EMINENT TEACHERS ARE ADDED TO THE FACULTY

Miss Florence M. Barrett, who will come to the University of Kentucky as instructor in romance languages, is a graduate of the University of Chicago and took her master's degree from the same institution in 1915. Since graduation she has been an instructor in Colorado College.

Professor C. B. Cornell, who is to be assistant professor of Physiology, at the University, is at present supervisor of the department of boys vocational work in the city schools of Lincoln, Nebraska. He received his bachelor's degree from the University of Nebraska in 1905, his master's degree in 1912 and his doctorate from the same institution in 1915. He taught 2 years in a private school in North Carolina and 3 years in the Peru State Normal. He then did 4 years' graduate work in the University of Nebraska and since 1914 has been in his present position.

Dr. W. D. Funkhouser is to be head of the Department of Zoology. He was graduated from Wabash College in 1905, and received his master's degree from Cornell in 1912, and his doctor's degree in 1914. Doctor Funkhouser has had valuable experience as a teacher and principal of secondary schools, as an investigator in entomology and as a member of various scientific expeditions.

Professor Edward C. Mable will be assistant professor of public speaking and comes to the University from Illinois Wesleyan University. He was graduated from Dartmouth College in 1915 and received his master's degree in 1916. He was instructor in public speaking in 1916 in Manchester, New Hampshire, Young Men's Christian Association School in 1916-1917. His success in oratory has been remarkable. He has published several books on that subject.

Dr. C. A. Shull will be head of the Department of Botany in the College of Arts and Science. He is at present professor of Botany in Kansas University. He received his bachelor's degree from the University of Chicago in 1905 and his doctor's degree in 1915. Doctor Shull is an able botanist, an authority on plant physiology and has published numerous articles on that subject.

Dr. C. R. Bancroft is to be an Assistant Professor of Chemistry. He was graduated from a Canadian institution and he received his doctor's degree from Yale University in 1917. Since the fall of 1917 he has been professor of chemistry at Transylvania College.

Dr. G. W. Smith has been added to the faculty as instructor in Mathematics. He received his master's degree from the University of Illinois in 1917, and during the year just closed has been teaching in Beloit College.

Professor Karl Lambert will be head of the Department of Music, one of the new departments added to the University. Professor Lambert is a talented violinist. He organized the Schumann Quintet and for many years was with the Thomas Orchestra, of Chicago. The Schumann Quintet has for some time been with the Redpath Bureau and Mr. Lambert was with the company the greater part of last winter in the west.

Dr. Edward Weiss is to be head of the Department of Economics. He comes from the same work in the University of Vermont. His bachelor's degree was received from George Washington University, Washington, D. C., in 1912, his master's degree from Columbia in 1913 and his doctor's degree from Columbia in 1916.

Miss Minna McLeod Beck will come to the University as assistant professor of Art and Design. She was graduated from Columbia in June, receiving her master's degree with a major in fine arts. She taught music in Tift College, Forsyth, Georgia, from 1908 to 1910. From 1910 to 1912 she taught art at Alabama Girls' Technical Institute, and from 1914 to 1917 she taught art at Salem College, Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

Andrew Gill will come to the University of Kentucky as head coach in athletics. He comes from University of North Dakota. In 1912-1913 Mr. Gill was director of physical education and athletic coach at Lombard College, Galesburg, Illinois. In 1913-14 he was engaged in the same capacity at Albion College, Albion, Michigan. Since 1914 he has been assistant director of athletics and foot ball, base ball and basket ball coach and played professional ball during the summers of 1912-13-14-15.

JOURNALISM STUDENTS GIVEN GOOD POSITIONS

Thomas Underwood, of Hopkinsville, has been promoted from the position of reporter on the Lexington Herald to that of city editor of the same publication. Young Underwood was a student in the Department of Journalism, University of Kentucky, before going to the Herald. His successor on the reportorial force of the Herald is Thornton Connell, of Paris, also a student of journalism in the University, and during the session of 1917-18 editor of the Kernel, student weekly publication of the University. Mr. Connell will continue his work at the University and graduate next year, taking his A. B. degree in journalism.

BARRACKS BEING BUILT ON UNIVERSITY GROUNDS

Ground was broken Wednesday, June 19, for the construction of a barracks in which to house the future contingents of soldiers sent to the University of Kentucky training detachment of the National Army for military and technical training. The next quota is expected to occupy the present location at the trotting track until August 15 and then move to the new barracks to be built on the Mulligan lot, southwest corner of Winslow and Rose streets, Lexington.

The 37 men of the first quota assigned to carpentry are building the barracks. There will be two buildings, standing east and west parallel to each other along the north side of the lot. Each building will be 2 stories the first being fitted up for kitchen, dining room, baths, sergeant quarters and recreation rooms and the second story for bunks. Each building will accommodate a full company and non-commissioned officers.

FIRST SOLDIER CONTINGENT FINISHES COURSE JULY 7

On May 7, 400 Tennesseans reported at the University of Kentucky for special training. These men have been well rounded into shape and will complete the course on July 7th, and the Government has already made a request for a statement relative to the special qualifications of these men. The second contingent of 400 men will begin their training at the University of Kentucky on July 15, and the third contingent will arrive on September 15.

153 STUDENTS ENROLLED FOR THE SUMMER SCHOOL

Summer school at the University of Kentucky opened Monday, June 17, with 153 students enrolled for the 6 weeks' work. The program of special lectures opened Monday, June 24, when President Frank L. McVeey addressed the students on "General Causes of War." Rabbi Levi Mayer, of Philadelphia, gave a lecture Monday night in the chapel on "The Jew, Past and Present." He spoke on "The Jew and the Bible" Tuesday night. Dr. McVeey took up his war lectures again on Wednesday afternoon, when he spoke on "Special Causes Leading to the Present War." Thursday afternoon he considered "International Law and the War," and concluded the series Friday afternoon with "The Cost of the Present War."

AGRICULTURAL COURSE OPENS OCT. 14; ENDS APR. 18

The College of Agriculture of the University of Kentucky has announced that the year's work 1918-1919 will open October 14 and close April 18 and that the work of the college will continue, without vacations, throughout the year. Matriculates will be permitted to take less work so that it will be possible for them to make the same grades for credit in studies they take. The change does not affect the department of Home Economics. The change of schedule is to continue only through the war and will be inaugurated because of labor shortage on farms and older boys going into service. As a result of the war young men have been compelled to go home before examinations were completed to meet farm labor demands. This leaving college tended to disrupt class work and as far as credits were concerned was a great handicap to the students. The new arrangement will materially aid farmer boys and will no doubt increase enrollment next fall over what it would have been if the old arrangement had continued. Agricultural students will be deprived of no advantages whatever, and at the same time will have the satisfaction of knowing that they have completed the required course.

The course of study has been carefully arranged to give the best results to the greatest number of students and the teaching staff of the college has been increased. E. J. Wilford, of Purdue, and L. J. Horlacher, have been added in the department of Animal Husbandry for instruction of male students. Three more teachers will be elected to the teaching staff of the department of Home Economics, and two of the former staff remain, making five members on the faculty instead of three as heretofore.

Mr. Wilford comes from assistant in Animal Husbandry at Purdue and will specialize in curing and cutting meats. He made a study of the subject at Cornell and it is expected that he will build up the work here this year and that the enrollment for it will be large. Temporary laboratories will be constructed for the work this year.

Mr. Horlacher comes from the Agricultural College of Kansas to assist in the sheep and swine division of the department. He is an expert judge of stock and has been featured as the winning man on the winning teams of his institution in stock judging.

UNIVERSITY MEN TRAINED GO TO FORT SHERIDAN

Thirty-two men from the University of Kentucky, members of the Reserve Officers' Training Camp, were sent to Fort Sheridan June 3 for a month's intensive training. They will be discharged from Fort Sheridan July 4. The training of these young officers, who are to take charge of the training of student cadets next year under Commandant Royden, will give additional punch and vigor to the young men who are to train the student battalion next year, as these cadet officers who have been at Fort Sheridan have been given intensive training in military practice.

PROFESSOR SUMMERS TO BEGIN WORK IN FALL

Professor W. L. Summers, recently elected professor of law, College of Law, University of Kentucky, has arrived in Lexington and will remain for his work when the University opens in the fall. Professor Summers was graduated from Indiana University in 1911 with the degree of LL.B. and from the Law School of Yale University in 1912, with the degree of Jurist Dr. While a student at Yale Dr. Summers won the Parker Prize in Roman Law and before going to the University of Florida he was engaged in the practice of law at Gary, Indiana.

AMBITION BUILDING PROGRAM IS AUTHORIZED

On recommendation of President F. L. McVeey, the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees, University of Kentucky, has authorized that necessary improvements costing $2,500 shall be made in the chapel to provide new seats, new ceiling, new decoration and make such other repairs as are necessary.

Repairs on the University commons to the amount of $4,000 was approved by the Committee, and after inspection of the Administration Building, the old dormitory, the commons, and the new dormitory the following motion carried: (a) That the President be authorized to construct new offices for himself, his secretary, superintendent of buildings and grounds and other administrative offices of the University, in the Administration Building; that new floors be put in all rooms; that walls be redecorated; that new seats be procured; that the chapel be remodeled; that concrete floors be put in the basement; that suitable toilets be installed and that the President be further authorized to do such things as are necessary to make the Administration Building comfortable.

(b) That the interior of the old dormitory be taken out and that it be rebuilt and rearranged for recitation rooms.

(c) That the new dormitory be converted into laboratories for public health work; and that Charles Coolidge, advisory architect, be called upon to suggest such changes on the front of the building as will add to its attractiveness.

(d) That the President of the University be requested to consult with Mr. Coolidge regarding plans for student dormitories at the University, and if necessary, that Mr. Coolidge be asked to come to Lexington in order that he may look over the situation and plans carefully.

(e) That the commons be repaired at a cost of approximately $4,000 in accordance with the recommendations of the President.

(f) That the President of the University be authorized to make permanent construction for shops to take care of U. S. soldiers at the University, the shops to be as large as may be necessary at the present time.

(g) That a stock judging pavilion, to cost approximately $7,500, be erected on the University grounds.

T. J. BARR NEW HEAD OF MINES AND METALLURGY

As a result of the law passed by the Legislature separating the office of State Mine Inspector from the University of Kentucky after July 1, 1918, State Inspector of Mines, C. J. Norwood will no longer be dean of the College of Mines and Metallurgy of the University but will continue to be State Inspector.

Since the merging of the three engineering colleges of the University is now effective, the College of Mines and Metallurgy now becomes the Department of Mines and Metallurgy, with T. J. Barr as head of the department. Mr. Barr is an alumnus of the University of Kentucky and has been connected with the College of Mines and Metallurgy many years. As Assistant Inspector of Mines in Kentucky he has had wide experience in associations of practical miners.

Dean Norwood will continue his office of State Mine Inspector at the College of Mines and Metallurgy at the University.

ADDITION TO MECHANICAL TO MECHANICAL HALL

During the summer a building will be erected adjacent to Mechanical Hall for the special training of soldiers in auto mechanics at the University of Kentucky. The building will be so located that after it has served its purpose in the training of soldiers in technical subjects, it will be converted into a wood shop for students in the regular engineering course of the University.

EMINENT PLAYERS AND LECTURERS ARE COMING

The Elsie Herndon Kearns Players will present three plays on the campus of the University of Kentucky July 15 and 16. "Romeo and Juliet" will be given Monday evening, July 15, at 8:15. "As You Like It" has been scheduled for Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock and "The Master Builders" by Ibsen, will be presented Tuesday evening at 8:15.

Miss Kearns and the leading man, George Sommes, are said to be very superior in their Shakespearean interpretations and equally as strong in the Ibsen play.

E. Marion Rucker, professor of Law of the University of South Carolina, special lecturer of Winthrop College, South Carolina Normal School and the University of Georgia, will lecture five times, July 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 on the general subject of domestic relations. These lectures will be given daily at 4 in the afternoon and will cover the subjects: "Marriage, Its Legal Aspects," "Husband and Wife, Their Relative Duties," "Parent and Child, Their Duties and Obligations," "Minority as a Defense" and "The Legal Status of Woman."

Dr. Howard J. Banks, of Alpine, New Jersey, will deliver a lecture for the summer school students, July 8, on "One Thousand Miles Down the Tigris River Along the Eastern Battle Line."

FARM MECHANICS TEACHER ARRIVES FROM IOWA

Mark Haverhill, of Iowa Agricultural College, has already arrived at the University of Kentucky to take up his work as instructor in farm mechanics. Mr. Haverhill received his degree of Bachelor of Science in Animal Husbandry from Iowa, in 1904, and the degree of Bachelor in Engineering from Iowa in 1918. He has had years' experience in teaching at Iowa and several years' experience as a farmer and practical engineer.

COOLEGE & SHATTUCK ADVISORY ARCHITECTS

The firm of Coolidge & Shattuck, of Boston, have been selected as advisory architects to work with the firm of Olmstead Brothers, of Brookline, Massachusetts, in perfecting plans for the future outlay of landscape and buildings on the campus of the University of Kentucky. The campus has been cleaned up in the last month and implements for further improvements have been ordered. The work of carrying out landscape improvement plans and location of buildings will begin later in the summer.

DR. MABEL ROE MADE PLANT PATHOLOGIST

Dr. Mabel Roe has been appointed assistant plant pathologist in the University of Kentucky, where she has for a year held the position of assistant professor of Botany in the College of Agriculture. Dr. Roe is a graduate of Vassar College, and has her master's and doctor's degrees from the University of Chicago. She is spending the summer at the University of Kentucky in research work in plant diseases.

YOUNG WOMEN GIVEN MILITARY EXERCISES

In order to relieve the monotony of long periods over the drawing board, young women taking drafting work are given calisthenics the same as is given to soldiers, for twenty minutes at ten o'clock in the morning and at three o'clock in the afternoon. This work is given under the direction of Lieutenant L. C. Braund, member of the military contingent instructing soldiers at the University of Kentucky.
