left, Seiple dropped back to seemingly punt on a fourth and 41 situation. Standing on his own 16, Seiple saw only a token rush and decided to take off. To the amazement of everyone, he streaked unstopped to a TD and UK wrapped up a 16-7 decision.

1966 OUTLOOK: Rebel Coach Johnny Vaught speaks rather frankly about the calibre of team he had last year and the difference (for the better) of the one coming up. The experts have paid heed and choose the Rebs to be sniping at the heels of Alabama in the 1966 SEC championship race. Last year's Mississippi team "was the greenest ever," Vaught says, but they learned lessons well and Ole Miss goes to the post this season with 34 lettermen. The Rebs will miss All-America guard Stan Hindman, All-SEC TB Mike Dennis and star defensive back Billy Clay, but will be able to call on a deluxe band of talented operatives who know their way around. The defense should be better with such proven hands as defensive tackles Dan Sartin and Jim Urbanek (both 240) and 221-pound middle guard Jimmy Keyes. Offensive standouts are expected to include WB-TB Doug Cunningham, split end Rocky Fleming and center Chuck Hinton.

SERIES HISTORY: Former Southeastern Conference football "dormats," Kentucky and Auburn, first got together on the gridiron at Lexington in 1934—the year after the league was organized—and played another game the following season at Montgomery before interrupting their series for nearly two decades. Each held a victory out of the early meetings and the 1954 scrap, which resumed the rivalry, resulted in a 21-14 decision in the Wildcats' favor. Tilts between the new-found powers in the years since have been fraught with frustration. With but two exceptions (a 33-0 Auburn win in 1959 and Kentucky's stunning, 20-0 upset in 1964) the annual clashes have seen neither influence a decisive change in the trend to close games. Kentucky walked away with a memorable 14-12 upset victory in 1961 on the Tigers' home ground where no Auburn eleven had been beaten in 30 straight games. Prior to the win, UK had been able to score on the stingy Plainsmen only once in five years.

LAST MEETING: Oct. 2, 1965 (Auburn) AU 23, UK 18—Although it seemed the trend to close Kentucky-Auburn encounters would not hold up, the end result of the '65 meeting proved typically close after Kentucky staged a furious but futile rally. The Wildcats invaded Auburn fresh from an upset of Mississippi and nationally ranked in the No. 6 spot, but soon found little respect from the Auburn Tigers. Unable to contain the well-balanced Auburn attack, especially on critical third down and long yardage situations, Kentucky found itself behind by a 17-0 count in the third period. Then UKat quarterback Rick Norton sparked a thrilling rally that almost saved the game before time ran out. Norton connected on TD passes of 76, 74 and 44 yards. Three times he tried for two-point pass conversions and failed. The statistics were in Kentucky's favor, thanks to Norton's 269 air yards, but Auburn—supposedly weak on offense—claimed the ones that counted. It was Auburn's highest point production against UK in six years.

1966 OUTLOOK: Auburn, which proved to be one of the surprise teams of 1965 by rocketing to a second place finish in the SEC, may have to rub its rabbit's foot a little harder this season to do as well. Only 16 letter winners departed but in that crowd were the entire defensive line, two linebackers and one sideback. To offset this apparent weakness, Coach Shug Jordan is counting on better overall speed and a substantially improved defensive secondary. He further admits to the prospect of a strong offensive line and big backfield manned by fullback Tom Bryan, who wound up the past season as the Southeastern Conference's third leading rusher. Quarterback supposedly is a wide open position, but the nod is likely to go to soph Larry Blakeney on the strength of spring practice showing. Another sophomore, Dwight Hurston, is counted on to provide speed at tailback. The kicking game is in good shape with specialist Tommy Lunceford back to handle the punting and Jim Jones up from the frosh to do FG and PAT work.

SERIES HISTORY: Kentucky holds a slight edge (3-1-2) in gridiron relations with the Virginia Tech Gobblers. The series got underway Oct. 30, 1926, at Lexington as Coach Fred Murphy's Wildcats and the visiting Virginians battled to an indecisive, 13-13 standoff. Another meeting the following season, in the heyday of John Simms (Shipwreck) Kelly, saw UK emerge on the long end of a 20-6 count. Virginia Tech notched its only win over Kentucky in 1932 at Blacksburg, 7-0, in a game that was to be the last in nine years. Meeting on neutral territory as the series resumed in the war years of 1941 and 1942, UK captured a high scoring (37-14) decision at Louisville and then had to settle for a 21-21 tie at Roanoke. After another interruption, the Gobblers and Wildcats tangled at Lexington in 1963 (ex-Wildcat Jerry Claiborne's third season as VPI head coach) with host UK taking a 33-14 decision.

LAST MEETING: Sept. 21, 1963 (Lexington) UK 33, VPI 14—Former Wildcat player and assistant coach Jerry Claiborne was starting his third season at Virginia Tech when he brought his Gobblers to town three years ago. The visit of the former teammate created a dilemma for second-year Kentucky Coach Charlie Bradshaw: How could he get his team mentally ready for Tech when SEC champ Ole Miss was coming in the next week? That the matter was resolved satisfactorily (for UK) is reflected by the final accounting of 33-14 in the Wildcats' favor. Star of the game was heralded soph halfback Rodger Bird, who made a tremendous varsity debut—returning the opening kickoff 92 yards to pay dirt and netting 157 more yards on 15 trips from scrimmage. The victory, only the second season opener win since 1951, did not come easily. Tech rallied twice to tie the game up, 14-14, at the halftime intermission. That turned out to be all the scoring by the visitors, but they made a game threat the rest of the way until UK capitalized on a fumble and pass interception for two fourth period TD's.

1966 OUTLOOK: Kentuckian Jerry Claiborne has Virginia Tech football firmly established on a solid, winning foundation and his building program should show better results than ever this year. Thirty lettermen are among the holdovers and Claiborne is optimistic over the strong potential of his freshman team graduates. The defense seems to be in the best shape as Tech tackles an ambitious schedule. Only two vacancies occurred in the unit that opened last season—at linebacker and guard. Heading the '66 defense will be senior tackles Sands Woody (210) and Andy Bowling (6-3, 220). Backing up the formidable defense will be a completely experienced offensive combination built around senior tailback Tommy Francisco—the team's leading returning rusher. Other likely offensive stars are junior halfback Dickie Longerbeam and flankmen Gene Fisher and Ken Barefoot (6-5, 228)—who between them hauled in 50 passes last season. Only three offensive starters were lost, but one who will be sorely missed is quarterback Bobby Owens.

SERIES HISTORY: Inaugurated with a game at Baton Rouge in 1949, the Kentucky-Louisiana State grid series is the youngest football rivalry within the Southeastern Conference. A total of 16 meetings make up the series which has been annual encounters with the exception of the 1951 season and the count now stands tipped in the Bengals' favor, ten wins to five plus a 6-6 tie in 1953. The Billy Cannon-led Tigers, enjoying their greatest seasons during the 1957-59 period, overcame the Wildcats' 4-2-1 edge in the series by taking three straight decisions in these years. UK tied it up six years ago with a 3-0 upset victory in Lexington and then nationally-ranked LSU survived determined bids for glory by the upstart 'Cats in the last five seasons to notch successes that again gave it the lead. A new era in the rivalry dawned in 1962 with a pair of youthful ex-Wildcats at the grid helms of the respective schools, but the Tigers hold a five straight game advantage.

LAST MEETING: Oct. 16, 1965 (Baton Rouge) LSU 31, UK 21—That old nightmare which haunts football coaches—letting an opponent out of the hole on third down and long yardage situation—once again helped prove the downfall of Kentucky as the Wildcats succumbed, 31-21, to host LSU before 68,000 screaming partisans. As had been the case against Auburn two weeks before, UK fell behind by 17-0 when it was unable to contain the surging Tigers. Quarterback Nelson Stokely, tendering his credentials for SEC Sophomore of the Year honor, paced his mates by running 50 yards for the first LSU touchdown and passing 25 yards to end Doug Moreau for another. The Tigers' fearsome offense rolled up 452 yards running and passing while UK was credited with just 202—most of it in the air. Posing a constant threat to the Tigers was the passing of Kentucky's Rick Norton and Rodger Bird's running, but their gains could not offset the early advantage that LSU built its victory on. Norton connected on 14 of 31 throws for 158 yards.

1966 OUTLOOK: Former Wildcat Charlie McClendon starts his fifth year at the Louisiana State helm faced with a rebuilding job to some degree. Among the hands missing from the highly-successful 1965 unit, which wound up 8-3 overall after upsetting Arkansas in the Cotton Bowl, will be some 20 lettermen—including nine of 11 offensive starters. Only offensive unit returnees are strongback Billy Masters (6-5, 225) and 195-pound center Barry Wilson. The experts, however, pinpoint the Bengals as a distinct threat to National Champion Alabama in the '66 SEC race—forecasting a third place finish one point behind Ole Miss. The high finish prediction apparently is based in part on the return of 28 extensively-used lettermen and the prospect of a physically-fit quarterback named Norm Stokley. The SEC Sophomore of the Year injured a knee in the seventh game last season and underwent surgery in the off season. If he can go full speed, the Tiger offense could be hard to handle.

SERIES HISTORY: Georgia and Kentucky began their rivalry on the football field with a game at Louisville on Oct. 21, 1939. The two schools met almost annually from that time until the series was broken off after the 1949 game and not resumed until 1956 with a game at Athens. During the 22 years that Wally Butts tutored the Bulldogs (1938-60), Georgia laid claim to nine victories in the 14-game series. Kentucky took the initial game in 1939 and tied the following year, but it was 1947 before it picked up another win. All told, UK shows but five victories with the last in 1965. Despite Georgia's superiority, the series generally has been interesting as reflected by the fact that Butts' four SEC championship outfits managed an average win margin of only 11 points over Kentucky. Demonstrating the frustrating turn that the series has taken in recent years is the fact that only 15 points separated the two clubs in the five meetings preceding a 20-7 loss by Kentucky two years ago. Last season, the Wildcats smacked Georgia with its worst defeat of the campaign—a 28-10 lacing representing the most points ever scored by UK in the series.

LAST MEETING: Oct. 23, 1965 (Lexington) UK 28, UG 10—Kentucky got revenge for Georgia's "rude hospitality" a 21-7 (defeat of UK) the year before in Athens by smacking the league-leading Bulldogs with their first SEC defeat, 28-10. Behind the big guns of Rick Norton and Rodger Bird, the Wildcats handed Georgia its worst defeat of 1965, registered the highest number of points by UK in the series and scored the biggest win margin by either side since 1958. The end result was in some doubt in the early stages as the Red and Black jumped out to a 10-0 lead in the opening quarter on a surprisingly effective air attack. Stunned to reality, the Bradshaw Blues exploded for four TD's in the second quarter and the game was over except for the formalities of standoff battling in the last half highlighted by UK's sharp defensive play.

1966 OUTLOOK: Forecasters are tagging the 1966 Bulldogs as the mystery team of the conference, picking them variously from second to ninth. Georgia started out surprisingly strong last year—toppling National Champion Alabama in the opener and scuttling powerful Michigan two weeks later. Kentucky finally punctured the bubble for good. The big question in '66 is whether history will repeat itself. Probably Coach Vince Dooley's third Georgia club will be something short of spectacular, but the return of 30 lettermen sounds a note of caution about selling this team short. While the losses were substantial (QB Preston Riddlehuber, HB Bob Taylor, E Pat Hodgson, etc.), the returnees are a solid lot. All-America tackle George Patton mans a rugged defense and Kirby Moore is a top prospect at quarterback. Lynn Hughes, who mans the safety position, was runner up in MVP voting in the pre-season SEC poll. Also a top threat is place kicking specialist Bob Etter.

SERIES HISTORY: One of the oldest rivalries on the Kentucky grid schedule, relations between the Wildcats and Mountaineers date back to Nov. 4, 1905. In that first game at Morgantown, the visiting Wildcats absorbed a 45-0 licking that stands as the biggest advantage either team has enjoyed. The series was interrupted after that contest for 34 years, not resuming until West Virginia visited Lexington for a return engagement in 1939 and absorbed a 13-6 revenge licking. The two teams met annually after that (with the exception of 1943 when UK did not field a team) until the series was broken off again following a game at Morgantown in 1947. Kentucky holds the edge in the series, seven victories to four and held the distinction of taking the last four decisions until West Virginia stopped the string with an upset victory at Morgantown in 1964 resuming the rivalry. Kentucky's 20-point decision in 1965 was the biggest UK victory in the series since 1944 and the third largest win margin by either team—exceeded only by WVU's 45-0 win in 1905 and UK's 40-9 score in 1944.

LAST MEETING: Oct. 30, 1965 (Lexington) UK 28, WVU 8—West Virginia Coach Gene Corum made one big “mistake” nearly a week before he brought his Mountaineers to Lexington for a Homecoming clash with UK. In a telephone interview, he mispronounced the name of Wildcat FB-TB Larry Seiple. Ole Miss’ Johnny Vaught earlier had made the same “mistake” and Seiple led his teammates to an upset win. Against West Virginia, he starred again—perhaps only a coincidence. The slender, red-haired junior was a veritable demon as he racked up 111 yards rushing and caught five passes for 86 yards—many of his gains coming on key situations. Achievement of its fifth victory in seven starts was never seriously in doubt for Kentucky, thanks to the play of Seiple, Rick Norton’s pinpoint passing and the slashes of Rodger Bird. Much credit also went to the defense that sealed the decision by stopping a last-ditch gamble by the Mounties.

1966 OUTLOOK: A new era is dawning in West Virginia football. There is a new coach—Jim Carlen replacing Gene Corum—and new enthusiasm that may get the job done in a winning fashion. Carlen, former chief defensive coach at his Alma Mater of Georgia Tech, has shaken up the squad considerably—putting men at new positions, planning on two-way play by the most capable athletes and insisting on better condition. He also installed a different offense (“I” with flanker) and changed the defensive alignment—all of which should give the Mounties some degree of advantage over their foes. An even bigger advantage looms in the return of tailback Garrett Ford, one of the nation’s finest running backs who rushed for 894 yards last year as a sophomore. Ford will have to take up the slack left by the departure of fullback Dick Leftridge, quarterback Allen McCune and split end Bob Dunlevy. All told, 19 letter winners are no longer on the scene and the squad as a whole will be somewhat handicapped by inexperience—particularly at quarterback and in the defensive secondary.

SERIES HISTORY: Kentucky and the Vanderbilt Commodores first got together on the gridiron way back in 1896 at Nashville and the rivalry has been perpetuated intermittently ever since with the result that it is one of the oldest in the South from the standpoint of first meeting and number of games. History shows a record solidly in Vandy's favor—23 wins to Kentucky's 11 and four ties. Vandy registered 12 shutouts in the first 26 years of the rivalry and UK did not get into the win column until 1939. However, the postwar record shows only four setbacks. Kentucky's 27-0 homecoming rout of the Commodores in 1960 ended a three-year trend to close games, but the rivalry got back in the groove in 1961 as UK struggled strangely before taking a 16-3 decision. The 1962 contest proved almost a carbon copy of that game as UK just could not connect on all the scoring chances weak Vanderbilt offered and wound up taking only a 7-0 decision. The closeness trend was over-emphasized to the degree that both clubs wound up scoreless in 1963 and only one point, (22-21) separated the pair in 1964 as Kentucky broke a four-game losing streak last season, but hungry Kentucky blasted Vandy, 34-0—the identical score the Commodores won by in 1955. Vandy has not been in the winning column against UK since 1959.

LAST MEETING: Nov. 6, 1965 (Nashville) UK 34, VU 0—Playing what a proud Coach Charlie Bradshaw termed “the best game overall since I have been here,” Kentucky’s Wildcats spoiled Homecoming Day for Vanderbilt by crushing the Commodores, 34-0, and boosting themselves into the post-season bowl spotlight. The visiting Kentuckians ran their season record to six wins in eight starts at the expense of the nation’s third best defensive team with a blistering running attack spearheaded by sensational tailback Rodger Bird. The “Corbin Comet” scored four touchdowns and set two new school records. He was one shy of the single game TD record but increased his season point total to a record 78 and set another mark for career rushing by upping his yardage pickup to 1,611. Vandy was never in contention as UK blasted out two touchdowns in the opening frame, added two more in the third and one in the final period. A stubborn Wildcat defense outshined that of the Commodores, who could muster only 128 yards in combined offense and recorded only seven first downs compared to Kentucky’s 313 yards and 17 first downs.

1966 OUTLOOK: The Commodores wound up in a tie for last place a year ago and the experts do not figure Vanderbilt can make it out of the cellar before the end of the coming season. Only two voters picked them as high as eighth place. But all the pessimism over Vandy’s chances comes from without. Within the Commodore camp, there is cautious confidence that a better fate is in store for them in ’66—perhaps a move up to the mid-section of the conference. The chances of such improved status apparently rests on offensive capability since the Nashville crew played pretty good defense most of last season (the Kentucky game was an exception). Although some of the departing hands were outstanding performers, indications are that Vanderbilt will have better depth this season and sufficient experience in the return of 20 lettermen. Providing Coach Jack Green with a hopeful offensive threat is junior college transfer Gary Davis, whose ability to throw the football may signal an increased emphasis on the wide-open game. Standout of another tough defensive unit will be guard Scott Hall.

SERIES HISTORY: Only one game ever has been played between Kentucky's Wildcats and the Houston Cougars, but it is certain to be long remembered. The lone meeting, inaugurating the gridiron series between the two schools came about in Houston's famed Astrodome near the close of the 1965 season with the visiting Kentuckians winding up on the short end of a 38-21 score after a "Wild West"-type encounter. When Houston roared from behind in the second half to capture a decisive margin, Kentucky was knocked out of the bowl picture and was due to lose its national ranking. The only other athletic meeting between the two schools came in 1956 when the Kentucky basketball team toppled Houston in the championship game of the Sugar Bowl cage tournament.

LAST MEETING: Nov. 13, 1965 (Houston) UH 38, UK 21—The Kentucky Wildcats' first visit to Houston's famed Astrodome probably will go down in history as its most costly. Not only did they lose the football game, 38-21, but they almost certainly lost a chance for a lucrative bowl bid and invaluable national prestige. Furthermore, the late-game injury to All-America quarterback Rick Norton probably cost UK a victory the following week over Tennessee. The two-touchdown-underdog Cougars turned this trick the hard way—roaring back in the second half after Kentucky had built up a 21-16 edge. Houston repeatedly came up with the big play—particularly passes—to outscore the Wildcats, 17-5, in the final 30 minutes. Before going out of the game with a knee injury at the 58 minute point, Norton kept Houston in constant danger with his passes—connecting on 19 of 23 attempts for 373 yards and two touchdowns (75 yards to Larry Seiple and 54 to Rick Kestner). By comparison, the UK running attack netted only 13 yards.

1966 OUTLOOK: Though most of his second team players will be untried sophomores, Houston Coach Bill Yeoman will start his fifth season at UH with a solid nucleus of returning offensive and defensive players on the starting units. The Cougars, 4-5-1 last season including a 3-0-1 spurt in the last four games, will have nine of their 11 offensive starters and seven of the defensive eleven back. Overall, there will be 23 of 36 lettermen returning (11 of 17 on offense and 12 of 19 on defence). Size and speed appear to be above average, but depth reportedly is below average—especially at linebacker where two of the three spots will be manned by rookies. The schedule is as tough; however, seven of the 10 games will be played in the Astrodome. Quarterback Bo Burris, who broke 11 school records for passing (including three TD tosses in the second half against Kentucky) and total offense last fall, is back along with three other backs who started last fall. Rushing leader Dick Post returns at running back. He gained 630 yards last year and has a two-year total of 1,158, Houston's best in 15 years. Flanker back Warren McVea is back with 17 catches for 341 yards last fall to show for his sophomore year. The two top receivers, Ken Hebert (24 catches for 359 yards) and Tom Beer (21-325) return at ends. Hebert also led in punting with a 40.6 average. Defensively, Houston may be hurting without two of its three linebackers; Captain Cotton Guerrant, the "middle" of the Houston line; and one defensive halfback.

SERIES HISTORY: Among the six oldest football rivalries in the South, the Kentucky-Tennessee series dates from a memorable encounter in Knoxville 73 years ago. In that meeting, Oct. 21, 1893, the Wildcats annexed a 60-0 victory to get the warfare off to an auspicious start in a fashion that hasn't been equalled in the many and colorful renewals of the traditional rivalry. Except for three war years (1917-18 and 1943), the two schools have met annually on the gridiron with the result that the Vols hold a distinct-but-fading edge of 33 wins to Kentucky's 19 and nine ties. Tennessee's sparkling advantage has become tarnished in the past few seasons as Kentucky started reversing the victory trend with an upsetting tie in 1952 and ate into the Vol's polished record with successes in eight of the last 13 meetings. The seniors on the 1955 UK squad became the first class in 43 years to graduate with the accomplishment of never playing in a game in which the Vols emerged victorious and they bowed out in a blaze of glory, triumphing 23-0 over the bowl-hungry Vols in the most one-sided Kentucky win since 1935. Tennessee took the 1961 meeting for its first victory in five years, but UK's courageous "Thin Thirty" fought back to win a 12-10 squeaker in 1962. The Vols caught Kentucky in a let down three seasons back to annex a 19-0 decision, but Kentucky capped a strange 1964 campaign in glorious fashion by capturing a hard-fought, 12-7 victory over the equally-inconsistent Tennesseans. Without passing star Rick Norton, injured the week before in the Houston game, Kentucky could not cope with the Vols in '65 and dropped a 19-3 decision.

Since 1925, the two schools have stimulated their grid rivalry with a rotating trophy—a battered old beer barrel. Many shenanigans on the part of the rival student bodies have added to the color of the series. Following the 1953 UK win, disgruntled Tennessee students raided the Kentucky campus and "kegnapped" the barrel—holding it until persuaded to return it by threats of reprisal against their coon dog mascot, Smoky. In 1955, UK students visited the Tennessee campus hiding place of Smoky and "dognapped" him. UT students promptly retaliated by painting up the Kentucky campus in a surprise raid and carting away "Colonel," UK's stuffed wildcat mascot. A trade was engineered at the '55 game. For a couple of years, things were comparatively quiet. Then the stunts erupted again in 1958 as Vol students caught a guard "napping" and slipped away with UK's stuffed Wildcat. Despite promises to return it at halftime of a nationally-televised basketball game, the mascot wasn't given back until nearly four months later. A post-game sidelight to Kentucky's victory in 1959 saw a strange calm shattered by rioting UK students protesting a faculty refusal to reward the win with a traditional pre-Thanksgiving holiday. Up to 5,000 demonstrators and onlookers carried on for about four and one-half hours, marching on the UK president's home and setting a bonfire at a main intersection in downtown Lexington. The famed beer barrel, which had remained in hiding during "Tennessee week" in 1960, came up missing almost four months later under unusual circumstances. Vanderbilt students "kegnapped" the trophy in a surprise attempt to gain support of Vol fans for the Commodores' basketball team which was meeting the Wildcats in Knoxville in a playoff for an NCAA Tournament berth. The stunt backfired, however, as UK won. Embarrassed Vandy students did not return the trophy until several months later. Five years ago, another chapter was added to the keg's history as two UK freshman players forgot to bring the barrel to the game and the Vols left town without claiming it. Kentucky sent the keg on to Knoxville later. Since then, a strange calm has surrounded the old beer barrel.

LAST MEETING: Nov. 20, 1965 (Lexington) UT 19, UK 3—The absence of Kentucky passing star Rick Norton, who underwent knee surgery a day after being injured in the Houston game, proved (as most people feared) to be too great a handicap for the Wildcats to overcome as Tennessee rolled to a 19-3 win and Bluebonnet Bowl bid. Junior Roger Walz opened at Norton's quarterback spot but soon relinquished the job to sophomore Terry Beadles, who doubled as well at his regular safety location. Both did creditable work but were limited in effectiveness by lack of previous extensive game experience. One of the sad aspects of the game was the fact UK could muster only 59 yards through the air compared to Tennessee's 130—the first time since 1963 that Kentucky had been outpassed. Actually the contest was much tighter than expected. Each team got an early field goal and the score was knotted at 3-3 late in the third quarter. Then, in a five-minute span, the "roof fell in" on the 'Cats. The Vols, aided by pass interceptions that put them in position, produced two quick touchdowns and trapped a gambling Beadles in his own end zone for a safety. Kentucky could not come back.

1966 OUTLOOK: After pulling off the biggest surprise move in the conference last fall (jumping from a predicted ninth place finish to post an 8-1-2 record and a tie for third), the experts are not taking the Vols lightly this season. They are figuring SEC Coach of the Year Doug Dickey's crew no worse than fourth by the final gun and touting them for an encore in one of the major bowls. With 19 returning lettermen spread equally between the offense and defense, Tennessee should present a well-balanced front to foes this fall. While not discounting the anticipated running prowess of highly-touted sophomore back, Richmond Flowers, Tennessee's strong point in '66 could well be its air arm. Pre-season All-SEC choice Austin Denny and his fellow starter will return to man the flanks and the Vols are blessed with two fine T-quarterbacks—Charlie Fulton and Dewey Warren. Coach Dickey admits to the prospect of more speed in the backfield offensively and better depth in the defensive secondary. But he bemoans the probability of trouble stemming from the presence at defensive ends and linebacker spots of personnel unfamiliar with the positions. Missing in this area will be All-America linebacker Frank Emanuel and running mate Tom Fisher (killed in car wreck) plus All-SEC defensive end Bobby Frazier. The Vols, if things shape up as expected, could be a stronger team than a year ago but improving on the record set in '66 could be difficult. The game will be televised regionally on the NCAA Game of the Week schedule.

VICTORY KICKS

A game unique in University of Kentucky football history occurred in 1900. Kentucky beat the Louisville YMCA, 12-6, without running a single offensive play during the entire game. Kicking on first down every time they gained possession of the ball, Kentucky made its scores through the recovery of opponent fumbles in the end zone.

UK TOSSES FIRST PASS IN '06

The first forward pass ever attempted by a Kentucky football team was thrown in a game played at Lexington Oct. 13, 1906—the year that the forward pass was legalized by national rules—against Eminence Athletic Club. Accounts of this early contest do not mention whether the pass was completed or the name of the thrower. Earl Stone was listed as quarterback of Coach J. White Guyn's Kentuckians.

ANDERSON

TOM ANDERSON Jr. End 6-0 177 22 (7/27/44) Birmingham, Ala.

A reserve flankman for the past two campaigns, Tommy has seen only sparse action but could fit into the end picture importantly this season . . . Likely to be stationed once again on the defensive platoon where he saw brief duty in two games during the '65 season . . . Failed to get into a game in first varsity campaign in 1964, thus saving a year of eligibility . . . Tom, one of four Alabama natives on this year's varsity, prepped at Ramsey High in Birmingham and then spent the 1962-63 school year at Staunton (Va.) Military Academy—where one of his coaches was current UK assistant Joe Moss . . . Mentioned on the All-State team and second team All-Military while at Staunton . . . Tom's father is a doctor in Birmingham and Tom has ambitions to study medicine later.

FRANK ANTONINI (An-toe-knee-knee) Sr. FB 5-11 209 22 (2/1/44) Ambridge, Pa.

Approaches 1966 campaign hopeful he can stay physically sound and measure up to the greatness indicated by his sensational schoolboy and UK freshman performances . . . Frank has been hampered in both his soph and junior seasons by minor injuries—last season it was a knee banged up in the mid-season encounter with Georgia . . . Had looked good early season as a fullback starter . . . Missed late season games and underwent off-season surgery that should make him ready for the rugged 1966 schedule . . . Despite curtailed action in '65, Antonini wound up fourth among UK ground gainers with 68 yards on 31 trips . . . Also grabbed three passes for 40 yards . . . Frank has good speed to go along with his size and runs with authority . . . Best position looks like fullback—where he played last year after shifting from tailback duty . . . Two years ago, in varsity break-in campaign, he was the alternate for Rodger Bird and was being groomed as tailback for 1965 . . . Switch in assignment coupled with experimental move of '64 fullback regular Mike McGraw to defense . . . Antonini captured the imagination of Kentucky fans as a yearling in 1963 . . . Stamped himself as one of SEC's prize rookies as he posted 7.8 rushing average and personally accumulated 68 points—including four TD's against Tennessee Frosh . . . Never held to less than 100 yards rushing as paced Kittens to undefeated season . . . Attained top schoolboy All-America recognition as record-busting halfback in high school at Ambridge, Pa. . . . Two-season UK rushing total 214 yards and 2 TD's in 82 carries.

CHUCK ARNOLD Sr. Kick. Spec. 6-1 210 21 (7/12/45) Howell, Mich.

Back in pads this season for final try at helping Wildcats . . . Chuck will be available for spot duty in capacity of place-kicking specialist . . . Forced out of active play since freshman campaign in '63 by congenital back condition . . . The Wolverine State husky has improved his kicking ability through diligent practice and excellent attitude to the point where he is a dependable booter at short to medium distances . . . May do both field goal and PAT work and kickoffs . . . High school play came at Howell (Mich.) High, where he tallied 13 touchdowns and kicked six extra points in final season to break Capitol Circuit record for points scored . . . Averaged better than six yards a try rushing and caught 25 passes . . . Did not try kicking as UK freshman, but picked up 27 yards on eight tries as a fullback . . . One of two Michiganders on team—soph Steve Gray of Detroit the other.

BOBBY BARTKOW Sr. QB 6-0 187 21 (11/14/44) Rockville, Md.

Re-joined the Wildcat squad this spring after one season absence . . . Bobby will try to help plug the gap left at quarterback by the graduation loss of All-America

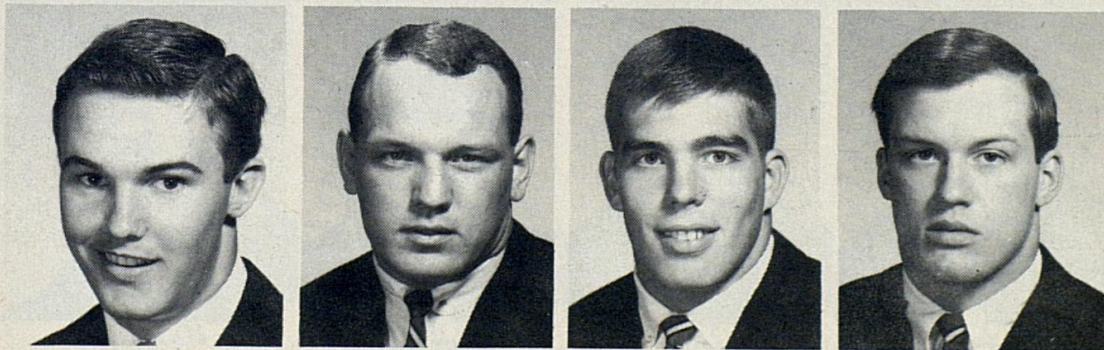

Rick Norton . . . One year of eligibility remains for the sturdy youth who first came to Kentucky shortly before the 1965 season as a transfer from Montgomery Junior College at Takoma Park, Md. . . . Moving in along with him was Bob Windsor, who blossomed into stardom last year . . . Although behind other quarterback candidates in familiarity with the Bradshaw style of operations, indications given in spring practice are that he is picking up knowledge quickly and should prove helpful to team . . . At Montgomery JC, Bartkow sparkled in leading the Knights to an undefeated (8-0-0) season in 1964 . . . Passed for 11 touchdowns and netted 1,049 air yards with 67 completions on 124 tosses . . . Personally scored three more TD's . . . Achieved All-League status and selected as MVP in Tri-State Conference championship game in 1964 . . . High School play came at North-western in Hyattsville, Md. . . . Born Yonkers, N. Y.

TERRY BEADLES Jr. QB 5-11 192 20 (4/20/46) Fulton, Ky.

Terry made Coach Bradshaw look like a successful gambler last season by showing up exceptionally well at defensive safety following an experimental move from offensive quarterback . . . One of the Conference's super rookies of 1965 (All-SEC Sophomore team, AP's all-league defensive team and honorable mention All-America), Beadles opened every game at safety and filled in capably as reserve quarterback in last two after Rick Norton hurt . . . This season, he stands No. 1 on the list of probable replacements for the graduated All-American . . . Switch back to offense is OK by Beadles, who is happy to play anywhere and performs every assignment well . . . He tied for the Southeastern Conference leadership in intercepted passes a year ago with six and returned his grabs 80 yards—second highest runback total of the year . . . Tied school record as picked off three Missouri aerials in first start . . . With most of his QB action coming in season finale against Tennessee, Terry recorded 7 for 13 in passing for 59 yards and two conversions . . . Led UK and eighth in SEC by returning 16 punts 185 yards . . . Offensive duty in prospect for Beadles this season should push him to even greater team contributions and personal recognition . . . And it should come more naturally in view of his experience as a schoolboy at Fulton (Ky.) High and as a Kentucky yearling . . . Terry paced the Kentucky freshmen to an undefeated season in 1964 by becoming the team's leader in total offense (614 yards), passing (24-14-304-3 TD) and scoring (24 points) plus the No. 2 man in rushing (53-309-5.8-4 TD) . . . Played in only three games, missing one due to injury . . . In junior year at Fulton, Terry set school record by scoring 148 points . . . As senior, he rolled up 1,020 yards rushing in 100 carries . . . Despite credentials, Beadles went virtually unnoticed by college scouts other than Kentucky's and was mentioned no higher than second team All-State . . . Proved himself by winning Outstanding Back award in 1964 East-West All-Star Game after piloting West to victory with the aid of two personal TD's and leading in rushing on 184 yards in 8 trips . . . Coach Bradshaw cites Beadles as "potentially one of the best football players at Kentucky in last 20 years."

MIKE BEIRNE (Burn) Jr. Guard 6-1 206 21 (4/10/45) McKeesport, Pa.

If Mike improves his play as much as he did a year ago, there's every reason to expect that he will see important action this season . . . Most likely to operate as an offensive guard . . . Proved himself very adept on defense in limited game activity during his varsity break-in year last season and should log more playing time at guard than he did as a center linebacker in 1965 . . . Covers a lot of ground with good speed and agility . . . Needs only experience . . . In the

BEIRNE

spring prior to '65 campaign, Beirne was runner-up in voting on the most improved player in spring workouts . . . Tried as a guard during early part of freshman year of '64, but shifted to center . . . Started playing regulation football at age 11 with famed McKeesport "Little Tigers" in Pennsylvania . . . Team lost only six of 30 games during Mike's three years . . . A brother, Jim, played as soph at Purdue last season . . . Mike was born in Pittsburgh and is one of 10 from Keystone State on this year's varsity . . . Legal first name is Regis.

PAUL BENARD Jr. Tackle 6-3 217 19 (10/14/46) Catlettsburg, Ky.

There's plenty of competition to keep Paul Benard hustling at the assignment of holding down a possible No. 1 defensive tackle position this season, but his coaches are betting Paul will be hanging in there with the best . . . Cited by Coach Bradshaw for "most impressive" spring practice . . . He is blessed with the physical equipment that is needed to get the job done, standing 6-3 and tipping the scales at 217 (a little trimmer than last season) . . . And the limited game action he gained last season, chiefly as a replacement for defensive left guard Tony Manzonelli, should stand him in good stead in '66 . . . He has progressed fast since he broke in as a reserve tackle for the UK freshmen two seasons back . . . Classed as having tremendous quickness for his size . . . During high school days at Catlettsburg, he played every position except end and quarterback and won five letters in football . . . Earned seven more in basketball, track and baseball . . . All-Class A and honorable mention All-State in football . . . German-French nationality . . . Turns 20 the day before the LSU game.

CHARLES BLACKBURN Soph. End 6-2 197 20 (7/10/46) Westerville, Ohio

Joined the Kentucky team last year in the role of offensive end and defensive halfback . . . Saw most of Kitten action at end position and wound up the season third among frosh receivers with 8 catches netting 65 yards and one touchdown . . . The husky Buckeye State native (born in Columbus) came to UK by way of Staunton (Va.) Military Academy, where he played in 1964 after completing three years of schoolboy play at his home town high school of Westerville . . . One of his coaches at Staunton was current UK aide Joe Moss . . . Won 11 athletic letters in three sports . . . Honorable mention All-State as baseball catcher . . . Father is a ceramic engineer and Charles plans to enter the business after graduation . . . Scotch nationality.

DON BRITTON Jr. Fullback 5-10 199 22 (1/28/44) Broomall, Pa.

Don carried the ball just once (18 vs. Vandy) and failed to letter as a reserve fullback last season, but things have changed and he's not only expected to letter but should be in the thick of battling for a starting job . . . Chief competition, now that '65 regular Larry Seiple has moved over to tailback, will be Frank Antonini . . . Britton progressed rapidly in spring practice . . . Filled in for ailing Antonini and few days later he had won the No. 1 fullback job for the remainder of the spring . . . He led all gainers in spring game with 113 yards on only eight trips and won the vote of his coaches for "Most Improved Offensive Player" on basis of spring practice . . . Coach Bradshaw compliments Britton as "the best blocking prospect we have had at fullback since I have been here and we don't have a running back who will give more of himself on short yardage situations than Britton" . . . Not blessed with great speed or power, but makes up for the lack of these qualities by inner toughness and willingness to hustle . . . Spent his first varsity campaign (1964) on the sidelines . . . Ranked only fifth among UK

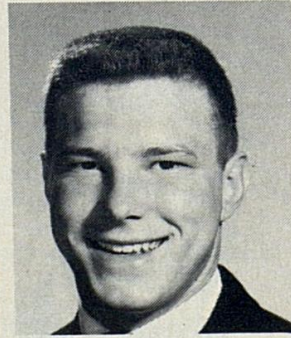

BRITTON

CASSITY

frosh ball carriers in 1963 . . . One of 10 on the 1966 squad from the State of Pennsylvania, Britton had a fine schoolboy career in Philadelphia Suburban League while playing for Marple-Newton High . . . Averaged 5.4 yards on 127 trips and voted top linebacker in league . . . Also starred in baseball, winning MVP honor in American Legion League in 1962 . . . An uncle won Little All-America football recognition . . . Don, a Presbyterian by faith, is a past president of the UK chapter, Fellowship of Christian Athletes and now serves as vice-president.

JOE CARROLL Jr. Linebacker 5-9 185 21 (3/16/45) Sharon Hill, Pa.

After two varsity seasons looking for first game action, Joe is in the undesirable position of having to prove himself . . . Many people close to the team have faith that this could be the year he makes it to important action . . . Joe is stationed at a linebacker post despite seeming lack of desirable size at just 5-9 and 185 . . . But this young man is tough as nails and has overcome his shortcomings in size by dedication and hustle that might pay off this season . . . One of 10 on current squad from Pennsylvania, Joe is a graduate of Monsignor Bonner High in Philadelphia suburbs where he operated as fullback, was team captain and won most valuable honor as team went undefeated . . . Teammate at Bonner was twin brother, Mike, who also was signed for the 1963 UK freshman squad but was severely injured in automobile accident that summer . . . Mike is now at UK on football scholarship but on inactive list while still recuperating . . . If he ever plays, the twosome would be the second set of twins in UK grid history . . . First were Harry and Larry Jones of Louisville, also small backfield men, who lettered in 1950-51-52.

BILL CARTWRIGHT Soph. Center 6-0 203 19 (2/13/47) Princeton, Ky.

Played well enough as a Kentucky freshman last season to merit a long look from his coaches this spring and they liked what they saw . . . Bill fits in the varsity picture in important fashion as an offensive center . . . Likely to be the backup man for starter Calvin Withrow and will be groomed as the probable replacement for Withrow come 1967 . . . The lean Western Kentucky product shows good schooling in fundamentals of the game . . . Taught by Coach Fred Clayton at Caldwell County High in Princeton—traditionally one of the most powerful Class AA teams in the state . . . The Tigers went undefeated in Bill's junior season (1963) on a 13-0 mark . . . Cartwright played every position on the team except quarterback, winning three varsity letters and first unit All-State honors . . . Played in the Kentucky High School East-West All-Star Game at Lexington a few weeks before enrolling at UK.

MIKE CASSITY Jr. Guard 6-2 210 21 (1/15/45) Xenia, Ohio

Enters 1966 campaign still looking for first varsity game duty and he could find it if things work out right in his new position at guard . . . He was tried as a defensive flankman last season but did not get into action . . . Hobbled by knee injury two years back, in his varsity break-in year, and underwent corrective surgery which necessitated him missing rough practice work and game duty while recuperating . . . Impressive as a freshman in 1963 . . . The sizeable Buckeye product, one of nine on the '66 varsity from Ohio, hails from Xenia—where he was an all-around athletic standout . . . Gained personal honor as a second team All-Ohio choice and was his team's most valuable player . . . Also picked up

All-Miami Valley Conference recognition in basketball and was an outstanding first baseman in baseball . . . Cassity is a second cousin to the famed singing group, the McGuire Sisters.

DONNIE CHACOS Soph. Wingback 6-2 186 19 (8/15/47) Bethesda, Md.

Son of a football coach, Donnie shows a solid understanding of the fundamentals of the game and proved himself a potential coming star by standout play with the Kentucky freshmen last season . . . The father, Lou Chacos, has a close tie with the Wildcats—in addition to sending his son here, he was the tutor of UK varsity hands Bob Windsor and Bobby Bartkow while they attended Montgomery Junior College in Maryland . . . Donnie broke in as a starting wingback with the frosh last season and showed enough finesse to cause Coach Bradshaw to be counting on him for some relief duty in support of Windsor . . . Chacos carried the ball only three times in 1965, but ranked as the No. 2 frosh pass catcher with 9 receptions gaining a team-leading 101 yards . . . Also second in kickoff returning at four for 61 yards . . . In addition to Windsor and Bartkow, the UK varsity this fall is due to have another product of Donnie's father in the person of Montgomery tackle Jack Gawler . . . Donnie, who claims Greek and Irish descent, prepped at St. John's High School in Washington, D.C., where he won numerous honors as a record-busting end . . . Also saw action during schoolboy career as wingback, quarterback and safety . . . Enroute to attaining recognition as the outstanding lineman in the Washington Metropolitan Area and mention on All-America teams, he set records for longest TD pass in a game and most yards by a receiver . . . St. John's went undefeated in his final season and won three straight Catholic League titles . . . Also voted outstanding high school trackman in the area.

DAVID CHILDRÉ Soph. Guard 6-0 188 18 (11/18/47) Henderson, Ky.

Hails from the same high school as graduated consensus All-America tackle Sam Ball and coaches feel he has the potential to approach the greatness achieved last season by his Henderson predecessor. . . "Poison," as he's nicknamed, doesn't have the size yet that helped Ball, but no one argues his toughness and ability to hit . . . Did tremendous job as starting linebacker and guard for UK freshmen a year ago . . . The Henderson County High product blocks and tackles very well, has good speed and quickness and a great amount of desire to back up his ability . . . Good demonstration of his defensive prowess came against Cincinnati Frosh last year when he blocked a punt and recovered it on UC's 11-yard line to set up the touchdown that proved eventually to be the margin of victory . . . Playing linebacker for Henderson, Childre set a school record for interceptions . . . Also lettered in track, baseball and basketball to become only the second boy to letter in four sports in school history . . . Won only honorable mention on All-State but showed up well in East-West All-Star Game . . . Started playing football in fifth grade . . . Born Ft. Worth, Texas . . . Turns 19 on eve of Tennessee game . . . His ambition is to become a certified public accountant.

ROD CLOYD Soph. Def. Back 6-0 193 19 (5/2/47) Lawrenceburg, Ky.

Operated chiefly as a reserve quarterback last season during his collegiate break-in campaign, but most likely to handle assignment of defensive back in first varsity season this year . . . He is familiar with both positions, having gained experience as both a quarterback and defensive halfback while performing at Anderson High School in nearby Lawrenceburg . . . In his freshman work at UK in 1965, Rod showed the third best rushing mark on the team as he gained 42 yards on 12 carries from his quarterback position . . . Long run was 16 yards against Tennessee Frosh . . . Second on team in passing with four completions in 12 tries for gain of 50 yards . . . Anderson Bearcats posted 9-1 record in Cloyd's senior year when he was captain and won honorable mention All-State.

KERRY CURLING Jr. Linebacker 5-10 188 20 (1/14/46) Princeton, Ky.

Despite some obvious shortcomings in the size department, Curling is blessed with great football instinct as well as loads of hustling determination to be in the right spot at the right time . . . Muscled his way to a starting linebacker role and turned out to be one of the top rookies in the Southeastern Conference last season . . . In pre-season '65, Kerry was figured to go with the offensive unit as a pulling guard, but coaches are happy the switch was made to defense to take full advantage of his natural instincts . . . He intercepted two enemy passes from his inside linebacker spot a year ago and ran one back seven yards against Vanderbilt . . . Blocked a Vandy punt that led to a UK touchdown . . . All told during the 1965 season, Kerry was credited with being in on 85 tackles . . . Showed potential for improvement this spring as he helped his defensive unit completely avoid being scored upon . . . Curling is used to being associated with a winner—last season's varsity compiled the first winning season since 1960, the UK freshmen went undefeated in his season (1964) and his high school team copped the state AA title in 1963 on a 13-0 record . . . Won personal recognition on first string All-State team same year and mentioned on the All-Southern and All-America schoolboy units . . . A brother (Hollis) played football at Tampa . . . Dutch-Irish descent . . . Kerry has ambitions to enter engineering field after UK graduation.

DON DANKO Sr. Linebacker 5-11 205 21 (9/9/44) Pocohontas, Va.

As the Wildcats' alternate No. 1 fullback linebacker a year ago, Danko turned in a sterling effort in the eighth game of the season against Vanderbilt and seemed ticketed for even greater performances . . . Then, the following week against Houston, he suffered a knee injury that required surgical correction and cost him the chance for further improvement . . . Slow recovery and the desire of his coaches to take every precaution against possible complications caused Don to skip spring practice and makes his 1966 season status questionable . . . If the knee is strong enough, he should be in the thick of the fight for starting linebacker duty . . . His experience is considered invaluable—along with Mike McGraw, he has earned two varsity letters . . . He was top high school prospect as bone-crushing runner and linebacker at Bluefield (Va.) Graham High . . . Scored 68 points senior year and posted 184 in three seasons . . . Accumulated career total of 2,575 yards and 6.7 average . . . Credited with 84 individual tackles in senior year at Graham . . . All-Area selection three years running and All-State final campaign . . . As UK freshman, he was second leading runner with 266 yards and No. 2 scorer with 30 points . . . Gained 19 yards as soph, no TD's and had no offensive action in '66.

JERRY DAVIS Sr. Safety 5-10 180 22 (5/28/44) Fairborn, Ohio

A shoulder dislocation two seasons back cost Jerry valuable experience but he made up for lost time last year by showing up particularly well at defensive halfback . . . This season, he is scheduled to move into the vital safety spot vacated by Terry Beadles' move to quarterback . . . He has good speed and quick reactions to go along with fine football instinct needed by defensive back . . . Only action as soph came in opener with Detroit . . . Last season, he played in every game . . . As a UK yearling, he failed to stand out as he has since developed . . . Had only one carry for two yard gain, returned four punts 13 yards and intercepted one pass . . . No statistics past two seasons . . . Son of Air Force career officer, Jerry was born in Oklahoma City and lived in nine states and foreign countries before coming to Kentucky . . . Temporary homes were in Japan, Finland, Germany, Virginia, South Carolina, California, District of Columbia and Oklahoma in addition to Ohio . . . Started sports activity at Fairborn, Ohio in 1958 . . . Attended high school in Frankfurt, Germany, as soph . . . While living in Helsinki, Finland, Jerry captured Finnish 70-meter dash in 17 and under age group . . . Also set numerous sprint records in Miami Valley League in Ohio and placed third in 440 race of Ohio state schoolboy meet . . . One of nine Buckeyes on '66 varsity.

DENNIS DRINNEN Soph. Tackle 6-1 224 19 (9/6/46) Loveland, Ohio

Held out of competition in his first varsity season last year to allow him to gain maturity that Kentucky coaches are counting on this time around . . . Drinnen has rewarded this faith by taking on both added grid savvy and added size that should enable him to make a serious bid for important game duty this season . . . Still needs some polishing of fundamental skills, but should come along fast . . . Most likely to be groomed for action with the offensive platoon, which lost both starting tackles . . . One of nine Ohio products on the '66 varsity, Drinnen hails from Loveland—a small community near Cincinnati . . . His hard-nosed tackling and linebacking helped Loveland Tigers cop Conference title in AA competition . . . Also earned three baseball letters . . . Born in Cincinnati . . . Father (Raymond) served in Marines with Coach Bradshaw . . . Irish-Polish ancestry.

TOM FEE Jr. Def. Back 5-7 171 21 (2/22/45) Uniontown, Pa.

Returned to the Wildcat squad this spring after missing the 1965 season and should be ready to help the team in the capacity of a defensive back and safetyman. . . How much action he sees may depend on how fast he catches up in physical condition and mental attitude during the course of the season . . . Could help importantly . . . Earned his first varsity "K" as a sophomore for valuable contributions on defense despite a lack of size . . . This year, he ranks as the smallest candidate on the team at 5-9 and 171 pounds . . . Nevertheless, Tom has proven that stature (or lack of it) is not a big factor in getting the job done . . . Earned All-State and Big 33 selection at Uniontown High in Pennsylvania . . . His club went undefeated and copped the AA crown in his first schoolboy season . . . Also was regular on 1962 state champion cage outfit . . . Family natoinality Italian . . . Father is a teacher . . . One of 10 from Pennsylvania.

TOM FERGUSON Soph. Linebacker 5-11 182 19 (4/18/47) Ashland, Ky.

This former star high school quarterback has adapted to defense in sterling fashion and should be ready to help out this season in an important fashion . . . Scheduled to see action as a linebacker . . . During UK freshman campaign, he won a starting job as a defensive halfback and intercepted two passes . . . Had some experience with backing up the line while schoolboy standout at Ashland's Paul G. Blazer High School . . . Chiefly a quarterback who set school record by tossing 11 touchdown passes in a single season . . . Won second team honors on All-State selections and honorable mention on All-America lists . . . Played in 1965 East-West All-Star Game . . . Also picked up letters in basketball, baseball and track . . . Family nationally Irish . . . Favorite subject is history.

BOB FRIEBERT Soph. Tackle 6-2 213 19 (9/1/47) Louisville, Ky.

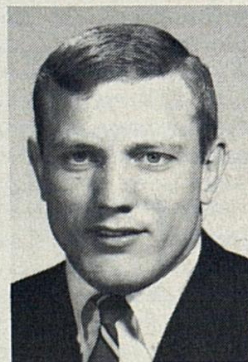

Overlooked by some recruiters who accepted his potential only on the strength of insignificant personal honors (third team All-City and honorable mention All-State), Bob has already proved his merit far overshadows on-paper qualifications . . . He won a starting assignment with the Kentucky frosh last season, working at tackle both offensively and on defense . . . Providing he continues to develop this season, Friebert could see considerable action in an important capacity . . . There's need for a capable replacement on offense, particularly, where both starting tackles graduated to the pro ranks . . . Picked up well-rounded experience as schoolboy grid participant at Louisville's Bishop David High School as he tried hand at four jobs—end, tackle, guard and linebacker . . . Falcons posted winning seasons in tough, AAA football each of his last two seasons . . . Bob turned in good post-season showing in state high school East-West Game . . . Family background German.

JACK GAWLER Jr. Tackle 6-1 235 19 (.....) Rockville, Md.

Due to report for pre-season practice after transferring from Montgomery Junior College in Takoma Park, Md. . . Will become the third JC transfer—all from Montgomery—in two seasons . . . The other Wildcats who started their careers under Coach Lou Chacos at the Maryland school are wingback Bob Windsor and quarterback Bobby Bartkow . . . Windsor starred in his opening season at UK while Bartkow was absent last year . . . Gawler hails from the same hometown (Rockville, Md.) as Bartkow . . . Attended high school in Wheaton, Md., where he won personal honor as All-Montgomery County . . . Good speed for size illustrated by feat of running 70 yards with recovered fumble and scoring another TD of 50 yards as schoolboy . . . All-Tri-State Conference lineman at Montgomery JC . . . Comes within one inch and two pounds of being biggest man on the roster.

HOMER GOINS Jr. Tailback 5-11 191 22 (1/17/44) Evarts, Ky.

Picked up his first varsity letter last season as the sophomore understudy to tailback Rodger Bird and looms as a strong candidate for important duty this year . . . Apparently, Homer will have to work as an alternate again in '66 due to the move of All-Conference candidate Larry Seiple from fullback to tailback, where he worked some during 1965 . . . Goins is a tremendous competitor who thrives on long odds, however, and should help his team immeasurably in the backup role if this develops . . . He was third on the team in rushing last season with 80 yards on 14 carries for a 5.7 average that he may improve in '66 . . . Showed up well this spring . . . The road to regular duty as a Wildcat has been long and obstacle-strewn since he first entered UK in 1962 . . . Before the season started, Goins withdrew from school to recuperate from back trouble . . . Returned following year and turned in sensational showing as freshman runner, gaining 148 yards on 12 trips for 12.8 average . . . His 70-yard run against Tennessee Frosh longest from scrimmage by freshman in years . . . Although available in '64, he did not see action.

MIKE GRANATO Soph. Def. Back 6-1 180 20 (10/29/45) Cumberland, Ky.

Classed by his coaches as fast, talented and tough, Granato was "Mr. Everything" for the Kentucky frosh a year ago . . . No better example of his talent was given than the performance he turned in against Vandy's freshmen . . . Operating at tailback and defensive halfback, he carried 17 times for 45 yards, kicked extra points, intercepted a pass, recovered a fumble, kicked off and punted, returned a punt and did a fine job of tackling besides playing well in the secondary . . . For the season, he was second in rushing on 61 yards for 25 carries and led in interceptions . . . He excelled in basketball as well as football in both high school (Cumberland) and prep school (Carolina Military Academy) . . . Won All-State honors in both sports and averaged better than 30 points a game for school records at Cumberland and Carolina . . . Played in the Kentucky high school East-West All-Star Game . . . Son of a retired miner . . . Family nationality Italian . . . Celebrates 21st birthday on day of West Virginia game.

STEVE GRAY Soph. Def. Back 6-2 180 19 (3/13/47) Detroit, Mich.

Like teammate Jerry Davis, Steve is a well-travelled young man . . . Born in Red Oak, Iowa, lived in California for 15 years and Florida for 2½ years before family moved to Detroit . . . The 180-pound halfback, who will likely spend most of his time on defense (probably at safety) this season, reported to Kentucky last year with a knee injury and was held out of all practice and game activity until this spring while recuperating from surgery . . . Gray hurt the knee in the Florida All-Star Game in July of 1965 . . . Played high school ball at Dixie Hollins High in St. Petersburg, Fla., where team compiled an 8-2 season record in each of his last three seasons and won conference and city championships three years running . . . Gray played end and halfback on offense and defense, winning MVP honor among five city schools and gaining mention on the All-Southern and All-America squads . . . Family nationality German.

PHIL GREER Soph. Def. Back 6-2 192 19 (11/22/46) Burdine, Ky.

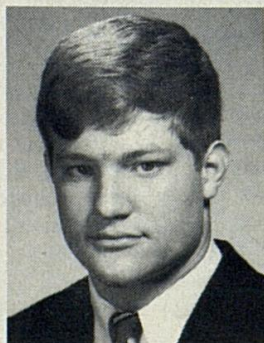

Failed to see any game action last season in break-in varsity campaign when he tried to make the grade as an offensive end . . . This year, he will make a bid as a defensive back . . . Switched from quarterback to end in freshman year of 1964 and adjusted quickly to become starter in late season . . . At Jenkins (Ky.) High, Greer played as a quarterback and defensive halfback to help guide the Cavaliers to Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference championship in 1963 . . . Once tossed five touchdown passes in one game . . . All-State and mentioned on All-America as he netted 640 yards and 54 points passing in his final year . . . Added four letters each in basketball and track . . . Father is a coal miner . . . Twentieth birthday comes three days following season end.

JIM GRESHAM Jr. Tackle 6-0 223 20 (5/24/46) Jeffersonville, Ind.

One of the most outstanding young linemen in the Wildcat camp and stamped "a real comer" as a defensive tackle-guard at the time he was injured last year . . . Hurt a knee the week of the Louisiana State game while running in sweat clothes during a kickoff drill . . . Missed rest of season and held out of spring practice to allow complete recovery from knee operation . . . Coaches and team doctors are hopeful he can play this season . . . Gresham shined as a key member of the goal line defensive unit that held off Missouri after the Tigers got a first down at the UK three yard line last season . . . Played in every game up to LSU . . . Jim is a big and stocky youngster with the necessary strength and determination to tackle any task in winning fashion and his coaches are counting on his return . . . As a UK yearling in '64, he saw action as a fullback and guard . . . Considered a "sleeper" when signed since he was only third team All-State while performing at Jeffersonville (Ind.) High as a fullback, end and defensive tackle . . . Team captain and MVP set school record with 93-yard TD run . . . Born New Albany, Ind., and only Hoosier on varsity . . . Dreams of being able to teach and do post-graduate work in mathematics.

JOHN HARRIS Soph. Linebacker 6-2 200 19 (5/2/47) Highland Park, Ill.

A husky veteran of six years of football play in the tough Chicago Suburban League, Harris is well qualified to handle any assignment dished out to him . . . Bids to become the first greater Chicago native in 15 years to play varsity football at Kentucky . . . The last Wildcats from that area were Jim MacKenzie of Gary, Ind. (now head coach at Oklahoma), All-Conference guard Gene Donaldson and tackle Chet Lukawski, both of East Chicago, Ind . . . All three wound up careers in 1951 after playing on three UK bowl elevens . . . Harris started strong by becoming the regular offensive center for the freshmen last season . . . Won Jaycees Freshman Leadership Award . . . Moved to a more vital linebacker post this spring and expected to see action . . . All-League in high school at Highland Park as a center and defensive tackle . . . Father is an investment banker . . . Family extraction Irish and Welsh.

RODGER HART Jr. Linebacker 5-9 178 21 (11/27/44) Albertville, Ala.

Complications surrounding a knee injury he received last fall cast a cloud of doubt over how much action Rodger Hart will be able to see this season . . . Skipped suiring practice this year . . . If he sees game duty, it will probably be as a linebacker . . . Did not show quite enough potential in his first varsity season (1964) to break into the lineup and was injured before the season opened last year . . . He made fine showing as a freshman in 1963 at guard . . . Tried briefly at center two years ago and was ticketed as No. 2 left guard on offense following spring work in '65 . . . All-State as a schoolboy in Albertville, Ala.—northeast of Birmingham.

EDDIE INGRAM Soph. Guard 5-10 185 20 (6/18/46) Dyersburg, Tenn.

Red shirted for the 1965 season after he was sidelined by a case of mononucleosis—an unusual disease that leaves one weak . . . Now much improved but an uncertain performer this season . . . Missed spring drills . . . Eddie has ability and load of determination that will stand him in good stead once he's physically ready . . . Small in stature for a guard, but shows good speed and quickness in his moves . . . Strong freshman showing made at guard . . . Good student and served as 1964-65 president of Kitten Lodge (freshman football house) . . . Played center and defensive guard at Dyersburg . . . Also voted outstanding track athlete in his school.

BILL JANSEN Soph. Linebacker 5-11 188 19 (5/13/47) Louisville, Ky.

Turned in particularly good showing as a Kentucky yearling last season to follow up the great promise he displayed during fine schoolboy career at Louisville's Flaget High . . . Coaches say he did tremendous job both offensively and defensively for the UK freshman team in 1965 . . . Jansen's primary assignment was as the Kittens' starting split end . . . He registered five pass catches for 87 yards and had one TD reception of 37 yards against the Vanderbilt Frosh that allowed Kentucky to win the game . . . Followed up high school career by winning the most valuable lineman award in the 1965 Kentucky high school East-West All-Star Game . . . In the game, he showed strong ability as an aggressive defensive man did also caught a long pass that he lugged to the one yard line to set up the first West touchdown . . . In his initial varsity season this year, Bill is expected to try his hand as a linebacker . . . Showed up well enough at the job this spring to rate a nod as the probable starter at the Rover position.

MARTY JOYCE Soph. Tackle 6-1 236 19 (5/17/47) Wilmington, Del.

The type of guy who looks you up to hit you, Marty Joyce stands out as one of the prime rookies on this season's UK defensive platoon . . . Takes on all comers in the roughest drills and more than holds his own . . . He's the biggest man on the 1966 varsity from the standpoint of sheer weight of 236 pounds . . . Showed great promise as a Kentucky yearling last season and in spring drills this year . . . He boasts a sterling schoolboy background from play at Salesianum High in Wilmington, Delaware . . . During his four outstanding seasons under the tutelage of famed mentor Dim Montero, Joyce aided his team to post highly successful records—capped off by a perfect (9-0) campaign in 1964 that gave the Sallies the state championship and seventh place national high school ranking . . . Marty won second team All-State honors at tackle and performed in the Delaware All-Star Game . . . In addition, Joyce was a pitching standout who posted an all-time record high number of strikeouts in American Legion play . . . Marty is quite a pool player as well . . . Favorite subject is geography . . . Family extraction is Irish and Polish.

GEORGE KATZENBACH Soph. Tackle 6-1 227 20 (2/10/46) Philadelphia, Pa.

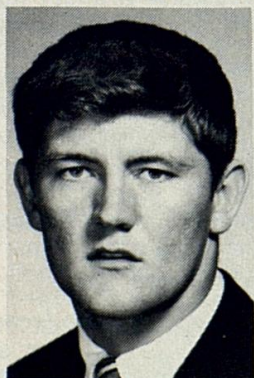

Classed as one of the most promising rookies in the Wildcat camp last season after a terrific freshman campaign in 1964, Katzenbach was held out of game competition to provide him with valuable maturity to go along with his impressive size . . . The move appears to be ready to pay dividends this season as the strapping young Pennsylvanian takes his place as a top tackle candidate on the defensive platoon . . . Picked up a lot of grid savvy in practice sessions last year that should help him turn in a strong performance in '66 . . . Coaches feel George has the ability and physical attributes for greatness and can be as good as he makes up his mind to be . . . He was the regular right tackle as a freshman two seasons back and won the Lexington Jaycees Freshman Leadership Award . . . Came to Kentucky with reputation as one of the Keystone State's finest schoolboy linemen in years and considered one of the prize recruiting catches in the nation in 1964 . . . Played guard and tackle at Philadelphia Roxborough High . . . Team went undefeated (11-0-1) in George's first year and put together a win string of 18 games at one time . . . All-State and Big 33 . . . Winner of numerous special honors, including outstanding high school griddier in Philadelphia and Delaware Valley Football Association's MVP and sportsmanship trophies . . . President of senior class and sang in a capella choir . . . Vice-President for 1964-65 of UK chapter, Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

DOYLE KING Soph. Guard 6-1 214 19 (1/17/47) Mt. Sterling, Ky.

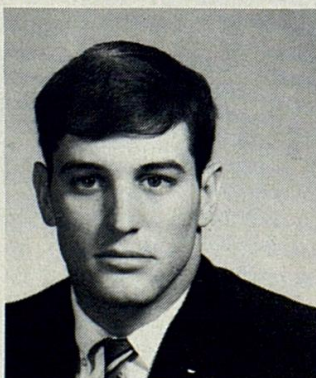

Came out for last season's freshman team without the benefit of scholarship aid and performed creditably as a 208-pound guard . . . Continued on the squad this spring and is slated to be a candidate for duty at the nose guard position in the line behind prospective defensive regular Rich Machel . . . Blessed with good size and strength . . . Played football only one season (1964) at Mt. Sterling (Ky.) High as an end and tackle . . . Born in Knott County, Kentucky.

TOM KOHL Soph. Fullback 6-2 203 19 (1/21/47) Perrysburg, Ohio

Tom got his chance to shine at fullback during his freshman season a year ago when regular fullback David Slaughter broke an ankle in the second game . . . Looked promising although he didn't get to tote the pigskin too frequently . . . For the campaign, he had just 12 carries that gained total of 25 yards and no touchdowns . . . Also hauled in two aerials for 27 more yards . . . Figures as No. 3 fullback this year . . . In high school at Perrysburg, Ohio (Toledo area), Kohl was a standout quarterback-halfback and also starred in baseball and basketball.

LITTLE

McCLELLAN

PAUL KUHN Soph. Fullback 6-1 198 18 () Louisville, Ky.

The playing status of this eager and determined young gridder is uncertain for the 1966 campaign due to a continuing back condition that caused his layoff from active duty after entering UK in 1965 . . . Did not go through spring practice this year and not likely to be ready for game activity this season . . . "Petey," as he is known, is a Louisville Male High graduate . . . All-State, All-Southern, mentioned on All-America . . . Two of his uncles (Charley Kuhn '46 and Dave Kuhn '56) starred on gridiron for Kentucky.

DWIGHT LITTLE Jr. Tackle 6-3 226 20 (8/7/46) Marion, Ky.

Put in his apprentice year in 1965 as the backup man for graduated offensive tackle stalwarts Doug Davis and Sam Ball . . . Gives every indication now of being ready to take over a regular duty spot in the lineup and he is tentatively ticketed for a station of No. 1 offensive left tackle—the spot vacated by Davis . . . Saw action in nine of the Wildcats' 10 games last fall, chiefly as Davis' sub . . . The Crittenden County strongboy has quickness, speed and size plus good height for blocking leverage . . . Cited by his tutors as a really coachable football player who wants to be a winner and is willing to work to improve himself to that end . . . Performance as a UK yearling branded him as a "real comer" . . . Outstanding as a schoolboy tackle, end and fullback . . . Helped Crittenden County post a 9-3 record and win regional championship his senior year . . . Also annexed 10 letters in basketball, baseball and track . . . Aggressive tackling and all-around hustle won him honor as Outstanding Lineman of 1964 East-West All-Star Game . . . Current UK teammate Terry Beadles captured the top backfield man award in the same game . . . Little's father, Ercel, played basketball at UK on the early teams of Coach Adolph Rupp.

DICKY LYONS Soph. Def. Back 6-0 183 19 (8/11/47) Louisville, Ky.

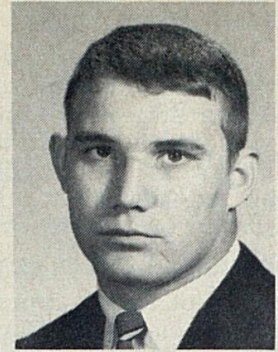

Considered one of the top "plumbs" of the 1965 recruiting season when he became the first schoolboy to sign with the Wildcats that year following a heated "battle" with Notre Dame and other top schools for his services . . . The All-State halfback from Louisville St. Xavier High, where he was coached by ex-UK back Johnny Meihaus, has already lived up to every inch of his great schoolboy reputation and seeks to improve on it as he breaks into Southeastern Conference varsity play this season . . . Operating chiefly at tailback as a Kentucky yearling last year, Lyons paced the Kittens in six statistical departments during a four-game season . . . Rushed 257 yards on 89 trips (33 yards vs. Vanderbilt the longest) and scored three touchdowns, caught 10 passes for 57 yards, punted 32 times for a 30-yard average (one went 64 yards), returned six punts 17 yards and 10 kickoffs 258 yards (including a 78-yard runback vs. Va. Tech), and scoring with 18 points . . . He won a MVP trophy as the result of play against the Tennessee Forsh in the "Dollars for Scholars" game and was named at season's end to the All-SEC Freshman Team as a defensive back . . . Before enrolling at UK, Dicky was voted the Outstanding Back trophy in the Kentucky East-West High School All-Star Game . . . Plans call for the versatile athlete to man the No. 1 defensive right sideback post this season.

GEORGE McCLELLAN Jr. Linebacker 5-10 180 23 (4/13/43) Bristol, Tenn.

Still looking for first varsity game duty after two seasons of trying, George may progress to the ready stage this season as he tries his hand at a new position—linebacker . . . In two previous varsity years, he was stationed at end and held back by superior competition . . . Coaches feel he has the potential to make a valuable contribution . . . Played as a reserve end in freshman year of 1963 . . . Coached at Bristol (on the Tennessee-Virginia border) by former UK Wildcat back, Clayton Powers . . . All-City three years . . . Also All-Conference, All-East Tennessee and honorable mention on the All-State unit as a linebacker and end.

MIKE McGRAW Sr. Linebacker 5-11 205 21 (9/23/44) Ft. Thomas, Ky.

Probably has no peer in the tough Southeastern Conference as a linebacking specialist and he will be around (much to the surprise of many and dismay of opponents) this season to prove it . . . The surprise element stems from the fact he skipped spring practice this season to concentrate on his studies—and hurdled serious obstacles to certify his eligibility for a final campaign . . . A year ago, "Quick Draw" made one of the most unselfish switches of the season as he transferred from probable No. 1 fullback duties to work as a linebacker with the defense

... He had ranked 10th among SEC ball carriers in a terrific sophomore year but adapted to defensive play as a junior with equal gusto . . . Captained the defensive platoon and was officially credited with a school record 157 tackles . . . In pre-season plans of the coaches, Mike is considered most valuable at the line-backer post, but nobody would be too surprised to see him take a "busman's holiday" at fullback since spring work gave indications that the defense is better fixed than the offense . . . That might suit McGraw, who is still looking for his first varsity TD . . . On the other hand, he has no qualms about picking off an enemy aerial and getting his first close-up view of scoring territory that way . . . Honorable mention on AP-UPI All-America outfits as roving middle linebacker in '65 . . . All-SEC Soph Team '64 . . . Considered best Kentucky LB since Jay Rhodemeyer—All-SEC 1947-48 and MVP of College All-Star Game, later a pro with Green Bay . . . Mike played as a fullback in high school days at Ft. Thomas Highlands and as UK freshman, but moved to halfback during holdout year of 1963 . . . At FB in '64, gained 370 yards in 104 trips . . . Second team All-State as Highlands won AA title . . . Scored 138 points (five TD's in a single game was high) during high school career . . . Born in Lexington, lived six other towns . . . Father, James W., played football at UK in 1939-40 and mother, Dorothy, once was a cheerleader.

DALE McMURRY Soph. Wingback 6-0 173 19 (3/10/47) Lexington, Ky.

A rarity among the Wildcats inasmuch as he hails from the backyard of the University . . . Only a handful of grid products of local high schools have been football players at UK—the last to finish out his collegiate career was linebacker Jim Foley in 1964 . . . Guard Jack Dunn, who quit prior to the '65 season, became the first from Bryan Station High School (which McMurry attended) to be awarded a grid scholarship at UK when he entered in '62 . . . Playing at quarterback, halfback and wingback for the Defenders, McMurry won third team All-State honors . . . Figures to be wingback reserve this year after frosh action at defensive halfback.

RICH MACHEL Sr. Guard 6-1 202 21 (6/7/45) Pittsburgh, Pa.

A man on the move, unselfish and willing Rich Machel this season is ticketed to shift to the vital "nose man" position in the middle of the defensive line . . . Rich has the distinction of playing at a different location in the starting lineup every season—and it is to his credit to note that he has played well wherever he is put . . . As a Kentucky yearling in 1963, Machel had left end as his duty assignment and gained a stater's role by season end . . . Then, the following year as a sophomore, his coaches needed an emergency plug at guard and moved Rich over from end barely two weeks before the season opened . . . Machel adapted quickly and became the right guard starter in eight of the '64 season games . . . His emergency contribution was deemed so helpful that he became the first sophomore in school history to gain the coveted Kiwanis 110 Percenter Award . . . Last season, Machel moved back to his freshman end spot—this time to become a starter in every game as the defensive right flankman . . . Apparently motivated in part by the feeling that Rich thrives on the challenge of a new position, Coach Bradshaw this spring stationed his star "fireman" at the unfamiliar middle guard defensive spot . . . Attended South Hills Catholic High in Pittsburgh, Pa., where he set records for kicking extra points and blocking punts . . . Named his team's MVP, All-Catholic and All-State . . . Born in Providence, R.I., and lived at one time in Boston . . . Psychology is Rich's favorite subject and he harbors ambitions to become a Marine Corps pilot.

BASIL MULLINS Sr. Tackle 6-4 215 22 (5/25/44) Paintsville, Ky.

As the lone senior at tackle, one of only two lettermen and most experienced hand available at the position, much pressure for performance and leadership rests on the shoulders of this lanky Kentuckian . . . On the pre-season depth chart, Mullins is planned for duty as the No. 1 defensive right tackle . . . Basil earned his second varsity "K" last year for relief help at tackle, mainly on the offensive platoon . . . His first award came as a sophomore standout three years back (1963) . . . Held out of competition in 1964 season as a precaution after suffering an inner ear injury in spring practice . . . Recovered fully and has had no trouble since returning to the "wars" in the spring of 1965 . . . At Paintsville High, Basil was team captain and MVP of both football and basketball teams . . . Schoolboy grid action came at three positions—end, tackle, and center . . . Honorable mention All-State.

WESLEY NAILS Soph. Guard 6-2 222 20 (2/9/46) Loyall, Ky.

Too much competition ahead of him at guard and tackle proved Wesley's downfall last year as he did not see game action in his opening varsity season . . . This year, he has picked up added weight and will be hard to move out once he establishes a valid claim on relief duty at offensive guard . . . Should benefit from experience gained in hold-out year . . . Slow starting as a yearling two seasons back (1964) but showed promise of developing dependability by late stages of season . . . He was a tackle in high school at Loyall . . . Won recognition on Cumberland Valley All-Conference team in both junior and senior seasons (1962-63) . . . Team operated from single wing formation . . . Also picked up four cage letters . . . Father is Baptist minister and parole officer . . . The younger Nails is appropriately nicknamed "Spike."

DICK PALMER Soph. Tackle 6-1 200 19 (4/9/47) Huntsville, Ala.

Came out for the Kentucky freshman team last season without an invitation and without the benefit of scholarship aid . . . Proving that such a situation was no deterrent, Palmer soon won a starting job as the Kittens' defensive right tackle and performed creditably . . . Will try his luck at varsity ball this fall as a candidate for duty at defensive tackle . . . Tried some work this spring at the nose man guard job . . . Born in Lexington, but received his schooling on Okinawa (Kobosaki High School) while his father stationed there as a civilian worker for U.S. Army . . . Parents graduated from UK and now reside in Huntsville, Ala.

AL PHANEUF (Fan-f) Soph. Def. Back 6-0 190 22 (2/4/44) Montreal, Quebec

Cited by Coach Bradshaw as "the best defensive halfback prospect at Kentucky since I have been coaching," Phaneuf was chosen as the team's most improved defensive player this spring and is due to start at defensive left half . . . He is the first Canadian ever to attend UK on an athletic scholarship . . . Only previous foreign-born gridder was Hawaiian Henry George, who came out for the team in 1953 but never played varsity ball . . . Phaneuf was born in Almonte, Ontario, and played high school ball at Montreal Rosemont as an offensive end and defensive halfback . . . Personally discovered by Bradshaw in 1964 on a visit to Montreal Alouettes' summer prep camp . . . Operated at right end for UK freshmen in 1964 season and became the team's leading receiver with eight catches for 144 yards in four-game undefeated season . . . Held out in first year of varsity eligibility in 1965 to allow for more familiarity with the system and added maturity . . . He has developed strength almost unbelievably to the point where he was able to bench press 300 pounds this spring . . . Slightly built at six foot and 190 pounds . . . Good hands, fine instinct, quick and loves contact . . . Proficient as a hockey player in high school.

DEREK POTTER Soph. End 6-2 199 19 (3/22/47) Elkhorn City, Ky.

One of the most impressive rookies on the roster last season while parading his skills as a Kentucky freshman . . . Promises to move on to even greater heights this season in his opening bid to play varsity ball in the nation's toughest league . . . Won a job as prospective No. 1 man at right end on the defensive platoon as the result of work this spring . . . Potter played mostly defense with the Kittens last season . . . Also ably backed up Bill Jansen at the offensive flank and played some wingback on occasion . . . In an offensive appearance against the Cincinnati Frosh, Derek scored the winning touchdown by catching a 46-yard aerial bomb from Jim Prather . . . Helped Elkhorn City High to win the state Class A grid title in his senior year of 1964 and achieved personal recognition on the All-State team.

JIM PRATHER Soph. Quarterback 6-0 186 19 (11/29/46) Cincinnati, Ohio

Appropriately, Prather's high school team in the Deer Park suburb of Cincinnati, Ohio, was nicknamed the Wildcats and if Prather continues his outstanding career with the UK Wildcats the opposition should come to respect him . . . Jim looked very promising as the quarterback of the Kentucky Kittens last season, pacing the team in total offense with 358 yards and leading in passing on a mark of 36 out of 66 for 391 yards and three touchdowns . . . Best performance came against hometown Cincinnati Frosh as he won the game, 19-15, on a fourth quarter TD pass covering 46 yards . . . All-City and All-League final two years in high school . . . Captain and MVP . . . Captain offensive unit of All-League team . . . Set numerous school records for passing . . . He's the sprint-out type.

RONNIE ROBERTS Jr. Linebacker 6-3 225 20 (12/26/45) Louisville, Ky.

Pressed into service as a linebacker at mid-season last year to shore up a sagging defense and developed a high degree of proficiency and dependability at the job . . . Turned in best effort in season finale against Tennessee . . . Figures well up in the bidding for a starting assignment during the '66 campaign . . . In spring drills, he ranked No. 1 at the center linebacker spot but might shift with the return to action of star linebacker Mike McGraw—who missed off-season work . . . Going into the 1965 campaign and continuing until he was drafted by the defense, Roberts figured as the relief man at offensive center for Calvin Withrow—who did not seem to need any relief . . . Considered one of the top line prospects to come up from the undefeated frosh outfit of 1964 . . . Coaches say he's equally tough as an offensive blocker or defensive linebacker . . . Blessed with fine size of 6-3, 225 that makes him biggest man at the position . . . Quick reactions . . . Moved to center as UK yearling after schoolboy action as guard, tackle, end and linebacker at Class AAA Louisville (Ky.) Manual . . . Only third string on All-State, but shows top-drawer talent . . . Coached at Manual by ex-UK tackle Tom Harper . . . Born in Beaver Dam, Ky.

LEONARD RUSH Soph. Tackle 6-2 226 19 (1/24/47) Hamilton, Ohio

On the strength of a strong showing during his collegiate ball break-in period last season, Rush looms as a strong prospect for plugging one of the big gaps in the Kentucky forward wall this year . . . Vacancies at both tackle locations on the offensive unit were created by the graduation loss of All-America Sam Ball and running mate Doug Davis . . . Rush proved himself worthy of a try at offensive tackle by holding down the left side starting job for the UK Kittens . . . After spring drills, he rated No. 2 at offensive right tackle . . . During an outstanding prep career at Hamilton (Ohio) Garfield Senior High, Leonard achieved personal honor by being mentioned on the All-State team and played for the South in Ohio's North-South All-Star Game in 1964 . . . Tossed the shot and discus in track at Garfield . . . One of nine from Buckeye State.

TOMMY SAUER Soph. End 5-11 189 20 (8/30/46) Owensboro, Ky.

The story of Sauer's football career approaches somewhat that of "The Unwanted Man" . . . Nobody seemed interested in the Owensboro youth and he almost escaped notice altogether until last fall when UK Coach Charlie Bradshaw heeded Sauer's presence . . . In high school at Daviess County, where his coach was ex-UK player George Claiborne, Tommy could not make the grade to regular duty as a center-defensive tackle and never received a college scholarship offer . . . But he entered UK anyway and came out for freshman football on his own in 1964 . . . Never missed a day of practice . . . When he was still around last fall hustling like a kid who figured he had a chance in the big time, Bradshaw rewarded the dedication by putting Sauer on scholarship . . . Did not see any game action as an end, but possibly will break in this year as an offensive flankman.

LARRY SEIPLE (Sigh-pull) Sr. Tailback 5-11 201 21 (2/14/45) Allentown, Pa.

Choice of the experts as a pre-season favorite to pick up All-Southeastern Conference honors in his final collegiate campaign . . . Such advance recognition comes naturally on the heels of a tremendous showing by the Pennsylvania flash in 1965 when he stood out at three different backfield positions—fullback, tailback and wingback . . . Won second team All-SEC honors last season as he proved his versatility by winding up among the league leaders in no less than five statistical departments . . . The sizzling redhead finished third in scoring with 56 points, fifth in tandem offense on 1,081 yards (446 rushing and 635 receiving), seventh in punting (55 for 39.8 average), eighth in receiving (27-635-6TD) and 11th in rushing with a 4.3 average on 103 carries for 446 yards . . . Seiple became a starter late in his sophomore year two seasons back, worked chiefly as the Wildcats' regular fullback in '65 and this season is due to shift over to the tailback job vacated by graduated All-America Rodger Bird . . . Gained only 13 yards as a rusher in soph year when used primarily as a punter and pass receiver (17-288) . . . Ranked second nationally twice during 1964 on punting, wound up with 1,475 yards on 35 boots . . . SEC back of the Week last year following sensational performance against Mississippi . . . In what must go down as the play of the year, Seiple ran 70 yards to a touchdown on a fake punt . . . The unusual situation, which made the play so improbable, found Kentucky in possession on fourth and 41 at its own 30, protecting a 9-7 lead with only two minutes left in the game . . . Nobody seriously rushed on the seemingly obvious punt, so gambling "Big Red" took off . . . This feat overshadowed fine normal performances, such as pass catches of 74 and 44 yards against Auburn, 75 versus Houston and 197 yards running and pass catching in West Virginia game . . . It's a safe bet opposing coaches will learn this year to pronounce his name right . . . Johnny Vaught of Ole Miss and Gene Corum of West Virginia both erred in pronunciation last year and came to regret it as Seiple (Sigh-pull) materially aided in inflicting defeat on their clubs . . . He was chosen Outstanding Player of the '65 Homecoming Game . . . This spring, Larry won the honor of Outstanding Back in the Blue-White Game . . . Overshadowed by sensational play of Frank Antonini as UK freshman in '63 despite 7.9 rushing average . . . Scored 22 touchdowns (14 as senior) in three starring years at Allentown (Pa.) High. Honorable mention All-State twice.

JOE DAVID SMITH Sr. End 6-1 205 21 (12/20/44) Mayfield, Ky.

Operated last season as Kentucky's No. 2 tight end and most likely will be slotted in the same position this year with the prospect of seeing more game duty due to his experience . . . J.D. picked up his first varsity letter in 1964 for relief work at quarterback—his high school and UK freshman position . . . Saw only limited action last year behind John Andrighetti after being shifted to end in spring practice . . . Move stemmed from need for smart and sure-fingered receivers plus a feeling that Smith could see more action than he would at the talent-rich quarterbacking assignment . . . This season, he will have experience working for him but in place of the veteran Andrighetti the competition will come from a soph standout—Derek Potter—who led the Kittens in pass catching . . . Smith won the Freshman Leadership Award in 1963 for outstanding play at quarterback, but saw only limited duty as the No. 3 varsity signal caller in his soph season . . . Shows no passing or receiving statistics as varsity competitor . . . Completed 20 of 38 passes for 306 yards and a pair of TD's in frosh season . . . Chosen as Outstanding Back of spring game in '64 . . . As a schoolboy, he guided Mayfield High to western Kentucky Class AA titles in 1961-62 . . . Second team selection on All-State outfit . . . Twice All-Conference, team captain and MVP . . . Won 12 letters in high school football, basketball and baseball . . . Ambition is to pursue career in veterinary medicine . . . Named last year to junior men's leadership honorary on campus.

DAN SPANISH Sr. End 5-10 195 21 (8/17/45) New Castle, Pa.

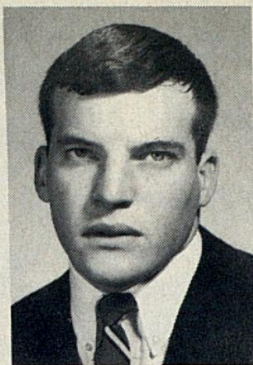

Experienced at both split end and wingback plus being a speedy runner and sticky-handed receiver, Dan Spanish is going to be a handy man to have around this season . . . In pre-season planning, coaches anticipate the versatile young Pennsylvanian will be used chiefly at the split end position in place of the graduated Rick Kestner . . . Spanish was understudy there in his first two varsity campaigns . . . Started at left end once as sophomore and twice last year when Kestner injured . . . Also opened twice at wingback when Bob Windsor stationed at end . . . Fourth in receiving last year and in two seasons shows 20 catches for 274 yards and one TD . . . Expected to surpass this accumulation during 1966 action . . . Indicative of his speed is proven ability to run a 40-yard sprint in 4.9 seconds while wearing full gear . . . Joined UK with excellent reputation from outstanding schoolboy play at New Castle (Pa.) High . . . Won All-America and All-State acclaim . . . Participated in Big 33 Game along with future UK teammates Frank Antonini and Tom Fee . . . One of 10 from Pennsylvania on varsity . . . Italian and Crostian extraction . . . Studied 75 college scholarship offers before deciding on University of Kentucky.

JIM SWART Sr. End 6-2 224 21 (6/1/45) Louisville, Ky.

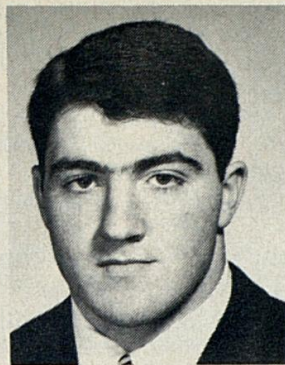

Considered by impartial experts as one of the top defensive flankmen in the South going into the 1966 campaign, Jim Swart has won recognition on major pre-season selections as a probable All-SEC end on the defensive unit . . . Much credit for rapid familiarization with the position and improvement goes to Swart since he was switched only last year from linebacker to the defensive flank location . . . Operated extremely well as starter throughout the season . . . Swart came along somewhat slowly as a freshman in 1963, then saw only limited activity as he lettered in 1964 as a reserve fullback . . . Named as the Outstanding Lineman of this spring's Blue-White Game and gives every indication of potentially strong play in his final collegiate campaign . . . Jim came to Kentucky blessed with an outstanding reputation as a schoolboy fullback and linebacker at Louisville's Seneca High . . . Set a school record for points scored in one season as he helped Redskins annex the state AAA title in 1962 . . . Honored on All-State team . . . Coached at Seneca by former UK end Ronnie Cain.

VALENTINE

VAN METER

VAN NOTE

VAUGHN

SCOTT VALENTINE Soph. Tackle 6-0 220 19 (3/19/47) Fairfax, Va.

Blessed with the physical qualifications necessary to succeed in the nation's toughest football league, Valentine apparently needs only added maturity and seasoning of his inherent ability to break into the big time in resounding fashion . . . Gained valuable experience as a Kentucky yearling last season and destined to make his presence felt in the offensive tackle picture this year . . . As an outstanding prpster at Fairfax (Va.) High School, he won first string All-State selection as a junior and a high second unit nomination in his final season . . . Co-captain of his team both seasons (1963-'64), a top choice on the All-Northern Virginia team and All- Metropolitan eleven . . . Won the football leadership award of the West Point Society of Washington, D.C. . . . A top student, Valentine won recognition as his school's most valuable student, held a cabinet position in student government and served as president of a Baptist youth group . . . Plans to study medicine at UK later.

DOUG VAN METER Jr. End 6-0 200 20 (12/25/45) Owensboro, Ky.

Kentucky's coaches are anticipating great things from this Christmas baby as he picks up more experience this season . . . Van Meter had a particularly good break-in year as a sophomore defensive end last season, seeing extensive and valuable service in a relief role plus part-time starter . . . With a shifting of personnel (Rich Machel from defensive left end to middle guard and Jim Swart changing sides from RE to LE), there appears a strong possibility that Van Meter will get the starting nod at right end on the defensive platoon . . . Comparatively small in stature for the position but won his varsity letter a year ago by making up for lack of size with ability, hustle and mental attitude . . . One of his best showings came against Florida State when he hit Seminole quarterback Ed Pritchett so hard he fumbled and Kentucky recovered at the FSU 12 . . . He had an impressive freshman campaign in '64 as a two-way end . . . Played quarterback and end in high school at Owensboro Catholic, winning MVP honor and All-Big Eight . . . Lived in Texas and Florida before settling in western Kentucky.

JEFF VAN NOTE Soph. End 6-1 210 20 (2/7/46) Anchorage, Ky.

Worked both offensively at end and defensively at linebacker this spring . . . Seems likely to wind up with the latter type of job or duty at defensive end . . . He was stationed at linebacker in his opening varsity season last year . . . Two seasons back (in 1964), Jeff turned in an impressive performance at fullback, leading the Kittens to an undefeated (4-0) campaign by becoming the team's top ground gainer . . . Racked up 329 yards on 55 trips for a terrific, 5.9 rushing average . . . Graduate of St. Joseph's Prep School in Bardstown, Ky.; where he played all backfield positions . . . All-Conference in three sports (football, baseball and basketball) and league's MVP in each activity . . . Honorable mention All-State . . . Born in Hackensack, N.J., and lived in Michigan and Illinois before Kentucky . . . Coached by former Wildcat Dick Blocker . . . He has ambition to go on to law school.

CHARLES VAUGHN Soph. Def. Back 5-9 178 20 (3/4/46) Campbellsville, Ky.

Switched from safety to defensive halfback in mid-season last year, but did not get to see any game action in his break-in varsity year . . . Charley needs game experience before he can develop into a dependable hand . . . That possibly could come this year as he is stationed once again at the defensive sideback spot as a reserve . . . His coaches class Vaughn as a hard-working boy with plenty of desire to improve himself on and off the football field . . . Saw only limited action as a freshman halfback in 1964 but posted the top rushing average on the team (5.9) for a gain of 49 yards on five tries . . . All-Conference at Campbells-ville (Ky.) High where he played quarterback and defensive corner back . . . Earned 11 letters in schoolboy athletics . . . Vaughn is a Baptist by faith and currently serves as president of the UK chapter, Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

RODGER WALZ Sr. Quarterback 5-10 171 22 (1/8/44) Ft. Thomas, Ky.

Understudy to Rick Norton at quarterback in his first varsity action last season, Walz saw limited early action but was called upon to step into the breach when Norton hurt in Houston game . . . Only start came in season finale against Tennessee . . . Passed only sparingly . . . More the scrambling, roll-out type of quarterback who loves to run with the ball despite lightweight size . . . Tossed only seven times last year, completing two for eight yards gain and no touchdowns . . . This season Walz will battle Terry Beadles for starting duty and indications are that he will be throwing more . . . Turned in good performance in spring game as he engineered all three White team touchdowns—scoring one himself—and connected on 11 out of 20 passes for 116 yards plus adding a pair of aerial conversions . . . Worked last summer at developing a closed passing stance . . . The quick and shifty Walz transferred unsolicited to Kentucky in 1964 after spending his first two collegiate seasons at University of Cincinnati . . . At UC, he was alternate quarterback as a soph in '63 when the Bearcats won the Missouri Valley Conference title . . . During schoolboy days at Ft. Thomas (Ky.) Highlands High, where one of his teammates was UK linebacker Mike McGraw, he led the Bluebirds to two straight undefeated seasons (1960-61) . . . All-State in football and nine letter winner in other sports . . . German nationality . . . Good student in College of Education.

BOB WINDSOR Sr. Wingback 6-4 216 24 (12/19/42) Silver Spring, Md.

A future book draft choice of the AFL San Diego Chargers and second round pick of the San Francisco Forty-Niners of the NFL following a fine first season with Kentucky in '65 . . . Also unusual attribute was Windsor's play in the off season with the National Champion Wildcats' basketball team . . . Both situations demonstrate the fine adjustment made by Windsor in the space of one year following his transfer from Montgomery Junior College in Maryland . . . Operating at three different positions (wingback and both ends), the former junior college All-America zoomed to fifth place among Southeastern Conference pass catchers with 30 receptions netting 426 yards (14.2 a catch) and two touchdowns . . . Also netted 33 yards rushing on just five trips . . . Had two kickoff returns for 40 yards to make total yardage contribution 499 . . . He hauled in a TD pass against Auburn that covered 76 yards—longest UK scoring play of the season . . . With a near-sensational first season of SEC competition under his belt, Windsor is expected to achieve even greater goals this year . . . Joined UK with Montgomery teammate, quarterback Bobby Bartkow . . . His coach at Montgomery was Lou Chacos, whose son was starting wingback for the Kentucky freshmen last season . . . Montgomery, aided by Windsor's play in catchig over 50 passes and scoring 12 touchdowns, went undefeated in 1964 . . . Averaged 25 points a game in JC basketball, ran 100 in 10 flat, broad jumped 23 feet and able to pole vault 11 feet, 6 inches . . . He's one of biggest UK halfbacks ever—rivaled only by 6-3, 220 Steve Meilinger in recent years . . . High school play came at Montgomery Blair and at Bullis prep school.

CALVIN WITHROW Sr. Center 6-0 218 21 (7/4/45) Kettering, Ohio

Classed as one of the potential "strongboys" of the Southeastern Conference, Calvin Withrow is counted on to spearhead the Kentucky offense in '66 . . . There's little doubt in the minds of his coaches that it is within Withrow's capabilities to become the best offensive center in college football this season . . . With a few breaks, avoidance of injuries and improvement on his super determination, he could achieve this ideal end . . . Southern grid experts have given him pre-season second team All-SEC nomination as a springboard for the jump to greatness . . . Whether or not the greatness comes, Withrow should make a fine contribution with his leadership and ability on the basis of his sterling play as the Wildcats' regular center last year . . . He's a strong and accurate ball snapper who was used extensively as the center on punts and PAT-FG tries in his break-in varsity campaign of 1964 . . . Otherwise, he backed up regular Jim Miles and started first and last games of season to win first letter . . . He made a strong showing as UK freshman in '63 at center and linebacker . . . Withrow prepped at Kettering Fairmont High outside Dayton, Ohio . . . Accorded All-Ohio honors as schoolboy senior, named top defensive player of Dayton area and MVP of Ohio's North-South All-Star Game as he made 90 percent of the tackles . . . Born Portsmouth, Ohio.

LOUIS WOLF Soph. Guard 5-11 192 19 (2/8/47) Louisville, Ky.

With the top four offensive guards of 1965 gone now, Wolf has plenty of room in which to make a serious bid to help the Wildcat varsity as he did the freshman team . . . He turned in consistently fine play as an offensive guard in '65 and also looked good early as a linebacker on defense . . . The sizeable youth from Louisville is ticketed in pre-season planning for reserve status at left guard on offense . . . It is entirely possible that rapid improvement could move him up . . . Outstanding as a schoolboy grid star at St. Xavier High in Louisville . . . Served as president of Kitten Lodge (freshman football house) last year.

KEN WOOD Soph. Linebacker 6-0 193 19 (.....) Montgomery, Ala.

Hard work and experience are expected to develop this enthusiastic, hard hitting youngster into one of the SEC's top sophomore defensive men if he avoids injuries . . . Wood won the consistent praise of his coaches as a freshman last season for his linebacking ability . . . He impressed with rugged and determined performance that labeled him a real "blue chip" athlete . . . Coach Bradshaw describes his fellow Alabamian (same hometown) as "quick, tough and he's got some qualities you can't teach—the kind of things good players are born with . . . His football instinct is great" . . . Wood helped his Robert E. Lee High School team to the state championship in both 1962-63, captained the team and was All-State in 1964 . . . Played in Alabama All-Star Game.

ED ZAREMBA Soph. Tackle 6-2 203 20 (6/5/46) Parma, Ohio

This husky young Buckeye State product has the physical equipment and "mean streak" that it takes to become a top flight football player and hold your own on defense . . . Zaremba is definitely a comer who is expected to gain maturity this season . . . He's a candidate for game action at either middle guard or a defensive tackle spot . . . Started as an offensive guard as a freshman . . . Came to Kentucky following an outstanding career at Valley Forge High in Parma Heights, Ohio . . . Gained membership on the Dream Team, All-Scholastic and All-Lake Erie League . . . Played as tackle in Ohio North-South Game.

JOHN ZELES Soph. End 6-2 191 20 (9/3/46) Phoenixville, Pa.

Figures to be stationed at offensive end again this season for second try at varsity duty . . . Did not get to see any game activity a year ago while also working at end . . . Possible that John will be able to build on his experience and pickup game action this year . . . As a frosh end, he caught just one pass for 17 yards . . . Zeles had excellent schoolboy reputation at Phoenixville in Pennsylvania where his pass catching (27 for 650 yards) helped Phantoms to state championship in 1963 on an 11-0 mark . . . Born in Germany . . . Latvian extraction.

ORIGIN OF "WILDCATS" NICKNAME

Kentucky's athletic teams are known to sports fans as the Wildcats. This first and only nickname borne by University varsities had its origin in 1909 in a speech made by Commandant Corbusier, then head of the military department of old State College. Speaking to a chapel audience of students on the showing of the Kentucky football team in defeating Illinois six to two, the Commandant declared "they fought like Wildcats." The tag was popularized by word of mouth and by the press with the result that it has since become synonymous with all major Kentucky athletic teams.

While the name is old in origin, no claim is made regarding precedence over similar nicknames boasted by Northwestern, Villanova and about 10 other major athletic teams.

An alumnus in 1947 presented a live Kentucky Wildcat to SUKY, student pep organization. Named "The Colonel," the cat served as a live mascot for UK teams until his death in 1955. The current mascot is a stuffed wildcat obtained from a Brooklyn taxidermist just before the 1958 football season and named "Tucky." Plans under way to get a new live cat.

1965 WILDCATS BUST RECORDS GALORE

The star triumvirate of the 1965 Wildcats—passer Rick Norton, catcher Rick Kestner and runner Rodger Bird—turned out to be the greatest record-busting group in Kentucky's history. Together and separately they accounted for and helped put on the books 28 new team and individual records. Notably, Norton firmly established himself as UK's finest all-time passer as he erased records set 15 years before by the fabulous Babe Parilli. Among these were new marks for yards gained passing in one season (1,823) and a single game (373 vs. Houston). Bird smashed the season rushing standard set by Bobby Cravens with 179 carries and broke long-time records for scoring (78 points) and number of touchdowns (13). The old scoring mark of 75 points had been held since 1930 by Carey Spicer while the TD high had existed since Spicer posted 11 in 1930 and Bob Davis tied it in 1935-36. Kestner eclipsed records established by All-America Steve Meilinger in the categories of number caught (82) and yards gained (1,280) in a single season.

Kentucky tackle Bob Gain converted 10 of 10 extra point kicks against North Dakota in 1950.

* * * *

Ralph Kercheval, who holds all the Kentucky punting records, set the Southeastern Conference record when he averaged 52.0 yards on 10 kicks against Cincinnati in 1933. His longest, however, was a 78-yarder against Georgia Tech in the same year.

* * * *

Bob Davis of Kentucky scored five touchdowns and gained 267 yards rushing in a game against Washington & Lee in 1937.

* * * *

Kentucky set its school record when it held the Citadel to 1 yard total offense in a football game in 1949.

STATISTICALLY SPEAKING ABOUT 1965

TOTAL OFFENSE—Ranked 4th in SEC (304.2 yards/game)

TOTAL DEFENSE—Ranked 8th in SEC (263.7 yards/game)

SCORING—Ranked 5th in SEC (19.4 points/game)

SCORING DEFENSE—Ranked 7th in SEC (16.0 points/game)

RUSHING—Ranked 10th in SEC (114.0 yards/game)

PASSING—Ranked 2nd in SEC (190.2 yards/game)

DEFENSE vs. RUNS—Ranked 10th in SEC (160.1 yards/game)

PASS DEFENSE—Ranked 2nd in SEC (103.6 yards/game)

INDIVIDUALS

TANDEM OFFENSE—The SEC's second most proficient yardage producer, QB Rick Norton, graduated but versatile TB Larry Seiple (FB last year and ranked No. 5) returns.

RUSHING—Five of last season's top six ball carriers are back . . . Lone loss among leaders was Rodger Bird (646 yards topped team and second best in SEC) . . . Larry Seiple (now at TB) stood second on team and 11th in SEC with 446 yards and 4.3 average . . . Next four gainers in order were reserve TB Homer Goins (80-5.7), FB-TB Frank Antonini (68-2.2), WB Bob Windsor (33-6.6) and reserve FB Donnie Britton (18-18.0).

PASSING—Rick Norton, who led the conference most of the '65 season, is gone after recording 113 completions in 214 attempts for 1,823 yards and 11 touchdowns . . . His possible replacements had a combined record of just 9 completions and 67 yards . . . Terry Beadles was 7 for 13 and 59 yards while Roger Walz recorded two strikes on 7 attempts for 8 yards.

RECEIVING—Pass catching wizard Bob Windsor (WB), fifth in the SEC after his first year of major college competition with 30 catches for 426 yards, will still be around . . . He will be backed up by TB Larry Seiple, second on team and eighth in the conference on 27 for 635 yards and six TD's . . . Major losses included end Rick Kestner (25-411) and TB Rodger Bird (12-133). Figuring prominently in 1966 will be the team's No. 4 receiver of '65, end Dan Spanish (13-159).

KICKING—TB Larry Seiple (FB last year) handled the punting chores almost exclusively in 1965 to establish himself as one of the best in school history . . . Ranked 7th in SEC on 38.8 average for 55 punts . . . The team's dependable placement kicker, John Andrighetti, finished after posting a mark of 10-17 on conversions and connecting for three field goals in five tries . . . A new specialist will have to be developed.

SCORING—Kentucky placed two men among the top three scorers of the league in '65 . . . Scoring champion Rodger Bird (78 points) graduated but Larry Seiple succeeds to the TB position and hopefully the crown after ranking third with 56 points.

Kentucky quarterback Jim Park scored five touchdowns and passed for five more as Kentucky beat Earlham 81-3 in 1914. Bob Davis scored five times twice in his career, once in 1936 and once in 1937; and Babe Parilli passed for five TD's on two different occasions in 1950. But no player has beat Park's record of doing both in the same game.

Three of the nine assistant coaches on Paul Bryant's 1951 Kentucky staff have become leading coaches at other schools. Charlie McClendon is now head coach at LSU, Jim Owens at Washington and Paul Dietzel now at South Carolina after tours at LSU and Army. McClendon's team won the Cotton Bowl last season, Owens once won the Rose Bowl twice in a row at Washington, and Dietzel coached the national and Sugar Bowl champs at LSU in 1958.

When Kentucky met West Virginia in Lexington last season, it was the first time since 1955 that the homecoming opponent had not been a Southeastern Conference member. Kentucky beat Rice 20-16 in that year's homecoming game and downed the Mountaineers a year ago 28-8. This year independent Houston is tagged as the Homecoming foe.

Kentucky's Larry Seiple punted 35 times for a 42.1-yard average in 1964 to rank sixth in the nation as a sophomore. However, he was ranked only third in the Southeastern Conference behind Frank Lambert of Ole Miss, who led the nation with a 44.1 average, and Alabama's Buddy French, 42.9. Seiple kicked two 63-yarders during the season and had a 66-yard punt in 1965 when he averaged 39.8 for seventh place among the punters.

Kentucky's defense has shut out 215 opponents in 675 football games since 1881. The Wildcats have been held scoreless 148 times.

University of Kentucky athletic director Bernie Shively was an all-America guard in 1926 at Illinois as a teammate of Harold (Red) Grange. He also won letters in track and won the Big 10 heavyweight wrestling championship.

* * * *

Kentucky's football coach in 1892, Prof. A. M. Miller, was chosen because he had learned about the game from sideline observations while a student at Princeton; his only previous coaching experience was at a girls' school in Pennsylvania. His record for the year at Kentucky was 2-4-1.

* * * *

Kentucky football records show the first forward pass attempted by the Wildcats was thrown Oct. 13, 1906, against the Eminence Athletic Club. However, it is not known whether the pass was completed or who threw it.

When Kentucky beat West Virginia 28-8 in the 1965 Homecoming game, it was the 16th time in 18 years the Wildcats had won their Homecoming contest. The only losses in that period were to Tennessee (26-16) in 1961 and Georgia (17-14) in 1963.

* * * *

When Kentucky finished in a three-way tie for second place in Southeastern Conference in 1964 is marked the first time since 1953 that the Wildcats had finished that high. Kentucky jumped from 11th place in 1963.

Kentucky sophomore end Al Phaneuf of Montreal, Quebec, is the first Canadian ever signed to a Kentucky football grant-in-aid. He led the freshman team in receiving in 1964 with eight catches in four games for 144 yards and one TD, then was held out of action last season.

Footnote A — Although numerical scoring had not yet been introduced in Rugby football, either here or in Great Britain, when Kentucky and Transylvania (then known as Kentucky University) played their series in 1881, persons in charge of the games obviously had arrived at some sort of agreement assigning numerical values to the various scoring plays. Records never existed and men who played in the games are now deceased. All we can do is accept the scores printed in the newspapers—and surmise that a touchdown perhaps counted $\frac{1}{4}$ point and that a goal or an end-kick (a punt into the modern end zone) counted 1. That seems logical, since in the ratio scoring of that day, a touchdown was worth one-quarter of a goal. The end-kick, a British heritage, undoubtedly was introduced because all realized that green players would score few goals, if any.

Footnote B—The football rules took no official position on the score of a forfeited game until 1908 when it was pegged at 1-0 to make it different from any other score possible in the game. By common consent, forfeited games prior to that were entered into the records as victories by 6-0 for the offended team—everywhere, that is, except in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association, predecessor of the Southern Conference and the Southeastern Conference. In the S. I. A. A. the 6-0 practice was followed unless the offended team had a greater number of points. In that case, the offended team won by the greater score to nothing. Thus, Kentucky's forfeiture to Central University in 1900 is 6-0, since Kentucky led by 11-0 at the time. Kentucky led Cumberland by 12-11 in 1905 when the Tennesseans forfeited. The Blue and White, under S. I. A. A. rules, gets credit for a 12-0 victory.

FOOTBALL WRITERS SALUTE KENTUCKY PRESS BOX

University of Kentucky's football press box on Stoll Field rates as one of the best in the country from the standpoint of both working facilities and service to writers—so says the Football Writers Association of America. The national organization in 1958 added Kentucky to an exclusive list of schools that had been cited in both categories. Up to that time, only 67 institutions had won the award for press box services and 45 for facilities since the FWA started officially honoring the nation's best press boxes and sports publicity departments (who are responsible for service) several years ago.

* * * *

Bobby Cravens, the halfback who held Kentucky's football rushing record until it was broken in 1964 by Rodger Bird, did not score a touchdown until the 17th game of his career, against Memphis State in 1955.

* * * *

The University of Kentucky played the first football games by any of the present Southeastern Conference members in 1881, splitting two games with a school then known as Kentucky University and losing one to Kentucky A&M.

* * * *

Al Bruno of Kentucky and Al Lary of Alabama set the Southeastern Conference record for touchdowns by a receiver with 10 apiece in 1950. Bruno also set the record of four in one game in that year.

* * * *

Harry Jones' 91-yard dash against George Washington in 1951 was the longest touchdown run from scrimmage in Kentucky football history. It was the ninth longest scoring run in Southeastern Conference history.

* * * *

Although Kentucky's Babe Parilli set the Southeastern Conference records for touchdown passes (23) in one season and in a career (50), he does not rank in the top 40 all-time long passers in the SEC. Ermal Allen threw the longest touchdown pass in Kentucky history (80 yards) against Georgia in 1939.

* * * *

The longest field goal in Kentucky football history was a 36-yarder by Bob Bassitt against Texas A&M in 1952. End John Andrighetti kicked a 35-yarder in the 1965 Tennessee game, one of three successful boots in five tries during the season.

Kentucky played its first night football game, possibly the first in the South, against Sawanee in Lexington Oct. 4, 1930. The Wildcats shut out the opposition with a 37-0 victory.

Half of Kentucky's football opponents in 1965 played in bowl games last season. Mississippi played in the Bluebonnet Bowl; Florida State in the Gator Bowl; Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl; Georgia in the Sun Bowl; and West Virginia in the Liberty Bowl.
