STATE CHAMPIONSHIP WON BY CENTRE TEAM

Wildcat Basket-Loopers Do Not Play in Mid-Season Form

DISHMAN IS GUARD

By losing the third game to Centre by a score of 24 to 12, Kentucky lost the State championship in Louisville Saturday night, March 9.

From the beginning the Colonels were on the aggressive and outplayed the Wildcats in all departments of the game. Their passing was without fault and in the second half the goddess of chance perched on their goal and guided every wide shot into the basket. Kentucky's attempts were many, but few of them were counters. Bastin, who went into the game ill, stayed thru both periods, but could not get into his stride. Thomas and Shanklin played their usual good game in passing and guarding but their shooting was poor. Dishman remains and he was the star of the Wildcats' performance. His opponent was seldom free to shoot and the boy with the dinner plate name, prevented many scores by other members of the Centre team.

For Centre, Bell, Davis, and McMillan were the stars, evading nicely and shooting with precision. During the first half it seemed as tho the Danvillites were in as hard straits as the Wildcats in the shooting department. Many of their shots went wild. They came back in the second half, however, with almost perfect eyes and few shots failed to count.

Kentucky's loss cannot be laid to any "alibi." The whole team, with the possible exception of Bastin, was feeling fit for a championship game and perfectly sure they would give their opponents a good battle.

The game began with a slow variation of advantage from the blue to the yellow. There was the noticeable inability of the Wildcats to get into the fighting mood and altho they all played hard, they were always a little behind the game. In one part of the second half the Colonels actually "ran away" with the game. Their shots were frequent and every one of them told. It can be summed up in this way: The Wildcats were below form and the Colonels were up to, if not above form.

The summary follows:

Centre (24)	Position	State (12)
Davis 10	F.	Thomas 6
McMillan 8	F.	Shanklin 4
Pate	C.	Zerfoss 2
Bell 6	G.	Bastin
Waldin	G.	Dishman

Zerfoss substituted for Marsh.

STAFF AND CROWN TO ENTERTAIN FOR JUNIORS

Aims and Ideals of the Society Given By Member

MCKENSIE IS FOUNDER

The active chapter of Staff and Crown, honorary senior society for women, will entertain at cards Friday evening, March 29, from 8 p. m. to 10 p. m. in the Recreation Hall at Patterson Hall, in honor of those who men in the Junior class, who are eligible to its membership.

That the aims and ideals of this organization may be understood, a member has submitted the following exposition, which the Kernel takes pleasure in publishing in full:

"It is not generally known that Dr. A. S. McKensie, who is now educationally connected in Chicago, is the originator and founder of this honorary society, established in the interest of the women of the University.

"The fundamental purpose and aim of this organization is to encourage those standards of scholarship which further rather than hinder an altruistic participation in the leading activities of a college career.

"Every age produces its typical woman. The era of Washington shows us our Puritan grandmother, who was not afraid to die for the country in which she was allowed to live and bear those who were destined to be the moulders of our present great union.

"The era of Wilson, characterized by strife and demanding both brain and brawn, has created the woman who is intellectually and physically capacitated to successfully perform those tasks which the valued defenders of our country have thru necessity entrusted to them. The woman of today is morally courageous. Her conduct is actuated by high social ideals. She is ambitious and is not afraid of toil. Her life is more than mere existence because it has a goal.

"Staff and Crown has realized that, since it is fortunate enough to be

INTERFRAT. GAMES TO BE PLAYED SATURDAY

The first group of a series of interfraternity basket ball games will be played in the gymnasium, the first game beginning at 1:30 o'clock, Saturday afternoon. The group of games to be played Saturday afternoon was scheduled for last Saturday, but were postponed on account of the Wildcat-Centre contest in Louisville.

The fraternity teams will oppose each other as follows:

Kappa Alpha vs. Alpha Tau Omega at 1:30; Kappa Sigma vs. Phi Delta Theta at 2:00; Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Sigma Chi at 2:30; Sigma Nu vs. Pi Kappa Alpha at 3:00.

MUSICAL PROGRAM TO BE GIVEN TOMORROW

An unusual and interesting entertainment will be offered University students, professors and friends, at 8 p. m. Friday evening at Patterson Hall. The Victor Talking Machine Company has, for some time, been working upon a program, which includes all Elizabethan and Shakespearean songs in original dialect with the old tunes. This will be given Friday and a study of harmony and rhythm with its development will be shown. The program which is called "How to Appreciate Music" will be given under the auspices of the English Club of the University.

RED CROSS UNIT WILL BE FORMED ON CAMPUS

Sandwiches To Be Sold At Chapel Hour To Buy Supplies

MISS TURNER LEADER

Wednesday at noon, the girls of the University completed the organization of a Red Cross Unit, arranged for systematic war work in which all can take part and discussed the financial problem of the Unit with the Ways and Means committee.

Miss Louise Turner, supervisor, appointed committees on Advertising, Ways and Means, Sewing and Character. The sewing committee will have charge of all the work done by the Unit. One room in the Home Economics Department will be used for this work every afternoon.

The garments to be made will be obtained, already cut from the Parish House. The work will begin Tuesday, and will be continued every afternoon until the close of school. Every girl is urged to give some of her time, whether she be a member of the Red Cross or not. Skilled seamstresses are not required, and Arts and Science students will be as welcome as members of the Home Economics Department.

The supplies will be paid for with the dues which are fifty cents each, and from the funds obtained by the Ways and Means committee, of which Miss Marie Collins is chairman. This committee has evolved several money making schemes, such as selling old papers, a Red Cross Evening later in the year, and selling sandwiches on the campus.

This plan will be inaugurated Friday at chapel hour. The sandwiches will be sold on the campus at the usual prices. Later they will be sold every day at noon, and the menu will be enlarged if interest and co-operation is shown.

The two meetings which have been held have been largely attended by the women of the University. Miss Mary E. Sweeney, Dean Anna J. Hamilton and Miss Adelaide Crane are actively interested in the movement.

FATHER PUNCH SPEAKS TO STUDENTS TUESDAY

"Every Man Owes a Twofold Allegiance," Says Speaker

LOYALTY IS URGED

The Reverend Father Punch, of St. Peters Church and School, president of the Associated Charities, addressed the students in chapel Tuesday morning, taking the Biblical text "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's."

Father Punch said that the church had established the relation which should exist between the Church and State; and that every man owes a two-fold allegiance—as a creature, to his Creator, as a citizen, to his country. These duties, he said, do not conflict, and are not at variance, each being an assistant to the other in accomplishing an end.

Of the duty of the Christian citizen, Father Punch said: "Two nobler sentiments than love of God and love of country never entered the human heart. The Scriptures teach the former in the passage, 'Greater love hath no man than this, that he lay down his life for his friend.' Of the other, the poet has said:

'Breathes there a man with soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said,
This is mine own, my native land?'

"The attitude of every Christian citizen in this hour should be one of loyalty. We should stand behind our country and not be too ready to criticize. We see things from one angle, but our officials see them from many angles, and have the whole situation in their grasp. A man cannot be a good Christian unless he is a good citizen."

Father Punch urged the co-operation of every citizen in the campaigns to save food and reminded his audience that if the requests of the government for the good of the people were not

TIME UP TOMORROW FOR TWO CONTESTS

The essays on Thrift Stamps, for which a prize of a $5.00 Baby Bond for the best from each college has been offered, should be handed in to Doctor Tuthill by tomorrow, March 15. The limerick contest which is being held by James Lyons in the business office will close at the same time.

SINGING IN CHAPEL

The first day of community singing will be observed tomorrow in chapel, with Director Cover in charge. Popular folksongs, college airs, and tunes used by the army will be sung by the students.

WEE SMA' HOURS FIND ANNUAL STAFF AT WORK

Another Co-Ed Chosen For Beauty Section By Staff

PROSPECTS ARE GOOD

Wednesday was receiving day for the Kentuckian staff members much against their wills. About 5:30 p. m. as the sun was sinking to rest, and the students were wending their weary ways homeward, a member of the Kernel staff ventured to make a social call on the Kentuckian staff to see if the report that their duties require them to work far into the night were really true. He found out that every report was doubly true, and even that all had not been said.

Bending over a table that was worn and scarred thru long service, under many other Kentuckian editors, the visitor saw Sam Morton, editor-in-chief of the 1918 Kentuckian, toiling away, under burdens like unto Atlas of old, who carried the world on his shoulders. Sam heeded not his entrance, but unnecessarily worked on. Over in a corner wrestling with figures and "cussing" his fate that he had chosen law instead of mathematics, sat Ben Scott, business manager of the Kentuckian, endeavoring to make a small amount of surplus cash cover a multitude of bills.

At this moment, Planck, snapshot editor of the Kentuckian, rushed into the room with "snaps" that portend to be the snappiest things any Kentuckian has ever had. There are snaps of students, snaps of "profs" of murders, suicides, skeletons, tobacco wagons in Italian gardens (where they shouldn't ought to be) and coach-in-fours on coal piles; snaps of the big ones, the little ones, the fat ones, the skinny ones; snaps of all kinds and description worth anybody's money; snaps that will reveal many secrets, unknown to the student body.

However with such a multitude of work all was not gloom. Before these busy workers stood piles of finished work, increasing rapidly, signifying that the 1918 Kentuckian, dedicated to the University sons and daughters in the service of their country, in training here or "over there," will prove to be the greatest year book ever gotten out by any Senior class.

Tho dedicated to the boys in khaki the annual will not be devoted exclusively to them. There will be features of classes, of societies, athletics and clubs. Some newly converted "hoboes" who have just returned from an eventful trip to Louisville via the "gentlemen's way" threaten to claim a section for themselves, picturing Moonsnick, wildly clinging to one prong of a ladder with no more prongs above him and nothing underneath but the rapidly flying ground. Pictures of students' rooms, with vivid descriptions have been handed in, and the boys of High-class—that's why they cost more.

The Old Dorm have a bet up that theirs will be more attractive than those of Patterson Hall.

The visitor reverently asked the editor how the beauty section was progressing—the section which will contain pictures of the most attractive girls of the campus, acclaimed so by popular vote of the student body. The editor said that he finds he must have one other girl to complete the section so the staff members by vote have selected one. He says that each girl is to have three poses, and a whole page to herself.

But with all this work accomplished there is still an enormous amount of work yet to be done and the members of the Kentuckian staff urges each student of the University to lend his aid in obtaining news, snapshots and getting the individual pictures ready. The editor says if every one would remember it is the University's book an enormous amount of work would be accomplished and he intimated that he would be allowed more time to get back into the running as the Beau Brummel of the campus. Regrets are being heard on every side from the fair ladies that "Sam, poor thing, has to work so hard on that old Kentuckian he hasn't time to even look at any of us."

JOURNALISM STUDENT ON RESERVIST STAFF

Prentice Slade, formerly a student in the Department of Journalism in the University, now a volunteer student in naval aviation is on a visit to his home in Lexington, and expects to leave March 18 to report for further study at the Massachusetts School of Technology.

Since his enlistment, Slade has been at Newport, Rhode Island, in the Naval Reserve Training Camp. While there he handled sports and made copies of the Reservist, which has a circulation of 2,000 copies, is published by young university men, and is the only publication of its kind. Slade also wrote for the Brooklyn Eagle and for the Providence Daily Journal while he was in camp.

Slade was detached from active service, having completed his required training, January 5, and then went to Dayton, Ohio, to work in an aeroplane factory. While there he took advantage of several opportunities to enjoy flying as a civilian passenger. He goes to Massachusetts to study ground work in naval aviation and ten weeks later will go to some flying school before receiving his commission and entering active service in France.

PROGRAM ON REFORMS

An interesting program on modern reform movements was given at the Horace Mann, Thursday evening. Miss Floris Whittinghill spoke on "Jane Adams and Hull House;" Miss Lena Lady gave a short talk on charitable institutions in Kentucky, and Miss Lora Robertson read "The Substitute," Francis Coppee's famous story of a criminal.

The success of the new plan, for membership recently adopted was marked by an increased attendance.

ESSAY CONTEST FOR THIRD LIBERTY LOAN

The National Committee of Patriotic Societies during the Second Liberty Loan campaign instituted a prize essay contest on the subject, "There should be a Liberty Bond in every home."

More than three thousand essays were submitted and the first prize, a Fifty dollar Liberty Loan Bond, was awarded to Morris Wolf, of the Business High School, Washington, D. C. Other contestant schools ranking high in order of excellence were the Dunbar High School of Washington, the Joliet (Ill.) High School, the McKinley Manual Training School of Washington, the Gilman School, Roland Park, Md., the Northwestern Military Academy, Wisconsin, the Deerfield High School of Washington, and the Hindman Settlement School of Kentucky.

The essays were limited to 600 words and every school competing was required to have a campaign for the sale of Liberty Bonds. The total sale of bonds resulting from these campaigns went into the millions. The Gilman Country School of Maryland led the list, purchasing $60,000 worth of bonds.

The National Committee of Patriotic Societies, which has its headquarters in Washington, will hold a similar contest during the Third Liberty Loan campaign and hopes to have every high school in the United States competing.

"AN EGG-SHELL BARQUE ON INVISIBLE WAVES"

Thrills of Air Ride Told By Former Student in Letter

BALDIOL AT WHEEL

The following is an excerpt from a letter written by a former student of the University to one of his instructors. The experience described is wonderful, the—but, see for yourself:

"Just to tell you while it is fresh in my mind, that I had a wonderful trip into the air this morning. I went over to Langley Field to see the Station officers and Baldiol asked me if I wanted to go up with him. He is the premier pilot of the Italian staff here, and I believe the best in the world. He flies a fast Pomilio bi-plane that is built to carry the pilot and one observer or machine gunner. It was a beautiful clear day today, with not a cloud in the sky, but there was a strong wind raising whitecaps on the water. The wind seemed too ferocious for one to possibly manage such a frail, egg-shell barque on the invisible waves.

"Remember the trip in the huge Caproni? Well, the flight of the Pomilio with Baldiol at the wheel is like the flight of a madcap swallow, while that of the Caproni with Pemat up is like the majestic sweeps of an eagle. I thought it was incomparable—but now I am all for the swallow. I really don't know what he did up there where the wind tore at your head and neck coverings like a wild beast, but I do know that the world went crazy and it was so disgusting to see such a here-to-fore absolutely reliable thing perform such crazy antics, so I just quit looking at the fool thing and concentrated upon holding my leather helmet on with both hands and trying to figure out whether the machine was holding me up or I was holding it like a Japanese acrobat holds a barrel on his feet. I have never before felt so sympathetic with a Jack of Spades who never knows which is heads and tails. But it was over too soon, and when we skimmed over a hanger just to see how close we could come, and landed like a thistle-down, Baldiol apologized for not giving me a longer ride, but his gasoline was nearly out. So I thanked him for his forethought in coming down before it did give out, leaving us stranded somewhere between the moon and Orion, waiting for a friendly pilot to come along and spare enough gas to get back home on.

DIAMOND ARTISTS TO BE CALLED AT ONCE

The little old rawhide pill has made its appearance on the campus, and the thud of the leather in the glove sticks daggers thru the hearts pent up in laboratories and wood-shops. "On his head," "shoot it kid," herald the approach of soft collars, hot bleachers and "dirty" umpires.

Captain McClellan intends to get his share of the game which he was denied when he broke his leg in the early part of the season two years ago. He has called the diamond artists out to display their ability as soon as the ground is dry enough to hold them up. As yet no large squad has appeared, but bright days are expected to brighten the captain's hopes.

The fact that Jim Park is to coach the team until he is called for active duty is regarded as a favorable omen of success. Park, after a season in the major, is regarded as the best coach in these parts and will endeavor to produce a championship team. Two games have been arranged with Miami, four with Georgetown, two with Wesleyan, one with Hanover and four with the University of Tennessee.

"IS 'AT SO'?"

With the heading, "Je Vons Adore," The Lexington Herald had this interesting comment on our esteemed editor's love affair.

"Thornton Connell, editor of the Kentucky Kernel, and a student of French at the University of Kentucky, recently, with the rest of his class, as part of his class work, was instructed by friend teacher to write a letter to a French soldier. He did, and this week back came a reply to "Mademoiselle" Thornton Connell, with much flattery was cut loose, with all kinds of feminine endings on the nouns which referred to the surprised addressee."

PATTERSON CONTEST MARCH 26

The annual oratorical contest of the Patterson Literary Society will be held March 26 in chapel. The winner of the contest will represent the society against the Union and the winner of that contest will represent the University later. The complete list of entrants has not yet been received.

COLLEGE MAN HAS TWO DUTIES IN THIS WAR

He Must Share His Knowledge And Give His Life For His Country

GREGORY GIVES IDEA

(By T. W. Gregory, Attorney General of the United States.)
 (From the Patriotic News Service National Committee of Patriotic Societies, Washington, D. C.)

The relationship of the college man to this war is almost sui generis. It has a great point of vantage and a great responsibility.

Fresh from the study of the course and the instances of history, the college man should be able to look thru the words and acts with which men and nations sometimes seek to disguise their real motives and purposes and to see in all their nakedness the true and real objects at which ambitious dynasties and nations aim. After all, the elemental passions of greed and avarice which drove the Persian to his ruin at Thermopylae are identical with those which have influenced dynasties since that time. Taught to detect all these in the actions of men and nations in the past, observant of the inexorable rules of cause and effect which have always heretofore and will always hereafter operate while man is man, he should have no illusions as to the great forces which have plunged and are holding the world in their terrible grip.

But this is not all. The college man is fresh from his studies of the great principles of ethics and philosophy which thus far have guided the world in its march toward a perfect civilization. As he knows the mainsprings of human greed and avarice, so is he familiar with the sources of human right, justice and liberty which have preserved and protected mankind. He should understand and recognize the forces which make for the destruction of these principles, however, they may be disguised. To him the alleged beneficent elements of Prussianism are the thinnest veneer over hideous principles destructive of all the good that man has during the centuries wrung from the hands of cruelty and oppression.

Possessed of this knowledge and of the intuition and inspiration of youth, which gives to him the right and the power to see the truth as it is, the college man has a large part of the responsibility of seeing that truth prevails. He will do but half his duty, if he merely offers his own life for his country. He must, in addition to and beyond this, see to it that those of us whose vision has been dimmed by contact with the rough realists of life, share with him his wisdom, his intuition and his inspiration, that we, also, where necessary, shall be likewise willing to give our lives for truth, liberty and justice, to the end that the world shall be saved for a free humanity.

REMARKABLE RESULTS IN LIMERICK CONTEST

"Uncle Jimmie" Lyon's limerick contest, in which he offers four Thrift Stamps for the best limerick submitted before March 15, on Thrift Stamps, has produced some remarkable results. Two of the latest by Professor Noe are published below:

BENNETT PRIZE WILL BE GIVEN NEXT JUNE

Doctor McVey has sent to the heads of the various departments of the University the following notice with the request that they call the attention of students to the Bennett Prize as announced in the catalog:

"The Bennett Prize which consists of a cash prize of $20.00, will be given for the best paper on one of the following subjects:

1. The Essential Conditions for the Perpetuity of Republican Institutions.
2. The Origin and Growth of Parliamentary Government.

"All undergraduates are eligible to compete for this prize and the essays should be placed in my hands by May 1. The prize will be awarded in chapel in June."

REPORT OF CLOSING MAY 1 IS UNFOUNDED

The matter of dismissing school on May 1, in order to turn over the University with its departments to the government for war work has not yet been discussed by the University authorities. An erroneous impression that early dismissal has been definitely decided by University authorities has gained prevalence thruout the University. President McVey wishes the Kernel to correct this unfounded report.

A suggestion that school close a month earlier so as to allow the Government full use of the University has been made by Washington authorities, since it is thought a good plan to send drafted men to the various universities for special training. If this is done several hundred drafted men will be sent to this university to receive special training in repairing automobiles, airplanes and the like.

DEAN ANNA HAMILTON GIVES SOCIETY GAVEL

The Philosopher Literary Society held its regular weekly meeting Wednesday evening, March 6, at the home of Miss Anna J. Hamilton, 648 South Limestone street. Miss Hamilton gave a lecture on "Dilatatory Motions," the fourth of her series of lectures on Parliamentary Law.

At the close of her talk, Miss Hamilton presented to the society the gavel which she had used in Louisville, as president, first of the Althean Literary Society of the Louisville Girls' High School, and later of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs. Miss Ruth Duckwall, former president of the society, and a graduate of the Louisville Girls' High School, was chosen to receive the gavel.

The gavel was made from a tree which grew on the estate of Henry Clay, and has "Ashland" carved on the handle. The name Philosopher is engraved on a plate on the head.

After the program, the meeting adjourned for refreshments and a social hour.

"When we hit the Hindenberg line,
 'Twill be the last Watch on the Rhine.
 For the Kaiser, pell mell,
 Will lie him to Hell,
 And the Devil himself will resign."

"When the trenches as deep as the trees,
 Are filled with dead Boches, 'Der breeze,
 Cries William from Hell,
 'I fear from der schmel
 Sam's captured mein limberger cheese!"

REGARDING AN EARLY ADJOURNMENT.

A recent report, which appeared to be authoritative, that the Federal Government contemplates asking universities and colleges thruout the country to shorten the final semester of the school year 1917-18, thus permitting these institutions to close about May 1 instead of the first week in June, has provoked bodily discussion among students of the University. Since it is also reported that the government contemplates asking these institutions of higher education not to reconvene for the 1918-19 session until October 1, it immediately becomes apparent that the government proposes to give students opportunity to plant, tend and harvest food crops. It is also reported that the government will utilize certain departments in the universities to train mechanics and engineers.

While the Kernel is committed to advocacy of the administration's every movement promoting America's interests in this world-wide war and believes that no one can gainsay its patriotism, it sincerely hopes that the contemplated step will not become necessary. When the University permitted students to go home to plant crops before a completion of the final semester of the 1916-17 school year, giving them for semester grades their class standing at the time of leaving, it was widely commended for its patriotic attitude. Altho such a step seemed the only proper one to take, this paper believes that none can successfully deny that the loss of three or four weeks works serious results in the scholastic standing of industrious students. However, if in this, our great emergency, such a step is deemed necessary by the Federal Government, if mechanics trained at the University during the extra months for the army which marches and the navy which sails under the stars and stripes will help matters sufficiently to justify sacrifices that would be made as a matter of course by the students, the Kernel would unhesitatingly advocate the plan.

If early closing, therefore, becomes necessary, the Kernel takes this opportunity to urge both students and instructors to speed up their work and do everything possible to get in a maximum amount of efficiency during the remaining weeks.

LITERARY SOCIETIES AND MUSIC.

The Kernel feels it its duty, for the second time this year, to call to the attention of students the fact that literary societies and musical organizations are University activities, just as much as are football, basketball and other athletic games. Physical well-being in life is a thing desired by all; baseball and basketball are supposed to develop the physical constitutions of participants. Aptitude in public speaking and debate as well as appreciation of music is also desired by many. Literary societies, the glee club, the band and other musical organizations in the University augment student training in these outstanding accomplishments.

Taking the University in its entirety there is grievous lack of interest in literary societies and musical training. These organizations are vastly beneficial to students, yet the majority of students take little interest in them, and this lack of interest is very detrimental to the best interests of the University and the entire student body.

LYKELLE POEM NO. 20.

They strolled together in the park;
The night was dark as I did say,
Her lips she did not turn away.
He shook her hand and left her,
From his presence he bereft her.

A LOVER'S LAMENT.

(As recorded in a Freshman note book)

When first we met I thought
She'd be a beacon bright,
The wings I long had sought
For my poetic flights.

She'd help me court the bashful muse
And guide an artist's pen
To paint the beauty of the views
Beyond mere mortal ken.

But now, alas! I find
When I attempt to write
Those thoughts of mine in rhyming lines,
They fit into the night.

For when I'd swat the plaintive lyre
And invoke the gods above,
'Tis sad to tell, poetic fire
Is quenched by thoughts of love.

SUMMER SCHOOL TO BEGIN ON JUNE 17

Summer school at the University of Kentucky, will begin June 17, 1918, and continue six weeks. Every department of the University will be under the same organization. The library, laboratories and dormitories will remain open for use during the six weeks of summer school.

Quite a number of attractions, consisting of popular lectures, Shakespearean plays and community singing will form a part of the program of the summer session. The Bulletin of the summer school is now in the hands of the printers and will be ready for distribution in a few days. J. T. C. Noy has been appointed by President McVey to arrange the bulletin and attend to its proper distribution.

U. K. RED CROSS UNIT

At a meeting at noon Thursday a Red Cross chapter for the University was organized. The meeting was called by Miss Louise Turner, acting supervisor of the chapter, and a large number of the girls of the University gathered to formulate plans for the work during the spring.

Miss Louise Turner was made supervisor, and Miss Katherine Christian was elected treasurer of the chapter. A movement was started to petition the faculty of the University for a permanent organization.

FRATERNITY BANQUET IS GIVEN SATURDAY

Kentucky Epsilon chapter of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity commemorated the birth of the fraternity Saturday night with the 1918 Founders' Day banquet, in the private dining room of the Leonard Hotel.

In compliance with the request of the national officers of the organization, that the celebration this year be in keeping with the spirit of the times, the usual extensive plans gave way to a simple war-time dinner of an informal character.

A number of short talks were made by members of the active chapter, neophytes and alumni, with E. B. Webb, of the class of '15, presiding.

Those present were: A. M. Wood, Lockett Robards, E. M. Guthrie, S. C. Lambert, C. L. Cropper, M. K. Revell, O. W. Collins, F. W. Dempsey, R. L. Jones, A. G. Norment, A. D. Hall, N. D. Witt, J. T. Connell, R. W. Hagan, J. W. Herndon, E. B. Webb, Ben Orr, J. A. Dishman, J. B. Tabor, J. C. Riddell, G. M. Matthews, and Maurice Burnaugh.

SERVICE FLAGS

The Miami Student (Oxford, Ohio) says that nearly 300 stars adorn her service flag.

The Davidsonian, (Davidson, N. C.) reports that a service flag having 336 stars will soon be presented to the college.

ENGINEERING

R. A. Campbell, a former student of the College of Civil Engineering, was a recent visitor at the University. For several years, Mr. Campbell has been living in Canada, and is in the City Engineers Department, Regina. Mr. Campbell is an active member of the Regina Engineering Society. A comprehensive discussion of his on "Cost Keeping," as applied to various branches of engineering was published in a recent issue of the society's journals.

A letter from J. E. Bolling, B. M. E., 1915, gives the following item of interest: Drying Systems, Inc., of which Mr. Bolling is chief engineer, is just completing the installation of a ten thousand pound a day plant in Chicago, that will produce for the Chicago market. This is an important war saving for the processes have been perfected by which vegetables and fruits can be preserved indefinitely, without the aid of chemicals, and at the same time so reduced, that the storage and tonnage questions are very much simplified and no refrigeration is necessary.

Lieutenant John I. Bryan, of the United States Coast Guard, writes a very interesting letter from ship-board. Mr. Bryan graduated in 1895 and immediately entered the U. S. Revenue Cutter Service. He stood fifth in examination of twenty-five contestants, to fill ten vacancies. Since 1913, he has held the rank of First Lieutenant of Engineers, and is now on a submarine destroyer. Lieutenant Bryan could give few details of his work, but tells that he has had several interesting engagements.

News has been received at Mechanical Hall that Lieutenant J. Ray Duncan is at present stationed on the Leviathan, but only temporarily. Lieutenant Duncan is well and happy, but says it is difficult to hear from his friends. He declares the Leviathan (formerly the Vaterland) is "some s-h-i-p."

The seniors of the College of Engineering began their thesis work Monday, March 4. The class will design and complete shop drawings of electric traction cars as follows:

5-ton, end entrance, single truck car for light service.

10 to 15 ton, end entrance, double truck car for heavy city service.

10 to 15 ton, center entrance, double truck car, for heavy city service.

20 to 25 ton, end entrance, double truck car, for light interurban service.

20 to 25 ton, center entrance, double truck car, for light interurban service.

30 to 40 ton, end entrance, double truck car for heavy interurban service.

30 to 40 ton, center entrance, double truck car for heavy interurban service.

These drawings, about twelve hundred in number, will be complete in every detail and when finished can be used as working drawings in any car factory. C. E. McCormick will be chief draftsman, and the other members of the class, including senior civil and mining engineers, will act as designers, under the direction of Charles H. Anderson, expert in design of electric steel cars. Mr. Wilholte has charge of the thesis work under the supervision of Dean F. Paul Anderson.

GEOLOGY ADDED TO CIVIL ENGINEERING

A course of Geology has been introduced into the Department of Civil Engineering that should prove of special value on account of the rich mineral and oil resources of this State. The civil engineer, graduating hereafter from the University, will have a working knowledge of geology that will be a useful element in his training. The course adopted is as follows:

Three hours a week, running thru junior year, substituted for three hours a week at present devoted to general electrical engineering.

The junior course in Electrical Engineering for civil engineers is changed from a five-hour a week to a two hour a week recitation and lecture subject, and the work in bridge design shortened one afternoon each week, with an afternoon period in electrical laboratory substituted.

Three hours a week, during the first semester, in Economic Geology has been substituted for American Government in the senior year. A course in Engineering Geology has been substituted for American Government for one-half the second semester for seniors.

HENRY CLAY LAW SOCIETY

Even before the gavel sounded to call the meeting to order, "something was in the wind" suggestive of a lively time at the regular Henry Clay Law Society meeting Wednesday night. In old time style, the members of the society, convincing young orators and debaters flew at each other with all the force and vigor they could muster. Imposition of severe by-laws upon the members by the society suggested by President Scott called into play the live-est debate on the subject of "Personal Liberty" ever known in the society's history. Green, Hardin, Chapman, Rice, Denker, Atchison, Haley, Puryear, Scott, Campbell and Hicks participated in the debate.

It was decided that a large service flag be procured in honor of the members of the Law College, who are now "over there" or, who are going soon. Mr. Foster was chosen chairman of a committee to procure the flag.

FATHER PUNCH

given attention they would be superseded by orders.

"All authority is from God," he declared, "and we should respect authority. We should respect our government which guarantees us life, protection of property, freedom of worship, and other benefits. Ours is a just and benign government; it grants the maximum of liberty and a minimum of restraint. The government has made many requests of us, which we should comply with. It is no sacrifice to buy Liberty Bonds or Thrift Stamps—it is a gilt-edged investment. It is no sacrifice to observe that mis-nomer, meatless day, when we can have turkey, chicken, fish, eggs, and many other things."

Father Punch explained the philosophy underlying the German government and its difference from that of the United States. "There," he said, "the State can do no wrong; the Kaiser is infallible; and might is right." In closing, he said, "This country is recognized as the model, hope and guarantee of liberty by all the nations of the world; and if we lose this war we lose our life, wealth, and sacred honor."

TWENTY-TWO JUNIORS TO GO INTO TRAINING

Which Will Probably Be Held at Camp Zachary Taylor

BIG CAMP EXPECTED

Twenty-two junior students of the University have agreed to go to the Reserve Officers' Training Camp which will probably be held at Camp Zachary Taylor, Louisville, six weeks during the summer. Captain Royden said he thought there would be as many sophomores to volunteer to go, altho attending the camp is not compulsory with them.

Last week student major Ellis discussed the plan with the battalion and found that there were many sophomores who expressed a desire to go to the camp. From the students who attend this R. O. T. C. camp, will be chosen officers for the battalion next year.

Students from the following schools and universities will attend camp at Louisville, if it is held there: University of Kentucky, University of Indiana, Purdue University, Culvert Military Academy, Concordia, Notre Dame, and Kentucky Military Institute.

Captain Royden said yesterday that he has received no official notice from Washington concerning the dismissal of school earlier, as was rumored last week and advised that no authoritative mention be made of the report.

Dress Parade with the Colors held Wednesday afternoon was witnessed by President and Mrs. McVey. President McVey had just returned from Frankfort where he witnessed the signing of the appropriation bill by the Governor. The entire battalion, including the band, signal corp and morning company, Company E, took part in the parade.

identified with this wonderful and startling age of progress, it must not lag behind the procession. Therefore it has raised its requirements of eligibility so that those who are chosen may know that a signal honor has been conferred upon them and that they must nearly approach the ideal of womanhood that is the product of this age.

"By barring those women, who at the termination of the first semester of their Junior year have been so unfortunate as to merit a condition in any course of their curriculum, it is hoped that these "entrance credits" will not disqualify any of the future wearers of Staff and Crown pin from becoming members in any nationally recognized society of a similar order which may be installed in the University."

GIRL BASKETEERS TO PLAY CINCY TONIGHT

Kentucky's Wild Tabbies left Wednesday to play Cincinnati on the enemy's floor Thursday night.

Superstition has no part in the team and the thirteenth holds no terror for them. The defeat of the Tabbies by Cincinnati in their first game, by a score of 19 to 9, added another blot to the 'scutcheon of the Kentucky girls and they feel something ought to be

CAMPAIGN FOR MORE BOOKS FOR SOLDIERS

On March 18 the libraries of Lexington will open a week's campaign for "More Books for the Soldiers." There are thousands of books on our shelves that are not being used and will be invaluable in camp libraries. The boys are eager for reading matter and surely everyone ought to do what they can toward supplying books for them.

"When I started this work," writes Mr. Burton E. Stevenson, the novelist, who is librarian at Camp Sherman, "I had some very plausible theories about the kinds of books the men would want; but I soon discarded them. We have had requests here for every sort of book, from some books by Gene Stratton Porter to Boswell's "Life of Johnson," and Bergen's "Creative Evolution." We have had requests for Ibsen's plays; for books on sewage disposal; and so many requests for "A Message to Garcia," that I had a supply mimeographed. In one building there were so many requests for books on religion and ethics that we set up a small reference collection.

Most of the men read fiction, exciting red-blooded fiction, detective stories and so on. There is a steady demand for Conrad, Wells, Hardy and Meredith. Poetry is also in demand and good books of travel go well. We don't care for cheap editions, with yellow muddly paper and flimsy bindings. We want attractive books and nice, clean copies, and the more of these we get the better service we can give the men."

At Camp Funston one of the soldiers gave the verdict, after his first visit to the A. L. A. Library, "Well, I'll be hanged if this isn't civilization," as he viewed the shelves of books and the nice, comfortable chairs.

It is worth the work and little trouble that it will call for to give the boys what they want to read while they are with us.

NOTES OF GAME

We will have two more chances at Centre for athletic championships of the State. Baseball is one of Kentucky's strong points and Centre will probably meet her Waterloo here. And in the second place arrangements are being made between McMillan and McGregor for a wrestling match to be held here if possible.

So many officers and so many privates saluting endlessly on the streets of Louisville may have dazzled the shooting eyes of the Wildcats.

The following U. K. men were in for the game from camp: Rodes, Howard, Cottrel, Simpson, Crutcher, Hatter, Lee, Milam, Steunhauser, Zerfoss, Clements, Roth, Smith, Park, Crum, Combest, Harrison, Marol, Elliston, Hundley, Peak, Matherly, Collins and Puryear. "Boo" Ireland former U. K. basketball star, who is now awaiting call to the aviation service, attended the game.

ANNUAL ELECTION OF UNIV. WOMAN'S CLUB

The Woman's Club of the University held its March meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Linwood A. Brown, Bell Court, East, with Mrs. Brown and Mrs. E. J. Kinney as associate hostesses. The lectures are not only open to all the women of the University, but it is urged that they attend as the course is planned to give college women a definite idea of doing patriotic service during the summer by helping in the Food Conservation Campaign, either by actual work or by arousing public sentiment. The lectures and demonstrations will be given by the girls themselves at times, to give them practice for their work.
