Faculty and Officers Announced For New University Extension Course

The University of Kentucky is now sending out copies of the Department of University Extension bulletin giving in detail important announcements concerning this branch of work.

The University offers extension courses in two separate fields: (1) The Extension Division of the College of Agriculture, supported by funds from the Federal Government under the Smith-Lever Act and appropriations from the State and University and (2) the Department of University Extension, which offers, through its various bureaus, instruction and assistance to the citizens of the State in a wide field of educational activities.

The object of this department is to provide, at the smallest possible expense and in the most practical manner, the highest type of education possible to the citizens of the Commonwealth who are unable to attend educational institutions. It is believed that the University of Kentucky should be in close relationship with the homes of the State to the end that any citizen might feel free to call upon the University for any assistance which the Institution can render.

The Department of University Extension operates through four bureaus as follows:

- I. Bureau of Correspondence-study.
- II. Bureau of Lectures
- III. Bureau of Debating and Public Discussion.
- IV. Bureau of General Information and Welfare.

All correspondence regarding any of the bureaus of this department should be addressed to: The Department of University Extension, University of Kentucky, Lexington, Ky.

BYARS DEFINES RIGHT TO WEAR INSIGNIA.

Major David O. Byars, commandant at the University of Kentucky, calls the attention of all discharged officers and soldiers at the University to paragraphs 6 and 7 of Circular 166, April 2, 1919, War Department, regarding uniforms for discharged officers and men.

The order follows:

"6. The act of Congress approved February 23, 1919, provides that any person who served in the United States Army during the present war may wear the uniform after discharge, provided that it shall include some distinctive mark to be prescribed by the Secretary of War. The red chevron has been prescribed to be worn by discharged enlisted men as recognition of duties performed in the service of the country. This is now also designated as the distinctive mark required by the before-mentioned act and will be worn by discharged officers and enlisted men alike. This also applies to discharged officers who accept commissions in the Officers' Reserve Corps, until called to active duty, when the red chevron will be removed.

"A chevron will be worn point up midway between the elbow and the shoulder on the left sleeve of the coat and overcoat and on the shirt when worn without the coat. It is unlawful under the National Defense act for the uniform to be worn by discharged officers or enlisted men without this distinctive mark and the offender renders himself liable to civil prosecution and punishment by a fine not exceeding $300 or by imprisonment not exceeding six months, or by both such fine or imprisonment. A supply of these chevrons will be kept on hand at all demobilization camps and at all quartermaster rooms for sale to honorably discharged officers.

"7. All commanding officers are enjoined to see that all officers and enlisted men about to be discharged are informed of the provisions of this circular.

"By order of the Secretary of War:
"PEYTON C. MARCH,
"General, Chief of Staff."

UNIVERSITY GIVES $1,100 TO FELLOWSHIP FUND.

The University of Kentucky subscribed $1,100 to the World Fellowship Fund last week. Kentucky was the first University in the country to put on the campaign, although it is understood that many others are planning to do so.

Five hundred thousand dollars is to be collected this spring among colleges for the education of students of the world who are not fortunate enough to be able to get education in any other way.

KENTUCKY ENTITLED TO TWO OXFORD SCHOLARSHIPS.

A number of students have made inquiries at the University of Kentucky regarding Rhodes scholarships. The following information is given for those who are interested:

Appointments to Rhodes scholarships in the United States, which were postponed for the duration of the war, will be resumed in October, 1919, according to an announcement just made by Professor Frank Aydelotte, American secretary to the Rhodes trustees. There will be elections in all states, and 16 states, which under normal conditions would have appointed scholars both for 1918 and 1919, will be allowed to appoint two scholars this year. These states are Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Georgia, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Nebraska, Oregon, Texas, Washington, Wisconsin. Other states will elect one scholar each.

The Rhodes will provides for two scholarships constantly at Oxford from each state in the Union. Each scholar stays three years and receives a stipend of 300 pounds a year, out of which he pays his tuition, fees and expenses, exactly as any other student. There are no restrictions as to the subjects which he should study; Rhodes scholars may take any of the various Oxford Honor Schools, or, if prepared, may work for the Oxford research degree of B. Litt., B. Sc., B. C. L., or Ph. D. Candidates must be unmarried, between the ages of 19 and 25, and must have completed at least their second year in college. Candidates may try for the appointment either from the state in which they reside or from that in which they have received the major part of their education.

The qualifying examination which has been required of all candidates for Rhodes scholarships in the past is now to be abandoned, and it will only be necessary for candidates to make formal application, endorsed by the authorities of their college or university. The selection will be made in the future, as in the past, on the basis of a man's record in school and college, according to the four points outlined in the Rhodes will: (1) Scholarship, (2) Character, (3) Interest in outdoor sports, and (4) Interest in one's fellows and instincts for leadership.

The selections will be made by committees in each state constituted for that purpose. A list of the names of the men to whom application should be made, together with a formal application blank, will be printed in June, and copies will be sent to any address upon application to Professor Frank Aydelotte, American secretary to the Rhodes trustees, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Massachusetts. Meanwhile further questions concerning the scholarships should be addressed to any college president or ex-Rhodes scholar or to the American secretary.

The President of the Rhodes Scholarship Committee for Kentucky is President M. B. Adams, of Georgetown College. Applications should be sent to him.

MANY DISABLED MEN COMING TO UNIVERSITY.

The University of Kentucky has entered into contract with the Federal Board for vocational education for the training of a number of disabled soldiers. So far the University has contracts for seven men and it is possible that by the opening of school next September there will be sixty or seventy men matriculated. Contracts have been signed for the payment of their tuition to the University, but the men will take care of themselves and the Government will reimburse them for their expenses.

BRITISH MISSION LAUDS UNIVERSITY HOSPITALITY.

Scribner's magazine for March contains excerpts from the diary of Arthur E. Shipley, master of Christ's college and vice-chancellor of Cambridge University, England, who visited the University of Kentucky November 21, 1918, as a member of the British Mission then touring the States. In an account of the Kentucky trip the writer said:

"We had been invited by the Council of Defense at Washington and were sent out under the auspices of our own foreign office. For more than sixty days we went up and down this vast country, traveling many thousands of miles and seeing so many universities and colleges and so many presidents and professors that those amongst us who had the privilege of visiting the United States formed the idea that all its cities are university cities and that all the inhabitants are professors, an idea very awful to contemplate!

"The members of the mission represented the older universities in England as well as the big municipal universities of London and of the Midlands of the North. The Scottish universities and those of Ireland were also represented.

"Everywhere had we been received well, but at Lexington there was a warm-heartedness about our hosts which made us feel at once inhabitants of 'My Old Kentucky Home.' We motored out some twenty miles to the Shaker Village, where we fed on the dishes of the South, and very good dishes, too, in a stately home with well proportioned rooms, and the date of 1817 over the lintel of the front door. On the road we passed what we had not passed before, the homes of country gentlemen who live in them, and do not merely spend a 'week-end' in them. They breed race horses and race them, and raise tobacco and smoke it; in fact, Lexington is a social and a trading center. This possibly accounts for the excellency of the first-rate hotel where we were housed. On returning we saw something of the university buildings, and inspected the students' army training corps, now all eager to get out of khaki. At dinner we were cheered by 'nigger' minstrelsy and by a minimum of speeches. Afterward we had a discussion with some of the governors and heads of Kentucky institutions."

"THE TWO VIRTUES" CAST IS SELECTED

Miss Virginia Helm Milner, of Louisville, and Miss Margaret Dean Harbison, of Shelbyville, have been selected to take the leads in "The Two Virtues," the play to be presented by the Philosopher Literary Society, University of Kentucky. Mrs. Sallie Bullock Cave is coaching the cast and final try-outs were held Saturday night. Rehearsals will be held every night and the production will in all probability be the best the society has ever given.

Miss Milner took the leading role in "You Can Never Tell," which Philosopher presented last year so successfully, and she is displaying equal ability in the role of Freda Guildfords.

Miss Harbison, the leading man (all male roles will be portrayed by girls), will make her debut in University dramatics this year.

Other former stars chosen for "The Two Virtues" cast are Miss Alma Bolser, of Dayton, and Miss Elizabeth McGowan, of Bagdad. The cast includes:

Jeffery Pantom—Margaret Dean Harbison.

Freda Guildfords—Virginia Helm Milner.

Alice Exern—Elizabeth McGowan.

Lady Milligan—Alma Bolser.

Claude Jervoise—Fan Ratliffe, Sharpsburg.

Isabelle Jervoise—Louanna Duckwall, Louisville.

The Maid—Kathleen Brand, Mayfield.

The Butler—Clarabelle Kay, Dayton, Ohio.

The exact date of the play will be announced later. At a recent business meeting of the society, Virginia Helm Milner was elected stage manager; Clarabelle Kay, advertising manager, and Frances Marsh, Maysville, property manager.

SAX TAKES HOLD OF ANNUAL STROLLER CAST.

Carol M. Sax of The Vagabond Theater, Baltimore, who was selected this year to give the last two weeks coaching to the cast of Stroller players that will present "Under Cover," arrived Monday, April 21, at the University and began work by calling a rehearsal the same night, then meeting the members of the cast at appointed times Tuesday. The play will be presented at the Lexington Opera House Saturday night, May 3.

The English Club of the University entertained Tuesday afternoon, April 22, at Patterson Hall for Mr. Sax, who gave an address on the subject of the Little Theater movement. After the talk Barrie's one-act play "Rosalind" was presented by Miss Henrietta Bedford, Winchester, Christine Hopkins, Louisville, and Gus Gay, Lexington. The program was followed by an informal reception.

Mr. Sax gave an interesting talk in chapel Monday evening, April 22, at 7:45. Friday, May 2, Strollers' Day will be observed in chapel. Miss Hopkins, Mr. Gay and Emery Frazier of Lawrenceburg will present Cecil B. De Mille's skit "Food."

For the presentation of "Under Cover" at the Lexington Opera house Saturday evening, May 3, the University orchestra will furnish the music. Mr. Sax has prepared special settings for the production, which promises to be one of the best the Strollers have ever presented.

Mr. Sax's coming in the capacity of a professional coach for its annual play presages the establishing in the University next session of the Little Theater project, for specific training in dramatic art.
