Chairman Rovin announced that the traditional End-of-Semester Social for the Board of Trustees would be held on Tuesday, December 14th, and that further details concerning the Social would be forthcoming.

The Chairman opened the floor for further discussion of the proposed Code of Faculty Responsibilities beginning with Section II, Other Faculty Responsibilities. He announced that during the interim period between meetings the Senate Council had received a number of recommendations for change in the Code, some of which were excellent suggestions for changes rewording, and new considerations, and a reformulation of the Code.

Lengthy debate followed in which Senators pointed out that Section II placed the faculty in the role of policemen; considered the question of who should determine a faculty member's guilt or innocence under Section III, Enforcement (a straw vote taken showed the Senate overwhelmingly in favor of a faculty member's guilt or innocence being determined by the faculty rather than administration); and held debate on Section IV, Sanctions.

The Chairman announced that the Senate Council would collate all information that had been submitted to it and would report back to the Senate at some later date.

The Chairman announced that Professor Constance Wilson, College of Social Professions, Professor Jacqueline Noonan, College of Medicine, and Professor Stanford Smith, College of Arts and Sciences, had been elected to the Senate Council for a three-year term beginning January 1, 1972.

The Chairman also announced that the University Senators were welcome to attend the regular meeting of the Arts and Sciences course, 300-2, Tuesday evening, November 9th, in Room 106 of the Classroom Building: that Student Government President Scott Wendelsdorf and former Student Government President Steve Bright would be leading the class in a discussion of the proposed Code of Faculty Responsibilities, and that expressions of student opinion in the session might be valuable to Senators who are currently considering the Code.

The Senate adjourned at 5:15 p.m.
