EIGHT ENTRANTS ALSO SELECTED BY EARL CARROLL

Dougherty, Hamilton, Walker, Pride, Rogers, Bruner, Grant, Are Chosen

BEAUTY WINNERS ARE SORORITY MEMBERS

Frank Stone, Beauty Editor, Conducts Contest for 1931 Kentuckian

Miss Mary Virginia Willis, Ashland, junior in the College of Education, was selected by Earl Carroll, New York dramatic producer, as winner of the recently concluded beauty contest which was conducted by Frank Stone, director of the beauty section of the Kentuckian.

Eight other co-eds of the university were picked as most promising by measuring up to the standard of Delta Upsilon Phi sorority. They were: Misses Virginia Dougherty, Lexington; Georgetta Walker, Winkler; Rosemary Fiddis, Louisville; Sue Rogers, Midway; Alice Bruner, Louisville; Carleen Grant, Whitesburg; and Marion Hamilton, Minnetonka Beach, Minn.

Miss Willis is a junior in the College of Education, a member of Delta Upsilon Phi sorority, and a Stroller eligible. She appeared in "Local Color," stroller production of the Kentuckian.

Miss Hamilton is a sophomore in the College of Arts and Sciences, a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Miss Dougherty is a senior in the College of Arts and Sciences, and a member of Delta Upsilon Phi sorority. Her activities include debating team, band sponsor, girls band, associate editor of the kernel, member of Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalistic fraternity, and Phi Beta, must-attendee.

Miss Walker is a junior in the College of Education, a member of Delta Upsilon Phi sorority, and a Stroller eligible.

Miss Fride is a freshman in the College of Arts and Sciences, and is pledged to Kappa Delta sorority.

Miss Rogers is a freshman in the College of Arts and Sciences, and a member of Delta Upsilon Phi sorority. She is an honorary member of the Delta Upsilon Phi sorority, and the English club.

Miss Grant is a junior in the College of Arts and Sciences and a member of the English club. She is active in W. Y. C. A. work, and is a member of the W. S. G. A. She has also been selected as one of the eight beauties who has discontinued her work at the university because of the death of her father.

Each participant for entrance in the beauty contest was signed by fifty male students at the university. The photographs were sent to Mr. Carroll by Friday, December 31. Frank Stone, beauty editor of the Kentuckian. The letter from Mr. Carroll:

fit for wet weather use. Their surfaces have been quickened for a week, all the little gravel rock are mixed into wet sand, and our walks are like water filters. Three thousand students tramp over these walks, churning them into mud lakes. And how the feet and the floors and the classroom furniture do look!

Some efforts at lowering the mud level has been made by bringing in prominent parts of a masonry road, and distributing it in equal portions across the paths. The progress of a student crossing the campus, even in dry weather, is delayed at least five minutes by this attempted solution of the problem of muddy walks. Part of the motto of the university is to keep the campus beautiful. We ask, how can the campus be kept beautiful when the condition of the walks is such that students are forced to walk on the lawn beside the pathway in order to get to classes on time and to keep their shoes intact. The effort is appreciated, but we think that a gravel roller should be used on these paths so students can walk on them.

A university as large and as prosperous as the University of Kentucky should be able to provide some form of walkable and puddle proof walk. With the money which has been spent in the upkeep of these very ineffective walks concrete paths could have been provided. In the future if these walks cannot be effected, more concrete provision should be made to put in concrete walks instead of wasting money more repairing the damage which students do the campus by walking on the grass, by bringing in mud and by scratching the floors.

COOPERATION

Cooperation is the foundation of every university. It is the foundation of every class, of every organization, of every individual unit of every campus. It is that linking together of interests which makes life worth living, which makes working a pleasure. Cooperation is that quality of generosity which keeps people from living the life of recluses. Without cooperation no undertaking can be a success, no life can be complete. With it comes the opportunity to live life to the fullest.

Now is the time for preparation to be made to offer some cooperation to the organizations on the campus. Kentucky is proud that through the cooperation of the students in the past it has been able to develop many of its assets. It has been able to accomplish many things which in the past had been considered more or less as idle speculation.

The Kernel has become a semi-weekly paper, for the size of the campus this is one of the most progressive steps which has been made during the past year. However some criticism has been offered by students on the campus as to the quality of news which is covered in each issue. If these students would cooperate with the paper and inform the news editor of any news stories which they know are about to break, their cooperation would be appreciated to the utmost. That the Kernel tied for first place as the best semi-weekly college paper in the Inter-Collegiate Press Association, and the fact that the quality and quantity of news has been able to develop many of its assets, is the cooperation of the students on the campus might be of interest to those who read it.

IN THE PROFESSION

Are professional fraternities and sororities unfairly selective, undesirably prominent, and falsely representative of the calling for which they are created? Do they encourage narrow-mindedness and over-confidence among their members? Are they expensive, inert and useless?

We think not. The success that has come to professional societies at the University of Kentucky should refute these accusations. In almost every branch of work we see growing organizations such as Phi Beta and Phi Mu Alpha in music, Sigma Delta Chi and Theta Sigma Phi in journalism, Alpha Zeta in agriculture, Delta Sigma Pi in commerce, Phi Alpha Delta in law, Scabbard and blade in military science, to mention only a few. Selection for membership in these organizations shows that the individual's supremacy in his line of work has

U. C. ABOLISHES R.O.T.C. TRAINING FOR FRESHMEN

Compulsory Military Science Subject of Attack by Cincinnati Students

BOARD OF TRUSTEES ADOPTS NOVEL PLAN

All Students to Be Eligible for New Elective; Reconstruction Planned

Compulsory military training for freshmen engineers at the University of Cincinnati has been abolished by the Board of Trustees of that institution.

For the past ten years an R. O. T. C. unit has been maintained at the University of Cincinnati membership in which was required of freshmen. The compulsory training has been the subject of a steady attack by many student organizations, and the Cincinnati Citizen has made a thorough study of the entire situation in order to adopt the most favorable solution of what was developing into an urgent problem.

As a result of the statement of the trustees, military training at the University of Cincinnati will be limited to all those who wish it, but will be forced upon no one.

A CHALLENGE TO FRATERNITIES

Bruce McIntosh, a representative to the Inter-Fraternity Conference, thrust a real challenge at social fraternities in a speech before representatives of practically all national fraternities in the state of Indiana at a conference held not long ago at Franklin College. McIntosh said, "If fraternities do not show that they appreciate their place in the university world, and if they do not prepare themselves to fit into the rapidly changing background of the campus, their future will be brief. Fraternities must keep abreast of the times. Fraternity houses must become the seat of culture. The radio and pool table must make way for the library. Fraternities must take on a new atmosphere which involves no contempt for intellectual endeavor, but which nurtures and brings its achievement."

It might seem to some that McIntosh is putting the fraternity goal out of reach, destroying the purpose of fraternities. Fraternities are on the whole an undemocratic group. Their very founding and life has shown that. To compensate for the evil, and in a democratic country that is surely an evil, they must promote and foster some worthwhile steps toward development. There is a place in college for fraternities, but only so long as they in their own right strive to justify their existence.

EXCHANGES

By GERTRUDE EVANS

The students of the University of South Carolina campus have introduced a new game, known to the younger generation as aeroplane poptoch. The court consists of eight large squares, arranged in the shape of an aeroplane. The squares are numbered and the object of the game is to throw a ball out of the squares, then hop in and get it. The game is played by both sexes with much merriment.

At Dartmouth, Robert Frost, the poet, was giving a course in poetry and since authorities insisted that he give a final examination, he was obliged to do so. When exam time came, Frost went to the blackboard and wrote, "Do the thing that you think will please me most."

Some students composed original poems; others wrote critical essays; some praised Frost to the skies. One student, taking the professor at his word simply got up and walked out. Wouldn't it be an ideal situation if all courses were conducted in this manner.

Students of Emory College expressed varied ideas on women smoking, when questioned recently. The general opinion is that future wives of Emory students may either smoke or not smoke as it is their own personal choice. However, one student expressed this opinion, he said, "I think that it is the height of asinine for girls to smoke. They merely smoke because they think it is smart."

However, I don't care if my wife smokes, for by that time she'll be old enough to know better." Rather big hearted student.

A perfect man I've met at last, He's long on future, short on past. He doesn't drink or smoke or ever. Say naughty words on just occasion.

And here's another incidental— He's never, never sentimental, but strange as it may seem to be He doesn't even interest me. Boopadoop—McGill Daily.

Twenty-eight students were graduated recently from a course in lable-sitting at Ohio State University. The exam included tests in setting and serving tables, as well as written questions.

The "high cost of living" doesn't bother the students at the University of Paris. Tuition is only $5.60 for the year, and a student in the Latin quarter can live on $20. Let's all go to Paris.

Phi Delta Theta entertained Saturday evening. A Kappa received a brother from Centre was injured in the rush for hats and coats following the party, and uninvited guests were numerous.

The holidays as we saw them: One guy replying to the appellation, "Wahoo," with a right to the jaw, the drunken door-mat at the Winchester hop who refused admission to "Shipwreck" Kelly because he was not a hop club member and the apologetic attitude of the members as they admitted him. Notes on Dancing

By WILLIAM ARBERY

We have often wondered why people go to dances.

Not that it matters but we would rather toast marshmallows—alone.

In imitation of Vanity Fair's "Notes on Marriage" we respectfully submit the following notes on dancing:

Conversation
Agree with nothing she says. Tell her you have always admired her and when she says, "But you haven't known me but a month," admit that you never saw her before and perhaps, after all, it was your kid sister you were thinking of.

Sentiment
If the band plays a waltz—and the lights are very low—ask her if she loves you. If she replies in the negative, she does and you had better be careful.

Sentiment
Do not kiss her good-night—her surprise will be worth it.

Sentiment
Your decency will prevent you from necking her on the floor and your dignity will keep you from letting her neck you.

If you pretend to believe her lies she will believe yours. Do not sim-

"YOU'RE DRIVIN' ME CRAZY"

Out of the Shadows via the Valley

In every college town there is one outstanding smoking tobacco

At Illinois it's

ALONG Green Street, where college leaders stroll... in the great slate-roofed fraternity houses of Champaign... there is one pipe tobacco which always rubs up the biggest vote. At Illinois it's Edgeworth, every time.

A pipe—Edgeworth. That is the smoking combination which has won the college man, Harvard, Cornell, Michigan, Stanford, Dartmouth—all agree with Illinois. Natural merit has made Edgeworth the favorite tobacco in America's leading colleges and universities.

College men everywhere respond to the appeal of pipes—packed with cool, slow-burning Edgeworth. Be guided by their verdict; try Edgeworth yourself. Find it at your nearest tobacco shop—15¢ the tin. Or, for generous free samples, address: Latus & Bro., Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

Stop attending the theatre
Stop buying cokes
Stop smoking
Stop buying text books
Stop paying bills
Stop living.

The last is highly recommended by the members of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

One of the dears in Mr. Patterson's building was campused for the week-end because she washed her socks after 10:15. It seems that no washing of any kind is permitted after this hour because the sound of falling—or rising—water disturbs the other inhabitants of the prison. We live in an advanced age!

"If I Could Be with You" seems to have achieved the permanent popularity of the ancient but rhythmic "Dinah."

For those eds and ettes who encounter difficulty in living within the parental output we list below 10 practical ways of saving money:

Stop dating
Stop dancing
Stop drinking
Stop gambling

Appreciation
Be specific. Thank her for dancing well, looking well, conversing well, or keeping silence well. Never say simply, "Thank you."

Thank her for not leaving the dance with someone else, or, if she has, thank her for that. This will subjugate her.

Be appreciative that she wears your pin to the dance. When she protests that you have not pinned her express your gratification.

Smile your appreciation at the boy who breathes.

Maxims
It is as difficult to dance with the one you love as it is difficult to love the one you dance with.

One whole dance spent with the same partner is a long time if she does not think so she is inferior to you.

Girls are like candy bars—both are more or less sticky.

ville, and one into the studio. The control board is the main item of equipment in the room. The galvanometer is located at the top of the board and determines the volume. It must be kept at the level of 30 in order to keep the broadcast at the right level. If it falls below the studio in Louisville must pick it up, and this causes a great deal of noise on the line. If it goes above 30, the Lexington studio must tone it down. While the program is being broadcast, the operator keeps an anxious eye on the galvanometer.

Besides the lever tuning Lexington in on the air, there is a lever which tunes in on the main studio for dress rehearsal, and one that tunes in on the program being broadcast from Louisville. The whole affair must be timed to the minute.
The remote control studio broadcasts every day at 12:45 p. m. The programs consist of commerce talks, educational news, interesting farmers, business men, housewives, and professional men, and the regular Sunday evening musical program.
The staff in charge of the university radio broadcasts is Elmer G. Sulzer, director; Thomas L. Riley, head announcer; Wilbur Fry, Harold Ritter, Wesley Carter, assistants; Harris Sullivan, chief operator; Warner E. Maxwell and Edward Barlow, assistants.

George Yates will do the broad-jumping. Kelly was beaten only once while McLane was undefeated the previous year.
Three boys who have vaulted 12 feet are Porter, Hubbell and Turley. Corbett of Tennessee is the only man in the South who can approach them. Roberts, McLane and Porter will do the high-jumping. Roberts did 6 feet in high school and should win many points for the Big Blue.
The track candidates, 14 are football players. An intramural department tournament will probably be arranged by the athletic department. Kentucky lost but one meet last season to Tennessee.

STARK IS FEATURED
Helen Stark, pianist, was featured at the regular university broadcast over WLAS at 6 p. m. Sunday. Her selections consisted of Bach, Haydn, Beethoven, and one of her original compositions. The instrumental ensemble, under the direction of Leroy Smith,

MILTON AWARD IS OPEN FOR 1931

$500 for Best Editorial Advancing Cause of International Peace to Be Presented

An announcement of the university department of journalism from the Milton Award of $500 to the college student in the South writing the best editorial or editorials advancing the cause of international peace. The editorials submitted must be published and must be sent before December 31, 1931, to "The George F. Milton Award, Division of University Extension, Box 4218, The University of Tennessee, Knoxville, Tennessee." The award was especially created for students of Journalism and English but is open to all college students in Kentucky, North Carolina, Florida, Georgia, Tennessee, Virginia, Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Maryland. Awards will be announced as soon as possible after the first of the year. Judges reserve the right to withhold awards if no contribution is sufficiently meritorious.
Two entry clippings must be submitted on 8 1/2 x 11 inch paper and one-half by 11 inches. The author's name, the name of the publication in which the editorial appears, and the date of publication must be written on one of the sheets. An award of $500 will be presented by the administrators of the fund to the woman writer in the South who accomplishes the most for her sex during the year.
The university department of journalism plans to make "International Peace" a subject of the year paper in editorial classes. It is expected that the best papers will be entered for the Milton Award.

DEPARTMENT OF ART TO EXHIBIT
Paintings by Elmer S. Forsberg Will Be on Display Three Weeks for Benefit of Students and Faculty
The Art department, beginning today, will hold a three-week exhibition of paintings by Elmer S. Forsberg of Chicago. The department has held more exhibits this year than any previous year. These displays are for the benefit of university students and the people of Lexington.
Elmer S. Forsberg, although an American citizen, has been working in the interest of his native people, the Finlanders. During the war he did work in this country in their interest. He is now acting as their consul in Chicago. Mrs. Forsberg is Professor of Painting in the Art Institute of Chicago. His country home is in the center of the Pin colony in northern Michigan.
The paintings which will be displayed at the Art center from 8 o'clock until 5 each day, except Saturdays, are chiefly outdoor winter scenes, a great many of which were made in Finland when Professor Forsberg was there on leave of absence several years ago. Some of his figures in pencil, which are perhaps the most noteworthy of all his work, will be among the pictures displayed.

Chemist Will Speak At U. K. on 'Helium'
R. R. Bottoms to Deliver Address in Kastle Hall; Public Invited
Mr. R. R. Bottoms, director of research of the Girdler corporation, of Louisville, will speak on "Helium" at the regular meeting of the Lexington section of the American Chemical Society, this afternoon at 4 o'clock in room 214, Kastle hall. The lecture is open to all interested persons.
Mr. Bottoms has worked at the Lakehurst helium plant, and has acquired an extensive knowledge and experience on the subject. At the Cincinnati meetings of the American Chemical Society in September, Mr. Bottoms and his co-workers announced many new uses of helium, including the preservation of food, its use as a circulating medium in drying systems and in making artificial air for deep-sea and caisson-workers. The gas also can be used to eliminate disease of caisson-workers known as "the bends."
Mr. Bottoms is now cooperating with Dr. M. N. States, of the Physics department, of the university in an investigation of certain physical properties of helium. Due to the vast international importance of helium in aviation and to America's present virtual monopoly of the supply of this element, the subject should be of great interest to everyone.

My dear Mr. Stone:
I am returning the photographs. My first choice is No. 370. As you suggested, I picked eight other girls, whose photographs were the most attractive and whose measurements came nearest to mine. Their numbers are 387, 372, 364, 344, 336, 353, 350, 333.
I am sure you realize how difficult it is to exercise the best judgment from a picture. There were so many lovely girls, it was necessary, in order to make a choice of

MISS JEAN LOWRY SPEAKS
The History club held its monthly meeting Thursday afternoon in the old Education building. The principal feature of the program was an address by Miss Jean Lowry, of the Art department, on "Painters of the Italian Renaissance."

WOMEN LOSE TO MEN IN RIFLE CONTEST

The final scores in the rifle match between the men's team and the girls' team showed the boys victorious by 861 to 811 points. The match was shot Saturday at 1 p. m. in the Armory building.

High scores for the men's team were made by Louis Peyton and Cecil Smith, both members of the varsity and R. O. T. C. teams last year. Each of them shot 99 out of 100. Miss Dorothy Gould made the highest score for the feminine team with a score of 90 and Misses Whitworth and Hart followed with 88 points.
Fifteen members of each squad fired during the match and the 10 highest scores of each team were taken for the record. The prone position was used.
The individual scores of the men's team follow: Peyton, 99; Smith, 99; Florence, 98; Brennan, 97; Stone, 96; Manis, 95; Wachs, 95; Christie, 95; Chinn, 94; Rogers, 93; Sottie, 93; Wallace, 92; Johnson, 90; Musselman, 90; Ewing, 83.
The co-ed scores follow: Misses Gould, 90; Hart, 88; Whitworth, 88; Calnes, 81; Nash, 80; Shipp, 80; Roberts, 79; Webb, 78; Evans, 78; Carlin, 71; Bird, 70; Ashbrook, 69; Heiman, 68; Moore, 66; McAtee, 55.

Kelly to Display Athletic Ability In Dance Hall

By EULAH RIDDELL.
"Shipwreck" Kelly, brilliant luminary of the gridiron, has forsaken his royal moieties for a more lucrative opportunity to acquire fame as a business man. Can you imagine the great Kelly in a cutaway and top hat for morning attire? Well, he's gone and done it! Unlike most college football heroes who go into the bond business after they receive their sheepskin, Kelly has chosen to be original.

Bring on all your Europeans and Sinclair Lewises who declare America has become so standardized that no one has an original thought. Here's one man that is different. Business before pleasure is Kelly's motto, so he bought a half interest in the Palais Royale dance hall.
The age-old lure of the bright lights and polished floor has effaced the former love, the gridiron, from the blonde head of this slim Leathario, and a cutaway and top-hat in Gotham, "a soup and fish" now adorns the Greek body, while the Barrymore profile fuses into shadows and silhouettes and saxophone moans.

Hark all ye winds! Weep all stars! Kelly has turned Ebbott Pippa passes and Kelly fades from gridiron hero to Boniface. The gay hostelry that he adorns with his incandescent presence echoes to shuffling feet and wild whoops of uncouth joy. Mammon conquers Psyche; Parnassus beckons and Sinai is afar off.
