ATHLETICS AT KENTUCKY

Kentucky's athletic program, a well-balanced and ambitious activity featuring inter-collegiate competition in nine different sports, is organized under the Department of Athletics and a corporation known as the University of Kentucky Athletics Association.

The program is conducted without overemphasis or sacrifice of educational objectives and in strict compliance with the rules of the University, the Southeastern Conference and the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

A Board of Directors, headed by UK President Frank Dickey, maintains overall policy supervision of the athletic program. Dr. Leo Chamberlain, vice-president of the University, has general supervision over the Department and serves as vice-chairman of the Board. Dr. A. D. Kirwan, one-time Wildcat coach and UK's faculty representative to the Southeastern Conference, serves the directors as secretary and Dr. Frank Peterson, UK vice-president for business administration, acts as treasurer in an ex-officio capacity.

Supervising the steady growth and balanced development of one of the nation's top athletic programs is Bernie A. Shively, a former Illinois grid All-American and a veteran of over 20 years in the post of Director of Athletics.

The Association's Board of Directors is composed of the following:

Dr. Frank G. Dickey,
Chairman

Dr. A. D. Kirwan, Secretary

Dr. Ralph Angelucci

James B. Allen

Dr. A. E. Biggie

Dr. Aubrey J. Brown

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS BERNIE A. SHIVELY

Supervising the steady growth and balanced development of one of the nation's top athletic programs is the Herculean task being carried out successfully by Bernie A. Shively.

Few who have observed the untiring efforts of the tall, silver-haired former All-America footballer in the service of the University of Kentucky since 1927 and as Director of Athletics since 1938 will argue his fitness as an athletic Hercules. Not only has Shively guided the development of Kentucky as a nationally-respected power in major sports, but he has also gained personal prestige through a fair-minded approach to many problems.

During his tenure as Athletic Director, Shively has directly supervised major expansions in Kentucky's athletic plant resulting from the progression of the school's football and basketball teams to greater national prominence and increased patronage by the sports-minded public.

The seating capacity of Kentucky's football stadium, McLean Stadium on Stoll Field, has been doubled to bring the current number of seats to approximately 36,000 and on par with most other schools located in heavier-populated areas. Powerful lighting equipment also was installed during the 1948-49 construction to bring night football into new popularity. Partly to satisfy the overwhelming number of basketball devotees, who could not squeeze into the 2,800-seat Alumni Gymnasium, a long-planned Memorial Coliseum was completed in 1950. Seating 11,500 persons for cage contests, the four-million dollar Coliseum also houses the Athletic Department and provides the first permanent home for the school's many minor sports teams. More recently, Shively directed the acquisition of a pair of modern, ranch-style living units which have served as the home of the football team since 1954.

A large dressing room building and football practice field, used since 1955, was abandoned this fall to make way for a huge new men's dorm to be built by the University. Under Shively's supervision, a spacious new Sports Center is being prepared a short distance away on the University farm to take even better care of the footballers and spring sports teams.

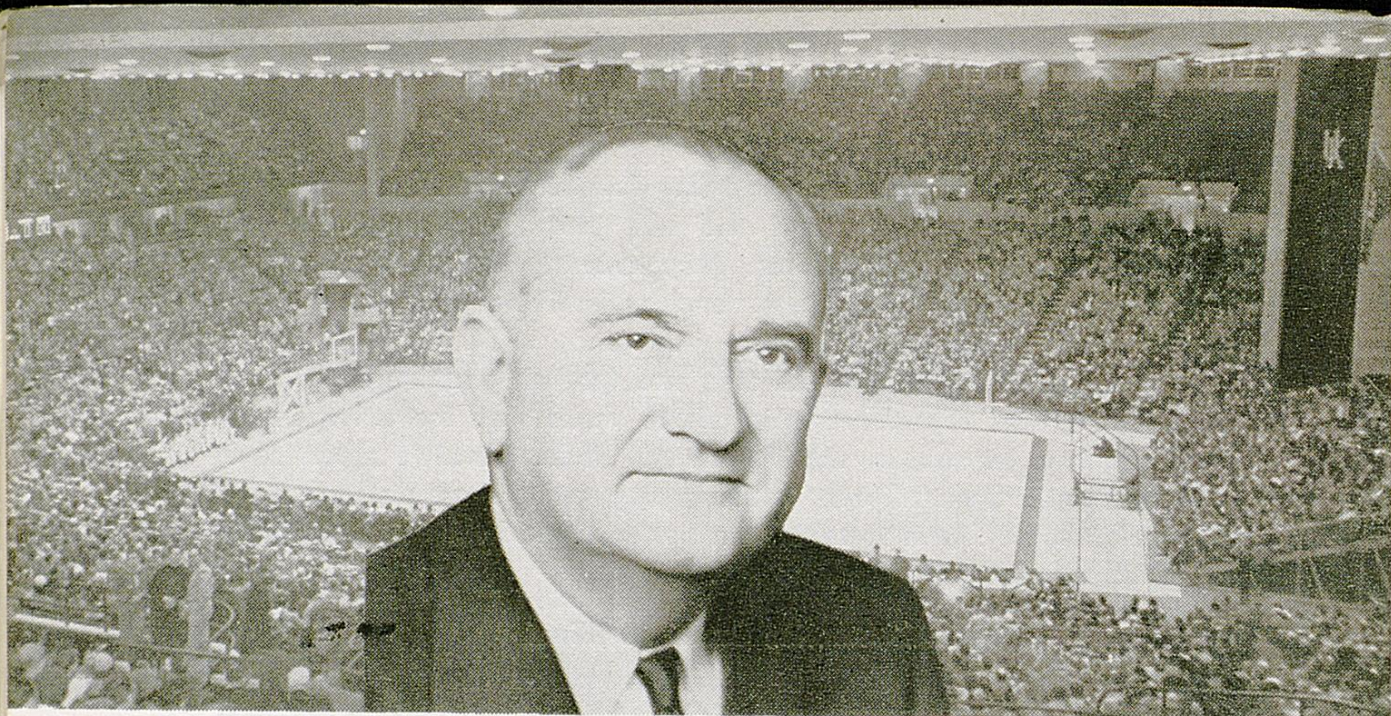

All-America Guard At Illinois

A native of Paris, Ill., Shively attended the University of Illinois where he was an All-America guard in 1926 on the same grid team made famous by Red Grange. Demonstrating a claim to being one of the finest all-around athletes in Illinois' history, "Shive" also laid claim to the Big 10 heavyweight wrestling championship and annexed letters in track before graduating in 1927.

Shively came to Kentucky in 1927 as line coach of football under Harry Gamage. A shift in the coaching ranks in 1933 resulted in Shively's promotion to head of the UK Physical Education Department, a position he retained until he succeeded Chet Wynne as Athletic Director in 1938. During this period and the years following, he also served as track and baseball coach until 1944. The next year, 1945, he assumed full charge of the grid squad for one season before turning the job over to mentor Paul (Bear) Bryant in 1946.

The Kentucky Athletic Director served as chairman of the Southeastern Conference basketball committee for a number of years and for the past five years has been president of the SEC Coaches and Athletic Directors Association. He also is a member of the NCAA Basketball Tournament Committee, chairman of the NCAA Summer Baseball group and is active in numerous state and civic projects, including current direction of the Fayette County Recreation Board. Thousands of his friends honored his 30th anniversary at Kentucky by presenting him with a Cadillac at the Tennessee football game in 1957.

Shively and his wife, Ruth, have two children. Doug was co-captain of the Wildcat grid team in his final season last fall while daughter Suzanne, a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of UK in 1957, is attending Edinburgh University in Scotland.

ADOLPH FREDERICK RUPP
"Nation's Winningest Basketball Coach"

28 Years — Won 584, Lost 103 — 85 %

$$\begin{array}{r} 24 \\ \hline 608 \end{array} \quad \begin{array}{r} 3 \\ \hline 100 \end{array}$$

For nearly three decades, the sports world has watched an amazing record being forged with near perfection out of meager raw material by a colorful figure in the Bluegrass country of Kentucky known familiarly to hundreds of thousands as the "Man in the Brown Suit."

He is Adolph Rupp of Kentucky and when the sport of basketball is mentioned today, a direct chain of thought brings out the name of this maker of champions who holds undisputed rank as the "Nation's Winningest Basketball Coach." The name of Rupp, feared and respected in opponents' hearts and beloved by the millions who have witnessed the remarkable success of his Wildcat cage teams, has become synonymous with the game of basketball.

Such unprecedented recognition for the fabulous mentor is only natural since his success in the past 28 years as head man of the fabled Kentucky cage thoroughbreds has been nothing short of phenomenal. It would take a book longer than his own technical best-seller, "Championship Basketball," to recite the record completely. Briefly, however, that record includes:

- An amazing 584 victories out of 687 starts against many of the nation's top twenty basketball powers of the past quarter-century for an unmatched winning average of better than 85 percent.
- An unparelled honor roll of four NCAA Tournament national championships, including last season's surprise triumph by the "Fiddlin' Five."
- Nineteen Southeastern Conference titles since the league was organized in 1933.
- A National Invitational Tournament championship in 1946 that makes Rupp the only mentor to guide a team to four national tourney titles in six years.
- Olympic Trials collegiate bracket laurels in 1948.
- A nominal world's championship as co-coach of the successful USA entry in the 1948 Olympic Games, which included members of the NCAA champion Kentucky team.
- Four Sugar Bowl Tournament championships.
- Three titles from the first five U.K. Invitational Tournaments featuring the cream of national cage powers.
- Development of more All-Americans (20) and more material for the pro ranks (17) than any other tutor.
- Election to the Helms Athletic Foundation College Basketball Hall of Fame in 1946 and selection as national "Coach of the Year" in 1950.
- Recipient of first plaque of appreciation awarded by Sugar Bowl committee (1951) and twice made honorary citizen City of New Orleans.
- Election to Kentucky Hall of Fame (1945) and as outstanding citizen of Lexington (1949).

Tournament invitations in pre-Rupp years were almost unheard of—Kentucky played in only seven sectional eliminations. In contrast, the Rupp-led Wildcats have the distinction of not only playing in more tournaments of all types than any other team but also hold the record for most appearances (10), most games won (20) and most championships (4) in NCAA Tournament play. All told, his Bluegrass five has achieved the unequalled feat of 128 victories against only 33 defeats covering action in 30 national classics plus 29 conference meets and the '48 Olympics.

Although the competition was nowhere near as rugged as the schedules played by today's nationally-recognized Wildcat brigades, Rupp's very first team compiled a respectable 15-3 record and Kentucky basketball has been on a winning plane ever since. The most games lost in a single season since Rupp added his touch was eight in 1940-41, but even that year was a winning campaign (17-8) and the remarkably low average number of losses per season in the Rupp Era is three.

His teams have finished as national champion in the polls four times in the last ten years. They were unranked in the top 20 only once during this period, that the 1952-53 campaign when they were idle. Possibly his greatest achievement came in the 1953-54 season when the Wildcats rolled unchecked through a 25-game schedule of top-flight opposition to become the biggest-winning, perfect-record unit in all basketball history up to that time.

Rivaling that achievement, in the opinion of the sportswriters and broadcasters, is the tremendous coaching jobs turned in by the basketball miracle man in the past two seasons. Two years back, Rupp guided a moderately talented club to an 18th SEC title, third place in the polls and a ninth NCAA Tournament appearance while achieving a 23-5 record. The surprised experts, who had predicted UK would not win their own conference, voted Coach Rupp the runner-up spot as "Coach of the Year."

Even that effort went by the boards in 1958, however, as the Bluegrass Baron masterminded a drive that carried Kentucky to an unprecedented fourth NCAA title. Only one organization accorded him "Coach of the Year" honors, but the coaching feat was widely acclaimed. The Wildcats were unsung and almost unknown except by reputation and heritage, not a single man had been honored on the All-Conference fives selected before tournament time and they had lost more games (6) in regular season play than any UK team in 17 years—all of which added up to sure defeat except for the coaching genius of Adolph Rupp.

Rupp is recognized by sports authorities with doing more than any other modern tutor to make basketball a national spectator sport. From the very outset of his career at Kentucky, which began in 1930, he has introduced or popularized many new and revised trends in the game that have aided materially in making the country basketball-minded. One such innovation was the controlled fast break offensive pattern that has since become the crowd-pleasing trademark of Wildcat cage teams.

The colorful Kentucky Colonel has become, without a doubt, the best known and most widely quoted cage coach in America and his personal fame is equalled only by the success he has instilled in the highly-publicized Kentucky basketball powerhouses.

The masterful story-teller is equally renowned on the banquet and coaching clinic circuit and is in constant demand as a speaker in the off season. Last year, he appeared in 17 different states to speak before Bankers Assn. banquets, the Iowa State School of Agriculture banquet, cattlemen's groups, purebred breeders assns. and dozens of other national and state conventions. He has conducted more coaching schools than any other coach in the history of the game.

Internationally recognized for his avocation as a registered Hereford breeder-enthusiast, Rupp is currently in his sixth term as president of the Kentucky Hereford Assn. He maintains one of the finest herds in the South on his many farms surrounding Lexington. Also a grower of Kentucky's famous burley tobacco, he is a director of the Central District Warehousing Corp., world's largest tobacco marketing organization.

The coach is active in Shrine affairs, being chosen in 1950 as one of the 10 outstanding Shriners of the nation and holding honorary memberships in temples throughout the country. He is a Past Potentate of the Oleika (Lexington) Temple and serves as vice-chairman of the board for the Shrine Crippled Children's Hospital in Lexington.

He has his own television and radio shows during the season, produced two film shorts in the past year ("Basketball: Individual Offense" for Coca-Cola Co. and "Parade to National Championship") and written books on virtually every phase of the game.

Born in Halstead, Kansas, Sept. 2, 1901, Rupp attended University of Kansas where he played guard under Phog Allen. Following graduation in 1923, he coached high school ball one year at Marshalltown, Iowa, and then at Freeport, Ill., four seasons before coming to Kentucky in 1930. His fame as "The Man in the Brown Suit" stems from his superstitious preference of brown as the color of his game-night wardrobe.

HARRY LANCASTER

Assistant Varsity Coach

Head Freshman Coach

When Harry Lancaster finds a spare moment to reflect on his days as an all-around star athlete at Georgetown (Ky.) College back in the early thirties, he can recall with a degree of dismay how close he came to never pursuing the "round ball" sport that in the days since has earned him a highly respected position in the basketball world.

An All-Conference halfback for three straight years and captain during his last two seasons, Lancaster's football career almost overshadowed his play on the basketball court. In the cage sport, he was equally successful—with three All-Conference nominations and two team captaincies to his credit—but considered himself a better football player than cager. Experience, however, proved him a good student and teacher of the sport of basketball as he began his coaching career and he now has no regrets over the choice he made.

Lancaster bosses a promising group of yearling cagers and holds down the position of assistant varsity basketball coach and general right hand man to the fabulous Adolph Rupp.

Born in Paris, Ky., in 1911, Lancaster attended Paris High School where he played four years in all sports, being coached at one time by Kentucky's current Head Football Coach Blanton Collier. Following graduation in 1928, he continued his athletic career at Georgetown College and gained star recognition in football, basketball and baseball. After finishing at Georgetown in '32, Harry remained on for the next school year as an assistant coach in both the grid and cage sports before moving into the high school field. He coached several sports, mostly basketball, for nine years and was a high school principal for six years before coming to the University of Kentucky in 1942 as an instructor in physical education.

Soon thereafter, the war intervened and Lancaster saw 26 months' Navy duty, rising from apprentice seaman to Lieutenant (Senior Grade). Returning to UK, he became a part-time assistant to the Wildcats' famous cage mentor, Adolph Rupp, in addition to carrying on his teaching duties and gaining his master's degree. He also served as Kentucky's baseball coach in 1946-47 and picked up the assignment again starting with the 1951 campaign.

Becomes Full-time Assistant Coach In 1948

He was promoted to full-time Assistant Varsity Basketball Coach in 1948 upon Coach Rupp's recommendation. In addition to his coaching duties, Lancaster manages to sandwich in a large slice of traveling. Besides checking on the nation's best high school cagers as potential material for future Wildcat national champion crews, his travel stems from a plan to extensively scout upcoming opponents. Coach Rupp was one of the first in the country to inaugurate this widespread scouting system in basketball and believes it has contributed materially to Kentucky's past success in carrying off championships with almost reckless abandon.

Lancaster also traveled to Greece in the summer of 1951 on a special athletic assignment for the U. S. State Department. The mission called for the Kentucky aide to act as an advisor to Greek Basketball Federation officials on Olympic procedure and other matters. He also conducted numerous clinics, coaching schools and gave public lectures on the cage sport as played in the U.S.A.

Lancaster's coaching success with his freshman teams has been commendable. The yearlings have lost only ten contests under his tutelage the past nine seasons against formidable competition that included the more elite junior college clubs and top-notch service quintets. His record stands at 85 wins, 10 losses.

DAN CHANDLER

Assistant Freshman Coach

A 22-year-old veteran with an enthusiastic love of the Kentucky-style of basketball, popularly known to thousands of UK cage fans as the "darkhorse" of a well-stocked stable of talent during his playing days, is the newest Wildcat coach.

The name is Dan Chandler and he's the son of the Commonwealth of Kentucky's famous Governor A. B. (Happy) Chandler, but prefers not to think about his heritage.

Dan has no visions of following in the footsteps of his internationally-respected father. He has a solid background in the sport of basketball and is determined to make his own way as a teacher of the game.

Small and speedy in the best tradition of Kentucky guards, the scrappy Versailles, Ky., native played with the Wildcats for three seasons in an era when the competition was particularly keen and the UK teams among the most successful in the schools' history.

He was a freshman in 1953, the year of no outside competition due to NCAA suspension, and gained an extensive schooling at the direction of Coaches Adolph Rupp and Harry Lancaster. In 1954, a national championship season in which the Wildcats went undefeated, he had to take a back seat to such greats as Cliff Hagan and Frank Ramsey but saw important relief service. As a junior the following season, Dan again was stymied by more experienced talent ahead of him and had to settle for only token game action while picking up valuable pointers in practice.

Service duty called before Chandler could start his senior campaign, but he relieved some of his frustration by playing basketball and getting a start on a coaching career while stationed at Ft. Bliss, Texas, and Ft. Stewart, Ga. Discharged last summer, he was retained by Coach Rupp to replace Coach Bill Wireman as assistant freshman mentor. In his new position, Dan helps Coach Lancaster in tutoring the yearlings and will handle some scouting and recruiting assignments.

KENTUCKY BASKETBALL — 1959

Kentucky will defend its NCAA championship in 1959 with a club minus four-fifths of its starting lineup and basing hopes for staying off revenge-minded opponents on a tall and talented, but inexperienced group of sophomores plus a couple of junior college products.

The lone returning regular in Baron Adolph Rupp's traditionally well-stocked bluegrass basketball stable is lean and lanky Johnny Cox, a 6-4 Kentucky mountaineer sharpshooter who stands out as the South's leading All-America hope. His clutch scoring with a deadly-accurate jump shot and hook together with sensational rebounding helped immeasurably in the Wildcats' drive last winter to an unprecedented fourth national collegiate championship and record 19th Southeastern Conference title.

All-America guard Vernon Hatton, leading scorer on the '58 club with a 17.1 average, departed along with fellow starters John Crigler, Adrian Smith and Ed Beck plus six key reserves who saw considerable game action.

Mills May Move Into Starting Role

Joining Cox as returnees are a trio of reserves from whose ranks Coach Rupp may pluck one starter to fill part of the graduation riddled front. They are 6-6 Don Mills, a lad who came into his own at tournament time and is rated the best chance to break into the starting lineup; 6-5 Phil Johnson, and six-foot Lowell Hughes, star quarterback from the UK football squad. Between them they accounted for 168 points last season.

While the ranks of the bluegrass thoroughbreds are pretty well depleted and the outlook is far from sunny in the old Kentucky home, there is a not-so-surprising confidence among followers in the masterful Rupp's ability to re-build shattered foundations into another banner season. While there is every reason to be pessimistic, the almost exact opposite is true with hopes rallied around the slogan, "what was done once can be done again." Fervent rooters and even impartial sportswriters recall that Rupp, admittedly the nation's winningest cage mentor, followed up the loss of the "Fabulous Five" Olympic titlists and two-time national champions with a sophomore-studded outfit in 1949-50 that posted a remarkable 25-5 record. For unexpected achievement in the face of tremendous odds, the Baron of Basketball was cited as "Coach of the Year."

Facing his 29th season with an amazingly similar situation, Coach Rupp reverts to unusual (for him) hedging when talking about prospects. "I was lucky once before in replacing a national championship crew with a bunch of sophomores, but times have changed," he points out. "Next year we will have even less experience than the other time, the schedule is tougher—particularly in our own conference, and we will be on the spot more than ever before."

Experts Put More Faith In Rupp Than Material

It's probably more faith in the ability of "The Man in the Brown Suit," who has never experienced a losing campaign, than in the potential of the sophomore material he has to work with that prompts the unfounded expectation of another winner. But some claim that Rupp has corraled plenty of potentially dangerous talent, inexperienced as it may be.

Most of the new blood comes up from a yearling team that posted a 16-1 mark last season in competition with other frosh units and junior college teams. One of the best bets for starting duty and eventual stardom is 6-3 guard Bill Lickert, a schoolboy All-America from the University city of Lexington who had a 20.1 average as a freshman campaigner. Rupp classes him "a natural for our style of offense." And there's height, too, in the form of 6-8¼ Ned Jennings (tallest Wildcat since seven foot Bill Spivey), 6-4 Carroll Burchett (not eligible until second semester), 6-4 Howard Dardeen and 6-4 Bobby Slusher.

The junior college material brought in to help plug the all-important gaps at both guard posts includes 6-1 Sid Cohen from Kilgore's national junior college championship outfit and six-foot Bennie Coffman, a product of Kentucky's Lindsey-Wilson. Cohen was chosen most valuable player of the 1958 junior college tourney and on the first team JC All-America while Coffman's claim to fame stems principally from his ranking as the ninth best scorer in junior college ranks on a healthy, 25.6 average through 22 games.

'PRIDE OF DIXIE'—This group of Kentucky Wildcats, underdogs in their own Southeastern Conference by pre-season rating, swept to an unprecedented fourth NCAA Tournament national championship last season. The history-making unit included (front row) Coach Adolph Rupp, Adrian Smith, John Crigler, Ed Beck, Don Mills, Johnny Cox, Vernon Hatton, Asst. Coach Harry Lancaster and (back row) Student Manager Jay Atkerson, Earl Adkins, Bill Smith, Phil Johnson, Bill Casady, Lincoln Collinsworth and Harold Ross.

PRIDE IN A WINNING TRADITION

The Story of Kentucky Basketball in 1957-58

When Adolph Rupp's "Pride of Dixie" Wildcats carried off the NCAA championship trophy for an unprecedented fourth time last March at Louisville, an appropriate ending was written to one of the most amazing cinderella stories in modern cage annals.

This Kentucky team, dubbed "talentless wonders" by the press and referred to facetiously by their coach as "barnyard fiddlers," was pegged in pre-season polls as an underdog in their own Southeastern Conference race and not even mentioned in the same breath with teams figured to be in the running for the national title.

The Wildcat crew that started off the season wasn't much of a team by the usual standards. They didn't have the one big man who was an established scoring star. There was no obvious abundance of talent or superiority that comes with overall height. In fact, the Kentuckians had nothing in particular to recommend them—or so the experts figured.

About the only things that disturbed the sleep of the odds-makers and experts on where the power lies were the presence of basketball miracle-man Adolph Rupp in the coaching saddle and Kentucky's oft-proven pride in its tradition of winning basketball games.

In the end, as the Wildcats not only survived the toughest competition ever in their own league and went on to cop a record fourth national title, that nightmare turned up very realistic. More than anything else, coaching genius and the boys' pride in their heritage made up the shortcomings they seemed to have on paper—none were good enough to make a first team All-Conference five in advance of the tournament.

More technically, it could be said that the Wildcats accomplished their 19th Southeastern Conference championship and NCAA win on team effort, desire and defense. Long renowned and respected as offensive terrors of the hardwood, the Ruppmen in 1957-58 were long on experience but short on speed and did not have the outstanding pivotman to build their fast break offense around.

Instead, they relied on a scintillating pattern of blocks and inside screens to open up Vernon Hatton (leading scorer with a 17.1 average), Johnny Cox, John Crigler and Adrian Smith for outside shots and improved their defense to a point of perfection rarely seen in a Kentucky team. In the latter department, 6-7 center Ed Beck made up for his meager 5.6 offensive output and was voted by SEC players as the league's top defensive man.

The final accounting of the bluegrass quintet's 54th year of basketball reads 23 wins and six losses—a mark that barely escapes being the worst for a Kentucky team in 15 years. They picked up the questionable reputation of being the "losingest" national champion in NCAA history—but they won the nation-wide eliminations for a fourth time, which is twice as many times as any other team has taken the title since the tournament came into being in 1939.

ON THE TRAIL OF TITLES—NCAA CHAMPIONS

1941 Wisconsin	1948 Kentucky	1955 San Francisco
1942 Stanford	1949 Kentucky	1956 San Francisco
1943 Wyoming	1950 CCNY	1957 North Carolina
1944 Utah	1951 Kentucky	1958 Kentucky
1945 Oklahoma A&M	1952 Kansas

Before the season opened, the rarely-pessimistic Rupp freely predicted that his 1958 club "could" be an improvement over the 1957 unit that waltzed to the conference title and third place in the national rankings on a 23-5 record. But the nation's winningest cage mentor added the sobering thought (later proven a remarkable insight) that the difficulty of the schedule might prevent the posting of a better won-lost record.

How good a prophet he was is illustrated by the Wildcats' showing in 1957-58. Long on experience but short on speed, the Ruppmen in the first 20 days of December tackled eight national powers and showed themselves worthy of high national ranking as they won over Duke, Ohio State, Temple, St. Louis and Minnesota. Setbacks, two of which were classed as upsets, were at the hands of Maryland, Southern Methodist and West Virginia.

Responsibility for the Wildcats' fine showing was credited by Rupp to defense: "About mid-December, we decided the competition was so tough we weren't going to get very far so we told the team we would concentrate on keeping the other fellow from scoring. We worked a lot defensively and it saved on many occasions."

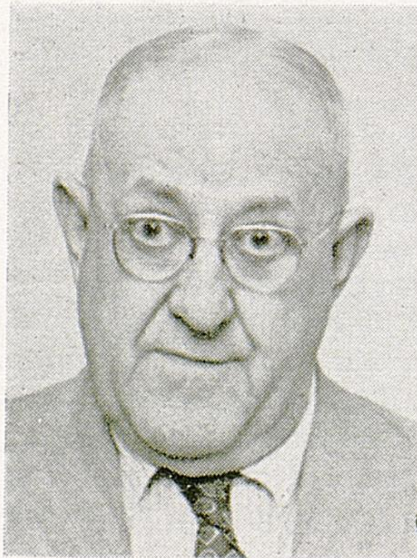

Moving into the conference portion of their rugged schedule, Kentucky seemed to be heading toward another clean sweep despite an obvious overall improvement in the calibre of competition until they ran into old nemesis Georgia Tech in late January. The Engineers pulled off an upset in their new gym at Atlanta by catching the 'Cats "cold" and the feat seemed to encourage remaining foes. With the word out that "Kentucky can be had," the competition became increasingly tough and the Ruppmen could not sew up the title until the final game of the season.

Finishing with a 12-2 conference mark, UK was a tired ball club and Rupp decreed a reduced work schedule and rest days instead of a post-season tuneup game. The strategy worked and the UKats were ready physically and mentally for the drive to the national title that opened with regional play at Lexington.

Miami of Ohio didn't rank with the national leaders, but showed their right to be in the tournament despite a 94-70 setback at the hands of Kentucky in the opening NCAA game. In the regional finals, the Wildcats played really great ball (Rupp called it "as near perfect as I've seen") to trounce a fine Notre Dame team, 89-56.

Class really came to the forefront as the Kentuckians moved into spacious Freedom Hall at Louisville for the national semis and finals. First on the agenda was a re-match with Guy Rodgers and Company of Temple—a highly-rated aggregation eager to avenge a triple-overtime loss to Kentucky at Lexington earlier in the season. It took class and a neat bit of strategy (Rupp credited Assistant Harry Lancaster with calling the play) to enable a repeat win, 61-60, in the closing seconds. After that thriller, the national championship contest with Seattle was almost an anti-climax. But more coaching strategy succeeded in getting the Chieftans' All-America Elgin Baylor into trouble on fouls and the Wildcats won going away, 84-72, as sharpshooter Johnny Cox and his mates demonstrated to a record 18,803 fans how class tells in the clutch.

GEORGE HUKLE — An invaluable member of the University of Kentucky basketball "team" for longer than most folks can remember is the gentleman pictured at left, George Hukle. The Lexington postal worker serves as official statistician for the Wildcats and ranks as the dean of the Southeastern Conference and possibly the nation in this capacity since he has been keeping the figures for Coach Rupp since 1933. George is credited with popularizing the statistic of field goal attempts in collegiate basketball.

Sixth Annual
U.K. INVITATIONAL TOURNAMENT
Memorial Coliseum — Dec. 19-20, 1958

First Night: West Virginia vs. Oklahoma State—7:30 p.m. CDT
Kentucky vs. Ohio State—Approximately 9:30 p.m. CDT
Second Night: Consolation Game (first night losers)—7:30 p.m. CDT
Championship Game—Approximately 9:30 p.m. CDT

In the short span of five years, University of Kentucky—a school already internationally respected in basketball circles — has captured the imagination of the cage world beyond the wide limits of its own fabulous success with a high-calibre holiday festival known as the U.K. Invitational Tournament.

Tournaments, especially the Christmas holidays variety, are neither new nor unique, but the UKIT admittedly stands in a class by itself in the most important and commendable respects.

The U.K. Invitational was inaugurated in 1953 with the thought of furthering a trend toward returning big-time basketball to college-controlled arenas and it has done that in convincing fashion. Under the management of Kentucky Athletic Director Bernie Shively, outstanding teams have been selected from various sections of the country to join with the host Wildcats in a field of truly national scope. The constantly-increasing high calibre of the participating teams and the resulting fine brand of competition has led to great public patronage and important national prestige has been attached to the tournament.

Typical of the type of fields competing in the UKIT was last year's lineup of North Carolina's defending NCAA champions, West Virginia's "Cinderella Kids," Big Ten powerhouse Minnesota and the eventual national champion Wildcats. Near perfection was added by the fact that all four clubs entered tournament play ranked among the top ten powers in the wire service polls and all but Kentucky was undefeated. West Virginia supplied additional color to the prestige-packed festival by snapping North Carolina's 37-game winning streak to take the title and vault into first place in the polls, a position they never relinquished.

Previous participants in the tournament have been LaSalle, Utah, Dayton (two appearances each), Minnesota, Illinois, UCLA, Southern California, Duke, and Southern Methodist.

Last year's UKIT clicked the turnstiles in outstanding fashion as an attendance of 20,956 made possible a national record-sized payoff of $11,751.38 to each of the four participating teams. According to tournament policy, competing teams share equally in the net proceeds and the fact that these shares generally amount to around $10,000 has stamped the UKIT as the nation's most lucrative tourney—a factor that makes selection of desirable teams easier.

Pairings for the 1958 renewal of the UKIT promise no letdown in the national prestige that has become attached to the cage festival. West Virginia is scheduled to defend its 1957 tourney crown first against the Cowboys of Oklahoma State while the host Kentuckians, winners of the championship three out of five times, take on Big 10 powerhouse Ohio State.

With the Mountaineers and Wildcats slotted in opposite brackets, a potential second night meeting would offer an unprecedented showdown battle between the regular season national champion of the polls (West Virginia) and the national champion by NCAA Tournament eliminations (Kentucky).

While there's no disputing that such a match—believed unique in advance of season-end tournament play—is what the public will be hoping for, both clubs should have their hands full in trying to advance to the championship game.

The Mountaineers are well fortified with 6-3 All-America Jerry West plus a good nucleus of returnees and a couple of hot red-shirt boys. They are being ranked near the top of the heap nationally again, but so are Hank Iba's Oklahomans. The Cowboys counter by returning their top scorer of last season—6-8 Arlen Clark—and pooling their strength for another fine defensive showing like the one that made them the second toughest outfit in the nation to score on last year.

Ohio State is fast arriving as a cage power in the Big 10 and new head Coach Fred Taylor is expected to present opponents with plenty of headaches. The Buckeyes should be well-balanced in both height and scoring potential and are being counted as a definite "darkhorse" threat until proven otherwise. Kentucky, on the other hand, will be defending its record fourth NCAA title with a lineup minus four starters and six key reserves. Adolph Rupp, the basketball magician of the bluegrass, will be counting for help on 6-4 All-America hope Johnny Cox, a couple of junior college transfers and a bevy of sophs who are tall and potentially talented but inexperienced.

The Wildcats should be the underdog of the UKIT, but don't count on it. They've been beaten on their home floor only six times in 107 starts since a 1943 loss to Ohio State in old Alumni Gym.

NBC-TV PRESENTS CAGE 'GAME OF WEEK'

(Kentucky's "Pride of Dixie" Wildcats will continue to make history this season as they play host to the cameras of NBC Television and a nation-wide video audience on the opening Saturday of a newly-inaugurated college basketball TV Game of the Week series. Besides the honor of appearing first and on their home court, the defending national champions will make two more appearances during the 14 date series. No other team is scheduled for more than two TV performances. Hours listed for the games are Lexington time and the series will be seen locally on Channel 18.)

JOHNNY COX

Senior — Forward — Hazard, Ky.

Not since the famed Wallace (Wah Wah) Jones came down from the hills of the Bluegrass country to lead the Kentucky Wildcats to one of their greatest eras in basketball climaxed by winning the world's championship in the 1948 Olympics has a Kentucky mountain lad gained so much acclaim as Johnny Cox, University of Kentucky's newest All-America hope.

The six-foot-four-inch cage demon from the Eastern Kentucky mountain community of Hazard, newest thoroughbred in Baron Adolph Rupp's Lexington cage stable, came to college hailed as one of the greatest Kentucky high school products in recent times. And, in the short space of three seasons as a collegian, Cox has lived up to every inch of his reputation and fans all over the country with his deadly accurate outside shooting and tremendous rebounding tactics.

Cox capped off a brilliant junior campaign last season by coming through in the clutch to guide Kentucky's "talentless wonders" to a record fourth NCAA National Championship and gain great personal acclaim. For his major role in the surprising Wildcat success, sportswriters and radiomen accorded him runner-up honor as "Most Valuable Player" of the NCAA finals. Balloting was the closest in tournament history and Cox missed by only three votes a tie with Seattle's All-America scoring star Elgin Baylor.

The Kentucky ace, despite a painful finger re-injury just prior to the tournament, pumped in 46 vital points and snared 29 equally important rebounds in a brilliant display of solid basketball ability. Against Seattle in the championship contest, a "Cox's Army" performance netted him 24 points—16 of them coming in the last 15 minutes as he destroyed the Chieftains' zone defense with his aerial bombing from ranges up to 25 feet.

For a lad who was so unspectacular in regular season that he made only one All-Conference first team of 10 men and was not accorded even honorable mention on All-America lists prior to tournament time, it was a truly sensational achievement. But to Johnny, it was merely a matter of doing what comes naturally. A seemingly lazy off-court and pre-game warmup attitude belies the fact that he is an all-around demon when the action is the hottest during a game.

In two varsity seasons, Cox shows a record of 976 points and 675 rebounds while logging a total playing time of 2041 minutes and 20 seconds. The two-time All-SEC choice returns this season as the lone regular off the national champion five and will be on the spot to carry an even greater share of the scoring-rebounding burden. A brilliant sophomore in 1957, Cox was the team's leading scorer and became one of the top 15 sophs in the land as he was named to the third team All-America. His 544 points in 28 games for a 19.4 average that season gave him the highest scoring average of any second-year man in Wildcat history.

Operating out of a forward position in the blistering Kentucky-style fast break, Johnny forgets completely his stoop-shouldered, loping mannerisms and keeps pace with the fastest teammate and opponent on both offense and defense. Further contradicting his seemingly frail physique, the Kentucky rifleman generally sees more action than any other teammate.

Cox's favorite weapon is a jumping-one-handed push shot that he tries most often from medium ranges. Closer in to the bucket, he will display a beautiful hook shot with either hand that generally never touches the rim and leaves the crowd mumbling with admiration.

As a high school pivotman, he used both the hook and jumper to great advantage in leading an unheard Hazard High team to the Kentucky State High School championship in 1955. In the final game, Cox tallied 32 vital points for his "darkhorse" team and wound up with a new tournament four-game record of 127 points. He had 1,026 points in 35 games for a 29.3 average in pre-tournament play.

Enrolling at Kentucky, Cox continued the tremendous play that earned him unanimous acclaim as an All-State schoolboy. His big night came as the U.K. frosh tangled with Campbellsville Junior College and he accounted for 44 points. The wizard from Hazard accumulated a remarkable average of 32.2 through eight games as a yearling, which was better than 38 percent of the total output of the combined team.

It's little wonder, in view of his sparkling performances of last season, that Kentucky's foes think of Johnny as "Cox's Army".

DON MILLS—Junior—Center—Berea, Ky.—Great Kentucky teams of the past have almost always been blessed with the main ingredient of a good big man and 6-6 junior Don Mills looks the part of that big man in the Wildcats' future—immediate and far range. Coach Rupp has produced no less than eight All-America centers over the past 25 years and, while he will not point to Mills at this stage as a probable member of the select group, he has a gleam in his eyes that lets you know he is expecting great things this season and next from Mills. The big boy from Berea, a small college town about 50 miles southeast of Lexington, adds welcome height and cage savvy to a squad not exceptionally well blessed with either this year. Mills, who seemed to find himself and really begin to help about tournament time last season, probably will be a "swing man" in Coach Rupp's offensive plans for 1958-59. Most of the experts figured him to possess the agility, speed and a good enough outside shot to slip into the one vacant forward spot next to Johnny Cox. That could be the case as the season gets older, but in the meantime Don undoubtedly will also see a lot of duty at the more familiar pivot position. Where he plays depends a lot on the development of 6-8 sophomore Ned Jennings at center as well as the showing Mills himself makes in both spots. As a center replacement last season, Don saw approximately 190 minutes of playing time in 20 games and netted 70 points plus 99 rebounds. One of his top efforts came in the national championship battle with Seattle as he garnered nine big points and drew the all-important fourth foul by Chieftain star Elgin Baylor. Remarkably well co-ordinated for his size, Don can move gracefully and shoots effectively from outside. Best shot is a soft hook. He also is an excellent rebounder. Played three years of basketball at Berea High, scoring 1,988 points in 91 games for a career average of 21.8 points per game. Also classed as a standout defensive player, he was All-State in both 1955 and 1956 and honorable mention on the All-America unit in his senior year. Chose Kentucky over several other schools and starred in the freshman team's undefeated campaign two seasons back. For the abbreviated season of seven games, he posted a 27.2 scoring average and picked off 96 rebounds. His collegiate high scoring effort was 32 points against CCAFB in 1956. Last year, his best was 10 vs. LSU.

PHIL JOHNSON—Senior—Forward-Center—Lexington, Ky. — A bespectacled and rugged, 6-5 hometown product of University High, Johnson has the experience and height to be a great help during the current re-building year. Returning to the Wildcat lineup last season after a year's absence due to scholastic deficiency, Phil saw action in 22 of the team's 29 games to log a total playing time of 306 minutes, 44 seconds. For his junior campaign, he showed 75 points and 126 rebounds as the result of relief roles at both forward and center. "Big Red," the son of former Wildcat All-Conference halfback Bert (Man O' War) Johnson, is a real scrapper and could make a bigger place for himself this season with less experienced men ahead of him. Johnson has a good jump shot and hooks well in close to the basket. Also has fairly good speed for size. Plays more forward than in the pivot, but this could change as almost equal need exists at both positions. The first year of his conversion from a schoolboy pivotman saw Phil score 111 points in frosh play for Kentucky and, as a sophomore, he had 52 points during limited action in 17 games of the 1955-56 season. He was an honorable mention All-State choice for three straight years while at University High and posted a 25.1 average in his senior high school campaign. Johnson's career high at Kentucky is a 22-point effort against the Xavier Freshmen in 1955. His varsity high is 11 vs. Utah State last season.

AL ROBINSON—Sophomore—Guard—Lexington, Ky.—Darkhorse of the sophomore-studded Kentucky cage stable, Robinson probably is hardly remembered even by local fans but he's regarded high enough by Coaches Rupp and Lancaster to hold down a spot on the defending national championship team. Al played briefly at Lexington Lafayette then spent some time in service and played standout ball for independent teams. He saw brief action first semester last year, but became ineligible when he attained sophomore status. Should see some action this year in a reserve role.

SID COHEN—Junior—Guard—Brooklyn, N. Y.—The one biggest job facing Coach Rupp in rebuilding the graduation-riddled national championship team is development of good guard replacements. Sid

Cohen, a 6-2 sharpshooter from Brooklyn by way of Texas, is being counted on to fit into one of the vacated guard posts and help ease the lack of experienced hands. A product of Eastern District High School in the Brooklyn borough of New York City, Cohen enrolled at Kilgore (Texas) Junior College—home of the famous "Rangerettes" and good basketball—to continue his cage career in spectacular fashion after a hitch in the service. It was during Cohen's Army duty tour in Germany that he first came in contact with Coach Rupp. The Kentucky mentor happened to conduct a clinic at the base and became impressed with Cohen's ability during a demonstration by volunteers from the audience. That was three years ago. Cohen retained an interest in Rupp and Kentucky, but decided on Kilgore first and attained star ranking there that was topped last March by his selection as outstanding player of the National Junior College Tournament. Kilgore won the tournament title and Cohen decided to transfer operations to Kentucky. An ankle injury in early pre-season drills has handicapped him somewhat, but Sid is being counted on to fill one of the guard berths. He is an outstanding long shot and gets the ball in from shorter ranges with ease. Also a good playmaker and has better than average speed plus agility that helps him defensively. Depending on how you count, Cohen is either the fourth or fifth junior college transfer to perform in a Kentucky uniform. Also on this year's squad is JC transfer Bennie Coffman. Previous imports have been Roger Layne (1950-51), Bob Burrow (1955-56) and Adrian Smith (1956-57).

BENNIE COFFMAN—Junior—Guard—Huntington, W. Va.—One of two junior college imports who will perform with the Wildcats this year, Coffman spent his first two years at Lindsey Wilson in Columbia, Ky. While he was accorded only honorable mention when the Junior College All-America selections for last season were announced, Coffman stood out as one of the nation's best in JC ranks. He led the Kentucky Junior College Conference in scoring and ranked ninth in the nation in final tabulations with a 25.6 average on 564 points in 22 games. First KJCC player to receive a cage grant from Kentucky since World War II, Coffman posted a two-year total of 1,119 points in 54 games for a 20.7 average while at Lindsey Wilson. He joins a select group at Kentucky since only three junior college transfers ever donned Wildcat uniforms prior to this season. A former star at Vinson High School in Huntington, W. Va., Bennie was born in Lexington and his father graduated from UK. He played both forward and guard in high school and was named on the second team All-State unit as a schoolboy senior. Coffman also played baseball at Huntington Vinson for three years, operating in the infield and hitting at a .387 clip in his final season. He was sixth in his graduating class, academically, and is studying law at the University in preparation for a career in that field. Also interested in AAU ball after graduation if not ready for law profession. Coach Rupp is pinning a lot of hopes on Coffman as a possible replacement at guard where six men were lost by graduation. Bennie, at six foot and 173, is "small" and fast in the best tradition of Kentucky guards. He hits from outside well.

BILL LICKERT—Sophomore—Guard—Lexington, Ky.—A 6-3 "Jack of All Trades," with enough versatility and ability to play any position on the basketball floor, Bill Lickert is being touted by national magazines as a future All-America choice. The hometown product of Lexington Lafayette High appears likely to draw down a starting guard berth on Baron Rupp's soph-studded team this year, succeeding graduated All-America Vernon Hatton—also of Lafayette. But before any AA laurels are passed out to Lickert, he'll have to prove his great reputation is based on more than a stack of impressive press clippings from high school days. Few who have seen him play will argue his skill with a basketball. He handles himself in the best tradition of outstanding Kentucky guards of the past—being a good outside shot, fine defensive man, not too tall but possessing good speed and maneuverability. Lickert is versatile too as proven during his freshman campaign last season. He moved up to play a forward position when one of the front line had to take over for big center Ned Jennings when appendicitus struck. For the season, Lickert posted 342 points and averaged 20.1 to pace the UK freshman to a record of 16 victories against a lone setback. His high was a 28-point outburst against Lees Junior College. A fabulous high school career at Lafayette saw Lickert average 22.2 points per game and score a total of 1,745 points during three years as a General. Sparked Lafayette to a fourth state championship and averaged 24.4 ppg in his final high school season (1957). He was named captain of the All-State team the same year as he made the star unit for the second time. In 1956, Lickert was picked as an All-State center. Also honored as "Mr. Basketball" of 1957 by Louisville Lions Club. Scholastic Magazine picked him on their All-America team the same year. An outstanding pitcher-catcher in high school. Bill is married to the former Sue Ellen Pearce.

DICK PARSONS—Sophomore—Guard—Yancey, Ky.—A diminutive playmaker who can dash in for the crip or hit from outside when the defense is tightened up, Parsons is the smallest of the Wildcats at 5-10 and 155. True to the tradition of small and elusive Kentucky guards of the past, he could surprise a lot of the experts and his competition by picking up a coveted starting assignment at one of the two vacated guard posts. He was a regular starter at guard with Harry Lancaster's impressive yearling squad last season, but few of the "guessers" tend to give him much of a chance to beat out bigger men for a varsity starting berth. Hustle, determination and defense could make up what he lacks in size. He has a knack of showing his ability when least expected or in clutch situations. Parsons, who attended the same high school (Harlan) that produced famous UK All-America Wah Wah Jones, was the fourth leading scorer on the freshman team last season with 191 points in the Kittens' 17 games. But when he fired, the ball generally went in as evidenced by a phenomenal .526 field goal shooting percentage and an equally remarkable .875 free throw accuracy mark. If Parsons gains a starting job, he will be the smallest Wildcat regular in more than 10 years. Bobby Watson, at 5-10½, and Gerry Calvert, who was 5-11, were outstanding Kentucky "little men" of the past decade. Dick was a four sport star at Harlan—serving as quarterback of the footballers, running the 880 in track, hitting .450 as a short stop on the baseball team and starring at guard for the cage squad. He was a second team All-State pick in his senior year and scored 1,277 points for a three-year career. Also third in his graduating class scholastically.

BOBBY SLUSHER—Sophomore—Forward—Four Mile, Ky.—Baron Adolph Rupp, widely known for humorous parodies of biblical quotations, said once: "I lift up mine eyes unto the hills from whence my help cometh." The comment is more truth than fiction and Bobby Slusher may well be the latest to prove that many Kentucky cage stars come from the mountain regions of Eastern Kentucky. Bobby hails from a little community known as Four Mile and went to Lone Jack High School. More important than the hometown location, however, is the quality of talent possessed by Slusher. Coach Rupp feels Bobby could develop into a great cage player and he might cross up the experts by giving the mountain lad an immediate starting berth. Even if starting duty is postponed a while, however, it seems certain that Slusher will contribute greatly to the Kentucky cause this season. He boasts a tremendous high school reputation as a scorer, once hitting for 83 points in a single game. At Lone Jack, he played center four years and earned first team All-State and third team All-America honors. Also pitched, played first base and outfield in baseball. As a Kentucky freshman, the 6-4 forward scored 277 points in 17 games for a 16.3 average and led the team in rebounding with 186. He showed his versatility by moving into the pivot in place of Ned Jennings when the latter was lost by an appendectomy for several weeks. Singing, fishing and swimming are his principal hobbies and he plans to play professional basketball or coach after graduation.

CARROLL BURCHETT—Sophomore—Forward-Center—Fuget, Ky.—

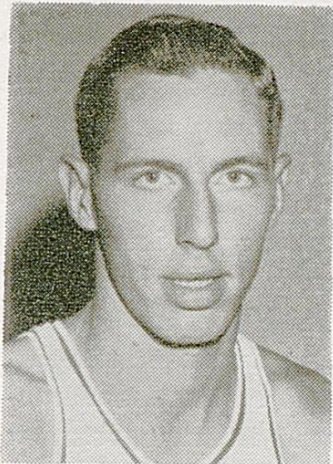

A 6-4 mountain lad who might be referred to as the "darkhorse" in Coach Adolph Rupp's 1958-59 cage stable except for his red hair and a flair for looking good when least expected. Burchett entered the University in February, 1958, and will be ineligible until the start of second semester in February, 1959, under the one-year residence requirement. When he becomes eligible, however, there's a feeling he will make somebody hustle to keep their job. The Flat Gap High standout from the Eastern Kentucky mountain community of Fuget demonstrated his potential with a noteworthy first game as a Kitten last season. During an abbreviated appearance against the Transylvania "B" squad, he hit for eight quick points and plucked off a half dozen rebounds. In remaining games, Carroll went on to score in double figures almost every time out and make important rebounding and defense contributions to the Kitten cause. His high scoring mark was 22 posted in the Evansville game that was the UK frosh unit's only loss of the season. Later, he collected 21 rebounds against Kentucky Christian Junior College that stood at season's end as the best for any Kitten. Final totals saw Burchett credited with 126 points and 117 rebounds for forward-center reserve action in the team's last 12 games of the season. Athletic honors notched by Burchett as a schoolboy included All-State second team selection in basketball, regional winner and tenth place state meet finisher in two-mile cross country run. Coach Rupp attributes some of Burchett's cage success to "the longest arms I've ever seen on a fellow who stands only sixfour."

NED JENNINGS—Sophomore—Center—Carlisle, Ky.—At a towering six feet and eight inches the tallest Wildcat since seven foot Bill Spivey, Ned Jennings is the latest candidate bidding to join an outstanding group of All-America centers produced over the last quarter century by Baron Adolph Rupp. Well-coordinated for his size and no "bean pole" in physique with 205 pounds on his frame, Ned has a good hook shot and jumper from medium distances plus better than average speed and defensive ability. Jennings is now fully recovered from an appendectomy he underwent in the middle of his freshman campaign last year. The big center missed eight games, but managed to come back in time for the final four and showed his strength on the first night of his return by bucketing 23 points and collecting 16 rebounds. For action in nine of the Kittens' 17 games against top flight freshman and junior college competition, Jennings showed a 17.1 scoring average on 157 points and had 130 rebounds to his credit. He was extremely accurate in shooting field goals, hitting at a .496 clip (131 FGA, 65 FG) to lead the team. Coach Rupp is counting on him to give the Wildcats scoring punch at the vital pivot position. Graduated center Ed Beck had a meager 5.6 scoring average last year. Jennings starred at Nicholas County High School in Carlisle, Ky., for five seasons, one of which was a junior high year, and was selected on the Louisville Courier-Journal All-State first unit in his senior campaign. His high point effort as a UK freshman last year was 17 points scored in the contest with Vanderbilt's yearling squad.

HOWARD DARDEEN—Sophomore—Forward—Terre Haute, Ind.—
One of the most promising youngsters in Baron Adolph Rupp's 1958-59 cage stable, Dardeen is being groomed for extensive duty this year.

May not break into the starting lineup at the start, but is expected to come on fast as he gets game experience under his belt. He has good size, at 6-4 and 190, and speed plus an excellent variety of shots that made him the second best scorer and number three rebounder on Harry Lancaster's highly-successful UK freman team a year ago. Scored 288 points for a 16.9 average and grabbed 159 rebounds in the Kittens' 17 games. During early season play, he led the team in point production. Dardeen gained state and national recognition as an all-around sports star at Terre Haute Gerstmeyer High. In basketball, he was twice All-State in Indiana and named on the schoolboy All-America teams picked by Dell and Scholastic magazines. Led his team in scoring during junior and senior years, recording 618 for his final high school campaign. Played both forward and center. Howard also was a center on the football team one year, earning honorable mention All-Valley selection, and was All-Conference twice during four years as a catcher-first baseman for the school baseball team. He served as president of Gerstmeyer's senior class and won the American Legion Citizenship Award. Enrolled in the Commerce College of UK and plans a career in insurance or coaching. One of his favorite pastimes is water skiing.

LOWELL HUGHES—Junior—Guard—Prestonsburg, Ky.—One of the finest all-around athletes in Kentucky schoolboy history since Wah Wah Jones, Lowell is the lone "switch hitter" on the Wildcat cage team. As soon as the grid season is completed, he switches his ability to the basketball court and lends important help as a guard reserve. In the spring, after football practice, he moves over to the baseball diamond for second baseman duty. In order to follow in his brother Delmar's footsteps on the Kentucky gridiron, Lowell turned down a reported fat baseball contract offered by the Giants in his senior year at Prestonsburg High in the Eastern Kentucky mountains. It's difficult to point to the one sport that Lowell is best at since he excels in all. During the past season, he operated as Kentucky's number one quarterback and was one of the passing leaders of the Southeastern Conference. Because of the necessity for reporting after football season, Hughes is late in developing his basketball potential. But he does very well as evidenced by the fact that he was the most proficient of the Wildcat cagers last season in a system based on points scored and time played. Appearing in seven games for a total of 37:03 and scoring 23 points, Hughes averaged a point every minute and a half. Although best known as a schoolboy All-America quarterback, who was the nation's tenth best passer in his senior campaign, Lowell also made the All-State basketball team while at Prestonsburg with a 40.2 scoring average—second only to the record set by Kelly Coleman in 1956—and was considered an excellent professional baseball prospect. Hughes was accorded All-SEC Sophomore team honors by sportswriters for his stellar second year grid play in 1957. He is majoring in personnel management. Basketball high point production was 29 as a freshman against Lee's Junior College. His varsity high last year was six points in the Utah State game.

THUMBNAILING 1958-59 OPPONENTS

First Game—FLORIDA STATE at Lexington—Dec. 1

Officials—Max Macon and Ben Edlen

Site—Memorial Coliseum (11,500)

Tipoff—8:00 p.m. CDT

Nickname—Seminoles

Colors—Garnet and Gold

Location—Tallahassee, Fla.

Conference—Independent

Publicist—Pat Hogan

Ath. Dir.—Tom Nugent

1957-58 Record—Won 9, Lost 16

Against UK—No meeting

Series Record—No previous games

COACH—J. K. Kennedy (9 Years—Won 118, Lost 193)

OUTLOOK: Expect better balance despite loss of leading scorer Burt Deckel and four other lettermen . . . Pair of 6-5 sophs and two top junior college imports should erase bench weakness, add to rebounding and scoring strength with help of five holdover lettermen. Louisvillian Hugh Durham probable guard starter.

Second Game—TEMPLE at Philadelphia—Dec. 6

Officials—John Nucatola and Max Macon

Site—Palestra (9,200)

Tipoff—9:30 p.m. EST

Nickname—Owls

Colors—Cherry and White

Location—Philadelphia, Pa.

Conference—Middle-Atlantic

Publicist—Al Shrier

Ath. Dir.—Josh Cody

1957-58 Record—Won 27, Lost 3

Against UK—Lost 85-83

Lost 61-60 (NCAA Semis)

Series Record—Won 3, Lost 10 since 1944

COACH—Harry Littwack (6 Years—Won 118, Lost 48)

OUTLOOK: Fabulous Guy Rodgers is gone, but running mate Bill (Pickles) Kennedy, 5-11 guard, returns as nucleus of re-built club . . . Littwack also will be depending on '58 reserves like 6-4 Ophie Franklin and 6-7 Pete Goss plus group of talented youngsters to round out new top six . . . Should be year away, but hungry for revenge against Wildcats who inflicted two of only three 1957-58 setbacks.

Third Game—DUKE at Durham—Dec. 8

Officials—Z. J. Mihalik and Max Macon

Site—Indoor Stadium (8,800)	Tipoff—8:15 p.m. EST
Nickname—Blue Devils	Colors—Navy Blue & White
Location—Durham, N. C.	Conference—Atlantic Coast
Publicist—Ted Mann	Ath. Dir.—E. M. Cameron
1957-58 Record—Won 18, Lost 7	Against UK—Lost 78,-74

Series Record—Won 2, Lost 5 since 1930

COACH—Harold Bradley (8 Years—Won 154, Lost 66)

OUTLOOK: Duke's best freshman team in years (13-4) sends up a tall and talented group to join with Co-Captains Marty Joyce and Jerry Robertson in cushioning shock stemming from departure of entire starting unit . . . Highly likely that four sophs will start although five lettermen are still around . . . Duke may be hard pressed to repeat as regular season conference champ, semi-finalist in ACC tourney.

Fourth Game—S. M. U. at Lexington—Dec. 11

Officials—George Conley and Julius Sneed

Site—Memorial Coliseum (11,500)	Tipoff—8:00 p.m. CDT
Nickname—Mustangs	Colors—Red and Blue
Location—Dallas, Texas	Conference—Southwest
Publicist—Lester Jordan	Ath. Dir.—Matty Bell

1957-58 Record—Won 15, Lost 10 (Tied 1st place SWC)
Against UK—Won 65-64

Series Record—Won 1, Lost 1 since 1956

COACH—Doc Hayes (11 Years—Won 158, Lost 109)

OUTLOOK: Reportedly the lack of a real tall man and lack of depth may hurt the perennial powerhouse of the Southwest this season, but three starters and the number one sub of a year ago should make SMU a serious threat again . . . Gone from the unit that turned back the Wildcats by one point last season are starters Nick Herrscher and Ned Duncan . . . Juniors Bobby James, Max Williams, Wilbur Marsh—all regulars—and number six man Kim Nash return . . . Among an outstanding soph crop is 6-7 Steve Strange, but that ain't "real tall" in Texas.

Fifth Game—ST. LOUIS at Lexington—Dec. 15

(NBC-TV Game of the Week)

Officials—Julius Sneed and Johnny Morrow

Site—Memorial Coliseum (11,500) Tipoff—3:00 p.m. CDT
Nickname—Billikins Colors—Royal Blue and White
Location—St. Louis, Mo. Conference—Missouri Valley
Publicist—Ted Hornbach, Jr. Ath. Dir.—Rev. T. C. Donohue
1957-58 Record—Won 16, Lost 10 Against UK—Lost 73-60
Series Record—Won 4, Lost 4 since 1948
COACH—John Benington (First year at St. Louis)

OUTLOOK: Jaunty Eddie Hickey has forsaken the Billiken cause for Marquette, but left behind a tall and talented squad that should give Cincinnati a battle for league honors and prove one of the top foes on the UK card . . . Key man is 6-8 Bob Ferry and starting lineup could include another 6-8 performer plus one 6-7, one 6-5 and a 6-3 "midget" . . . Available on a well stacked bench is a 6-10 soph, Bob Nordman . . . Colorful, hard-fought rivalry, best remembered for closeness of decisions during Sugar Bowl Tournament meetings, stands at four wins apiece . . . This "rubber" game will be televised nationally by NBC-TV to inaugurate a collegiate basketball "Game of the Week" series.

Sixth Game—MARYLAND at Lexington—Dec. 15

Officials—Tobey Pace and Harold Bello

Site—Memorial Coliseum (11,500) Tipoff—8:00 p.m. CDT
Nickname—Terrapins Colors—Red and White
Location—College Park, Md. Conference—Atlantic Coast
Publicist—Joe Blair Ath. Dir.—William Cobey
1957-58 Record—Won 22, Lost 7 Against UK—Won 71-62
Series Record—Won 3, Lost 3 since 1928
COACH—H. A. (Bud) Millikan (8 Years—Won 136, Lost 69)

OUTLOOK: With '58 soph sensations Charley McNeil (6-6) and Al Bunge (6-8) back, Maryland could have the makings of a unit as strong as last year when accomplishments included upset of Kentucky, upset of regular-season ACC leader Duke in conference tournament and eventual NCAA elimination by Temple . . . Pair of holdouts—6-7 Bob McDonald and 6-10 Bob Wilson—could help ease graduation losses.

U.K. INVITATIONAL TOURNAMENT—Dec. 19-20

Officials—Z. J. Mihalik, Jim Enright, John McPherson, Tommy Bell

Site—Memorial Coliseum (11,500)

Tipoffs—7:30 and approximately 9:30 p.m. CDT

WEST VIRGINIA

Nickname—Mountaineers

Location—Morgantown, W. Va.

Publicist—Eddie Barrett

1957-58 Record—W 26, L 2

Colors—Old Gold and Blue

Conference—Southern

Ath. Dir.—Robert Brown

Against UK—W 77-70 (UKIT)

Series Record—Won 3, Lost 5 since 1924

COACH—Fred Schaus (4 Years—Won 91, Lost 27)

OUTLOOK: The Mountaineers handed Kentucky a home floor setback and halted North Carolina's 37-game win streak to cop the UKIT title last December and vault into top national ranking, a position never relinquished as they posted a 26-2 mark for regular season championship honors . . . Upset in opening round of NCAA tourney by Manhattan, WVU has vowed to come back this year tougher than ever . . . The well-stocked stable includes All-America Jerry West, underrated Bob Smith and several promising new lights to offset loss of center Lloyd Sharrar and two regular guards.

OKLAHOMA STATE

Nickname—Cowboys

Location—Stillwater, Okla.

Publicist—Otis Wile

Colors—Orange and Black

Conference—Big Eight

Ath. Dir.—Henry P. Iba

Against UK—Did not compete

Series Record—Won 1, Lost 2 since 1944

COACH—Henry (Hank) Iba (24 Years—Won 507, Lost 160)

OUTLOOK: The Cowboys, better known to Kentucky fans as the Aggies who faced the Wildcats twice in national tournament play, are singing the blues over a shortage of experience pointed up by the loss to pro baseball of floor leader Jerry Adair . . . However, cagey Hank Iba can still count on 6-8 pivotman Arlen Clark, leading scorer last year with a 17.3 average, and a good pool of holdovers and sophs with adequate height . . . Competed as independent in '58 and got to quarter finals of NCAA before Kansas State stopped them . . . Start play in Big Eight this year.

OHIO STATE

Nickname—Buckeyes
Location—Columbus, Ohio
Publicist—Wilbur Snypp
1957-58 Record—Won 9, Lost 13
Series Record—Won 4, Lost 4 since 1933
COACH—Fred Taylor (First Year)

Colors—Scarlet and Gray
Conference—Big 10
Ath. Dir.—Richard Larkins
Against UK—Lost 61-54

OUTLOOK: The Buckeyes almost surprised Kentucky at Columbus last season and could easily be the darkhorse as they make their initial appearance in the UKIT this year . . . New Coach Fred Taylor may be hard pressed for reserve strength, but should be able to field a first unit of dangerous potential and superior overall height . . . Key man is 6-6 Larry Huston

KENTUCKY

Nickname—Wildcats
Location—Lexington, Ky.
Publicist—Ken Kuhn
1957-58 Record—Won 23, Lost 6
COACH—Adolph Rupp (28 Years—Won 584, Lost 103)

Colors—Blue and White
Conference—Southeastern
Ath. Dir.—Bernie Shively
NCAA Champions

OUTLOOK: Although this is obviously a re-building year for the defending national collegiate titlists with four starters and six lettermen reserves gone, Kentucky and Baron Adolph Rupp are a feared combination any year—especially in blue-chip tournament play . . . Forward Johnny Cox stands out as the big gun and one of South's leading All-America hopes . . . Beefing up a sophomore-studded lineup will be a couple of junior college transfers, but UK's hopes for a fourth UKIT title are tied to the fast development of the sophs.

Ninth Game—NAVY at Lexington—Dec. 29

Officials

Site—Memorial Coliseum (11,500)	Tipoff—8:00 p.m. CDT
Nickname—Middies	Colors—Blue and Gold
Location—Annapolis, Md.	Conference—Independent
Publicist—John Cox	Ath. Dir.—Capt. Slade Cutter
1957-58 Record—Won 10, Lost 10	Against UK—Did not meet

Series Record—Won 1, Lost 0 since 1928

COACH—Ben Carnevale (14 Years—Won 215, Lost 97)

OUTLOOK: If any convincing were needed that the Middies can be troublesome, a bit of record checking in connection with their 10-10 season reveals the crew laid a 30-point licking on Manhattan—the club that later knocked West Virginia out of the NCAA Tournament . . . Coach Carnevale freely predicts improvement on the strength of a fine bunch of holdovers . . . Will lack height, but not scoring ability.

Tenth Game—ILLINOIS at Louisville—Dec. 30

Officials—John McPherson and Don Elser

Site—Freedom Hall (18,500)	Tipoff—8:00 p.m. CST
Nickname—Fighting Illini	Colors—Orange and Blue
Location—Urbana, Ill.	Conference—Big 10
Publicist—Charles Belatti	Ath. Dir.—Doug Mills
1957-58 Record—Won 11, Lost 11	Against UK—Did not meet

Series Record—Won 2, Lost 5 since 1925

COACH—Harry Combes (11 Years—Won 189, Lost 63)

OUTLOOK: Bolstered by two tall sophomores, former Transylvania ace Vern Altmeyer (6-8) and 6-7 Jon Wessels, and six lettermen, Coach Combes feels the Illini have an excellent chance to be among the Big 10 leaders this season . . . Govoner Vaughn, 6-3½ center who was team's leading rebounder and second best scorer in 1957-58, will shift to forward in a move that should help the club immeasurably.

GEORGIA TECH

Eleventh Game—at Lexington—Jan. 3

Sixteenth Game—at Atlanta—Jan. 26

Officials—Ben Edlen and Max Macon (Both Games)

Sites—Mem. Coliseum (11,500) (Lexington) Tipoff—8:00 p.m. CDT

Alexander Memorial Coliseum (6,866) (Atlanta) 8:00 p.m. EST

Nickname—Yellow Jackets Colors—White and Old Gold

Location—Atlanta, Ga. Conference—Southeastern

Publicist—Net West Ath. Dir.—Bobby Dodd

1957-58 Record—W 15, L 11 Against UK—L 76-60, W 71-52

Series Record—Won 7, Lost 43 since 1924

COACH—John (Whack) Hyder (7 Years—Won 71, Lost 97)

OUTLOOK: Word out of Atlanta is that the Jackets should field their best cage outfit in many years . . . All-SEC guards Terry Randall and Bud Blemker should get plenty of help from Tech's best freshman team ever . . . Could be right up among leaders in fight for league title . . . Had most success against Kentucky in recent years of any team in nation, taking a double win in '55 season and one of two meetings last year . . . First win in '55 halted Wildcats' home floor streak after 12 years at 129 games.

VANDERBILT

Twelfth Game—at Nashville—Jan. 6

Twenty-second Game—at Lexington—Feb. 18

Officials—Tobey Pace and A. C. Lambert (Nashville)

A. C. Lambert and Max Macon (Lexington)

Sites—Memorial Gym (7,300) (Nashville) Tipoff—8:15 p.m. CST

Publicist—Elmore Hudgins Ath. Dir.—Art Guepe

1957-58 Record—W 14, L 11 Against UK—L 86-81, W 65-61

Series Record—Won 12, Lost 55 since 1912

COACH—Bob Polk (11 Years—Won 164, Lost 92)

OUTLOOK: Likeable and successful Bob Polk suffered a heart attack in early November and, at this writing, it is uncertain if he will be able to return to active coaching of the Commodores this season—a factor which might hurt Vandy's chances or create a psychological drive that carries them to even greater heights than expected . . . With a reputation of being tough any year and the return of their top four scorers plus some prized newcomers, they should be one of the top three teams in the league . . . Best of the returnees—six-foot All-SEC guard Jim Henry . . . Only starter lost—6-5 Jim French.

Thirteenth Game—LOUISIANA ST. at Baton Rouge—Jan. 10

(NBC-TV Game of the Week)

Officials—Julius Sneed and Charles Sauers

Site—Parker Ag Center (10,000)

Tipoff—2 p.m. CST

Nickname—Tigers

Ath. Dir.—James Corbett

1957-58 Record—Won 7, Lost 18

Against UK—Lost 97-52

Series Record—Won 0, Lost 17 since 1933

COACH—Jay McCreary (1 Year—Won 7, Lost 18)

OUTLOOK: Experts around the league are not counting on another cellar finish for the Tigers, once one of the SEC's powers, but it could be a long haul to marked improvement this season . . . Coach McCreary lost his leading scorer, Dom Merle, but picks up some help from a trio of transfers . . . Heading a list of seven returning lettermen, virtually the same team as a year ago, are 6-2 forward Jim Crisco and 6-5 Joe Combs, tallest of the Bengals . . . Kentucky will be making its second appearance of the season before the live TV cameras as NBC televises this game to a nation-wide audience.

Fourteenth Game—TULANE at New Orleans—Jan. 12

Officials—George Conley and Dave Scobey

Site—Tulane Gym (5,200)

Tipoff—8:15 p.m. CST

Nickname—Green Wave

Colors—Green and Blue

1957-58 Record—Won 8, Lost 15

Against UK—Lost 86-50

Series Record—Won 4, Lost 29 since 1921

COACH—Cliff Wells (13 Years—Won 114, Lost 74)

OUTLOOK: Only the necessity of playing other experienced and tough quintets in the conference should keep Tulane from showing marked improvement in the won-lost column this season . . . Coach Wells classes his '59 unit as "much improved" with four returning starters and some promising talent up from last year's frosh . . . Back are guard Gary Stoll and junior center Vic Klinker, who missed the last six games last season with a broken wrist.

TENNESSEE

Fifteenth Game—at Lexington—Jan. 17 (NBC-TV Game of the Week)

Twenty-fifth Game—at Knoxville—Feb. 28

1957-58 Record—W 16, L 7 Against UK—L 77-68, L 77-66

Series Record—Won 28, Lost 73 since 1910

COACH—Emmett Lowery (11 Years—Won 153, Lost 101)

OUTLOOK: Like all too many other SEC outfits, Tennessee's losses were very light—only Leon Ammerman departed from the starting lineup—and added experience plus good height and talent among newcomers adds up to greater toughness in '59 . . . Coach Lowery should have experience that was lacking last season and good balance in lineup, but lacks the obvious hot shooter . . . Big man is 6-7 All-SEC center Gene Tormohlen . . . Should rank near top in title picture . . . Game to be televised nationally by NBC and will mark Kentucky's third and final appearance of the season on the "Game of the Week" series.

Sixteenth Game—GEORGIA at Lexington—Jan. 29

Officials—Charles Sauers and Frank Cochran

Publicist—Dan Magill Ath. Dir.—Wallace Butts

1957-58 Record—Won 7, Lost 19 Against UK—Lost 75-55

Series Record—Won 6, Lost 42 since 1921

COACH—Harbin (Red) Lawson (7 Years—Won 44, Lost 130)

OUTLOOK: Graduation took eight lettermen, including a trio of regulars, and Georgia will be depending heavily on sophomores this winter . . . But this could be a boon instead of a hinderance for hard-working Red Lawson, who is trying hard to give Bulldog fans a winner . . . Returning regulars are Fred Edmonson and Sonny Poss. Topping the promising sophomore list will be guard Gordon Darrah, who posted a 19.1 average as a yearling.

Eighteenth Game—FLORIDA at Lexington—Jan. 31

Officials—Charles Sauers and Frank Cochran

Site—Memorial Coliseum (11,500)	Tipoff—8:00 p.m. CDT
Nickname—Gators	Colors—Orange and Blue
Location—Gainesville, Fla.	Conference—Southeastern
Publicist—Jimmy Gay	Ath. Dir.—Bob Woodruff
1957-58 Record—Won 12, Lost 9	Against UK—Lost 78-56

Series Record—Won 1, Lost 15 since 1927

COACH—John Mauer (7 Years—Won 84, Lost 71)

OUTLOOK: With superb marksman Joe Hobbs gone along with two other regulars who were good scorers, Florida may find the going difficult this season . . . Holdover starters are 6-3 Dick Hoban and 6-1 Charlie Pike and both could be exceptional scorers before the season is too old . . . Replacements, except for 6-7 George Jung, boast only average height . . . Still, most experts figure the Gators first division calibre.

Nineteenth Game—MISSISSIPPI at Jackson—Feb. 7

Officials—Tobey Pace and Claude Tanksley

Site—City Auditorium	Tipoff—8:00 p.m. CST
Nickname—Rebels	Colors—Red and Navy Blue
Location—Oxford, Miss.	Conference—Southeastern
Publicist—Billy Gates	Ath. Dir.—C. M. (Tad) Smith
1957-58 Record—Won 12, Lost 12	Against UK—Lost 96-65

Series Record—Won 2, Lost 25 since 1925

COACH—Bonnie Graham (9 Years—Won 98, Lost 113)

OUTLOOK: Help for Country Graham's plans to elevate the cage fortunes of Ole Miss should be forthcoming this season from a promising group of rookies . . . Improvement could make the Johnny Rebs tough to handle by any club looking at them as pushovers . . . Key man likely will be 6-7 junior Ivan Richman, but youngsters like 6-4 Jack Waters and twins Jim and Bob Benton are being counted on.

Twentieth Game—MISSISSIPPI ST. at State College—Feb. 9

Officials—John McPherson and Julius Sneed

Site—State Gym (5,000)	Tipoff—8:00 p.m. CST
Nickname—Maroons	Colors—Maroon and White
Location—State College, Miss.	Conference—Southeastern
Publicist—Bob Hartley	Ath. Dir.—C. R. Noble
1957-58 Record—Won 20, Lost 5	Against UK—Lost 72-62

Series Record—Won 2, Lost 19 since 1921

COACH—Babe McCarthy (3 Years—Won 49, Lost 25)

OUTLOOK: To say the Maroons' fortunes are high would be a play on words in one sense, but such is exactly the case in any sense. State is one of the leading heir-apparents to the SEC title Kentucky is defending and one of the best reasons is the presence of All-America center Bailey Howell, who towers 6-7 . . . Even if they did not have the undisputed advantage of catching all but one of the top five contenders at home, State would still rank as co-favorite with Auburn—who they face at Auburn Jan. 3 . . . All five starters return and good material is up from frosh team.

Twenty-first Game—NOTRE DAME at Chicago—Feb. 14

Officials— and John McPherson

Site—Chicago Stadium (18,000)	Tipoff—9:40 p.m. CST
Nickname—Fighting Irish	Colors—Blue and Gold
Location—Notre Dame, Ind.	Conference—Independent
Publicist—Charlie Callahan	Ath. Dir.—Ed (Moose) Krause
1957-58 Record—W 24, L 5	Against UK—L 89-56 (NCAA)

Series Record—Won 11, Lost 8 since 1929

COACH—John Jordan (7 Years—Won 124, Lost 56)

OUTLOOK: Losses through graduation took away two starters among five monogram winners, but the Irish display great potential in the combination of terrific Tom Hawkins and quarterbacking guard Gene Duffy—a great little man at 5-6 . . . Both will remember a sound licking (89-56) Kentucky administered during NCAA regional finals last year in one of its greatest games of the season . . . A pair of 6-7 aces are among replacements vying for vacated spots in the lineup . . . Should be one of country's top cage powers.

Twenty-second Game—AUBURN at Lexington—Feb. 21

Officials—A. C. Lambert and Dave Scobey

Site—Memorial Coliseum (11,500)	Tipoff—8:00 p.m. CDT
Nickname—Tigers	Colors—Orange and Blue
Location—Auburn, Ala.	Conference—Southeastern
Publicist—Bill Beckwith	Ath. Dir.—Jeff Beard
1957-58 Record—Won 16, Lost 6	Against UK—Won 64-63

Series Record—Won 1, Lost 13 since 1921

COACH—Joel Eaves (9 Years—Won 123, Lost 75)

OUTLOOK: Generally regarded as the strongest team in the Southeast this season, the Tigers look like the favorite to dethrone Kentucky as league champion . . . An 11-game victory string should give Auburn a psychological push that overcomes any shortage of depth . . . Almost cost Kentucky a 19th SEC title and NCAA bid with one-point win late last season that gave them runner-up honors. Title this year would be Auburn's first . . . Top performer in Coach Eaves' double-post offense is 6-5 forward Rex Frederick, All-Conference choice as a junior . . . Senior Billy Gregory (6-8) is early favorite for center post . . . Speed and outside shooting are strong points.

Twenty-fourth Game—ALABAMA at Lexington—Feb. 23

Officials—Dave Scobey and A. C. Lambert

Site—Memorial Coliseum (11,500)	Tipoff—8:00 p.m. CDT
Nickname—Crimson Tide	Colors—Crimson and White
Location—Tuscaloosa, Ala.	Conference—Southeastern
Publicist—Finus Gaston	Ath. Dir.—Paul Bryant
1957-58 Record—Won 17, Lost 9	Against UK—Lost 45-43

Series Record—Won 8, Lost 38 since 1923

COACH—Dr. Eugene Lambert (2 Years—Won 32, Lost 20)

OUTLOOK: Despite the loss of two top stars, Jack Kubiszyn and Jim Fulmer, Alabama is figured a first-division ball club who will give the leaders trouble . . . Defense should continue to be one of the team's strong points and scoring potential will be more evenly balanced to make them hard to stop . . . Coach Lambert expects greater speed for his fast break offense . . . 6-2 Dan Quindazzi could be top holdover of three returning lettermen with 6-5 Clyde Frederick the best newcomer.

ALL-TIME KENTUCKY CAGE RECORDS

(As Of Start Of 1958-59 Season)

NATIONAL

Home Floor Consecutive Wins—129
