From the sub-basement of McVey hall comes an announcement that the "Influence of the Press" class of Dr. Niel Plummer, journalism prof, has changed to the "Influence of the Radio" under the auspices of WLAP announcer DOCTOR Phil Sutherland. Dr. Plummer is currently auditing the course.

The Mole-Hill That Grew

Reaction to our editorial "Bad Taste At Alumni Gym" which appeared in The Kernel last week has been overwhelming. Particularly articulate, though necessarily anonymously so, have been members of the ASTP on campus.

The consensus of their reaction seems to be that The Kernel was not clear in pointing out that only a few of their number were responsible for the demonstration at the game; that they have the right to cheer for any team they favor; and that The Kernel has gotten the men "in hot water" with the military authorities.

We have offered here no defense, but rather an explanation. We feel that it is necessary to assure our ASTP students that The Kernel does not wish to deprive them of their freedom of speech—and, yes, their freedom to yell for the team they favor.

Letters Must Be Signed
If a "Grad. of '43" will identify himself, The Kernel will be glad to reprint in full his letter of January 24. For our own protection, it is necessary that all letters to the editor be signed, as an acknowledgment of good faith on the part of the writer.

Do you ever have pangs of hunger when the Jewell hall dining room is closed, or it's either snowing or raining, or it's too hot outside to go to Rose Street? If your answer is yes, read on and learn how to make a full course dinner for yourself (and all of the second floor) right in your own little two by four in the dorm.

Dunn's has been empty lately — Texas, Doc, Stanton, Winters, and Tulsa, we have missed you no end.

General Orders
1. To take charge of all spuds and gravy in view.
2. To use of my plate in a military manner, on the alert for any stray sausages that come within sight, smell, or hearing.

Well! Well! There's nothing new in bringing home a newspaper and finding a dead fish inside, or in removing a cork and seeing an empty bottle staring you in the face.

Snazy Traditions Established Quick (Reasonable rates on Folkways and Mores, also—We Aim To Please) may also offer the following suggestion: How about making it traditional for all profs to carry jugs of moonshine to classes—in honor of one of our state's greatest industries.

Long about noon every day the most natural phenomenon in the world takes place—we get hungry.

After we finally get to the line and get out of the line, we look around and find we are hungry.

We think that something should be done.

We've heard about fantastic advisory boards and super-super committees in wartime Washington, but never anything to equal the committee SGA prexy Vincent Spagnuolo appointed last week.

I wonder what their teachers think Who read of them today?—That little girl who spilled the ink. That led so fond of play.

Some seven years ago. Now there's a bit of ribbon new in her hair. Upon his tunic pressed, For courage which she never knew That little boy possessed.

I Sigma Chi The Sigma Chi que kids would like to ask why it is that: Kappa Pledge Freda Wade keeps refusing pins, and she being chairman of the crap department.

The girls on the third floor are thinking of accepting pins from both Wolf and Joe Rosenberg. Life can't seem to go on in this modern age without a touch of hardware.

Onward Chuck Lang Sinatra will fade, but with pipes like those you demonstrated under Mary L. Simpson's window that night you show real promise.

The SAE hood (yes, they wash dogs too) called Sigma Phi Nothing, is doing well under Chi O Pledge Mary Kassenbrock's bed.

The council fire was burning with flickering flame—the Minnie Doylees gathered around—the Myrtle Doylees were the queer looks of the Fightmaster factor the other—the key and scripture group worked the charm slowly with the fate of all in their hands.

Just give me a ring" quoth Alpha Gam Pledge Helen Bells, and she gets them both on the hand and on the phone. The Phi Del ring of James Van Arndt works wonders.

Sample of time to come may well be next week. A campus devoid of those "Yankers," no men in that olive drab. Rifle rumors (rumors are always rife on Saturdays night, walking across campus with the girls every day between classes. Sounds like fun, doesn't it?

We're very sorry to refuse to some of our friends the privilege of appearing as Kornel of the Week. These people are too nice. We do not want to have any friends on lives. So to the following persons, we offer apologies. You are too good: Jim Hurt, Jeanette Graves, Carolyn Sparr, Duane Van Horn, and Mary Jane Galver.

1. Kappa Beta Phi. Kappa Beta Phi is contemplating returning Sam Meagle's rock any day now. Somewhat of a "G" would be best to attend any more inter-collegiate games here on the campus.

2. Hamilton House. (When was your face redder? Address your embarrassing moment to "The Kernel office and let us blush too.")

3. Hamlet House. The alcoholic Absorption Association wishes to announce its association at a dance Saturday night. What began as a dance turned out to be a costume ball. It consisted of those wearing blouses, as a result of rather basic brevities which were told, and those wearing blue noses and pie eyes, as a result?

4. Phi Del. Maurice Genton, ASTP, spends much time testing the springs in the Phi Del couch. Ann Phillips enjoys flattening them also. The Phi Del population, consisting of twenty-two girls—four bridge games, and two subs—are entertaining Georgetown college this weekend. 5. Haunted House. Sry, this bears looking into — from whence come the lights that have been seen in the KA house recently? No, it couldn't be ghosts, either when KA's die they go right where they told each other to and can't be bothered with leaving ghosts. But what about the lights? Kernel reporters take heed.

6. Greek Sneak of the Week: Dear John Elliott: Sry, this bears looking into — What do I do in K-Dets—march and march and to get attention, oh but you get tangled up in the parade with that four wheeled mistake of yours, (oh, that car) and attract more attention than even singing from the "bikers" and cultivating your friendship.

ZTA Pledges Entertain At Tea

The pledge class of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority entertained from 4 to 6 Wednesday afternoon with a tea in honor of the pledges of the other sororities on the campus.

Mrs. Elmore Glover, housemother, presided at the tea table which was centered with pink and white snapdragons.

In the receiving line were Betty Anne Bohm, Ft. Wayne, Ind., president; Dorothy Titworth, Kewell, vice-president; and Elsie March, Hornesville, N. Y., pledge mistress. Roberta Hatchford, Lexington, social chairman, was in charge of the affair.

Sullivan-Hillenmeyer

Miss Mary Ellen Sullivan's engagement to Lieut. Robert H. Hillenmeyer, of Fort Benning, Ga., son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Hillenmeyer, has been announced by her mother, Mrs. Neville Clonohy Sullivan.

The wedding will take place in February.

Miss Sullivan attended the University where she was a pledge of Chi Omega sorority.

Lieutenant Hillenmeyer was graduated from the commerce college in 1943. While at the University he was president of Phi Delta Theta Fraternity. He received the Sullivan Medal for the most outstanding man in his graduating class. A representative of the University in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, he was a member of Seaboard and Blade, military honor societies, and the Union board. He served as president of Omicron Delta Kappa, senior men's leadership fraternity, and as business manager of The Kernel. He received his commission at Fort Benning in December.

Coed Corner ...

By Mary Jane Gallagher

Have you decided which uniform does the most for your undernourished self in case the draft-every-body law goes through? If not you'd better be taking a quick glance around—you'll probably be IA.

(That has nothing to do with the size of things Whitey—just forget about that pound you gained.)

On a tour of the local hot spots, notably one Irishman's cafe and one hotel hangout of our basketball-scoffing friends-in-shaki, we polled an opinion that the bill is not going to pass and all you fair Southern maidens may return to your ploving in peace. The figures and facts, and who'll buy you a drink where, from the above mentioned survey will be furnished to those desiring to do future research upon request.

Fair Tresses

Fair tresses and raven locks and what to do with them when they look like Toppy's is the topic of our oration for this issue. "Bout this time of year when the weather is bad and your last summer's permanent has reached the straggle stage, you just about decide that a hunk of hair that you can drap on the bed post at night would improve matters. Take heart fair maidens! A good peroxide solution will keep you fair in a big way 'cause things can be done. First of all, you don't know how by now the time that you come to learn how to wash and set your own hair. Beauty shops have doubled in their charges and if you're akin to most of us you don't have time to spare anyhow. Once you get used to the washing and kinking it up yourself you'll find that the process is so speedy and easy.

Buy Shampoo

Purchase yourself a good shampoo. Please do not use the cake-of-soap or roommate-like method.

it's definitely destructive. Wet your hair thoroughly, lather twice and rinse 'til you 'bout drown to insure getting out the soap. When it squeaks that's a fairly good sign that the deed is well done. If you wish, use a rinse of some sort, peroxide or lemon for kiding the lily and vinegar or gentle bluing solution helps to make for shiny dark locks.

Rub Thoroughly

Rub with a towel until the excess moisture is gone and then set while still damp. If you have much of a perm, do set it in loose pin curls, or else it will be too tight. Roll the curls around your finger, one finger on your (we hope) clean scalp, and if you want fluffy loose curls put quite a bit of hair in each curl, be careful and don't get too little, or they'll be like corkers lead you—right into a bottle neck.

Don't go to bed with your hair you'll find that a good brushing is more satisfactory, more so than meal or other home remedies as they do not come out easily. For curling when you've got five minutes before he arrives (and they're too scarce to keep waiting these days) try soaking those stragglers in cologne and then rolling them up. It dries in a minute or two, leaves your hair smelling heavenly, and is not harmful if not used too often. Remember it when you're really pressed for time.

One word of warning about doing your own hair—do. Have it cut by someone who knows their job, and get a good permanent. It pays dividends in the long run.

Ex-Student, Here On Leave, Describes Bombing Missions

Capt. James W. Craig, who has completed 42 missions over enemy territory without a scratch, is reporting today at Miami Beach, Fla., for re-assignment to duty after a leave spent in Lexington.

In a letter to the Public Relations department, Captain Craig, soon after he entered service, wrote that he wanted news from the University. The University alumni association influenced the Board of Trustees to finance the publication, which is edited by Miss Marguerite McLaughlin, assistant professor of journalism.

In speaking of his adventures as a bombardier, Captain Craig asserts that the United States flyers are superior in equipment and training to the Japs—and that he has seen a weakening in strength and fighting ability of the Japanese during recent months. He emphasizes, however, that the Japs aren't licked and that there is a tough battle ahead.

Awarded Medal

Veteran of two major campaigns, the Papan and the New Guinea, he has been awarded the Army air medal for 25 operational missions. In the Papan battles, including the Bougainville, Buna, Gona, and Savannda engagements, he earned a citation.

Describing his first mission as his most exciting, the captain told how the attack on Japanese shipping at Buna in the latter part of 1942 proved highly exciting. That was the first time that he and his crew on a B-25 Mitchell bomber were attacked by Jap Zeros.

He was frightened most, he said, when he and his crew attacked shipping at Werak. In the harbor congested with shipping, they ran into enemy fire from fighters and craft, but escaped unscathed. His bomber, the Pacific Prowler, and his crew has been officially credited with knocking down two Jap Zeros and with several probables.

His longest single mission was from his home base in New Guinea to Rabaul, a distance of 1,800 miles.

No Suicide Dives

During his 42 missions, Captain Craig said he never saw any Japs attempting suicide dives. "Those Japs," he explained, "want to get home the same as we do."

Captain Craig was commissioned a second lieutenant and received wings at Midland Park, Texas, June 11, 1942. He was promoted to first lieutenant in New Guinea, April 17, 1943, and received his captain's commission, also in New Guinea, November 18, 1943, shortly before he started for home. The trip was made by air.

We'll Hold Down The Fort 'Til The Conquerors Return

By Martha Belle Hood

The fraternity house as a winter resort for women has its points, we've found. Point one, of course, is the fact that most of the ladies returning from overseas or elsewhere are entirely unaware that the aforesaid building is now inhabited by women. Therefore, neither dusk and dark nor bolts and bars will keep them out when they want in. This keeps things lively.

Point One

Take for instance that Thursday afternoon that I decided to sleep. I distributed some 10-odd iron curlers among my hair, disrobed to some extent, and put the remains to bed. A few minutes later, when I was about half and half (asleep, I mean), I heard a noise outside my door. Suspecting foul play from some beloved friend, I slipped to the door and yanked it open right in the face of some startled male clad in a Navy uniform.

"Welcome home," I said with as much exuberance as I could muster, "can I get you your pipe and slippers?" The poor soul gulped and mumbled something rather inaudible about "my old room . . ." "men . . ." and "water . . ." I got him the beverage, directed him into the front room, and before long (after doing away with said curlers) we got real chummy. Which finishes up point one.

Point Two

Point two goes under the heading of that "on-your-own" feeling you hear so much about. For example, you're "on-your-own" to get up and light the gas at 7 a. m. or else you're "on-your-own" to freeze to death at 8; and you're "on-your-own" to take the first of 23 showers each night or you're "on-your-own" to bathe in kiddies; and you're "on-your-own" to meet your date (when and if at the door and outside the doorway, sight unseen, or you'll be "on-your-own" the rest of the evening. We ran an experiment one night and discovered that the word "man" spread quicker from cellar to attic than the word "fire."

Point Three

Point three is labeled "How to be a Jack-of-all-trades." Where but in a fraternity house would a girl with no previous bombing experience learn to drop a flowerpot from a second story window onto the head of a sleeping man with such alarming force and accuracy? Then there's the case of the two diamonds with flat purses and expanded nerve who supplied themselves with assorted polishes and brushes and invaded the parlor at 7:30 Sunday night. As each unsuspecting date entered, he was pounced upon, brushed, and shined. Then he either paid up like a gentleman or he refused like a heel and was treated accordingly by all present.

Point Four

Point four is named Mandy Jane. We call her "the black diamond" and believe me, it's approp. She scurries around like a little steam engine from a.m. to p.m. and is the "answer to 23 maiden prayers."

Point Five

The idea benefited its conveyors with roughly 69 cents. Well, so much for point three.

Eastern Coach Loaned To Kentucky Grid Staff

Rome Rankin To Serve As Football Assistant

Rome Rankin, head coach at Eastern State Teachers college since 1935, is being loaned to the University to serve as assistant coach for the duration, it was announced yesterday.

A letter from Dr. Herman L. Donovan, president of the University, stated that the University desires to have Rankin aid in obtaining men for a football team this fall and wishes him to have supervision over the players at times other than when they are practicing or playing in games.

"I will recommend to the Board of Regents that Coach Rankin be given a leave of absence for 12 months, beginning with the spring term which begins March 5," Dr. Donovan stated.

Robinson Given Five Years After Pleading Guilty

Andrew Robinson, Negro, 44, was tried in Fayette Circuit court yesterday and sentenced to five years after he entered a plea of guilty to the charge of detaining a woman against her will.

Arrested and charged with attempted rape Sunday, January 16, Robinson was held to the Fayette county grand jury after the charge had been amended in police court, Monday, January 17.

Mrs. Mary Bowditch, a nurse at the University Health building, told officers that the Negro seized her about 7:15 a.m. as she was walking up the University exit drive from South Limestone street to the Health building.

UK Football Fans Assured Of Three Games For 1944

Football fans were virtually assured of Kentucky's having a squad next year when the University this week signed to play three Southeastern conference teams for games next fall. One of these teams, according to Coach Ab Kirwan, may meet the Wildcats twice if such a measure is necessary to complete the schedule.

Meet Vandy

The Wildcats will meet the Vanderbilt Commodores in Nashville on October 7. Then on October 14, they will clash with Georgia on their home field in Athens. The exact date for the game here with Tennessee's Vols will be determined later, Kirwan said, and will be set for either the Saturday before Thanksgiving Day (November 18), Thanksgiving Day (November 23), or the following Saturday (November 25).

Kirwan said that there was a possibility that Tennessee would be played twice during the season, and that Coach John Barnhill of the Vols was willing to schedule a brace of games with the Cats.

Travel Exhibit Is In Library

A new idea to promote public interest in library science is the traveling exhibit now in the main lobby of the University library, which after ten days will be packed up and shipped to various high school, public and college libraries in the state.

Four Professors

Dr. McFarlan

Dr. McFarlan has been a member of the University staff since 1923, and holds an A.B. degree from the University of Cincinnati and a Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago. Before coming to the University he was geologist for the New Dominion Oil and Gas company for Texas and Kentucky. He is the author of many articles which have appeared in bulletins and other publications; served as director of the Bureau of Mineral and Topographic survey and as state geologist from 1922 to 1934. He is a member of many professional organizations.

Dr. Funkhouser

Dr. Funkhouser came to the University as head of the department of zoology in 1918; was named professor of anthropology in addition to the other assignment, in 1927; and has served as dean of the graduate school since 1935.

He holds an A.B. degree from Washburn college; M. A. from Cornell University; Ph.D. from Cornell University and a doctor of science degree from Washburn college. He is the author of more than 300 books and scientific publications and is internationally known as a scientist, his work in entomology having brought him world-wide recognition in the study and identification of membracidae.

Dr. Funkhouser is a fellow member of the council of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, past president of the Entomological Society of America, and a member of numerous other professional and educational societies and groups.

THEY Sacrifice --- for YOU
Can't YOU Sacrifice for THEM?

CAMPUS BOOK STORE

THEY names are legion. Most of them never get in print; though all of them are proudly posted in the city square . . . Some of them will never come home. Many more will come home, injured beyond remedy. And there will be the fortunate millions who will come back to the land for whose freedom they fought: alive, well, to go on living gloriously!

The time to pay that debt of gratitude will not be when the war is over. The time is now; so that the war will be shorter, and so that hundreds of thousands more men will be alive to come home; alive to enjoy the benefits which they were willing to make the supreme sacrifice to secure!

The way is simple: just make this day your day to buy an extra $100 in War Bonds. You say it will mean a sacrifice on your part? That's fine! For only in making a sacrifice can you really prove to our fighting men that we're behind them—at any cost.
