Dr. Braden arrived in Lexington late yesterday afternoon from Los Angeles, Calif. where he had recently served as president of California Christian College. He was met by an official committee composed of Dr. Elmer G. Campbell, acting president, himself, and other members of the faculty and student body at 10 o'clock this morning at a general assembly in the chapel of Morrison Chapel.

Plans are rapidly being carried out for the gridiron banquet to be held at the Lafayette hotel Friday night, April 11, under the auspices of the Sigma Delta Chis honorarium fraternity at the University. This banquet promises to be one of the most outstanding events of the college social calendar and many prominent newspapermen and leading business men are expected to attend.

The University of Kentucky Kernel was warded a loving cup by the Kentucky Intercollegiate Press Association, in their closing session Saturday morning, March 15, at Georgetown College, for the best advertisement in the country for the year ending this afternoon until 5 o'clock.

Bruc Balfour Evans, whose mystery farce, "Scarlet", is being produced by Strollers as their spring show, has been invited by Director Thomas L. Riley to attend the premiere of this production at the Guilford theater, Monday, April 7. In answering this invitation, Mr. Evans expressed his appreciation and deep desire to attend the premiere, as "Scarlet" is his favorite composition. He stated he will be present if his engagement with a Broadway show for which he is now rehearsing does not interfere.

Colonel Willard Chevalier, publishing director of the Engineering News-Record of the McGraw-Hill Company, New York, will address the engineering students in Memorial Hall Wednesday, March 26, on the subject, "The Engineer and His Job—What It Is All About."

The regular weekly luncheon-meeting of the College of Law faculty was held at noon Tuesday at University Commons. The meetings have been established as a short business session among the professors in the College of Law.

Dr. Braden took the train Dr. Braden was taken to the headquarters until he establishes his residence here in Lexington. Before his presidency of California Christian College, Dr. Braden had served as president of Kenia College, Kenia Park, New York. Prior to this he had held the Chair of the Bible at the University of Kansas, and later was Dean of the College of Religion at that school. He holds degrees from the University of Illinois, Harvard, Ohio, where he received his A. B. degree; Auburn Theological Seminary, Auburn, New York; and Syracuse University, Syracuse, New York. After completing his college work, Dr. Braden held pastorates in Bearfield, Ohio, Warren, New York; Syracuse, New York; and Kansas City, Mo. He has long been an outstanding figure in the theological world.

According to those in charge of the program, 260 invitations have been sent to the University's most outstanding students, faculty members, prominent Lexington business men, government officials and other persons of note in the state. They will be given until April 1 for their return. No one will be accepted after that date.

Concurrent with the sending of the invitations, it is expected that a meeting of Strollers, Monday night, will have the opening night of their spring show, "Scarlet". Elaborate preparations are being made for this staging.

The University of Kentucky Kernel was warded a loving cup by the Kentucky Intercollegiate Press Association, in their closing session Saturday morning, March 15, at Georgetown College, for the best advertisement in the country for the year ending this afternoon until 5 o'clock.

A pin was selected as the symbol of membership of the K. P. A. Persons eligible to wear these pins are to be selected by the editor, business manager, and faculty advisers of the college.

Virgil Couch led the weekly Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. joint discussion meeting at Patterson Hall, Monday night. "Marriage" was the principle topic of argument during the evening.

Dr. Edward Tutthill, head of the history department at the University, has announced that there are two important prizes open to history students, which by their provisions are worthy of one's effort to secure. Both prizes are open to undergraduate students in the history department.

Some Canadians fear that, although it is a wakening national spirit in Canada, has changed her ways and the situation in this country, peaceful penetration and economic result in the annexation of Canada to the United States, said President Frank L. McVey, Wednesday, addressing the engineering assembly on the subject, "Canada and the United States of America." In his address, delivered in Memorial Hall under the auspices of Pan-Politic, Doctor McVey stressed the nature of the Canadian government, Canada's problems, Canada's relationship to the United States.

At a meeting of the Board of Student Publications, held in the McVey Hall at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, several decisions were made regarding the publication of the 1931 Kentuckian.

Richard Carron, for two years a member of the executive board of the Guilford Players, was elected president of that organization at a meeting held Tuesday afternoon in the Guilford theater.

Albert L. Stoffel, junior in the College Arts and Sciences, was elected to the editorship of the Kampus Kat at a special meeting of Sigma Delta Chi, Tuesday, March 16, in McVey Hall.

The special meeting members of Sigma Delta Chi also elected Leonard A. Stranahan, of the College of Arts and Sciences, as business manager of the Kampus Kat and have both had an active part in the publication of the Kampus Kat and have contributed many inches of laughs and scandal to its columns.

Dr. McVey said that Canada is, as some think, neither a spot of Paradise held away, but that it is a country, larger than the United States and Alaska combined, that is opening up to the world an industrial development which makes it especially interesting to the engineer.

The fellowship, which is awarded to one student from each college, offers an opportunity for four years study in the department of chemistry at Johns Hopkins, leading to a Ph. D. degree. Mr. Cross was one of a number of candidates from Kentucky for the fellowship, which was limited to sophomores, juniors and senior students in the colleges and universities of the state.

The first prize, the Bennett Prize of $200 or more offered for the best essay on a subject relating to "The Origin and Development of Parliamentary Government," will be awarded to the best essay which must be handed in by the president of the University government.

 Never-ending search for truth

Today, in a locked room in the Crane laboratories, can be seen a cherry-red bar of metal. In a specially devised air-tight cylinder, under constant temperature of 1600° F., at fixed stress, it is being given the 1000 hour "How" test. At the same temperature, at various stresses, it will be given the same test for the same time-period.
 The tests are being made for the request of an oil man who has asked for valves for an experimental still, to operate at 1500° and 2500 pounds. Can he have them? At the end of the exhaustive tests, Metallurgist L. W. Spring will be able to tell him, exactly, authoritatively.

Since the first Crane chemical and testing laboratory was founded in 1888, thousands of similar questions so vital to safe and economical industrial progress, have been asked and answered. The contribution made by Crane metallurgists to scientific knowledge of the reaction of metals under high pressures and temperatures is known and respected throughout the world, is familiar to every oil man who has used the cracking process and every engineer who has to do with piping.
 The truths discovered and scientific data collected are embodied in a book, Pioneering in Science. This is a reference manual invaluable to engineering students. Write for your copy.

CONVOCATIONS

Never in the history of the University has there been offered to the student body such a galaxy of brilliant lecturers for convocation programs as has been offered this year. Pan-Polition has chosen well the men who have been brought to the University in an effort to bring about a better understanding between America and foreign countries. President McVey has shown his usual sagacity in his selection of speakers for this monthly get-together of students and faculty.

Nor has the student body fallen down in its part of this program. In years past convocations were synonymous with dismissal of classes for the great body of students at least, and no more. Too often have some of the outstanding figures in the world of national and educational affairs been forced to give their lectures to a gymnasium in which scattered about on the bleachers were scarcely more than a hundred or more students. Probably the poor acoustics of the gymnasium was responsible in large measure for this lack of the student body—more probably it was the lack of proper spirit. But this attitude on the part of the students at the University is fast becoming a thing of the past. From the beginning of the year, when convocations were first held in the new Memorial Auditorium, all such programs have been well attended. Kentucky students have learned that they are doing an injustice to themselves when they fail to avail themselves of such opportunities.

Our most recent convocation speaker, Professor Reginald Trotter, of Canada, who spoke on Canadian affairs, is a most vivid illustration of this assertion. Probably no country has more direct contact with the affairs of the United States than Canada, and yet The Kernel ventures to say that less is known about this neighbor of ours by the students at the University than of any other country. Grade school histories failed to give more than a bare mention of Canada and the texts in high school did scarcely more. As a result it is only through such men as Professor Trotter that students are able to obtain their belated information concerning that country. The Kernel has only the highest praise for the organizations which bring such speakers to the University. It has only the deepest pity for that group of students who boast that they never attend convocations. And for that fastly growing group who realize the value to be obtained from such programs, The Kernel offers to you, and to itself, congratulations for being an integral part of an institution which enables the student body to be so benefited.

WELCOME

Each year at the University is held a state basketball tournament, bringing sixteen boys' and sixteen girls' teams to our campus. This week-end the state high school athletes are the guests of the University for their annual contests, and with them come many loyal supporters. Members of the teams are welcome to use the campus at all times and are urged especially to become acquainted with the University during their stay here.

SUKY, the lettermen, the alumni and athletic associations already have extended a warm greeting and welcome to the visitors at the banquet held in their honor Thursday night, and The Kernel wishes to welcome them on behalf of the student body. Great interest is maintained throughout the tournament by students and townspeople each year, and The Kernel feels that it is a beneficial move in many ways to so "introduce" high school students from all parts of the state to their own University.

The courage and spirit shown by the athletes at all stages of the basketball matches is always a source of gratification to The Kernel, and we hope that when these boys and girls close their university it will be Kentucky, and that they will bring with them their loyalty and spirit. Just as they are welcome now, so will the University welcome them when the time comes for their college matriculation, for in such fine high school material is found a suitable background for university students of excellent caliber.

A CAMPUS BEAUTIFUL

Among other things, The Kentucky Kernel platform includes "a campus beautiful." The platform was formed and placed on this page for the express purpose of showing the University those projects which The Kernel believes worthy of emphasis. A beautiful campus falls within the scope of things to be desired at this school. Spring is about to arrive and within a few days the grounds will become green with tender grass. There will be flowers and shrubbery rejuvenated after the winter snows, all of which must be given assistance by the students and faculty if the campus is to be truly beautiful.

At various points on the grounds, where students are prone to leave the walks for a shortcut to class rooms or points of interest, there are signs asking persons to keep off of the grass. These "wooden soldiers" have not been placed there for ornamental purposes, nor to give the student a feeling of satisfaction when he or she violates the mute request. They have been erected for the purpose of keeping the campus beautiful, of giving the grass a chance to grow green and strong throughout spring and summer. But as long as there are students who are unappreciative of beauty, who care not for the money expended by the University to keep the buildings and grounds in that state which will appeal most to visitors as well as those who go to school here, who are calloused to any sentiment except their own mundane desires, the University will not be successful in its endeavor to have a campus beautiful. There are ample walks on the campus, designed and placed for convenience. They should be used regularly, so that beauty will have a chance to flourish. And that is as it should be, beauty being a contemporary joy of life.

A NEW PLEDGING PLAN

Mortar Board, senior women's honorary fraternity, this semester is inaugurating a new method for membership in that organization. A list of fifty girls, eligible for nomination, will be sent to the postoffice box of each University woman. It is the desire of Mortar Board that the names of fifteen girls on that list be checked, who, because of their scholarship rating and leadership, deserve the highest honor that can be bestowed upon a senior woman.

Mortar Board is to be congratulated for taking this step. It is to be hoped that other similar organizations at the University adopt a system so compatible with the premises of honoraries of the nature of Mortar Board. It is expected that the new plan will do away with any personal prejudice that might exist. It is just this sort of attitude on the part of more than one honorary here that has caused organizations to lose the respect of the student body.

In general, the student body know the outstanding persons on this campus and will not hesitate to express an opinion relative to the merits of an individual for honors which he or she deserves. Campus opinion is a mighty factor at the University and one that sees with an eye of justice.

Mortar Board, in setting a precedent, has taken a step in the proper direction. It is a worthy attempt to determine properly and conclusively those persons upon whom the honor of membership shall be conferred after a final vote by the members of the organization.

SIGNIFICANT REQUEST

Dr. W. D. Funkhouser has been asked by the Mammoth Cave National Park Association to inspect several skeletons recently discovered in the cave and to determine whether the bones are of Indian or earlier races.

The request is a significant one in that it connotes the reputation held by Doctor Funkhouser as the outstanding archeologist of Kentucky and one of the most prominent ones in the country. The request came not only as an honor to him, but as one to the University, which is proud to have a man of his scientific status as a member of the faculty. It is to be hoped that in the future, when there is important work to be done in Kentucky, the University will be called upon to provide men and women who will be recognized as the most capable in the state for the particular work to be done, just as Doctor Funkhouser now is recognized as the peer of Kentucky archeologists.

A DANGEROUS GAME

When son went away to college way back in the nineties, he was thoroughly warned by his family against any participation in the dangerous game of football. Mothers shuddered at the thought of their son playing a game upon a muddy field, fighting for his college as if for his country, soiling his hands and bruising his body, all for dear old Alma Mater. Indeed, football was a dangerous game in those days, for the rules were not strict and the ball served only as an excuse to "beat up" the members of a rival school. It was not unusual to read about some young man being killed in a grid contest, for they were not protected by the excellent equipment provided today.

Colleagues had to support the game in order to keep it in existence. State legislation was discussed to prevent it, it not being placed in the category of sports. The science of the game was not sufficiently developed to be understood as a science by the onlookers. Had colleges not supported it when it was at the most crucial stage in history, we of today would never have had the thrill of watching the most thrilling of all games. The defenders of gridiron contests pointed out that if it did nothing else, it kept college students from being what we now term cake eaters and tea hounds. It not only did that, but it instilled in the children of those collegians a desire for stronger manhood and a love of clean hard play. It taught America how to play.

Football is a game in which everyone may participate today. The players are the stars of the actual tilt, but for every game that is played on the field a thousand others are played in the stands. It is the greatest American sport because it is a sporting game with a science to it that is within the scope of the ordinary mind. No longer is it taboo, for danger no longer is considered. Colleges still meet in competition on the gridiron, but only to match skill and brawn, to enjoy the thrill of combat, the sport of the game. The players enjoy it as much as the spectators. It encourages good will among colleges and gives them a common interest.

Kentucky is one of the universities of today that is to be thanked for football. In the first issue of the Kentuckian there was a strong defense of the game. The students of the University stood up and fought for their sport and they won on the sound logic of their argument which was "sport for sports' sake". Kentucky fought to have a football team, fought to keep it and encourage it. That is why Kentucky is famous today for her fighting football teams.

Musical Fraternity Elects Hugh Adcock

Phi Mu Alpha Selects Officers for Coming Year; Announces Pledging Date

Phi Mu Alpha, national professional musical fraternity, held its annual election of officers Sunday afternoon, March 16. After a brief business session the following persons were elected: Hugh Adcock, president; Elden Du Rand, vice-president; Ray Mays, secretary; Stanford Evans, treasurer, and Gene Royce, supreme councilman.

The organization will hold its second pledging of the year during one of the Twilight Hour concerts that the University of Kentucky Concert Band will give during the months of April and May, in the Amphitheater of the new Memorial building. The pledging will be initiated at the province convention which is to be held in Cincinnati, May 25, under the direction of Walter De Vaux, province chief.

Retiring officers are: Gene Royce, president; Imren Fort, vice-president; Elden Du Rand, secretary, and Stanford Evans, treasurer.

STRAY GREEKS

Butler has started something unique in the way of organizations. Fifteen fraternity men from other schools, who found no chapter on the campus, have banded together to form what they call the Stray Greek fraternity. They have drawn up a constitution and are planning to become very active on the campus. If the idea is supported on other campuses, they will probably affiliate nationally.

Vesper Program To Center Around "Man of Galilee"

At the Vesper program Sunday afternoon, March 23, at 4 o'clock Bertrand P. Ramsey, of the Physics department and baritone soloist at the First Methodist church, Dr. Abner W. Kelley, of the English department and organist at the same church, assisted by Mrs. Lolo Robinson, graduate student at the University and Gale Tudor, violinist, will present an hour of music centered around the life of "The Man of Galilee". By means of impressionistic organ numbers that present in program music the ministry of Christ, vocal arias and ensemble numbers using the piano, organ, violin, and voice the whole story of the passion and resurrection is presented.

The complete program follows:

I. PROMISE

(An angel went down at certain seasons and troubled the water. An infirm man cried, Master I have no man to put me into the pool. Jesus said unto him, Arise, and straightway the man was made whole.)
The Sea of Galilee . . . . . Shure
(At evening the disciples entered into the boat. The sea was rising; they beheld Jesus walking on the sea and were afraid. But He spake, It is I: be not afraid.)
Mount Hermon . . . . . Shure
(He was transfigured before them: His face did shine as the sun, and His garments became white as the light.)
Organ

IV. PASSION
The Garden of Gethsemane . . . . . Shure
(Jesus said unto His disciples, Sit ye here, while I pray. He went forward a little and prayed, Father, remove this cup from me. And coming again, He found them sleeping. What, could ye not watch with me one hour?)

Department Heads Discuss Problems

The heads of the College of Arts and Science faculty held a meeting in the University Cafeteria, Monday evening at 8 o'clock. P. P. Boyd, dean of the Arts and Science College, presided as chairman.

After dinner was served they discussed a few of the problems of the college, the senior banquet and the matriculation lectures being the main subjects. No definite steps were taken concerning anything.

Twenty heads of the twenty-four departments of the college were present.

Fair visitor: But where do you bathe?
Co-ed: In the spring.
Co-ed: I didn't say when I said where—Detroit Free Press.

"Pulman's."

U. K. Enrollment of 1880 Is Tripled

Mary Cecilia Burk

If we could view the University of Kentucky as it was fifty years ago, when James Kennedy Patterson was president, we would see that it has undergone many remarkable changes. The main building, now the Administration building, is used as such at present. White Hall was then used as the old dormitory, it has not been used for lodging purposes since 1919, when it was remodeled into class rooms and renamed White hall in honor of Professor James Garrard White, the president's house was occupied by President Patterson continuously from 1882 until his death in 1922 and has since been set aside as a repository of his library. In 1922 the property of the college was estimated to be worth five hundred thousand dollars more than it was in 1880.

Before that date the University had six professors and offered a single course leading to a degree. The enrollment at that time was seven hundred and sixty-seven. The members of the faculty were: John Henry Neville, professor of Latin and Greek; James G. White, professor of Mathematics; A. R. Crandall, professor of History; Dr. Robert Frier, professor of Chemistry; and John Shackelford, professor of English.

As it stands today the University has grown from its few small buildings to its twenty buildings adequately equipped. Its alumni are recognized among the best educated men and women in the land and the members of the faculty are too numerous to mention.

Coach Gamage Has New Shipment of Wildcats

BIG M'GINNIS OUT FOR SCRIMMAGE

Freshmen Who Have Been on the Basketball Squad Show Good Form With the Gamage Outfit

The appearance of "Big" Gimlin, Wildcat basketball star, in mole-skins, and the return of Jack Phillips, regular fullback, has enlivened the camp of Coach Harry "Gloomy" Gamage in recent scrimmage sessions held regularly at the east end of Stoll field.

That "Big" Mac is not a novice to gridiron tactics, was proved by his ability to block and tackle with the rest of 'em in drill Saturday afternoon. Mac goes about his business in the same cool style with which he started Kentucky's famous submarine offense on the hardwood court. To prove that he thinks Mac has the stuff, Coach Gamage let the ex-caper into scrimmage on one of the "Blue Shirt" teams last week. Mac immediately let it be known that he would be a strong contender for one of the wing berths on the Wildcat team. The fine spirit shown by the Lexington youth in coming out for football should be an inspiration to scores of other boys on the campus.

With the return of Jack Phillips a great deal of spirit has been added to the daily workouts. Young Phillips is very busy. He has an encouraging word for each of his linemen and blocking backs that spurs that individual on to a greater effort in each succeeding play.

The greatest development of the past two or three weeks is in the defensive play of the "White Shirt" outfit that battles both "Blue" teams to a standstill in every scrimmage.

image. No longer does the backs in blue run roughshod around the ends or off-tackle with consistency. Frye, Goggin and Blevins, all small boys, trying for end positions, are stopping the around-end plays with deadly tackling and heady playing. Tuttle and Vonderheide, the big blonde youth from St. Xavier, have learned to stop 'em from their tackle posts, while Gallard, Great-house and Engel are making an unrelenting wall in the center of the line. In the backfield such small boys as Baker, Emmerich, Gilbert and O'Rourke seldom let a man go more than ten or fifteen yards beyond the line of scrimmage. The deadly tackling of Emmerich and O'Rourke, especially, is commanding the attention of players and coaches alike.

Few changes have been made in either of the two "Blue Shirt" teams. These teams, known as Aldridge's or Kipping's team, are not the first and second by any means. They are merely an experiment with two combinations for developing some offensive power. There is not a great amount of difference in the relative strength of either aggregation.

As yet, the "Blue" outfits have had but little opportunity to display their defensive wares. Until recently the White Shirts have been playing the defensive role. In the few scrimmages between the Blue teams several weaknesses were discovered. Neither team is strong enough in the center of the line and the tackles and ends have a tendency to be caught napping at times.

Scrimmage Tuesday afternoon showed a marked improvement along this line. Kipping's team was able to make but little yardage through the line. Dick Richards and Foster of the Aldridge outfit got away for several long runs.

The new freshmen, who came out at the end of their basketball season, are giving a good account of themselves. Skinner, a former "Blue Devil" doesn't look so bad at end but Coach Gamage is not sure of the ball with plenty of speed but has yet to learn how to take advantage of his interference. Darby is having the same trouble, but both boys are learning rapidly. Ellis Johnson has proved to be a handy field general and an aggressive ball carrier, but a bit weak at blocking. His trouble lies in the timing of the block. This will wear away with a little more experience, and Ellis will be in readiness for the starting whistle.

Approximately 40 candidates are still coming out for practice every day. The experience of the freshmen, getting, especially the freshmen, will stand them in good stead when heavier competition appears next fall. It will also help to erase some of the differences between themselves and the seniors who were not required to report for spring training. About the only advantages now held by the latter is their experience under fire, the battle royal for regular posts will ensue with the opening of football practice in September, and will, probably, last throughout the entire season.

Leroy Combs to Lead Forum Discussions

The Political Science Forum, student organization for the study of current political problems, will meet in room 303 Administration Building, at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, March 24.

The topic for discussion will be the question of Congressional reapportionment. Leroy Combs will read a paper setting forth the late attitude of the House and Senate with regard to a reapportionment, the present status of representation, and the outlook for a reapportionment. There will be free discussion. All students interested are urged to be present.

SCHEDULES ARE ANNOUNCED FOR TENNIS AND GOLF

Coach H. H. Downing Has Carded Nine Tough Matches for Blue Net Men

GOLFERS WILL REPORT TO JONES THIS WEEK
New Faces Add Strength To Bvy of Links Stars For Four Meets

With "Old Sol" beaming down once more, the aspirants for golf and tennis honors are all set to answer the call for spring practice.

A few members of last year's tennis team, already having replaced the old gut with new, and have been limbering up with enthusiasm for the coming season.

On the schedule are such teams as the University of Detroit, Vanderbilt, Tennessee, Georgia Tech, University of Cincinnati and Berea College. Teams like these are sure to offer plenty of opposition, but with such stellar players as Captain Rawlings Ragland, Spicer, Senff and Keys, besides an abundance of promising freshman material, the Big Blue is expected to win a fair percentage of their matches.

Coach J. C. Jones has sent out a call for all golfers to meet him either Friday or Saturday of this week. Matches have been arranged with the University of Louisville, St. Xavier, Marshall and Miami and at least two men will represent Kentucky in the Southern intercollegiate championship matches.

Among the golfers this year will be many new faces, including Freddy Hardwick, who for the past few years has been prominent in Lexington golfing circles. Kenneth Larmee, Hogan Watson and Jim Buskie are other men who will bear the brunt of birdies and pars that will be offered by the keen opposition that Coach Jones has scheduled this season.

Dean Blanding Issues Notice to Students

The following notice has been issued to all resident students: "The fourth quarter board is due on or before the first day of April. This notice is to remind you that a fine of one dollar goes on for each day that the board remains unpaid. In order not to be placed on the delinquent list, you must give the white card which you receive from the Business Office to Mrs. Giles or her agent before dinner on April the first.

Your very truly,

U. Teams to Debate At Paintsville, Louisiana

Two teams chosen from members of the University debating group will debate Friday before the student bodies of Paintsville and Louisiana high schools, Kernell Park and Sidney T. Schell, will oppose H. R. Smith and Hugh Jackson on the question "Resolved that International War Can Be Prevented by Means of International Agreement." The teams will debate before the Paintsville high school under the auspices of the Paintsville Parent Teachers Association.

Portmann to Judge In N. E. A. Contest

Prof. Victor R. Portmann of the Journalism department at the University, has accepted an invitation to serve as one of the judges in the Better Newspaper Contest, sponsored by the National Editorial Association for 1929. The contest in which he will serve is the Advertising Promotion Contest.

Information of his selection came in a letter from Herman Row, field director of the association, who said that the choice was made as a result of his confidence in Professor Portmann's excellent judgment and discriminating knowledge of what constitutes good newspaper practice.

STUDENTS RUSH COO-COO LINKS

Old Bill Kaiser is having a tough time keeping the University of Kentucky students in line at his coo golf course on Short street. Last week about 90 per cent his customers—and they are plentiful—were Kentucky students.

With the growing interest in this unique course, Mr. Kaiser, who presides at the 19th hole and deals out balls and putters and score cards, is planning hold a tournament for students. Old Bill formerly was pro at the Jeffersonville Country club at Jeffersonville, Ind., and knows a few things about tournaments and such things.

This 18 hole layout contains all the trick fairways and hazards that any exclusive club can boast of. The dog-leg holes are not especially hard to play, but when you start shooting over the sand traps, around fences and through rabbit holes, you begin to find that golf is not all that it is cracked up to be.

The course leads you up hill and through the valleys in the old fire station building. The links are open until mid-night.

RoamiN' the Rialto
 with Thomas L. Riley

With the pleasant surprise this week in "Lord Byron of Broadway" due to its tunes and the splendid acting in "Son of the Gods" the rialto proved to be enjoyable. However, in "Happy Days" some of the largest possibilities for a perfect picture that I have seen were utterly wasted. "Wise Girls," current attraction, is excellent entertainment.

—TLR—

In a report from the film studios it is found that Charles Chaplin has the largest male foot, size 12DD, in the colony as opposed to Al Jolson's seven. The women's smallest is that of Gloria Swanson, size 2½, while Billie Dove takes the prize for magnitude with a 6½ AAA. Now say there's nothing of interest in this department!

—TLR—

A few years ago Sidney Howard wrote a play, "They Knew What They Wanted," which was banned from motion picture production. It was reshaped and made into a silent for Pola Negri called "The Secret Hour." Now Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer have made it into a talkie under the title of "A Lady to Love" starring Vilma Banky, saying it is based on a story by Sidney Howard. The picture opens at the Ben Ali Sunday. The story concerns an old Italian who gets a wife through the mails and the results of her life in his vineyard. Edward G. Robinson enacts the role of Tony and the critics say he is perfection itself in the part. You will probably like this but leave the children at home.

—TLR—

"The Old Woman in a Shoe," which caused so much favorable comment in "Lord Byron of Broadway," was written by Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed, the composers of "The Wedding of the Painted Doll," and both numbers were directed by Harry Beaumont.

—TLR—

As her fifth talking picture Ruth Chatterton appears in "Sarah and Son" opening at the Kentucky tomorrow. This Paramount picture was directed by Dorothy Arzner and was adapted from Timothy Shee's best-selling novel. Seen in support of the featured player are Fredric March, Gilbert Emery and several others of note. The story of "Sarah and Son" depicts an absorbing, though lacrymose, narrative of mother love which is said to supply Miss Chatterton with an excellent role. Although a backstage picture Miss Chatterton has the part of a vaudeville performer who, through turns of fortune, finally becomes an opera singer.

—TLR—

The Gaiety opens Monday night with "Peer Gynt" and it is the hope of this writer that the production, perhaps the most ambitious in University history, will be a resounding success.

—TLR—

William Haines' newest picture, "The Girl Said No," opens at the Strand Sunday and it is said to be a rich comedy, bordering on farce, in keeping with the usual Haines fare. Merte-Coleman-Mayer has given the star a strong supporting cast in Leila Hyams, Marie Dressler, Polly Moran, Francis X. Bushman, Jr., and William Janney and the picture was directed by Sam Wood. "The Girl Said No" has a typical Haines plot with him as a college boy who loses a girl but regains her after quite a bit of fast and furious action. You can usually get entertainment out of Haines if you lay aside all discretion.

HELL WEEK

Hell week was formally abolished recently by the board of supervision of student activities at Northwestern University.

"It was not the object of the board to do away with all informal initiations," James W. Armstrong, dean of men, explained, but to eliminate the obscenities, the indecencies, the brutalities which have given college fraternities a black eye in the view of the public. The members of the board, he said, will shift the emphasis from the "horse play" feature of the initiations to the formal ritual.

A series of informal conferences between the board of supervision of student activities and the officers of the fraternities, in which the sentiment of the fraternities to be in favor of eliminating the rough house part of the initiations led to the ruling of the board.

Once upon a time a little boy went on a long trip with his father, and when he came home he said to his mother, "Mamma, am I really papa's little nephew?" That's what he told a pretty lady.—Texas Longhorn.

Delta Chi's Take Intramural Tourney Lead Throughout the Game to Win From the S. A. E.'s 14-9

The Delta Chi's playing a superior game of football in the first half of the intramural basketball championship of the University of Kentucky. The Maxwell street boys ran up a 12 to 0 lead during the first half that was threatened only once in the entire game. The game ended 14 to 9.

In the second half the Delta Chi's began a defensive game which came near being fatal to their nice 12 point lead. A free toss by Kelley followed in succession by four field goals, resulting from the accurate shooting of Richards, Phipps and Roberts, brought the game to a more even footing. The Chi's called for rest. Immediately after the rest Wilson, lanky forward, dribbled well down into the S. A. E. defense and sank a short shot to end the scoring for the night.

At the end of the game two beautiful trophies were awarded the winners of the fraternity league championship. A large cup went to the first place S. A. E. team, and the Sigma Nu's took the trophy for second place. Individual medals were given members of the U. K. championship squad, the Delta Chi's.

FISS STUDENTS

Thirty young men from Fisk University, Negro school of higher education in Nashville, will present a concert at Woodland auditorium Monday night, March 31, under the auspices of Miss Anna Chandler Goff, concert manager and director of the Lexington College of Music.

The Fisk Singers will appear here at popular prices. The first floor is to be reserved for white people and the balcony for colored. Reservations can be made now at the College of Music for white patrons and the Marble Pharmacy on North Broadway for balcony seats. The downtown seat sale starts Saturday, March 29.

These students and their forebears have been singing their way into the hearts of people in America and Europe since 1871. In that day they were a band of 11 boys and girls in their teens, led by Rev. George L. White who called them his "children" and had family prayers every day. Their "University" was a barracks. They sang "Spring Low, Sweet Charlot" and "I'm Goin' to Sing all over God's Heaven" to Queen Victoria, to the Earl of Shaftesbury, to Gladstone, to the daughter of Livingstone, to Whittier, Longfellow, and the great and rich of the new world and the old.

John W. Work, himself a Jubilee singer, the son of two of the most famous ones, is the director. He is a teacher and composer of rare gifts. All interested in choral music will enjoy the singers.

High School Teams Assemble at U. K. For State Tourney

by only two other states in the history of the National tourney—two time winners—and is proof enough that basketball in Kentucky high schools is on a very high plane. The other team in the Ashland "Kittens" who have won the championship in the girls division five times.

Another near repeat is the famed and colorful Carr Creek team who in 1928, was not only the sensation of that tournament, but gained national fame as well when they advanced to the quarter finals at Chicago, only to be defeated by the strong Vienna, Va. team, who in turn succumbed to the powerful Ashland quintet in the finals.

At the state tournament held that year, the Carr Creekers were finalist and lost to Ashland by a two point margin in the fourth overtime period. That their phenomenal success was not a mere matter of luck, is proved by the success of the Eastern national quintet whose roster boast the names of three of these boys, one of whom was a unanimous selection for all-southern in the S. I. A. A. tournament held at Jackson, Miss., recently. Of the original team that made tourney history in overtime periods here, two of the lads are still carrying on.

Other teams who will not be new to the Euclid avenue gym are Corinth, Hazard and Manual, of the boys division and Oddville, finalist in the last tourney. Hazard and the famed beauty queen from Bardwell who hope to get over their Oddville jinx of the past two tournaments.

The opening gun was fired yesterday at 9 o'clock. In the first game, Woodburn lost to Corinth. Carr Creek pulled the expected when it defeated Moreland. Tolu defeated Sacramento. By now, other teams have fallen by the wayside in the process of elimination to select the "Champions". To those who have slipped, we wish you better luck next time. To those still in the running, may the best team win. But whether you win or lose, we know you will have tried hard and given your best and anyway there will be another tournament next year, so "come back and see us again."

To the senior members of the many teams, we hope you enjoyed your last high school basketball game and that next year when you are unsewing the letter from your sweater, picking up the many treasured mementos of your high school days, and start the trek toward college ports in some part of the land, we hope you'll choose the University of Kentucky. From a scholastic standpoint the University is unequalled in the South. In athletics it has reached an enviable peak and possesses a coaching staff second to none in the South. Of the other qualifications for a good University "State" can't be beat—we invite you to be with us again next year, as a student.

Le Cercle Francais Plays French Games

Le Cercle Francais met Wednesday at 3 o'clock in the recreation room of Patterson Hall. The program, which was conducted by Misses Virginia Ellis and Mildred Graham, consisted of two games played in French. One was a spelling match played in the form of a baseball team. The other was "In hotelier."

The Club will meet next week at the same time and place. Miss Alice May Durling will have charge of the program at that meeting. She plans to give a comedy skit in French. A translated version of "Romeo and Juliet" will be used.

Miss Weldon Talks To Ag. Students On Local Leadership

Taking as her subject, "The Responsibility of the Student to the Community When He Returns," Miss Myrtle Weldon, head of the Experiment Station Extension Bureau, spoke Thursday to the faculty and student body of the College of Agriculture at the Judging Pavilion.

The keynote of Miss Weldon's speech was "leadership." She told the students that they must develop their ability to lead; that not only must they develop this theoretically but also so that it may be used. Any student who goes through college without expanding their knowledge so that they can use it is not doing all that he should.

"To be a leader," said Miss Weldon, "the student must have personality, a broad, technical knowledge, and the ability to plan and to co-operate with others in any undertaking."

To attain such knowledge of leadership one must have a liberal reading program, and seek experience by undertaking positions which call for planning, ability, and leadership.

MANAGING PEOPLE IS SUBJECT

home. Saw also WILBUR FRYE, "JUDGE" WILLES COLEMAN, WRIGHT, and JOHN CROSBY at lunch and bewailing their fate because the "law is such a jealous mistress." Finally, away to class where I did see KATHRYN DAVIS who did limp painfully into the Administration building. Saw TUBBY GORDON and RUSS STEGNER walk slowly to class. Saw BOY OWLSLEY in the Law Building. In the afternoon to take a stroll down Maxwell street where I did see BEV WHITE and TED CASSIDY as they strolled homeward. Saw VIRGINIA DAUGHERTY to session with SORIS SMITH who did watch XAIVE SCHULER as she talked. Finally away and to work. Just I be called to task for my indifference.
