The Emerald Isle Gets A Break

To you who kind of drift along, lazily ignoring everything except eating and sleeping, here's some hope on a campus organization which you would do well to know.

First of all, Pan Polikron is an educational organization only, and as such has been an active force on the campus. Secondly, it is your own organization—composed of the entire student body directed by an executive committee appointed by the University president.

Last year, a study of Austria was made. This year, the committee is planning a study of Ireland during the last three weeks of March. Ireland was selected because so few individuals know anything of this "problem child" of England, and because the past and contemporary history of the Emerald Isle can be so colorfully treated in the proposed posters, radio programs, classroom discussions, convocation, forums, and musical concerts.

In the past, the executive committee is devoting a great amount of time and labor to insure an entertaining and informative program. But the work, in spite of its excellence, will amount to very little without the interest and appreciation of the students.

By Hook Or Crook—Make 'Em Vote

A pretty good test of this student "apathy" we've heard so much about will be offered Thursday when voting is held on the question of the survival or extinction of the freshman cap tradition.

If those who go to the polls are few and far between, we might just as well forget this whole idea of school spirit and be content to plod aimlessly along, ignoring everything except that which we can actually touch and see.

In the words of the politician: "Get 'em out! Drag 'em to the polls! Makes no difference how they vote—just make 'em vote. But be sure they vote right!"

Come, Come, Now—This Isn't Commercialism

Is Panhellenic commercializing sororities? This is the question brought up in connection with the recommendation for a rush fee to be paid by the girls interested in sororities.

The main argument against this fee is that the rushes are paying for the rush parties. What the girls haven't considered is that Panhellenic is an organization, and as such needs funds for maintenance. Panhellenic would use this money for letters to be sent during the summer to the girls planning to enter the University, pamphlets concerning sororities, and for lawyer fees.

Another argument is that the fee is too much to ask of the prospective rusher. But this fee is nothing compared to the expenses that the girls will entail by pledging. Any student who is seriously thinking of sororities is supposedly financially able to pay her bills, so a fee of fifty cents or two dollars isn't a burden. Otherwise, the girl is not sorority material.

For years the only outward manifestation of Panhellenic has been the annual banquet for the presentation of pledges. The rules recommended by this organization would tend to make it the strong unit it should be. The fact that Panhellenic is the coordinating force between the sororities has been overlooked. For these reasons, the recommendations should be supported 100%.

Put It In Writing

There should be no doubt now concerning how the campus in general feels about the remaining of Buell Army in honor of Colonel B. E. Brewer. Several leading campus organizations have adopted resolutions to that effect, and the Reserve Officer's Corps recently added more weight to the "yeas" by a similar resolution.

Behind The Eekdahl

Andrew Eekdahl, regular conductor of this column, has forsaken the reportorial typewriter for the editorial pencil and has taken over the managing editorship from Ed Muehler, who is now working in the advertising department of a downtown store.

Muehler says that he will be too busy to hold both jobs and Eekdahl now says that he also will be too busy to manage and edit and column-write. So the humor column is again a forsaken orphan.

This was written to appease the waiting orphan until responsive foster parents are located.

Story now going the rounds concerns a newspaper editor who was sent a bottle of hard liquor and shortly after its arrival he received for publication a wedding announcement and a notice of an auction sale, which later appeared in print.

Noisecible in the front page picture of the band sponsors is the essential but neglected fire extinguisher. We feel this anti-incense worthy of mention. Its name is Herman. Unlike the other two principals pictured, it was not elected by the band members but appointed by Maury Crutcher, superintendent of building and grounds.

At least one college professor believes—in fact encourages—apple polishing, if it is of the "intelligent" variety. He is Dr. U. G. Dabach, dean of men at Oregon State college, and says: "Apple polishing is an important part in a college man's education and it must be followed by diligence in class work if it is to be useful and effective."

"Anyone who isn't wise enough to do intelligent apple polishing, isn't wise enough to be in college. Apple polishing, properly defined, is making oneself known to his professors in a favorable light. More and more we are recognizing that education, aside from giving technical knowledge, must teach one how to properly sell himself. How can one sell himself to his professors unless he makes himself and his work known to them in an intelligent and agreeable manner?"

How indeed, Dean?

Sadie Hawkins Week at McGill University was pronounced a great success by the student body. We are wondering if the following advertisement which appeared in a recent issue of the McGill Daily isn't a sort of a carry-over.

Lost—A lead pencil by Jennie Weems, blond, blue-eyed, five feet-four inches, good dancer. Finder please call H-7391 between 7 and 8 p. m.

Oregon State college has a new class in sports appreciation that meets every week. "When and How to Boo Referees" would be the title that such a course would be dubbed if taught here.

Vote Early Thursday And Avoid The Rush

At the Alpha Gam tea dance the other afternoon, which, incidentally, was the best tea-dance I have seen at the University, Charlotte Wilde was more than embarrassed when she suddenly lost something in front of the hat-check room. She didn't know whether to walk, stand still, or call for a forgiveness.

Keys has taken over the plans for a Sadie Hawkins day, and all the evidence points toward its being a happy event. General opinion holds it that it is a good idea, and a worthwhile day to be held. Congrats to Keys for his nice promotion; it should get over nicely.

CAMPUSCENE

- Congrats Keys!
• Yea Sadie!
• Will We Fight?
By JIM CALDWELL.

Congratulations to Keys for its decision to promote a Sadie Hawkins Day! So accustomed have we become to hearing students complain that nobody around here wants to do anything, it was with a slightly pleasant shock that we heard that there is at least one group on the campus bearing the title of honorary fraternity which isn't content merely to sit around sipping tea and criticizing others for their inactivity.

My sincerely hope that the dance will serve to snap student hops out of the deeply worn groove into which they have fallen and will pave the way for the establishment of much-needed traditions on this campus.

Merits Of A Sense Of Humor. For sheer ability to remain unbothered by propaganda, we admire the recent attitude of British and French college students concerning Italy's territorial demands.

Such as we can develop just such a sense of humor, maybe those professorial predictions will turn out to be in error after all.

Boy Finally Gets Girl. Also designed to cause Johnnie to run to get a gun were sample advertisements pictured in an article in a last-year's issue of Scribner's.

Pick-Up

At the Alpha Gam tea dance the other afternoon, which, incidentally, was the best tea-dance I have seen at the University, Charlotte Wilde was more than embarrassed when she suddenly lost something in front of the hat-check room.

I want here to issue a retraction, sort of. It seems that an item I scribbled a while back concerning the Sigma Chi's was taken the wrong way.

Jimmy Skags, who must-acted for the Alkagan tea party, got over the air, which, according to the calculations of the legalities is about a year old now, and has been circulating around the building thru the air-conditioning system about long enough to deserve a birthday party, if not a complete change.

Dr. Dupre, after an address before Patterson Literary Society the other afternoon, came out with the statement that PLS was composed of "the most interested intelligent, wide-awake group that has been at Kentucky," which should be a shot in the PLS arm.

Did you ever stop to think just what the "view" is in "A Room With a View"? Look, the words over. Some more cute thoughts are in "Get Out of Town." Woo-woo.

PKAP Vert. Fraser reports little or no progress with the Wabbe. Mary Agnes Penny is much courted by PhilTat Dick Bonduant, but has time for a Contingency.

Such as we can develop just such a sense of humor, maybe those professorial predictions will turn out to be in error after all.

Drama Of Life In Circus Is Exceedingly Well Done

Last evening at half after eight the curtain rose on the Guinold theatre's third production of the year, "He Who Gets Slipped," a tragic fantasy in three acts by Leonid Andreyev.

Catherine Taylor plays Consuelo in a manner which demands attention. Her characterization is as flawless as it is effortless. She dominates each of her scenes with consummate skill and her portrayal is surpassed only by her beauty.

Charles Robinson as "He" handles a difficult part with what seems to be ease. If his interpretation seems legitimate it is because the part requires a degree of ability not usually found in amateurs.

Carl Conner, giddy from his triumph in "The Rivals," is still playing Paulkland instead of Count Mancini. Consuelo's materialistic father.

TELEVISION AT THE NEW YORK FAIR. If you have a favorite line or two from Kipling or a famous Shakespearean speech you like to give now and then, consider the no plus ultra of settings for the presentation—a complete television studio, with an audience as standard equipment, recently announced by Dr. W. R. G. Baker, Union '16, managing engineer of the General Electric radio division and an ex-Test man.

NEW-TYPE STREAMLINER. A NEW-TYPE 125-mile-an-hour streamliner—the 2000-horsepower steam-electric train now being put through its final tests by G-E engineers—soon will be speeding on its first westward run over the Union Pacific's historic "Overland Route."

General Electric. Demonstrating television to the public is not new to General Electric engineers. Nine years ago, Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson—one of the G-E consulting engineers and an ex-Test man—and his assistants demonstrated television to a theater audience in Schenectady. But great advances have been made since then, and when you get for your friends at New York you will be using the latest equipment that science has to offer.

UK Players Will Meet West Virginia In Season's Curtain Clash

FIGHTS TO START AT 8 O'CLOCK IN GYM

In their final stand of the season, the Kentucky boxing team will meet one of the nation's outstanding main teams when the University of West Virginia Mountaineers invade Alumni Gym tonight.

The fights are on tap for 8 p. m. and students will be admitted for page 18 of the activity books. The Mountaineer bouts will consist of the Wildcat schedule book for the season, which currently stands at two wins against two losses.

Kentucky breezed to easy wins over Xavier and Tennessee in their first two meets of the season. In the third meeting, a return brawl with Xavier in Cincinnati, netted the Cats their first loss of the year by a margin of 51-23. Last Friday the Blues were trounced by Columbus University of Washington, D. C. by a 61-14 edge. Kentucky was held without a single win in the eight fights by the powerful Columbus team but managed to gain draws in the 125, 155 and 165 pound divisions.

The probable fighters for Kentucky:

115-T. G. Gracy; 125-Paul Durbin; 135-Mrphy Combs; 145-Walter Wart; 155-Andy Blatt; 165-Joe Moore; 175-Lloyd Ramsey; and heavyweight-Mel French.

Although the power of this season's Mountaineer team is not known, judging from their teams of the past, West Virginia should be the toughest opposition faced by Kentucky this year. In previous seasons, West Virginia has always been a strong contender in the annual intercollegiate tournament.

Coach Frank Moseley may decide to forfeit the heavyweight fight and move Mel French into the light-heavy division. In all the bouts this season French, who scales around 180 pounds, has been outclassed from 15 to 23 pounds. Against Tennessee, although sporting 23 pounds, French fought as a brawler to a draw. Lloyd Ramsey, who gained his first boxing experience in this fall's intramural eliminations fight in the 175 pound class against Columbus and put up a good scrap before dropping a judge's decision.

The man with the elastic weight, Murphy Combs, may be replaced in the lightweight bout by Rowood Chambers, who fought the first three meets at that weight. When Chambers suffered a number of lacerated teeth against Xavier and had to suspend his fighting, Combs, who had won his fight against Tennessee as a 135 pounder, took over his place. Chambers may be able to take the rest against the Mountaineers.

Calling 'Em Wild

By JOE CREASON

CAD-ZOOKS, Alphonse, what's this I read in the papers about the nose-thumbing Kentucky is handing Western Teachers college over their wanting a basketball game with the Wildcats?

Oh yes, it all started last week when the Associated Press carried an interview with Ed Diddle, Western coach, which ended: "I seriously doubt if we could whip Kentucky, but I can't see why they consistently refuse to play us. Mr. Rupp never gives us any reason why he will not play us—all he does is smile." So Western is carrying the torch for a game with Kentucky. On what grounds?

Sure I remember now, Western beat Vanderbilt 20 points while the best Kentucky could do with substitutes playing most of the last half was 41-27 win over the Commodores. It would be more reasonable to expect an art lover to turn his back on the Mona Lisa than to expect Western to rate up to such a chance to out-pace the Cats. That Vanderbilt game is Western's base for Mr. Diddle's statement and, as far as statistics are concerned, it looks strong. But there are statistics to cover everything from the mortality rate of ducks in hunting season to the mortality rate of hunters in duck season. So go on, we are scrambling figures, let's we will.

During the Christmas holidays Kentucky defeated Transylvania 72-19 in a practice game. Transy beat Murray by 10 points and in two games Murray held Western to 2 and 10 points, respectively. So on leaves, on paper, Kentucky at least a margin of 53 points. Twice this year Western has lost to Evansville college, which in turn lost to Ohio university, victims of Xavier Saturday night by 47-46. Kentucky toyed with the Muskies in ringing up a 41-31 win last Wednesday. To continue—Western defeated Louisville by 57-30, Washington and Lee won from Louisville 27 points and Kentucky's mashed W. and L. by 67-47.

Statistics are undoubtedly the sport's worst means of comparing two teams and, personally I put the same faith in such figures that I would in any ability to sign an elephant out of a gold mine.

Always Yelled This Way

For years now the same cry of "We want Kentucky" has been coming from both Western and Murray when ever they won from a noteworthy team. At times the hot air has become absolutely vicious. As yet neither of these schools are ready or equipped to play the Cats. I know, I'm a native West Kentuckian and have seen both teams play plenty of times. People of that section, where possibly not one in a thousand have ever seen Kentucky play, clamor for such a game because they look upon the play of those two teams as basketball at its height. What teams has Western played, aside from Vanderbilt, that is known outside its own campus. Last year in two games with Bradley Tech, Western dropped two verdicts and immediately dropped Bradley from its schedule and picked up Evansville college—the result, two losses in two games.

Come now, this is in no way meant to be a reflection on Western or its calibre of basketball. Having seen the Hilltoppers play many times makes me fully appreciate the fact that they do play a fast game—but it is not in Kentucky's class.

From "Down In Front"

By the underlying current of Mr. Diddle's statement to the AP, one would be led to believe that he has been begging for a meeting with the Wildcats for a number of years. I wonder if he really wants the game as badly as he intimates or if he is just whistling past the graveyard. Sunday morning Larry Shropshire, sports editor of the Lexington Leader, commented on this subject. Says Mr. Shropshire: "As yet it has not come within my province to open and inspect letters received by the University athletic department. Just the same, on strength of remarks heard while loafing about the UK athletic area, I strongly doubt that Mr. Diddle or any authority at Western has written requesting a game with the Wildcats.

TIDE BECOMES RIPPLE AS CATS REVENGE FORMER LOSS BY 45-27

Off to a flying start with a field goal in the first two seconds of play, the Kentucky Wildcat basketball troupe reduced the mighty Crimson Tide of Alabama to a bleached ripple with a 45-27 shellacking Saturday night in Alumni Gym.

The game, as wild and rough as a frontier rodeo, at times threatened to lapse into an old-fashioned street fight as players of both teams showed little tendency to pass chances for bodily contact. In officials Frank Lee and Bower Chief ruled a total of 34 personal fouls, 17 on each team.

For Kentucky the margin fully avenged an earlier 41-38 defeat from Alabama and marked the Cats fourth successive win. From start to finish Kentucky treated the overflow crowd of 4,800 to one of the best defensive performances of the season. Kentucky's vacuum tight defense seemed to excite the rangy Crimson team and their famed offense failed to show even mild symptoms of a deliberated attack. On the other hand, the Cats opened with a blistering drive that rolled up a 15-3 lead after nine minutes of play.

Kentucky's attack was lead by Tubby Thompson, who for the second successive game racked up a total of 13 points. Cab Curtis was second high with 11 points. The guarding of Rouse and Huber, who held Alabama's high scoring George Prather to one field goal and five foul shots, was also a feature of the game. Prather and Busby, with 7 and 6 points respectively, were high for the Tide.

The opening tip-off of the game went to Curtis who dribbled all the way down the floor for an easy crisp shot. Estes knotted the count with a tip-in but Curtis made a foul shot for a 3-2 lead. Prather connected with a foul try but Captain Bertie Oppen, definitely back on with his playing, scored on a perfect bucket play and Kentucky was out in front to stay. Before nine minutes had elapsed Oppen and Cluggish had scored two field goals each and Farrley had found the range with a shot while Prather and Brantner had cashed in on foul shots for the Tide. At the half time Kentucky led 23-13.

Thompson's shooting was a feature of the second half when he relieved Cluggish at the give post. For the entire game Kentucky held a 15-8 advantage in field goals and connected for 15 of 23 foul shots as to Alabama's 11 of 22.

In the preliminary game the Kentucky freshmen, led by Hedges and King, trounced a weakened Flemingburg high school team by 49-11. Flemingburg was playing without the services of their captain and a
