PROF. S. A. BOLES SEES BRIGHT OUTLOOK IN U. K. ATHLETICS FOR 1923-24

Coaches Winn, Pribble, Rhodes to Begin Early Football Practice in September

"K" MEN WILL RETURN

Freshmen Champions to Scramble for Varsity Positions.

The athletic outlook for next year is the brightest in the history of Athletics at the University of Kentucky, according to Prof. S. A. Boles, athletic director. Every day numerous aspirants for places on the football, basketball, baseball and track have written to the athletic director concerning qualifications for such positions. Professor Boles has a list of high school students and personal letters from many throughout this and other states many of whom were All American high school football men last year, stating that they are coming to the University this fall and make somebody work hard to get a position on the team.

Jack Winn, of Mt. Sterling, Ky., graduate of Princeton College, will be head coach for football. Mr. Winn while at Princeton was picked as All-American football player, and later served as assistant coach in that college. He will be assisted by Birkett Lee Pribble, captain of the Wildcat outfit in 1922, and William "Doc" Rhodes, former Wildcat player. They will come to the University early in September and begin practice with the players who are planning to arrive two weeks before the opening of the regular school year.

The following letter men will return: Dell Ramsey, captain; A. T. Rice, J. R. Russell, Givens Martin, Turner Gregg, Ted Brewer, W. H. Rice, R. L. Sanders and J. W. Cammack. Members of the squad who did not make letters last year that will return are: J. C. Brown, C. I. McLean, Cornelius Anderson, E. L. Bicknell, J. C. Ray, C. S. Stith, Ray Moralle, R. L. Mays, W. M. Insko, D. J. Gattson, Gardner Bayless, Sidney Neal, Elliott Netherton, H. A. McVey and Tom Benyson.

Football Schedule for 1923
 Sept. 29—Marshall at Lexington.
 Oct. 6—Cincinnati at Cincinnati.
 Oct. 13—Washington and Lee at Lexington.
 Oct. 20—Maryville at Lexington.
 Oct. 27—Georgetown at Lexington.
 Nov. 3—Centre at Danville.
 Nov. 10—Alabama at Tuscaloosa.
 Nov. 17—Georgia Tech at Atlanta.
 Nov. 29—Tennessee at Lexington (Thanksgiving—Homecoming).

Personal letters have been received from practically every member of last year's freshman team and they are all working hard during the summer to "keep in form and get hard" for the opening of the fall scrimmages. Last year the freshman team were the undefeated champions of the South having defeated Tennessee University which had previously defeated Sewanee and Vanderbilt freshmen. All of these men will be eligible for varsity.

Basketball

The basketball letter men who will return next year are Carl Reifkin, A. T. Rice, captain, William Pointz and W. G. Wilkinson. All members of last year's squad will return.

DR. MCFARLAND TO TOUR STATE FOR WILD PLANTS

Professors to Collect Demonstrative Specimens for Botany Department

Dr. Frank L. McFarland, head of the Department of Botany, accompanied by his assistant, W. A. Anderson will start on a tour of Kentucky soon after the close of the summer session. They will leave in Dr. McFarland's car and expect to be gone seven weeks during which time they will collect species of wild plants characteristic to Kentucky and will be brought to the University to be used as demonstrative work in the Botany department for next year.

Mr. W. A. Anderson was graduated in the class of 1923 and acted as student assistant during the past year. He expects to begin work on his masters degree at an early date.

COLLEGE OF EDUCATION ESTABLISHED AT U. K.

Dr. William S. Taylor Appointed Dean; Plans Made for Educational Advancement.

The Department of Education at the University of Kentucky has been converted into a separate college and will be known as the College of Education. It will be conducted under the supervision of Dean William S. Taylor. This college was established to provide for the training of teachers, supervisors, elementary and high school principals, and city and county superintendents for the public schools of Kentucky.

Heretofore school boards were not very rigid in their requirements for teachers, but today they are demanding professionally trained teachers, supervisors and administrators. The curricula offered by the College have been planned to enable the student to procure the education that will best prepare him for the work he contemplates doing.

PROFESSOR RHODES IS BACKER OF CAMPAIGN

University Man Seeks State Public Education Post

"I most heartily endorse the movement to raise funds for the Stadium, Basketball Building, Patterson Memorial and Student Loan Fund," says Professor McHenry Rhoads.

"All are worthy objects. Your efforts should meet with hearty and generous responses on the part of all who are interested in making it possible for the University to serve the State in the most effective way."

Professor Rhoads is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Superintendent of Public Education. He has the support of the University people everywhere. He has been a proponent of the best educational interests all his life. For several years he has been a member of the faculty of the University. His daughter, Mrs. Emmett P. Hatter and his son, Wayland Rhoads, are alumni of the University. Closer co-operation between the University, Normal Schools and the public graded and high schools making possible a greater Kentucky is his aim.

Several of the outstanding men on the basketball team were lost thru graduation, and their places will be filled by members of the squad and from the best material in the freshman team.

UNIVERSITY NOT MADE ISSUE BY POLITICIANS

Candidates Pledge Aid and Support. But Are Reticent With Specific Statements.

By J. A. Estes.

The University of Kentucky, following a custom long established in the state, is receiving small attention from the political campaigners seeking the offices in whose province it lies to determine the prosperity or poverty of the institution. Since the Lexington Alumni Club invited J. Campbell Cantrell, Democratic candidate for the nomination for governor, to speak here early in the campaign, the University scarcely has been mentioned by the aspirants for the major offices of the commonwealth.

Each of the three men still in the running for the governor's chair has pledged himself to do all in his power to help the University of Kentucky in any way possible, but not one of them has said anything definite as to the attitude he will take toward the institution. It is to be left to the discretion of the candidate, rather than to the vote of the people, as to whether the University shall be constructed on broader and more efficient lines of endeavor or restricted within yet narrower lines.

The Republican party in convention here on June 26, placed the following plank in its platform:

"We recognize that the common schools of the state have not yet been brought up to the standard contemplated in section 183 of the constitution, which commands the legislature to establish an efficient system of common schools throughout the state, and we therefore pledge ourselves to the support of all reasonable legislation having for its purpose improvement of the condition of the common school system of the commonwealth."

"We pledge our party to the generous support of the university, the normal schools and to the common schools of the state, to the end that the youth of the commonwealth may have opportunities for education equal to those of any other state in the union. The provisions for the care of women students in our university are inadequate, and to remedy this condition we pledge ourselves to provide for adequate accommodations for a woman's building that can be used by the women students and as a meeting place for the women of the state."

Besides the specific statement with regard to the building for women, the University is given no more reason for hope than it has ever before been given in a political campaign. But it is a dumb politician that never finds out which way the wind is blowing.

Next year the intelligence of Kentucky is going to be put to the test again. Already candidates of the state are lying awake concocting oratorical waterfalls to be loosed when the famous debate on the evolution bill is renewed in the 1924 legislature.

One candidate for representative—J. B. McKeenan, of Whitley county, if his name is desired—has informed his constituency that it is his firm belief that the teaching of Darwin evolution in Germany was responsible for the World War. And one elderly candidate threw his arms heavenward, and fervently exclaimed, "Thank God I wasn't educated in the State University."

The voice of the university, however, is not likely to be so weak in the

FINE SPIRIT SHOWN BY SUMMER SCHOOL PEOPLE

Dean Woerner Expresses Appreciation of Co-operation

Miss Emma J. Woerner, acting dean of women at the summer school expressed herself as being very pleased with the co-operation that the women students have given her, and the attitude which they have taken in enforcing and abiding by the rules set aside for residents of the three dormitories.

The spirit of co-operation, friendliness and good will among a group of women students ranging in ages from 17 to 50, is indeed a happy combination when taking into consideration the different interests of the various teachers gathered here for concentrated work for a brief period of six weeks.

UNIVERSITY TO HAVE A MODEL LITTLE THEATRE

Prof. Carol Sax to Act as Director; Townspeople Financing Movement.

A Little Theatre is being built on Winslow street on University property to replace a building formerly used as a negro church. The theatre is being put up under the supervision of the Strollers Dramatic Club, of the University, financed by townspeople interested in dramatic advancement. All work in construction of this building is being done by five university students: Dan Morse, Henry Harper, Sam Shouse, Cornelius Anderson and Frank McVey, Jr.

The Little Theatre movement was recently established in the various cities and communities throughout the United States for the advancement of dramatic art. Prof. Carol Sax, head of the art department will be director and he is now in New York gathering scenery and making plans in the interest of the Little Theatre. Mr. Sax was formally director of the Vagabond Theatre in New York city and is thoroughly familiar with the technique of stage and play management.

The building when completed will have a seating capacity of 200 and will have the largest stage of any Little Theatre in the country. All coloring and decorations will be vivid and futuristic, following as nearly as possible Gypsy colors and decorations. The house lights will be wall brackets, installed by students of the College of Engineering and operated in an asbestos covered room beneath the stage and operated by Henry Harper. The outside walls of the building will be painted green, and the roof, red. Large iron beams and braces will be placed between the walls and make the building secure and eliminating inside posts in the audience.

MUSIC TEACHERS NEEDED

Nearly every school within the state is in need of a teacher to organize and direct glee clubs, operettas, direct high school orchestras and lead in various musical enterprises. Musical leaders and directors may be developed thru a course in some branch of this department. One need not necessarily be naturally endowed with such qualifications as one would imagine for such positions. Teachers interested in this matter should inquire for further information.

STADIUM DRIVE MARK REACHES $170,000 WITH MANY REPORTS OUT

Scattered Alumni to be Reached Thru Mail on 1-2-5 Basis, Says Prof. W. S. Webb.

CLEAN-UP SQUAD BUSY

$2,286 Subscribed by Summer School Students During Two Day Campaign

The stadium campaign for the erection of a football stadium, basketball building, Patterson Memorial and Student Loan Fund which was started several weeks ago has been subscribed to the total of $170,000. Many counties, alumni clubs and cities have not as yet been heard from, and the drive in Oklahoma, California and Pennsylvania is incomplete.

Prof. W. S. Webb, chairman of the Student Loan Fund is making an effort to reach scattered alumni thru mail and have them subscribe on 1-2-5 basis, which means $125. It is hoped that this method will prove beneficial in bringing in thousands of dollars as many alumni have made no response so far.

A drive will be started in September among freshmen and new students for an average of $25 each. One gift of $14,000 is hanging on the University's acceptance of conditions. Information of this will be announced later.

The various counties that have been heard from in regard to amount raised are as follows: Barren $375; Bell, $3,310; Carroll, $310; Christian, $75; Davis, $250; Garrard, $566; Fulton, $365; Henderson, $387; Jessamine, $336; LaRue, $142; Lincoln, $276; McCracken, $2,164; McLean, $325; Montgomery, $493.75; Nelson, $375; Perry, $1,805; Trimble, $260; Union, $250; Washington, $261; Webster, $350; Whitley, $1,229.50.

Boles, professor of physical education, is collecting trophies. In this room there will also be a book, probably in parchment form, containing the names of organizers of the campaign and the names of the subscribers.

The clean-up squad is composed of Guy Huguette, Dr. Tom Marks, G. R. Smith, R. S. Webb, W. Duncan Hamilton, Miss Ruth Gorman, Miss Nancy Innes, Miss Marie Barkley,

STUDENT PUBLICATION

The Kentucky Kernel is the official student publication of the University of Kentucky issued weekly throughout the regular scholastic year by the students of the Department of Journalism. Its purpose is to keep the students informed on matters of general information pertaining to the various departments on the campus. This is the first issue of the Kernel ever published during summer school, and the purpose is primarily the same although it falls short four pages of the regular size.

Plans materialized for this publication following suggestions that students gathered at the University for so brief a time as six weeks were too busily absorbed in their studies to familiarize themselves with any branch of the University, other than their particular department—thus it is largely for their benefit, this special issue of the Kernel

GREATER KENTUCKY

"A Greater Kentucky" has been sent broadcast for the past several weeks. This slogan to which the Kernel has reference is, however, in regard to the movement started for soliciting funds to build upon the campus of the University of Kentucky a football stadium, basketball building, Patterson memorial and Student Loan Fund

The adventurous sportsmanship which has characterized Kentucky throughout the entire world, could be retained in no better way than to train its youth in athletics with the desire for victory in fair contests. Can such belong to Kentucky—to the University of Kentucky with facilities for play such as they are now and as they have been since the establishment of the University. No. A thousand times, no, never until the citizens of the state realize the need for such.

Many persons, anxious to find excuse for not backing the movement, have brought forth the question that such funds should not be raised by popular subscription, but should be appropriated by the State Legislature. So they should and the Kernel agrees in their viewpoint, but when the Legislature appropriates funds for furthering athletic interests of the State, neither this generation nor generations to come will ever know of it. Some thousand decades will have come to pass.

The Greeks and early sculptors establish a custom of erecting to their hero warriors and leaders some sort of memorial, usually in the form of a statue to the likeness of the leader. In front of the capital building at Washington city there stands a bronze memorial to Chief Justice Marshall, the great and peerless expounder of the Constitution of the United States. At Cambridge, upon the campus of the great university which bears his name is to be found a similar memorial to John Harvard. On the campus of the University of Kentucky SHOULD be erected a memorial to its pioneer leader, warrior and financier, Dr. James K. Patterson, the "Grand Old Man" of the University.

Every year the Student Loan Fund keeps in school hundreds of young men and women who are ambitious for a college education but who have not the funds necessary to meet living expenses. Short loans are made, but when hundreds of students borrow money, and for the time it takes them to repay it, which many are unable to do for two or three years after leaving college, there must be a larger fund to care for them.

"A Greater University of Kentucky" means a greater Kentucky and a better state in which to live.

ALUMNI

By every indication and with faith in the average alumnus justified by his subsequent action the "Greater Kentucky" campaign is already a success. Alumni in every section of the country have accepted the 1-2-5 slogan but their number is less than 500. Others who should have given more have subscribed $25. One millionaire graduate gave $125 and a graduate of the class of '21, earning a moderate salary, subscribed $500.

Reports have been received showing approximately $175,000. Many county chairmen have been slow in making reports, others lax in opening the campaign. Some of the alumni clubs have been delayed with good cause, among these being New York, which is expected to measure up 100 per cent as usual. Howard P. Ingels is chairman. He was unavoidably delayed.

Frankfort (Ky.) was the first club to reach its quota, followed closely by Pineville. Philadelph' opened with a fine average but has not finished.

Lexington opened up in a big way and now is $85,000. A clean-up squad took charge at the close of the regular drive facing a shortage of $18,000 and made it up in one of the most courageous and successful campaigns of the decade.

The undergraduate body takes the palm, however, with subscriptions of $35,000 from 1,300 individuals. If the average alumnus had been as enthusiastic and had given in proportion to his means the campaign total would be $225,000 today.

A tremendous effort is being made by Professor W. S. Webb, '01, chairman of the "Clean Up" to round up all scattering alumni and clubs that were delayed. Five hundred more alumni on the 1-2-5 basis would put the campaign over.

DECIDE CONTEST

"Greater Kentucky" Plan of Executive Committee Wins.

Judges of the "Best Plan" contest rejected all plans submitted by the alumni in favor of the that of the Alumni Association's Executive Committee which originated the "Greater Kentucky" campaign. Contestants have been notified accordingly. Donors to the $100 fund also have been notified and will be re-imposed or accredited with that additional contribution to the campaign fund.

The campaign was directed by the Clarence E. Hewitt organization, of Spartanburg, S. C., working for thirteen weeks with a maximum field force of seven men and clerical assistants that finally reached a round dozen. Members of the campaign executive committee have praised highly the service of this organization. It operated on a budget basis with a charge of $12,490. Other similar campaigns have been conducted at a cost twice as great by a less experienced and less able organization.

PLAY POLITICS

Effort Will Be Made to Give Public Education Its Dues

Individual alumni have been charged accurately with playing politics in Kentucky. A strong effort will be made this time to prevent the schools from being buffeted about with a lot of ill-advised legislation and inadequate appropriations.

The candidates for Governor—Charles I. Dawson, ex, of Pineville, the Republican nominee; and Congressman J. Campbell Cantrill, of Paducah, candidates for the Democratic nomination, have been reasonably satisfactory in their response to inquiries about their attitudes toward the University.

Only Mr. Cantrill accepted an invitation to speak to the Lexington Alumni Club and in his talk won from President McVey the declaration that his was the most satisfactory speech made on education by a public office holder in Kentucky in five years.

Elwood Hamilton, a former student, is manager of Mr. Barkley's campaign, and George R. Smith '15, is in charge of affairs in Central Kentucky. Both declare that Mr. Barkley is the better friend of the University. In his public utterances, however, he has made an attempt to "pass the buck" to the University, saying that "if it plays fair with the people it will get adequate support."

All candidates say they want to do everything for the University but with the veto he can BLOCK everything, viz: Governor Morrow. A chief executive favorable to the University needs a broad minded and public-spirited legislature. Candidates will be named in the primary election August 4 and in the final election in November the tale will be told.

o-o-o

Will Issue Directory

The Alumni Association and the Greater Kentucky Campaign Committee expect to issue an Alumni Directory in the fall. Data sheets are being sent out now to the alumni.

The book will bear an indication of all those who contributed to the campaign. This will be a permanent record.

o-o-o

Keep Up Average.

A former student who does not give $125 to the campaign should not rest until he has tried among non-alumni to raise the remainder of his 1-2-5 quota.

Many outsiders have made $1,000 contributions to the campaign. It is expected that at least half the fund will be raised from such sources.

o-o-o

GET THE KERNEL

Former Students Can Get Valuable News Through Alumni Office

A membership drive for the Association will be launched in the next few weeks with the co-operation of alumni clubs and class secretaries.

The Kernel next fall will be bigger and better than ever. All former students will want to read about the development of the recent campaign.

Proress of the Wildcats will be the subject of countless news stories this year according to present indications. The freshmen of last year won four state championships and three of them held southern championships. With a larger and stronger coaching staff it looks like the Blue and White should wave high.

Philadelphia Notes

The Philadelphia Club held its last meeting on May 12 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Daugherty, Jenkintown, Pa.

After a very enjoyable auto ride to Doylestown and return, the hostess served a delightful supper. The regular business meeting was then called to order by the President, Mr. George C. Lewis. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Daugherty, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. C. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Taliadro, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Allison, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Boswell, Mr. and Mrs. Newland Waters, Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Clarke, Henry N. Marsh, H. P. Bassett, R. S. Arnold, Vincent Bartlett, H. B. Hedges, W. T. Clarke and guest, Miss Elizabeth Farra and mother.

Mr. Bartlett, chairman of the Kentucky Society organization committee reported that work was progressing and that they hoped to have an organization meeting soon. The present plans call for complete organization prior to the Centre-Pennsylvania football game on October 27. Mr. Bartlett especially requested the membership of our club to mail to him at 1127 Lincoln Building, the names of people eligible to membership in this new society. Further than this the committee could not report at present.

It was with deep regret that we learned of the death of our fellow alumnus, Henry F. Cromwell, at the University of Pennsylvania Hospital May 10. Henry N. Marsh was appointed a committee of one to draft suitable resolutions to be sent to Mr. Cromwell's mother. The secretary was instructed to have a properly engrossed copy prepared for this purpose.

After a rising vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Daugherty for the excellent hospitality with which they received us, the meeting adjourned.—Roy Clarke, Secretary

Subjects Will be Limited to Arts and Sciences College Next Term.

The first session of the regular six weeks summer course offered by the University of Kentucky under the direction of Prof. Wellington Patrick, head of the Extension Department opened June 25, at which time 743 students registered. This is the largest enrollment in the history of the University and it is an increase of 100 over that of last year.

The summer school was inaugurated some several years ago by University authorities for the purpose of offering training to teachers, students, supervisors and administrators who desired to take advantage of the opportunity. Special registration of students for second session which will begin August 6 was held Monday afternoon at which time 130 students registered. This includes only those students who were here for the first session. Regular registration for new students will be held Monday, August 6.

Of the 743 students registered for first session 697 are residents or teachers in Kentucky; the remaining 46 from other states. Of the 697, Fayette county is represented with 142 students.

TWO WIN DEGREES BY STUDY IN SUMMER

Miss Frances Gordon and Miss Effie Denny, Have Unique Records at University.

A University degree, won by tireless and persevering studies thru the long, hot days of summer schools after teaching in public schools thru-out the regular terms will crown the efforts of Miss Frances Jean Gordon and Miss Effie Denny, teachers in Lexington for a number of years.

Both are seniors at the University of Kentucky summer session, and if work for their degrees is completed as is expected, will be granted their diplomas by the board of trustees at the December meeting and have their names on the commencement program of the University next June.

Miss Gordon, who is the daughter of Professor Angus Gordon, formerly head of the boys' school in Lexington, has done all the work for her degree at summer schools at the University, where her work in elementary schools before her teaching career began was accepted as credits. She has attended six summer schools of six weeks each and by persistent and intensified study has won the required credits which younger students make in four years.

Miss Denny has attended three summer sessions at the University, but has also taken some courses and extension courses using the regular terms and offered advanced credits from Hamilton College, the University of Chicago and Columbia University.

LARGEST SUMMER SCHOOL

University authorities are indeed gratified and pleased with the increasing interest of teachers, educators and instructors throughout the state for higher education, which was made manifest by the enrollment of 743 students for the first session of summer school. This is an increase of 100 over that of last year.

The Kernel is frank to say that it believes the time is close at hand when the state of Kentucky will demand for its schools college graduates, professionally trained as instructors—when such a time arrives and not until will the educational standards of the state be lifted and placed on the plane which it deserves and should have. The wealth of a state is measured by its natural resources, profit being figured on the economy by employing skilled laborers to make its resources of material valuable to the state at large. What is true of its resources is true of the educational possibilities of the state, cultivation and training by the most skilled experts in educational, financial, instructional and administrative qualification is absolutely necessary to the betterment of the state.

Miss Ruth Gorman has been selected as the Lexington candidate for "Miss Kentucky," the sponsor of the stadium. Each alumni club raising its quota has been given the privilege of selecting a candidate for sponsor. The young woman selected will come to Lexington at a date set next fall, probably at the time of the dedication of the basketball building, when the final selection will be made.

Subscriptions totalling $2,286 to the University of Kentucky Stadium fund, basketball building, student loan and Patterson Memorial were reported at a luncheon of campus workers Friday as the result of a two days' campaign among summer school students at the University. This amount was raised among 230 subscribers, each of whom averaged nearly $10 toward the stadium and other projects.

LEXINGTON'S LEADER

W. C. WILSON '13

"The campaign which is in progress for funds for the University of Kentucky should have a tremendous appeal to all the Alumni and friends of the institution.

"First, it is the only time that the Alumni Association has gone to the general public with a campaign of this kind, and it gives them a chance to show their loyalty to the highest educational institution in our public school system.

"Secondly, this fund is of a fourfold nature being divided into Student Loan, Patterson Memorial, Basketball Auditorium and Stadium Funds. At least one of these should find such a receptive place in the hearts of the Alumni that they would not be willing to offer to subscribe not less than the 1-2-5, about which we heard so much during the early days of the campaign.

"Thirdly, it will show the outside world that despite the fact that the University is hampered by funds its followers are loyal to the extent of going down into their own pockets and bringing out the amounts large enough to advance the work most needed at the institution at the present time. This will tend to secure a larger following at the next session of the Legislature and it is hoped that we will not have a repetition of what happened at the last session.

"Lexington has certainly made a fine showing on her quota and at present is the only place that has raised a very large amount, but we are still looking with interest at such places as Louisville, Chicago, New York, Washington, and the other large centers where a number of the alumni live. We have heard much of the loyalty in the past and we believe that when their hand is called that they will show down with their amounts in such degree as to prove that they have actually meant what they were saying about the old school."
