January 15, 1907

Pres. James K. Patterson, Ph. D.,
Kentucky's A. & M. College,
Lexington, Kentucky.

My Dear Sir:

Perhaps your attention has not been called to the fact that students in many Universities and Colleges are required to attend recitations early Monday morning. The result is that many of them feel obliged to spend a portion of Sunday in preparing for the Monday recitations.

In the last few months a number of Institutions have changed their hours of recitations, so that none occur until the afternoon on Monday, thus making a half holiday on that day.

The American Sabbath Union has been asked by a number of parents and students to take up this matter and see if it is not possible to have such adjustments made that the students in all our Institutions of Learning may have Sunday as a day of rest and worship, with no impulse to spend that day or any portion of it in preparation for early lessons on Monday. A number of educational Institutions have no recitations on Monday at all, using a portion of Saturday instead.

Will you kindly let us know what your Institution is doing in this regard? We shall welcome your co-operation if you can, in any manner, assist us in bringing about this much desired change in the interest of Sabbath Observance.

Very sincerely yours,

Fredrick J. Stanley 200 Broadway
New York.

General Secretary.

On motion it was ordered that the receipt of the letter be acknowledged and the letter filed on account of the inexpediency of adopting its suggestions at the present time.
