President's Message

April 5, 1945

Miss Janet Edwards, Editor Kentucky Kernel University of Kentucky My dear Miss Edwards:

I should like to submit the following statement for your consideration if you see fit to publish it. Both the Commander and the Past Commander of the Veterans Club of the University have come to my office and expressed some apprehension that the faculty, students, and general public might get the impression that their organization had fostered and promoted the petition signed by seventeen young men, some of whom were veterans, and presented a few days ago to Governor Willis.

I wish to assure the veterans on the campus and others that they should feel no anxiety on this point. We know that the petition did not originate on the campus and that it was prepared by outsiders for publicity purposes. We know that these publicity seekers did secure the cooperation of a veteran who worked assiduously for over six weeks among you to get the signatures to the petition, but that he failed to secure the signatures of over one-hundred out of a possible hundred and sixteen veterans. We want you to know that there has never been a group of students assembled on the campus of the University for whom we have greater respect and reverence, and whose conduct and cooperation have been better than the soldiers who have returned to us.

Furthermore, we recognize the right to petition as an ancient principle of democracy and we have no ill will toward the boys who signed the petition and we wish to assure them that they will not be discriminated against in any manner because they attached their signatures to a petition which I personally regard as a gross misstatement of fact. The administration is conscious that no such petition would have originated among the veterans on the campus. A few individuals who have been attempting for many months to undermine the confidence in the University have sought to use you to gain their selfish ends. If any of the signers of the petition or any other veteran should like to know the facts about him if he will voluntarily come to my office, or if a group wishes my point of view on what the records will show, I will meet with the group and answer any questions on which you may desire information.

Cordially yours, H. L. DONOVAN, President.

SHAKER

By Billie Fischer

Well, now that my branches lily are taking root, it's a sure thing that spring is here. It's obvious in so many other ways, too. Things are happening now that never happened in the cold, bare winter days. Little girls are troubled more often with thoughts of little boys. And little boys! Well, we don't know about little boys. They're awfully scarce.

But the predominant thought inside of feminine minds seems to be marriage. One tearful co-ed sniffingly told us of her great love for a certain fellow who had recently proposed for the "unteenth" time. Surprised, we asked why she didn't marry him. "My mind won't let me," she answered, "and I'm under twenty-one." We asked why she didn't lie about her age, only to be answered with, "I can't. My mother knows how old I am!"

The marriage bug has nipped at our roommate, too. She sent her man a letter last week in which she proposed for the sixty-ninth time. (A few years ago that would have been funny and might even have sounded odd.) But they've been going together for a little over five years, and she figured that time was flying. Besides, life at the University of Kentucky certainly doesn't help one keep young!

Well, she received an answer from her Prince Charming yesterday. He has finally decided to consider her offer. "But," he concluded, "we mustn't act rashly."

So if you see aforementioned roommate dashing madly across the campus, pulling her hair and screaming, "Rashly! Rashly! RASHLY!" you'll know why.

Spring also brings out the poet in one. However, if you're not a poet, you have to steal other people's poems. Which is what we're doing.

Professor in a fit of insanity, Thrust his head beneath a train. All were quite surprised to find How it broadened Profie's mind.

And then there's Arthur Kohler's Evidence: Sometimes when I think of things A little bell within me rings.

Sometimes when I lie awake I wish no God that things were jake.

Sometimes when I'm fast asleep I still can see the jumping sheep.

Sometimes when I'm feeling good I find my knuckles tapping wood.

Sometimes when I'm deep in love, I don't know what I'm thinking of.

And last in this week's poet's corner we give you the second stanza of Samuel Hoffenstein's Poems of Passion, Carefully Retained so as to Offend Nobody.

When you're away, I'm restless, lonely, Wretched, bored, dejected, only

Here's the rub, my darling dear, I feel the same when you are here.

Yes, We Refused To Print It

Yes, there was a letter. Yes, it was rejected for publication in the columns of The Kernel. No, there was no censorship by President H. L. Donovan or any other member of the administration. Yes, we would omit it again if it were submitted for publication because, measured by standards of professional ethics and evaluated against the principles of libel, it was a letter unacceptable for publication. The foregoing statements are presented to students, alumni, and faculty members who may have wondered at recent reports published after a group of veterans, now students at the University, presented a petition to Governor Willis at Frankfort calling for a public hearing, details of which appear in the news columns of today's Kernel. Submission of the letter to The Kernel by Harry Caudill, was veteran enrolled in the Law college, took place several weeks ago. At that time Caudill, Editor Janet Edwards, and Dr. Niel Plummer, acting director of student publications, conferred for more than an hour on the matter. There was nothing secret about it. There were no pressures exerted. The letter

* COLLEGE FADS AND FANCIES, CLASS OF 1950

Fads and fancies in college costumes are by no means modern phenomena. Here is a gay undergraduate of the Class of 1950. Observe his flowing collar and tie, his super exposure of Panama brim, and his studied air of nonchalance. This was in 1950, when America was looking in peace. The Golden West was opening up, and Express Service was keeping pace. Today, there are few fads and fancies on the college campus. They have given place to the uniformity and efficiency of war time. Thousands of students are concentrated on the needs of the nation at arms. Railway Express is devoting its nationwide services, both rail and air, primarily to speeding war material. To help all concerned, you can do three simple things with your 1945 home packages and baggage: Pack securely - address clearly and adequately - avoid abbreviating state names.

Harpy's Bazaar

By Jane Klack

Now that Easter has safely come and gone, and the last remains of the orchids have been gently pressed into an old text book, life goes on as usual.

The coming weeks of spring and summer are, however, equally as promising, from the fashion viewpoint, as was Easter. When the weather calls for cottons, we will lose our Easter suits into the moth-balls and don the carefree clothes of summer.

The theme of summer styles this year will be "anything goes" - and anything will. Sassy checked gingham, demure embroidered batiste, sporty striped chambray - light pink - all colors, designs, and materials will be popular.

Free-Action Fashions The fashion will be more than ever before, freed to action and comfort. Sleeves are giving way to sleevelets, and many of the new models have no sleeves at all. Skirts, on the other hand, appear to be fuller. This optical illusion is achieved by the clever use of tucks and shirring, but the popular pre-war dirndl-look is given to many shortage-wise patterns.

The lines and trimmings of the new dresses are, like the Easter gonnets, definitely feminine. Pettie bows and scallops will be seen in abundance, and the low portrait neckline will again be featured. Imagine one of these dresses in a cool ice cream soda color - maybe strawberry pink, blue, light, or lemon yellow.

New Black Cottons Probably the most interesting contribution to summer styles is the addition of washable black cottons. These dresses are as new as cotton and will be made of such materials as eyelet, batiste, and chambray. What's more they will take to water just as other washables do.

That's what's new for the warm days ahead, but new or old - anything goes.

Grid Schedule Announced

The Kentucky Wildcats griders will meet three new foes this coming season that were not on the '44 schedule. Cincinnati, Vanderbilt and Marquette. Kentucky played Cincinnati in 1934 and Vanderbilt in 1942. Marquette, encountered several times on the basketball court, appears on the Cat's grid schedule for the first time.

The Wildcats will tangle with five Southeastern Conference rivals during a ten-game campaign this fall. Bernie A. Shively announced Sunday. Three conference squads—Georgia, Alabama and Tennessee will be met on Stoll field. Mississippi will be played at Memphis, Tenn., and Vanderbilt at Nashville, Tenn.

Of the ten hills, two with the University of Cincinnati remain tentative, but Shively said that he had been assured the Queen City school would field a team. U.C. would be met at Lexington on September 29, and at Cincinnati on October 27.

those armies moving up the Danube valley from Hungary toward Vienna, the capital city of Austria, from which they are now only a few miles distant. Further advances on that front threaten the Nazis with an invasion from the south which would upset all their plans for a last stand in the mountainous upper valley of the Danube. Some think that American and Russian forces may soon link up there in further moves from the west and the south.

The Japanese forces on the island of Iwo Jima are reported to be large. Later reports from Tokyo report a landing on another large island in that group. The importance of Okinawa is that it is north of Formosa and less than 400 miles from Japan.

The Lowe-Down

By Dick Lowe

Coach Bernie A. Shively announced the 1945 grid schedule Sunday which consists of ten games. Among the rivals will be five Southeastern Conference opponents and three new teams that have not been engaged for several seasons. Kentucky played Cincinnati in 1934 and defeated the Bearcats 27-0 in a game that the Gincy squad hoped to win as a retaliation for a 3-0 loss in '33. The Cats last encountered Vanderbilt in 1942 and were the losers of a close 7-6 game. The third team is Marquette, a team that appears on the Cat's grid schedule for the first time although the two schools have met several times on the hardwood.

The complete schedule consists of games: Sept. 22—Mississippi at Memphis, Tenn. Sept. 29—Cincinnati at Lexington (tentative) Oct. 6—Michigan State at East Lansing, Mich. Oct. 13—Georgia at Lexington Oct. 20—Vanderbilt at Nashville, Tenn. Oct. 27—Cincinnati at Cincinnati (tentative) Nov. 3—Alabama at Lexington Nov. 10—West Virginia at Morgantown, W. Va. Nov. 17—Marquette at Lexington Nov. 24—Tennessee at Lexington

By Dick Lowe

Coach Bernie A. Shively announced the 1945 grid schedule Sunday which consists of ten games. Among the rivals will be five Southeastern Conference opponents and three new teams that have not been engaged for several seasons. Kentucky played Cincinnati in 1934 and defeated the Bearcats 27-0 in a game that the Gincy squad hoped to win as a retaliation for a 3-0 loss in '33. The Cats last encountered Vanderbilt in 1942 and were the losers of a close 7-6 game. The third team is Marquette, a team that appears on the Cat's grid schedule for the first time although the two schools have met several times on the hardwood.

The complete schedule consists of games: Sept. 22—Mississippi at Memphis, Tenn. Sept. 29—Cincinnati at Lexington (tentative) Oct. 6—Michigan State at East Lansing, Mich. Oct. 13—Georgia at Lexington Oct. 20—Vanderbilt at Nashville, Tenn. Oct. 27—Cincinnati at Cincinnati (tentative) Nov. 3—Alabama at Lexington Nov. 10—West Virginia at Morgantown, W. Va. Nov. 17—Marquette at Lexington Nov. 24—Tennessee at Lexington personally the cost of the proposed laboratory and to somewhat enlarge its scope and to give it to the University outright. Its cost as estimated was less than that estimated at $80,000.

Governor To Answer

"Under the date of July 5, 1940, the Viking Foundation, of which Mr. Wenner-Gren was president, proposed that the Viking Foundation construct this laboratory for the University of Kentucky and to present it to the University when completed. The University, of course, accepted this gift and the Viking Foundation sent to Colonel Graham its check for $80,000 to complete the laboratory was begun.

"A second meeting between Mr. Wenner-Gren and Colonel Graham took place during the following October and it appeared that to completely equip the laboratory in all detail it would cost the additional sum of $10,000. Mr. Wenner-Gren then decided that this would be desirable and through the Viking Foundation presented to the University the additional sum of $5,000, making a total of $156,000.

"This laboratory has been in constant operation since its completion in May, 1941, and has been the means of aircraft engine training for many undergraduates and graduate engineering students, and the laboratory has conducted and is now conducting much research for the Air Corps of the United States Army and for the aircraft engineering companies under contract with the War and Navy Departments.

"It has given me the greatest pleasure to write you this letter, and if there is any further information you desire about the laboratory, I will be very glad to furnish it to you.

"Yours very truly,
"RICHARD C. STOLL."

The new dormitory for women will provide rooms for as many coeds as are now housed in any two of the present dormitories, according to the plans presented by Frankel and Curtis, architects. Included in this building will be a food service unit for all the women's dormitories and the total expenditure will make it one of the most imposing dormitories at the University.

The architects for all three of the new structures appeared before the board of trustees Tuesday and explained their tentative plans. All were instructed to continue the plans in accordance with the preliminary arrangements.

Two gifts were received by the University board of trustees in the meeting Tuesday. One was a check for $100 for the University's Agricultural Experiment station from Walker J. Salmon, owner of Mereworth Farm, in "appreciation of information that we have been kindly given from time to time by the Experiment station."

The other was a check for $50 made to the graduate reference reading room in the University library from Mrs. Annie C. Neely of Austin, Texas and Lexington, as "an expression of sincere appreciation for courtesy shown by the library."
