Honorary Journalistic Fraternity Holds Services in Kentuckian Office; History of Society Is Given

INITIATION TO BE SOON

Pledging services of the Henry Watterson chapter of Alpha Delta Sigma, national honorary journalistic fraternity, were held in the Kentuckian office Monday afternoon at 8 o'clock, and eight new members gave the pledge ribbons of the fraternity. Those pledged were: Edgar Higgins, Lawton Stokley, Sladen Douthitt, Paul Porter, Lawrence Marshall, Stanley Boyse, Frank Brown and Joseph Palmer. Requirements for membership into Alpha Delta Sigma are based on reasonable knowledge of the newspaper profession and a special inclination toward those qualities which make for the highest respect of truth and fairness of the printed word.

Short talks were made by Warren A. Price, president of the fraternity, and Kenneth H. Gregory, secretary, the latter giving the history of the fraternity since its organization at the University of Missouri in 1913. The Henry Watterson chapter is the second oldest of 16 other chapters in the United States. Initiation services...

Attendance Records Are Broken at Eighth Annual High School Tourney; Dope Bucket Is Overtumed in Meet

(By KYLE WHITEHEAD)

The eighth annual high school basketball tournament sponsored by the athletic association of the university assisted by the SuKy circle, was brought to a triumphant close last Saturday night when the St. Xavier team won the state laurel over the Admirals of Danville, after both teams had defeated strong contenders and favor'es in the previous two days of play. The girls' championship was claimed by the Mayville team over the state laurel over the Admirals of Danville, after both teams had defeated strong contenders and favor'es in the previous two days of play. All Dope Upset

The outcome of the 1926 tournament brought many surprises to basketball fans who were following the progress of the contest. The dope bucket was not only upset but was turned completely up-side down in the semi-finals or Friday night. The little Admirals of Danville, considered at the opening of the tournament as only another entry, fought the favored Ashland boys to a standstill and nosed them out of the finals by a close score. The heralded team from St. Xavier, of Louisville, coming to the

The Lost Hope

College Greeks Must Pay Taxes on Their Houses

All hopes of the college Greeks for a chance to save a few shekels through the magnanimity of the Kentucky legislature in exempting them from paying taxes on fraternity houses, were dashed into obscurity when the lower house of the legislature killed the Howard bill Monday night, March 15. The bill, which incidentally, provided for the exempting of college fraternities from taxation.

Representative Keller, of Christian county, is said to have brought defeat to the hopes of the Greeks when he made a violent attack on the fraternities in general, and especially those located at the university.

Attitude of Economics Prizes Offered by Chi Omega

The Chi Omega sorority offers annually a prize of $25 to any girl making the highest grade for the entire year, in principles of economics. It is for the purpose of promoting interest among women students in a subject which they are taking a more and more prominent part.

The prize is to be awarded in June by a committee composed of the president, secretary, and treasurer of the fraternity. This committee will inquire of the several instructors teaching economics concerning the quality of work done by women in this subject.

It is one of the national policies of the fraternity to award a prize in economics in order to stimulate an interest for it in women. For the past ten years Chi Omega has fostered the study of economics.

Doctor Wiest, Dean of the College of Economics, said, "Women are not usually inclined to elect economics, yet they are more and more called upon to take action in matters of citizenship, and as such they have the right to vote they ought to understand economic questions. Therefore, I think it very splendid that Chi Omega stimulate interest in this subject."

A meeting of the Graduate club was called by Dean Funchouser on Saturday, March 13, at 12 o'clock in the Little Theatre.

Dean Funchouser asked that all those who are expecting to graduate in June call at his office and the registrar to make sure that all records are O. K. Commencement will take place on May 31. Therefore the tentative thesis should be in the hands of the major professor not later than April 1, and the thesis completed by April 25. Oral examinations for those graduate students graduating in June will be held during the week of

ROMANY ACTORS TO GIVE COMEDY

"Mr's. Goringe's Necklace," Sparkling Success by Henry Herbert Davies, is Selection For Production

TO BE GIVEN NEXT WEEK

"Mrs. Goringe's Necklace," the sparkling comedy success by Henry Davies, which is to be presented by the Romany players the entire week of March 22, includes several university students in the cast. "Ah" Kieran, U. K. football star, has become a star of the footlights. He takes the part of an English colonel, and it seems that he is to have as great success on the stage as he did on the football field.

Addison Yeaman, university freshman from Henderson, will take the part of David. He will be remembered for the remarkably good work he did in "Candida" at the Romany last fall. While this play is entirely different from Candida, it offers even greater scope for Mr. Yeaman's talent.

Junior Prom Tonight

Brilliant Social Affair Will Be In Men's Gymnasium

One of the most brilliant social affairs of the season will be the Junior Prom which will be given tonight, from 9 until 1 o'clock, in the men's gymnasium.

The Hotel Almas orchestra, from Cincinnati, Ohio, is to furnish the music for the event and the favors are to be leather date books.

The Prom is to be choreographed by the deans of the various colleges, Coach and Mrs. Fred J. Murphy, and Miss Margie McLaughlin.

Sax Lecture Today Dr. Durton Speaks in Patt Hall at 3:30 O'clock

Under the auspices of the J. B. Sax lecture fund, Dr. Richard Burton, of Englewood, N. J., is giving the last of a series of two lectures at Patterson hall at 3:30 o'clock today. The first one was given yesterday and was on the subject of "Mark Twain, as a Neighbor Saw Him." The second and last of the series, to be given this afternoon is "Joseph Conrad, Interpreter of Seas and Souls."

Dr. Burton is a lecturer of national reputation, and his appearance here this afternoon is an opportunity for university students and Lexingtonians to hear a wonderful group of lectures. Everybody is cordially invited.

Last Chance, Seniors! Invitations May Be Obtained Today and Tomorrow

Seniors will have an opportunity to order invitations for the 1926 commencement exercises this afternoon or tomorrow morning in the business office of the university. According to Joe Walter, chairman of the invitation committee of the senior class, this is positively the last chance seniors will have to secure invitations.

This year there are two kinds of invitations, one with leather and the other with cardboard backs. The booklets will be handsomely engraved and embossed. No limit is placed on the number any senior may secure, but all members of the graduating class are advised to place their orders this afternoon or tomorrow morning. Otherwise it will be impossible for them to secure any invitation.

CO-ED'S BANQUET TO BE MARCH 25

Tickets Are Now On Sale for First Get-Together Ever Held for University Women

TO BE AT PHOENIX HOTEL Tickets are now on sale for the first annual women's banquet of the University of Kentucky, to be given Thursday evening, March 25, in the ballroom of the Phoenix hotel at 6 o'clock.

This banquet is the first to be held at the university to which all women are invited, and this one is expected to set a precedent which will be followed enthusiastically in all the years to come. The Women's Administrative Council is sponsoring the banquet and the president, Miss Eleanor Chenault Smith, will act as toastmistress. Girls, don't miss this party! You'll be sorry if you do! Chi Omega Fraternity Possesses Rare Antique in Old-Time Saloon Mirror; All They Lack Now Is a Brass Rail

(By LeROY SMITH)

Bein' as I was so fortunate as to sneak into the office and catch our only physically fit typewriter in a state of repose, I sat down to cogitate and meditate and waited for an inspiration to come trippin' in. After so long a time, one arrived—five foot two, eyes of blue, flat feet, and a lot of paint. Guess who? Well, I didn't know her, either, and she didn't know me because she ast me if I knew where I was or could be found. I explained that I was me and if she had any blackmail or scandal to contribute, we'd split the commission.

Seemed like she'd been down to the Chi Omega house and seen something which was a cross between an outrage and an atrocity but she was so darn enthusiastic tellin' me about how it affected her that I didn't get a chance to find out what it was. After kickin' the gas stove over and knockin' the telephone off the desk, she jumped up and said she had to make a class, ran around the room a couple of times, and neighed a farewell, leavin' me wonderin' what it was all about.

I figured that maybe I had ought to go down to the Kio house and see what was wrong. About the first thing I come across in the hall was a full-fledged on the wall which was originally intended to hang behind a bar so the customer could look at himself an' if he was seen' double, he'd buy a drink for the fellow with him.

Betty Roggenstein says to me that this here mirror had come in and parked itself on the wall while the sisters was all away and give me no indication that it hadn't got no ovation when they discovered it. A lot of frat men came courtin' the afternoon they got it and that night every frat house on the campus called up and gave the Kios orders for everything from champagne down to plain moonshine. Everybody that came in wrote another item on the free lunch menu and inquired when the bar and the brass rail was expected. Betty says that the worst thing about it, outside of the way it looked, was that anybody could glance into it and keep the whole of the sisters on the first floor of nobles' wants somebody checkin' up on 'em all the time.

VOTE 36 TO 40 TO DEFEAT BOND ISSUE FOR U. OF K.

Had Previously Been Passed by House; Measure, Amended by Senate, Does Not Carry on Second Balloting

McVEY MAKES COMMENT Says He Does Not Condemn Any Alumnus Who Voted "No" On Proposition

The $5,000,000 educational bond issue bill, $4,600,000 of which was to be given to the University of Kentucky, was killed by the lower house of the legislature Wednesday night by a 36 to 40 vote.

The bill had previously been passed by the house but the senate had stricken out certain parts before sending it back to the house. The changed bill did not meet the approval of the house members and the first ballot was sufficient to defeat it.

The vote came up quickly after Speaker Drury had spent a moment figuring out how the senate had amended the bill. The house then quietly concurred in the amendments and the roll call followed immediately without debate, as follows:

U. K. SENIOR IS BEST SPEAKER

Martha Reed Wins First Women's Oratorical Contest; Georgetown, Berea Tie for Second Place

GETS UNANIMOUS VOTE

Miss Martha Reed, of Marion, a senior in the College of Arts and Sciences, was the winner of the first women's oratorical contest ever held in the state at Dicker hall, Monday night when she contested against representatives from Georgetown and Berea. This gives to the university the distinction of having won both of the state oratorical contests, the one for men and the other for women.

Miss Reed's oration was entitled, "Woman, the Enemy of the Ages," and she was unanimously chosen winner. There was a tie for second place between Miss Dorothy Hall, of Georgetown College, whose subject was "Prohibition and Law Enforcement," and Miss Bertella Lee, of Berea, who spoke on "This Battle Must Be Won" a speech also pertaining to the prohibition question.

Other colleges which could have entered the contest forfeited their rights, either because they had no representative to send, or because of illness, as the case of Transylvania College.

Judge for the contest were Dr. George Fisher of Georgetown; Prof. W. H. Walker, of Berea, and Prof. W. R. Southland, of the University of Kentucky.

THE STATE SENATE AND THE UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

When the budget bills came up for passage in the senate last week that part of these bills which provided for funds with which the first and second payments might be made for land much needed by the experiment station, Senator F. M. White, Tompkinsville, Ky., representing the counties of Clinton, Cumberland, Monroe, Russell, and Wayne made a very strong fight against this particular part of the appropriation bills and offered an amendment which would have stricken it from the bills had said amendment passed. It failed, but the senator made some rather strong statements regarding the University which we doubt if he could prove. We wonder just how much longer that the legislature will be infested with such men who do not seem to care to take the time to learn the truth about Kentucky's greatest needs and especially those that tend to make our grand old state move forward.

Below we are publishing in full an editorial which appeared in The Lexington Herald on Saturday, March 13, 1926, which is a gentle reproof to this gentleman and which should be considered by all who are in his class.

AN ATTACK IS ANSWERED

A stinging rebuke was dealt by the state senate Thursday to Senator Frank White, of Monroe county, for his unwarranted attack upon the University of Kentucky when the upper house of the state assembly passed by a vote of 33 to 2 the measure against which he protested.

Senator White in his arraignment of the university said, as quoted by The Herald correspondent in the senate:

"I have been told that the only thing free there is tuition, and that in name only."

The source of the hearsay evidence upon which Mr. White bases his indictment is not given. With very little investigation he might easily have ascertained the facts in regard to the university, to its work and to its students.

Citizens of Lexington are familiar with the character of the student body of the University of Kentucky. They know that many of the students work their way through school, either entirely or in part. They know that many of the boys wait on tables for their board. They know that many of them are employed by Lexington companies in full or part-time jobs.

The University of Kentucky offers the opportunity for education to many boys and girls who would not have the chance to go to distant states. It is furnishing Kentucky with engineers, with men trained in farming and others trained for county agent work, with lawyers and with teachers.

If the University of Kentucky is not "what it used to be" it is not the fault of Kentuckians like Senator White. They have done all in their power to retard its growth and progress and to keep it a nineteenth century relic. If the state has not made sufficient appropriations for caring for many of the students at small cost the blame for this certainly can not be placed at the door of the administration.

Those who can see at close view the workings of the university know that it was never doing more to serve the state and to fulfill the purposes for which it was created. They know that it is opening the door to learning to many to whom the door would be closed were it not for this institution.

The overwhelming defeat of Senator White's effort reveals the confidence of the membership of the Kentucky senate in the university.

OUR LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM

The budget bills which have passed both houses provide a special appropriation of about $185,000.00 for the bi-annual period of 1926-27 and 1927-28. This sum is to be used in the payment of $150,000.00 for the university's dormitory and a part in making first and second payment of 103 acres of land for the experiment station farm and which connects two tracts now owned by the University. $10,000.00 of the above sum is appropriated for each of the summer school sessions to be held in 1926 and 1927. We asked for about $700,000.00 expecting to be able to erect two large recitation buildings but these buildings will have to be forgotten for the present due to lack of funds.

The house passed a bond issue bill which if passed by the people will give to the University $3,000,000.00 for its extension program. This sum is to be used over a period of five years. It is expected that by the time that this goes to press that this bond measure will have passed the senate and that the Governor will have signed the same. As soon as it becomes a law we will assist in detail in order that our friends may know its provisions and assist in securing its passage by the voters of the commonwealth.

Other measures of interest to the University are pending and it is expected that they will have passed by the time you read this. We shall give you a full and complete summary of what the 1926 session of the Kentucky legislature did for our University in the next issue of the Kernel.

THE HIGH SCHOOL BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

One of the most successful high school basketball tournaments that has ever been held at the University of Kentucky, or anywhere else in the state closed last Saturday night with the St. Xavier Boys and Maysville Girls carrying off the championships of their respective classes in the state.

We wish to congratulate all teams taking part in these contests for their fine sportsmanship manner and to say that we wish that more teams could have taken part in them.

Great credit is due the athletic department of the University for the excellent manner in which it handled these contests and we want this department to know that the alumni appreciate the great work that it is doing for the University in bringing these young men and women to the University for these games. These young people are brought into contact with real university life and if they have not already had a desire to come to the University they certainly cannot leave one of these tournaments without having some thought of securing a higher education. We want these young people to enter our University for we believe that they are of the class that will make the best students and after they have finished their university course will be leaders in whatever vocation they may choose and will be valuable alumni of the institution.

We trust that the athletic department will continue to have great success with these contests and to interest young men and women in the University of Kentucky.

YEA CAREY! FORWARD JENKINS!

All alumni owe their most sincere congratulations to Captain Burgess Carey who so successfully led the 1925-26 Wildcat basketball team to so many victories. His team was not made up of the largest men but we have seen on the floor the past season, but every man was a fighter and his team displayed the best come-back that it has ever been our pleasure to see in action. His team may not have been the best team that the University has ever produced but we are not willing to place it second to any that has gone out to represent our Alma Mater. We appreciate his efforts and the cooperation which he seemed to have from all members of his squad and from the students at the University and their friends in Lexington.

The newly elected Captain, Paul Jenkins, earned this position by real merits. We congratulate him on being able to make the All-Southern Team. Paul displayed at all times the things that go to make a real basketball player. It is up to him to take what Captain Carey has passed on to him and produce the champion team of the South in 1927. We know that the alumni and friends of the institution will give their solid support in every manner that it is possible for them to do. We'll look to the next season with great interest and anticipation and watch Captain Jenkins march forward in the basketball world.

Their more permanent leader, the coach will also go forward with the new Captain and his men. Through his guidance, the boys were victorious so many times last season. Unless something unforeseen comes up—our team will certainly have the material next year, and under Coach Ecklund's directions, the Champions of the South should be the Wildcats of Kentucky.

Many Students Working Through University

56 Girls and 60 Per Cent of Boys At University of Kentucky Earn Most of Expenses

There are 56 girls earning a part or the whole of their way through the University of Kentucky, and from 30 to 75 per cent of the boys earn a part or the whole of their tuition and board, according to statements from the offices of the dean of women and the dean of men, issued this semester.

Estimates show that $500 will carry a boy through the school year, and $600 will be sufficient for the girl. These statistics have been presented as a refutation of the statement recently made by a member of the general assembly that the University of Kentucky has become too expensive for the poor boy to gain his education there.

The dean of women declares that there are more positions at the beginning of the year for girls than there are girls who apply for them, and the dean of men and the student Young Men's Christian Association aid in securing positions each year for scores of boys who are earning a large part of their own schooling. Hours of work put in by the girls range from 4 to 39 hours per week, and the types of work include mother's helpers in the city, office work on the campus, assisting in the dining room and cafeteria, and work in the library. The boys carry papers, assist in the dining rooms, fire furnaces, do clerical work, fill a number of other types of positions in the city and on the campus.

CLASS PERSONALS

The class personals this week will contain items regarding the alumni who were elected to the Phi Beta Kappa chapter which was formed at the University of Kentucky last week.

'20
Alfred M. Peter, life member of the Alumni Association, is head of the Department of Chemistry, Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, Lexington. He has held this position for many years.

'22
John L. Patterson is Chancellor of the University of Louisville. He was formerly dean of the College of Arts and Sciences there, taking up his duties as Chancellor September, 1922. Dr. Patterson was in Lexington for the installation.

'26
Thomas Hunt Morgan is professor of Experimental Zoology at Columbia University, New York City. He has done much valuable research work along this line.

'25
Miss Mary L. Diddle, who has an unbroken record of dues paid since 1914, is Assistant in the Department of Entomology and Botany, Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, Lexington.

'28
Richard C. Stoll is Circuit Judge of Fayette county. Judge Stoll is a life member of the Alumni Association and has been a member of the Board of Trustees of the University since 1898.

Miss Margaret I. King is Librarian at the University of Kentucky. She has always been a loyal worker, both for the University and the Association.

'29
Arthur S. Loevenhart is Director of the Research Laboratories, University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis. He lives at 2129 Key avenue.

'29
Miss Lila B. Terry is Head of the Spanish Department, Wesleyan College, Winchester, Ky. Miss Terry has a record of dues paid since 1914.

'29
George Roberts is head of the department of agronomy at the Kentucky Experiment Station at Lexington. He is also assistant dean of the College of Agriculture. Miss Katherine Roberts '25 and Joseph C. Roberts '25, who also made Phi Beta Kappa, are the daughter and son of Professor Roberts.

'30
William C. McCarty is assistant director of laboratories, Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minnesota.

Lexington Alumni Club Entertains Basketeers

Mayor Hogan Yancey Brings Message of City of Lexington to Basketball Boys

A most enjoyable meeting was held by the Lexington Alumni club last Saturday, March 13, at the Lafayette hotel, at which time the Varsity basketball boys elected Paul Jenkins as their Captain, and members of both teams were awarded letters and numerals.

The meeting was called to order by Miss McLaughlin '03, president, who introduced Hogan Yancey, mayor of the city of Lexington. He made a short address and presented a most beautiful trophy from the city of Lexington to the boys. This trophy was the silver figure of a basketball player, who might easily have been named as a man at center, standing on tip-toes, the left hand behind him, and the right hand in his right hand, which was raised high above his head. Burgess Carey, their captain accepted the trophy in a few words of appreciation.

Other speakers were E. A. Boies, who introduced the "K" Ray Eklund basketball coach, and Paul Jenkins, new captain of the Wildcats.

'01
William S. Webb is head of the department of physics, University of Kentucky.

'02
Walter Gilbert Campbell is director of regulatory work, U. S. department of agriculture, Washington, D. C. He was formerly chief inspector, bureau of chemistry at Washington.

'07
T. Jones is professor of Latin and Greek at the University of Kentucky.

'08
Elias Elvove is a chemist in the U. S. public health service, Washington, D. C.

'04
J. Harry Clo, director of research, A. Schraeder's Son, Inc., Brooklyn, N. Y., was at Lexington for the formation of the Phi Beta Kappa chapter here. He was formerly head of the department of physics at the University of Pittsburgh, and before that was associate professor in charge of the department of physics at Tulane University.

'06
Walter P. Kelley is professor agricultural chemistry, graduate school of tropical agriculture and citrus experiment station of University of California, Riverside, Cal. He should be addressed at 1415 West 12th Street.

'05
Harold L. Amoss is a member of the staff of Johns Hopkins hospital, division of medicine, Baltimore, Maryland. Dr. Amoss was formerly engaged in medical research at the Rockefeller Institute, New York City. Also, he was formerly president of the Alumni Association.

'06
James S. McHargue is a chemist at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington. Mr. McHargue has always shown active interest in the Alumni Association.

'07
Graham Edgar is director of research laboratory, Ethyl Gasoline corporation, New York. Mrs. Graham was formerly Miss Isabella W. Marshall '03.

'08
William S. Hamilton, attorney, 903 Realty Building, Louisville, was here last week for installation of the Phi Beta Kappa at the university. Mr. Hamilton received the Rhodes Scholarship in 1910.

'08
A. O. Bowdin, president of the New Mexico state normal school, Silver City, N. M., came perhaps the longest distance for the fraternity installation here last week. He traveled 2,000 miles to be present. Doctor Bowdin was formerly head of the department of education and philosophy at Baylor College, Belton, Texas.

'09
Garrett D. Buckner is a chemist in the research department of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, Lexington. Doctor Buckner has held this position for several years.

'09
Harry S. Cannon is head of the department of modern languages, University of Montana, Bozeman, Mont. Since graduation he has held the positions of assistant professor of modern languages at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y. He has held this position for several years, and has shown a constant interest in the work of his Alma Mater and the Alumni Association.

'13
Philip Garman is assistant entomologist in the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment station. He received his Doctor's degree from the University of Illinois in 1915.

'13
William H. McAdams is assistant professor of chemical engineering, Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Mr. McAdams has unbroken record of dues paid to the association since 1912.

'14
Miss Mabel H. Pollitt, who was here for the installation of the Alpha chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa, at the University of Kentucky, has returned from Tampa, Fla., where she has been since her return from Europe where she was studying last year.

'14
Joseph Roemer was present at the formation of the Phi Beta Kappa Fraternity at the University of Kentucky. Doctor Roemer is professor of secondary education at the University of Florida, Gainesville. He was formerly at Columbia and at the Sam Houston Normal Institute.

'16

Detroit Club Passes Resolution of Sympathy

Charles E. Planck '19 Is Elected President and Dr. Inga M. Werness '15, Secretary

Resolutions of sympathy with the family of Herbert Graham, regret at the loss of a valuable citizen and the loss of a Kentuckian who was upholding the highest ideals of the state, were passed at the meeting of the Detroit club of the alumni association in Webster hall, Detroit, the first Friday in March.

The Detroit club was organized during the term of Graham as secretary of the alumni association, and the members feel that it was his spirit that inspired them to meet regularly and prolong the friendships and memories founded in their college lives. The co-operation of Graham while he was secretary, his sane suggestions, as well as the likeable characteristics of the man, which shone even in his letters, made him a favorite here. The club feels that Kentucky has lost a representative of the highest order in his untimely death.

At the same meeting, it was decided to hold regular meetings at Webster hall the last Friday in every month. Charles E. Planck, '19, was elected president, and Dr. Inga M. Werness, '05, secretary. Henry Beam, Henry Wagner, '15, Fred Luker, '21, attended the meeting. Arnold is with the Buhl Verville Aircraft company here and Luker is with the Hupmobile Motor Car Co.

McMullen, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Holmes Stephenson, Mr. and Mrs. William Francis Galloway, Prof. and Mrs. George K. Brady, Dean Charles Turck, Mr. Jesse E. Adams, Dean Virginia Franke, Mrs. Ezra Gill, Mrs. McVey's mother, Mrs. Asa Jewell; Miss Rachelle Shacklette.

The table in the dining room was beautiful with flowers and candles and Mrs. J. B. Miner presided over the coffee service.

About eighty guests were present, making a most distinguished group.

Professor Sax Entertains Mr. Carl Sax entertained in honor of Dr. James Henry Hamilton, of Greensburg, Ind., the guest of Dean and Mrs. C. R. Melcher, with a deluxe piano party Saturday evening. The first of the evening's pleasures was dinner at the Lafayette hotel. This was followed by a theatre party at the Roman theatre to see the play, "The Pigeon."

Dr. Hamilton is an educator, lecturer and writer and has traveled abroad a great deal, investigating social conditions in Sweden, and other countries. During the World War he saw service in France with the American Red Cross and has been engaged in the study of the social life among the Eskimos of Alaska, and Indians of the Northwest. During the serving of dinner the guests had the pleasure of hearing some of the incidents of his work and travel.

Among the guests were Dr. Hamilton, Dean and Mrs. C. R. Melcher, Miss Ruth Melcher, Miss Dorothy Miller, Dean Virginia Franke, Messrs. William Hillen, W. S. Hamilton, of Louisville; Louis Shackelford, Horace Miller Clay.

Alpha Gamma Delta Tea Epsilon chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta fraternity entertained with a tea at the chapter house, Thursday afternoon from 3 until 5 o'clock, in honor of Mrs. Lottie Bell Crow Porter, president of Gamma province, who is inspecting the chapter.

The house and tea table were fragrant with flowers. A delicious salad course was served. The guests were received by Mrs. Lottie Belle Crow Porter, Virginia Kelley, president, and Mrs. M. Johns, house mother.

About seventy-five guests, including alumnae, patronesses, two girls from each fraternity on the campus, and all of the house mothers of the fraternities were present.

Phi Delta Banquet Kentucky Epsilon of Phi Delta Theta entertained with their annual founder's day banquet, Monday evening, March 15, in the private dining room of the Lafayette hotel.

The table was beautifully decorated in blue and argent, the fraternity colors.

James Park, class of '15, Fayette county attorney, presided as toastmaster. Interesting speeches were given by Dr. J. T. C. Noe and Judge Lyman Chalkey for the alumni, William Tunks, for the chapter, and Louis Cox, for the freshmen.

Alumni and visitors present were: James Park, Dr. J. T. C. Noe, Judge Lyman Chalkey, W. K. Massie, John Jewell, Robert Jewell, Hedley Shouse, Cromwell Allen, Robert Lawless, O. F. Troutman, J. William Tunks, Richard R. Jones, Daniel Z. Torry, and William Walters.

The hosts were the members of the active chapter, Messrs. Leving McCarty, William Smith, Emmett Milward, Arch Bennett, C. Robert Kay, William Richards, William Thompson, Charles Durrett, Edward Bennett, Leonard Broecker, Elbert Bell, William Crutcher, LeRoy Miles, Joe Taylor, Weldon Simpson, J. J. Richardson, Louis Cox, Alec Herrington, Addison Yeaman, Kenneth Cressy, Richard Carran, James Tapscott, William Sandifer, Ted Hardwick, and James Barnhill, and the pledges, Messrs: Fred Gross and Ranson Spiller.

Phi Beta Kappa Reception After the installation ceremonies for the Alpha of Kentucky chapter of Phi Beta Kappa fraternity, held Friday afternoon at the president's home, President and Mrs. McVey entertained with a reception in honor of the visiting Phi Beta Kappas and the initiates.

The house was decorated with plants and flowers; the host and hostess

AN INSTITUTION OF HONOR

The University of Kentucky was signally honored last Friday by the installation of a chapter in the College of Arts and Sciences, of Phi Beta Kappa, which enjoys high standing and is the oldest scholastic fraternity in the United States. It may be said, as was stated by the Rev. Oscar M. Voorhes, of New York, secretary of the national Phi Beta Kappa, in his speech presenting the charter at the installation banquet, held at the Lafayette hotel Friday evening, that this installation proves that, "the University of Kentucky has arrived."

The installation of this chapter of Phi Beta Kappa comes to the university as one of the most outstanding honors ever awarded to it in its history, and the members of the student body and faculty take peculiar pride in the fact that this institution is one of only five southern schools that can boast of chapters of this organization. For an educational institution to be granted a charter of Phi Beta Kappa means that that university on a scholastic plane with the best universities in the United States, and for a student to be inducted into a member of this fraternity means that his standing throughout his four years of university training is 2.6 or higher. It is not an honor which can be attained by everyone and those seniors graduates who were taken into Phi Beta Kappa last Friday are to be congratulated, for he who wears the Phi Beta Kappa pin deserves scholastic merit.

The University of Kentucky is advancing; it has been advancing for the last six or seven years and the granting of this charter Phi Beta Kappa comes as recognition of laudable effort. The spirit of "on, on, U. of K." is becoming more pronounced each year and it is through efforts of such as those who were taken into this, the highest ranking scholastic fraternity in the world, last Friday that this institution should be able to attain still greater heights. Undergraduates, those who have done their part and gone on are looking to us to achieve these honors. Let us catch the spirit of the hour and "carry on."

DESERVED HONOR

The Kernel had intended before this to make editorial comment on the gratifying fact that Prof. J. T. C. Noe, of the faculty of the University of Kentucky, had been named by the legislature of the state as the next laureate of the commonwealth.

The legislature of Kentucky could not have made a happier choice. Professor Noe's fame is co-extensive virtually with the nation itself and few men have been acclaimed so uniformly in this particular phase of the world of letters or so widely and so generously as he.

The Kernel lifts its title to the poet laureate of Kentucky and bids "bon voyage" to him in the far-dung flight upon which the wings of his fancy are so able to bear him.

GENTLEMANLY CONDUCT

The Kernel has received the following letter in which a student of the College of Agriculture of the university wished to express his opinion of the ungentlemanly conduct practiced by some of the students when a substitute teacher appeared in the class. The Kernel heartily endorses this particular student's view on this subject and takes pleasure in putting this matter before the student body of the university for comment.

The letter follows:

March 11, 1926
Editor in Chief, Kentucky Kernel,
Lexington, Kentucky.

Dear Editor:
In order that I may not be misunderstood entirely, I wish to make it clear that I am neither a parent, grandparent nor a candidate for theistry. I am a firm believer in the clean, bobbed hair and the liberal use of cosmetics, including the "se-proof" lipstick but there are, never, occasional outcroppings "excursions of individuality" to which just become "educated."

Today, when a substitute teacher appeared in class for the second time a week, I was disgusted to notice that two young men were prepared for the occasion with a package of wing tobacco and two pairs of five molar. In due course of time these artists of mastication had their cesian wells working at a rate of out 70 per cent efficient, (similar to Aunt Vesuvius in eruption). Consequently the floor and the rear corner of the room were subject to an attack similar to those from which the old stove in the country store so frequently suffers.

I began to look around me and wonder if I had thoughtlessly strolled out of one of the state's institutions for the feeble minded instead of to the university campus. Again my attention was called to the individuals in question by the crack-snap-crack of a small match box which, having served its purpose as such, was being broken into bits for the entertainment of those whose powers of concentration were not sufficient to disregard it.

No doubt your reactions are twofold, at least. First, why did the teacher permit such actions? A substitute teacher is at a decided disadvantage to say the least, and the disturbance was hardly sufficient to invoke wrath of the Gods. Second, such a thing probably never happened before and may never happen again. True enough, but it is not the incident which matters so much as the concept of human relationships which caused it, and other incidents which hatch in similar incubators.

Yours very truly,
Dana G. Card.

Visitor—"Do you support the Kentucky Kernel?"
Freshman—"Of course not, it has a staff."

Cubess' Adventures

Hi dear Cub,

This professional life of a cubess is rather a strain at times. The last assignment doled out to me nearly had a tragic ending.

Namely, here it is. I had to see one of the professors in the Agricultural College and ask him to recommend an intelligent senior whom I could interview on the subject of agriculture. The senior recommended was well informed in his subject as you will readily see in a few more lines. I timidly approached my victim, and explained how I came to even look at such a mighty upperclassman.

It was easy to discern that I was awed, but this knowing senior launched on the subject of seeds, and my relief was almost visible because I did not know what a seed looked like. I had been afraid it would discuss worms.

Must Have Kissed Barney Stone
The senior sold his seed so well that I concluded he must have kissed the Barney stone, but I did not verify this statement.

It seems that he visited every farmer in Kentucky attempting to sell some seeds. The farmers, knowing that he was a U. K. man, invited heavily. Well, six months later our senior went back with child-like simplicity and inquired how the seeds grew. I tell you, he told me in the most tragic manner that his seeds did not grow, and that the farmers were going to rob him. It was so pathetic I almost wept.

Finally, with his commercial elocution, (the same elocution that sold he seeds for him) he pleaded that the farmers give him mercy. He asked them if they had planted the seeds during the dark of the moon, and they said yes.

"That is why the seeds did not grow," exclaimed our senior, "You should have planted them in the light of the moon. I am going to give you such a package of my seeds as a sample, and you must plant them on the seventh hour of the first day of the third month. If you stretch a string across the row where you plant the seeds it will have a magnetic effect in helping them to sprout."

Chose Wrong Profession
Cub, this senior is so exceptionally skilled that he ought to be a lawyer or a politician.

By night he stole out to all the farms and hunted for plots with the string across the rows, and working by the aid of his last Christmas pocket flash light, he planted another row of seeds along side of the string. You see, he was so desperate for fear that his seeds would not grow that his wonder brain evolved this unique plan which was to have a "unique" outcome. He thought that one of the rows would surely sprout.

Imagine the farmer's astonishment when they beheld two rows of seedlets instead of one. Our senior was in a desperate state. One wild plan after another whirled in his brain, and he finally gave the astonishing knowledge that these were twin seeds. I inform you cub, the farmers almost mobbed him with orders.

I was going to write some more, but the managing editor has just ambled in, and something tells me that I had better amble out.

Write soon to,

The Cubess

Note. This story is on Robert Cravens, senior agricultural student, and he has given me his permission to use it. Part of it is true, but the seeds did grow.

Phi Mu Alpha Pledges

Eight Added to Men's Honorary Musical Fraternity

Alpha Gamma of Phi Mu Alpha, the men's national honorary musical fraternity, held its annual pledging exercises Monday, March 8, in the music room of White hall at the university.

Eight students were pledged to the fraternity. They were: Guthrie Bright, Frank Brown, Frank Cummins, George Newman, Cyrus A. Poole, H. R. Phoenix, Neil Plummer, and Dixon Rapp.

The active members of the fraternity are: J. R. Beam, M. M. Freeman, H. B. Moore, R. N. Platts, L. T. Underwood, Joe Walter, L. I. Freeman, G. Phillip Young, and H. S. Turner. Initiation services will be held the latter part of March.

Dr. Harry Best Attends Teaching Conference

Head of Sociology Department Goes to Convention At University of Virginia

Dr. Harry Best, head of the department of sociology at the University of Kentucky, is attending the second conference on teaching and research in the southern region, which is being held at the University of Virginia today and tomorrow.

Progress in the south is to be discussed at the conference and all the larger institutions of higher learning and education of the south will be represented at the 1926 session, which follows a most successful initial meeting held at the University of North Carolina last year.

Each of the southern states will present reports on the extent of teaching and research in the social sciences at the spring opening meeting to be held Friday morning, March 19, in the auditorium of Madison hall. At this time Dr. Best will present Kentucky's report.

CORN GLUTEN FEED

Should Be in Every Ration

Some Very Good Reasons Why

This famous protein product of corn is composed wholly of the gluten and bran of sound, whole corn. There is less than 8 pounds of bran in each 100 pounds. The Mass. Experiment Station says corn bran is equal to wheat bran.

Corn Gluten Feed is safe in any quantity. Many feeders have fed it straight as a substitute for corn. One ton contains the protein, vitamins and mineral salts of nearly four tons of whole corn.

Feed Corn Gluten Feed with your corn, oats and barley. Your leguminous roughages will supply all the protein "variety" the animal wants or needs. This has been fully demonstrated by practical feed lot experience.

Our $15,000.00 Prize Contest

On April 1 our Prize Contest will start and the following prizes will be awarded and paid to good feeders:

14 Prizes for Cow Feeding Associations	$ 2,000.00
14 Prizes for Individual Dairy Herds	2,100.00
14 Prizes for Championship Cows	1,000.00
14 Prizes for Beef Cattle Feeders	2,500.00
12 Prizes for Supervisors or Workers	2,000.00
24 Prizes for herd managers	1,500.00
37 Prizes for co-operating feed dealers	2,500.00
122 Prizes, totaling	$15,000.00

Every feeder of six or more dairy cows, or forty or more beef cattle is invited to enter this contest. The rules are few and simple and no entry fee is charged. The contest will end September 30, 1926.

This is a big educational program of a great basic industry. It will be conducted on the highest possible plane and is entitled to the same support given to state fairs and livestock shows. The rules and conditions are fully given in our Bulletin No. 4. Write for it today.

One dream come true

FOR the man whose Castles in Spain are built in the laboratory, here is the promise of a dream come true.

In communication research, men have seen a thousand great visions in little test tubes, hundreds of new thoughts reflected in the mirrors of galvanometers.

A life-time of this work is waiting for the man who loves it, and under conditions that he has always longed for. A wealth of apparatus and materials, an abundance of knotty problems, a group of associates who are helping in the great work—these are a natural part of this far-reaching industry.

The requirements of communication call for deeper, ever deeper inquiry, and not only along electrical lines but in chemistry and mechanics as well—all science contributing the stuff of which the researcher's dream is woven.

LUCILE COOK
OUR VIEWS ON THE HIGH SCHOOL TOURNAMENT

Beings we have a spacious array of rooms at Patterson hall (two by four to be exact) and consequently always plenty of room, I and Akkie, like all the others on this here campus, was appealed to through our southern hospitality, and we generously received two of the basketball girls from Jellie into our arms. (That is literal. There was not enough space to receive them otherwise).

Well, at first it wasn't so bad 'cause Akkie, being pretty smart at such things, managed to get all the clothes on the chairs, so's we had sittin' room on the floor. However, if these high school skirts had only used the sittin' room, we'd been O.K., but no, she had to play pioneers. They even decided to investigate our apparel, including our special beauty accessories. I walks into the room a few hours after they arrived, and they were examining my new spring outfit, and from the comments which I received about it, the only thing right was the flowers on my Easter bonnet, and they should have been about an eighth of an inch higher.

Well, after retrieving both my clothes and my temper, Akkie comes up to spruce up for her Friday night fling. She begins to put on the blows of youth, with the little innocents watching intently. They asks her the price of everything, and why she does this and don't do that. About the time Akkie reaches the perfume stage, they told her without mincing words that they disliked her "Jasmine Fleur." To which Akkie sweetly replies that she considers the source.

Gradually the night wore on and the dear old bell clangs 11 o'clock, so Akkie and I both got in the single cot. That sounds easy, but did you ever try it? Sort of like putting an elephant in a bird cage. If you only had one leg and arm, everything would be kitty-kitty. Whilst my poor bones were becoming so numb they couldn't feel, I dreamed I was dropping and lo—I had draped. Akkie had kicked me out of bed. Well, by the time I knocked Akkie to sleep, I was so exhausted that I slept successfully on the rail the rest of the night.

When morning broke, I found Akkie was not speaking to me, beings her eye was a bit black from last night's scrimmage. And I just got thinking, after the young things had departed to their home town, what good had they done Akkie and me or themselves. (They got beat). Here, Akkie was mad at me, I was sore from my fall out of Heaven (or out of 'ell), our room looked like a cyclone had struck it, and while wandering around the room, my eyes fell on Akkie's bottle of "Jasmine Fleur." It was empty.

They sat on their porch at midnight, Their lips were tightly pressed.

But the old man gave the signal And the bulldog did the rest.

ENGLISH MEN WILL GIVE PLAY

"Beggar on Horseback" Will be Presented Shortly After Easter Holidays; Cast Now Rehearsing

IS BURLUSQUE OF TYPES

A tentative double cast is now holding rehearsals for that most delightful and fun-provoking comedy "The Beggar on Horseback," which is to be presented shortly after the Easter holidays, by the department of English of the university.

The play, which is a burlesque of types, is one of the most hilarious to all that is sublime, a sheer beauty of pantomime. A succession of paradoxes, comprising the very best music in juxta position with many well-known mammy, sweet, and faint songs. It includes in its variety of type pictures (those of Kansas and Iowa types as well as a few of the proverbial American type, in which one may see a slight resemblance to some of Kentucky's past and present notables.

It reveals among its personnel the artist-musician, the proverbial village gossip, a true self-made Babbitt, the content, porous flapper, and one of that delightful few—a person of common sense.
A succession of scenes involves a special stage, and quite a bit of machinery and casting work.
"The Beggar on Horseback" takes its title from the old proverb, "If wishes were horses, then beggars might ride." The theatre development lies in the mental nightmare of a young musician whose one passion is to produce serious music, while he considers an opportune marriage with the flapper daughter of modern Babbit.

Phi Beta Musical and Dramatic Frat Pledges

Tea Given In Honor of Mrs. Doland, National Inspector, At Boyd Hall

The first formal pledging service of the Phi Beta musical and dramatic fraternity, which was installed in the spring of 1925, was held Wednesday evening, March 3, at Paterson hall. Initiation of the pledges took place Sunday morning, March 7, at the Phoenix hotel.

The Phi Beta fraternity gave a tea from 4:30 to 6 o'clock at Boyd hall, March 3, in honor of Mrs. Doland, the national inspector from Alpha chapter of Northwestern University, and the new pledges. The pledges were informally pledged at that time. Those who were initiated are: Chenault Kelly, Margaret Greider, Frances White, Margaret Gooch, Geraldine Cosby, Mary Diley, Katherine Best, Mrs. Lois Brown, Miss Mary Lyon and Miss Virginia Franke, the latter two as associate members.

The fraternity is active in the girls' glee club and is doing a great deal on the campus to foster interest along musical lines.

Delta Sigma Pi Honors National Secretary

Entertains H. G. Wright With Luncheon at Lafayette Hotel; Addresses Given

The members of Delta Sigma Pi, honorary fraternity of the College of Commerce of the University of Kentucky, entertained with a luncheon at the Lafayette hotel Friday, in honor of H. G. Wright, national secretary of the fraternity. The main address was made by Mr. Wright.

The position which Delta Sigma Pi holds in the colleges of commerce in the country, and the good which comes to the colleges in general from professional fraternities were the chief points of Mr. Wright's address. Dean Edwin West, of the College of Commerce and honorary member of the fraternity, spoke of what Delta Sigma Pi can do to assist the college. Cecil Carpenter, student assistant in the College of Commerce and head master of the fraternity, presided at the meeting. Alumni present were George Kavanaugh and Ben Shaver. Active members present were Lysle Croft, A. W. Kittenger, Sterling Kerns, W. Emmett Milward, H. Athletic Federation Official To Talk To University Girls Monday

MISS FOURTH HOUR CLASSES

University Women Will Be Required to Attend; Aims of Federation Will Be Presented at Meeting

MISS SCHOEDLER SPEAKER

Miss Lillian Schoedler, executive secretary of the National Amateur Athletic Federation, will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the University Women, Monday, March 22, at the auspices of the Woman's Athletic Association of Kentucky. Schoedler comes to the university for the purpose of discussing various problems pertaining to athletics for women.

At the fourth hour a special convocation for all women students will be held in the men's gymnasium. Miss Schoedler will speak on certain phases of sports for women. The workings and aims of a college athletic association will also be presented to the girls.

At 3 o'clock, in the gymnasium on Winslow street, a lecture will be given by Miss Schoedler on athletics for women. All coaches, principals, athletes and physical education teachers, of Lexington and neighboring towns, are urged to attend this setting. Those students who expect the future to be connected with

The following schedule for the inter-society basketball tournament, has been worked out by the association:

Thursday, March 18, at 7:30—Patterson Hall vs. Kappa Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma vs. Delta Zeta.

Tuesday, March 23, at 7:30—Alpha Delta Theta vs. Alpha Gamma Delta, Sigma Beta Upsilon vs. Town Team.

Saturday, March 27, at 4 o'clock—Boyd Hall vs. winner in Patterson hall-Kappa Delta match.

Monday, March 29, at 7:30—Semi-finals.

Tuesday, March 30, at 7:30—Finals.

These games will be played in the women's gymnasium and a small price of admission will be charged. Girls' rules will be used throughout and student referees will officiate with the assistance of Miss Skinner. Sorority groups may select the girls who shall referee their games. Fifty points in the Woman's Athletic Association will be given to each girl who makes a team. Watch the bulletin boards for information concerning which teams will appear in the finals and semi-finals.

SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX By HOOVER

"What should 'Minnesota Ray' Eklund, mighty good University of Kentucky freshman football and varsity basketball coach, do with the choice members of the Louisville du Pont Manual national champion football team and the best drop kicker in the state in the person of Trimpe, of Henderson, Kentucky?" was the question propounded to me early in the week and the answer came with startling rapidity—WONDERS!

And here are samples of the men the University of Kentucky will have to represent her in freshmen sports next year—Irvine Jeffries, Harvey Stone, Elmer Weber, and Bob Miller, from Manual, and Bill Trimpe, from Henderson.

As for Jeffries, if the sporting world doesn't know about him it should. Upwards to ten football teams tried to stop him last year but couldn't, he virtually won the state championship in basketball for the Crimson in 1925, is a whale of a punter, does the 220 and 440-yard dashes on the cinder paths, has made his letters in baseball and tennis and just closed a successful basketball career. During the past year he has had offers from three big league teams to turn professional and go to training camps with them, all of which he has turned down, including one from the Louisville Colonels. Nine colleges, from Syracuse to Alabama, dickered for his services before the University of Kentucky got him, but as Jeff said he felt "obligated to old Kentucky."

This Louisville star will receive his diploma in June. He is one of the two mentioned as logical contenders for the Yale cup, given annually by Manual authorities on the basis of sportsmanship, athletic ability and educational achievements.

STONE IS FAST MAN

Harvey Stone was known as the fastest man in football in the state of Kentucky last season, despite his 212 pounds. He is a powerful tackle, can be relied on to "get his man" and is another Gayle Mohney or Jimmy McFarland when it comes to keeping in condition, which means he is ready for action almost on a moment's notice.

Harvey has been named all-Kentucky tackle for three consecutive years and, having won the Yale cup, comes to his future Alma Mater with sufficient intellectual attainments to warrant his successful studies here and to ward off the bugger of dozens, yes hundreds of would-be "Red" Granges or Ty Cobbs—PROBATION. He was all-Southern guard in 1924.

WEBER AND MILLER STAR GRIDMEN

Weber and Bob Miller are two sweet athletes who will be welcomed gladly by old U. K. The former will receive his high school diploma in February, while the latter will get his in June. Weber played tackle with all the proficiency in the world last year with Manual's championship aggregation, being on the opposite side of the line from Big Stone. Miller is a third baseman and a noted one at that. On the football field he lines up on the flank position and last year was almost unanimous for all-Kentucky end. He plays guard on the basketball floor.

With these and Trimpe, who has already been mentioned, and a Knoxville High school football star who will be seen in a Green and White molekin, football should not be on the decline for the next four years at the home of the Wildcats. It was solely through the ceaseless efforts of a certain full-hearted and supporting group of Lexington alumni and friends of the University of Kentucky that these players were persuaded to choose their own state institution as their reputation and fame making spot.

There is one redeeming feature about the new ones coming in next fall—THEY ARE STUDENTS which, in the long run, means everything. With these boys, along with others who will naturally don the Blue and White caps next September, cooperating on the gridiron, the supremacy of the Georgetown Club, or the Centre Lieutenants or anybody else need not be feared. And then it will be only a short day until they will graduate into Coach Freddie J.'s division. What will happen then? Well, if they continue to stick together, one can guess easily.

Everytime I look across the way toward the old chemistry building I gain more of a knowledge of how a magician draws yard after yard of ribbon from his mouth while doing one of his stunts. Who'd dreamed that the old senior court meeting place held so much junk?

After all the crazy man is good for something. Doctor Pryor informs me that the heart of a crazy man is far more larger than that of an ordinary being and consequently much better for (vivi-section, intersection, bi-section, dissection). NOTE: Cross out the wrong words.

The big league pitchers who had salary complaints are now trying to hide lame arm ones.

BASEBALL DUST

Which reminds us that we're going to have some kind of a baseball team around here this spring. Some of the best teams in the South have been scheduled.

The following games have been booked by "Daddy" Boles: April 3—Cincinnati, there. April 10—Michigan, here.—April 17—Georgetown, here. April 24—Centre, here. April 29—Western Normal, there. April 30—Vanderbilt, there. May 8—Centre, there. May 15—Georgetown, there. May 16-17—Mississippi A. and M., here. May 20-21—Georgia here.

Here's the track schedule. You might clip it: April 17—Vanderbilt, there. April 21—Tennessee, there. May 1—Sewanee, here. May 8—Indiana, here. May 15—Conference, Chapel Hill, N. C.

SPRINGFOOTBALL PRACTICE BEGINS

Development of Forward Passing Attack Will be Stressed by Murphy, Eklund Pribble and Kirwan

WILL LAST THREE WEEKS

With the passing of the snow and ice from Stoll field, Kentucky's entire list of varsity football aspirants will begin three weeks of spring practice under the tutelage of Head Coach Fred J. Murphy, assisted by Coaches Ray Eklund, Birkett Pribble, and Ab Kirwan. The severe cold prohibits any effective practice at present, but as soon as it has abated, somewhat the players will be issued uniforms and work in the gridiron games fundamentals will start. The development of a forward passing attack for next year will be stressed. Kicking is also important, however. Such strenuous exercises as blocking and tackling do not play so prominent a part. A few of next year's formations will be learned and practiced, and the spring session will be terminated with a game between two teams which the coaches will select. Light scrimmages for the learning of plays will be indulged in periodically over the three weeks. All of last year's varsity squad, excluding those who graduate, the 1925 fresh squad, and many other candidates who have not reported for practice, heretofore, have intimated to Athletic Director S. A. Boles that they intend to come out this spring. A very successful practice is anticipated by the entire staff, and it is expected that it will be beneficial in the development of the eleven next fall.

W. A. A. KID DANCE
Don't forget the annual A. A. A. kid dance to be given Friday night, March 26. Music will be furnished by a good orchestra and juvenile costumes will be the order of the day. All women students of the university are invited. A small charge will be made in order to pay expenses.

LEADERS NEEDED FOR RECREATION

Playground and Recreation Association Wants Men to Take Courses in Leadership Next Summer

ASK FOR TWO U. K. MEN

The Playground and Recreation Association of America, whose headquarters are at 315 Fourth avenue, New York City, would like to have two able men of this year's graduating class of the University of Kentucky to enter their community recreation school in New York next Autumn. Because of the demand for professional training in recreation leadership from throughout the United States more than 700 cities have organized community recreation programs involving athletics, playgrounds, swimming pools, community centers, municipal golf courses, community dramatics, music and numerous other activities. The supply of trained leaders to direct these leisure time programs is inadequate. Understanding men of character, resourcefulness, leadership and training are needed. For this reason the association makes its appeal to college graduates.

The course is covered in three sessions from September through June, and the opening class will be limited to fifty persons.

More than a million board feet of lumber was saved last year by the use of mechanical pencils, according to statisticians.

"Plagiarist" Submits Specimen Letter to The Kernel To Show Ambitious Freshmen How To Do It; Don't Blame the Editors For Consequence

The following letter was sent to The Kernel Editor as culled from the letters of "Freshies" addressed to "The Certain Party." This was written as one step in the promotion of correspondence among freshmen. If you are one of those who write such letters to your girl, then you may copy this but be sure what kind of a girl she is! The letter follows:

Sunday Nite
"Oh! Dear One, 'Tis cruel that you should be so unrelenting. I sit here before the dying fires and watch, with brooding morbidity, the flames of youthful passion turn to cold gray ashes even as the embers on the hearth. Fate certainly dealt me a losing hand from a crooked deck when you were sent into my life.
"Youth with its dreams, hopes, and aspirations lingers but briefly in the life of any human being and even now the once brilliant skies of the future are filled with the swiftly scudding clouds that envelop my dreams. With increasing rapidity and never faltering purpose, they move across and beyond my horizon, drawn onward before the ominous approach of the darkening storm-gloom. Gloom—black, enveloping and all-absorbing—the encompassment of which it is very difficult to escape, and having escaped, one finds himself a misfit, an incompatible, a stranger among familiar things.

"And now 'ere I sink for all time into this abyssal darkness, I repeat for the last time the question that is the sole offspring of a distorted brain, and which I constantly phrases itself on my burning lips. Won't you please give me the address of your father's 'Bootlegger'?"

Yours for the Wildcats

EXPECT CRACK ST. X. TIGERS ARE CINDER SQUAD STATE CHAMPS

Over Dozen Athletes Work Out in Men's Gymnasium; First Meet of Year to Be With Vandy

INDIANA HERE THIS TIME

(By C. M. DOWDEN)
With the smoke of Kentucky's basketball battles cleared away, all eyes are turning toward the cinder track out on Stoll field, which will be the stage whereon the 'Cat cinder artists will perform during the next eight or ten weeks, and judging from the imposing records of some of these athletes, the performances scheduled bid fair to be "plenty hot."

The inter-class track and field meet, held annually for the purpose of uncovering material of varsity calibre, will be staged immediately upon the reopening of school after Easter, and already a score or so of track aspirants are in the gymnasium every day, limbering up their legs and taking starts in preparation for the event. This number will be greatly augmented as soon as the weather permits the use of the outdoor track.

Kentucky will again meet a member of the Big Ten, the University of Indiana, furnishing the opposition. Last year the 'Cats journeyed to Bloomington fresh after their 76-36 decision over the Sewanee Tigers, only to have the tables turned and losing to the Hoosiers by thirty points. However, indignity, which last season kept some of the best track men that ever matriculated at the University of Kentucky out of uniform, has not dealt so severely with the Blue and White this season, and consequently Coach Eklund should be able to muster an aggregation of cinder stars that can avenge last year's defeat at the hands of the Hoosiers with interest.

Sewanee also will invade the confines of the stadium May 1st, and although the Kentuckians proved vastly superior to the mountaineers last year in this branch of sport, the Sewanee Tiger can always be depended upon to show plenty of fight whenever he meets his age-old rival, the Kentucky Wildcats, and spurred on by the sting of last year's defeat, the Mountaineers may bring a team to Lexington which will give the 'Cats no end of trouble.

Another treat on the spring track menu will be the 'Cat-Commodore affair, when Eklund will take his young Nurnis to Nashville, April 17, for a dual meet. Kentucky is still smarting under a one-sided defeat handed her a year ago by the Commodores, when they caught the Wildcats out of condition and napping, but this year such should not be the case.

Exactly one week after the Nashville trip, the 'Cats will again depart for Tennessee soil, their destination on this occasion being Knoxville, with Kentucky's sister school, the University of Tennessee, furnishing the opposition. This will mark the last road trip of Kentucky's trackmen until May 15, when they entrain for Chapel Hill, North Carolina, to participate in the annual S. I. C. tournament. This tournament was held at Sewanee last year, where Captain-

ST. X. TIGERS ARE STATE CHAMPS

Acquire Title by Defeating the Plucky Danville Admirals Last Saturday Night; Maysville Girls Victorious

LOSING PLAYERS PRAISED

The St. Xavier high school quintet won the state scholastic basketball championship Saturday night, when they defeated the Admirals of the Danville high school in the finals of the state high school tournament, 23 to 13.

In the girls' division, the Maysville girls decisively beat the Henderson quintette, 23 to 16, and won the girls' championship of Kentucky. The game was played Saturday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock.

St. Xavier displayed the same form which carried them to victories over the Pikeville and Lexington five's. They played smoothly and unshakingly and their five man defense functioned without a hitch. Danville also played a nice game, but could not overcome the odds against the Louisville team as she did against Ashland. May, Admiral running guard, played good enough to be placed on the all-State five.

The Maysville girls had everything their own way in their contest with Henderson. They showed that they deserved to be champions by playing one of the best defensive and offensive games that has ever been seen on the local court, with the possible exception of the Georgetown misses.

Immediately after the boys' finals, Ralph E. Hill, secretary of the Kentucky high school athletic association, which sponsored the tournament in conjunction with the University of Kentucky, made the various trophy awards.

St. Xavier was given the winner's beautiful silver basketball, mounted on a handsome ebony base. Danville received the runners-up silver basketball, presented by the Sutcliffe Co., of Louisville. Miniature gold and silver basketballs were given members of each team and to Brother Constant, of St. Xavier, and Coach Beverly, of Danville.

Lexington Senior high school was awarded the handsome cup for being the most sportsmanlike boys' team and Shepherdsville received the honor in the girls' division. The individual trophy, a gold miniature basketball, handsomely engraved, was given Johnny Forsee, of St. Xavier. The girls' trophy was awarded Miss Babbour, of Henderson. The Lexington Kiwanis club cup, given to the player who was chosen by a committee of sport writers, as the most valuable man to his team, was awarded to Potter, of Pikeville.

elect Brady surprised by taking first places in the broad jump and pole vault, establishing new S. I. C. records in each event.

Prior to 1912 there was not a single labor union in Japan; today there are nearly seven hundred unions with a total membership of a quarter of a million.

CHART POSTED BY PROF. ROSS

Physical Defects of Student Body Recorded On Blue Print and Placed in Neville Hall

REQUIRED MUCH WORK

A graphical representation of the physical defects of the student body has been charted by the hygiene department of the university. The method is original, most of the work being done by Prof. D. Stanton Ross of the department.

All defects were recorded and shown, even though some may not be remedied. The most common were of the nose, throat and teeth, and of the lack of smallpox vaccination within the last five years. Imperfect vision and hearing were also very prevalent. Of 512 men examined the maximum defects were five for each individual, while of 323 women the number rose to six. Cosmetics used by the co-eds evidently do not cause skin disease since none of the women examined were infected while 16 of the men were sufferers. Of 67 men registered for advance military science only one showed poor posture.

Dr. J. E. Rush, head of the department of hygiene, wishes to emphasize the terrific amount of work which was required to make such a chart to call the attention of the student to his defects in order that he realize and remedy them. No student is thoroughly capable of deriving full benefit from his college career without good health. Call at the office of your dean for your number, and yourself in the chart and help to correct the trouble.

Work has begun on Princeton's new $1,750,000 chapel to replace Marguand chapel, which was destroyed by fire in 1920. With the exception of King's chapel, Cambridge, England, it will be the largest college house of worship in the world.

A Short Formula for Getting Long Life out of Your Spring Clothes

How long a suit will last depends upon (1) how good it is and (2) how often it is worn, and (3) how much care it gets. Not one of these three, but all of these three. Paying the price of fine wooleens and superior tailoring is imperative to obtain quality. What sells for next to nothing is worth the same. Owning at least two suits, so that one can "rest up" while the other is working, is the only way to let garments renew their smoothness and smartness. Finally, treating clothes with consideration—draping them, brushing them, and pressing them enough, but not too much—that's life extension as applied to your clothes. See GOLD-BERG'S latest collegian clothes for SPRING. Now on display at 333 W. Main Street. Adv.

Chapter Will Be Known As Alpha of Kentucky; Dr. Glanville Terrell Elected First President

BANQUET IS BIG FEATURE

A chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity, was installed at the University of Kentucky, last Friday, at a business session held in the afternoon and at a banquet that night at the Lafayette hotel.

Dr. Glanville Terrell was elected president of the new chapter. Other officers elected are vice president, Dr. James B. Miner; secretary, Dr. W. H. Allen; and treasurer, Dr. Lynn B. McMullen.

At the banquet in the evening the formal presentation of the charter was made by Dr. Oscar M. Voorhees, of New York City, secretary of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa.

Detective Has Theory But one enterprising detective has worked out a theory which seems feasible to him. According to his thesis, the unknown fraternity-shield-epitome-maniac must be one of the sadiest sex. He bases his conclusion on the indisputable fact that twice as many sorority shields have been "swiped" as fraternity emblems, despite the larger number of men's organizations, and he says this is proof that the thief liked boys better than girls.

The style show was created a great deal of interest and although this is the first year that such a project has been sponsored, the future looks clear for many more of its kind. The style show does not close until tomorrow, and "strolling" from theatre to theatre at almost any hour of the night.

PAUL JENKINS CHOSEN 1927 NET TEAM CAPTAIN

Jenkins Coached by Arnost Jenkins, the newly-elected captain, was named all-southern guard almost unanimously by the sport writers at the Southern Conference basketball tournament at Atlanta, and was the unanimous choice of the all-Kentucky team. He received his first instructions under Neil Arnost, Louisville Manual mentor, and his first collegiate instruction under Ray Eklund who was a classmate of Arnost at the University of Minnesota. Paul developed into the best guard in the south in one year on the varsity and bigger and better things are expected of him in his honored and responsible position, the captain of the Wildcat basketball team of 1927.

The freshmen awarded numerals are as follows: Edwin Knadler, of Louisville; Lawrence McGinnis, of Lexington; Ferdinand Wieman, of Lexington; Tom Phipps, of Ashland; Kees Gatliff, of Williamsburg; Claire Dees, of Lexington; Coleman Marshall, of Frankfort; Elmer Gibb, of Newport; and William Heizer, of Lexington.

the wit of Henry Hubert Davies, the people, who live in that part of the country which is theoretically referred to as "the road," are rarely so fortunate. "Mrs. Goring's Necklace" has been the starring vehicle for some of the best-known actors of our time. George Arliss and Ethel Barrymore have played it in America, and in England two of the parts were created by Sir Charles and Lady Wyndham (Miss Mary Moore) with great success. In fact, Sir Charles was knighted for his creation of this and similar characters.

"Mrs. Goring's Necklace" has a variety of appeals. There is a detective story; character analysis, brilliant comedy with a serious undercurrent; a powerful love interest in a tangled romance. It is wildly absorbing, yet intellectual.

CAST ANNOUNCED The complete cast is, Captain Mowbray, retired, John Gourlay, president of the Superior Oil Company; Colonel Jardine, retired, Ab Kirwan; Lieut. David Cairn, Addison Yeaman; Mrs. Jardine, Mrs. Paul Hughes; Isabel Jardine, Miss Mary Fugua Turner; Vickey Jardine, Miss Caroline Speyer; Jernigan, the detective, "Doc" Reade, S.A.E. freshman; Mrs. Goring, Miss Mary Lyons; Charles, the butler, Carey Tucker.

The play is under the direction of Miss Mary Lyons and Mr. Sax. The setting was designed by Mr. Sax and executed under the direction of William Zoepf, stage manager.

Great Interest Shown An announcement from the office of S. A. "Daddy" Boles, director and chief promoter of the tournament, stated that the financial status of the tournament was satisfactory and that the attendance record was higher than that of any previous year. The semifinals and finals in the boys' division drew a capacity house. The gymnasium, with seats numbering approximately thirty-three hundred, failed to provide for the influx of persons who clamored to witness the closing of the tournament. The same interest was manifested by the university students in backing their district or hometown teams, and each game found several hundreds aligned behind their favorites.

McVey Makes Comment Pres. Frank L. McVey, when asked by The Kernel to give his opinion on the killing of the university bond issue, submitted the following article to the paper for publication.

The failure of the university bond issue to pass only other way, is the indignation of students and alumni and friends of the university over this conclusion of a very important matter, are the occasion for writing a brief comment on the situation.

In 1924, the legislature authorized the presentation to the people of a $75,000,000 bond issue. In this bill the university was to receive $5,000,000, with the rest distributed to the penal and charitable institutions and other agencies and a balance of $50,000,000 to go to road construction. After a rather strenuous campaign the proposal was defeated by 94,000 votes. The issue was then to provide the money, if the vote of the people was to be taken as the conclusion of the matter, was to raise it by taxation.

In the legislative session just closed, two proposals were made, one to raise money by an income tax and the other by a luxury tax. Over night furious opposition sprang up against the bills and in order to meet the needs for a second time, bond issue bills were offered as substitutes. The tax bills were withdrawn and the bond bills substituted. One of these bills provided $5,000,000 for the university and the other bill which bore the brunt of the opposition to the bond proposals.

Reduced to $3,000,000 The opposition had strength enough to force the acceptance of amendments reducing the amounts for the university to $3,000,000 and adding a list of new enterprises in the favor of four more normal schools. The senate refused to accept the amendments of the house and changed the bill, omitting the proposed normal schools and altering the amount to $4,000,000 for the university and $4,000,000 for schools of blind, deaf, and the normal for colored people. Upon the return of the bill to the house, the vote was against the amended bill. Such in brief is the story.

The question confronting the alumni of the university in the legislature was just this: Is it desirable to accept $3,000,000 for which it is necessary to spend $2,000,000 more for schools that would have been a great burden upon the income of the state for years to come? It was a difficult question and I am not willing to condemn any alumnus for voting "No" to the proposition when all of its phases are taken into consideration.

U. of K. Badly in Need The university is badly in need of money for buildings and equipment but $3,000,000 would not meet the situation; $5,000,000 would make it possible to provide for the future with some degree of confidence. When the state realizes the needs of the university and a clear cut issue can be made which is not clouded by a political situation that is very much tangled and confused, the university will come into its own.

The lessons of this incident in the legislature are many. I need not go into them now, but one of them for the university to insist upon the consideration of its needs wholly and solely on their merits. The heartening thing in this bond issue question was the help of many interested friends and the favorable comment of the press. The life of a university is a long one; that of the University of Kentucky has been short, but it can have a real pride in its accomplishments under difficult circumstances.

FRANK L. McVEY

With the curtain rung down on the scene of the 1926 basketball tournament, it is a prevailing idea that the results of this year's games will create greater interest throughout the state than has heretofore been shown, because of the wrestling of the title this year from the two previous controlling teams, Manual and Lexington. With the monopoly of the state championship broken, and the strength of all teams throughout the state increasing, there are eager eyes already turned toward the 1927 tournament.

The election of officers of the Y.M.C.A. is held by ballot vote. Mr. Kavanaugh stands, and each member is entitled to one vote. Ballots will be sent to each member for the coming election.

Y. W. To Elect

The annual election of officers of the Y.W.C.A. of the University of Kentucky will be held March 24, in the hall of the Administration building, and in the office of Boyd hall.

The polls will be open from 8 to 4 p.m., and the following girls have nominated for office for president: Irene Morgan, Virginia Heizer; for secretary: Jeanette Metcalf, Chenaunt Kelley; Louis Jefferson for treasurer: Margie Lee Smith, Dorothy Smith; for undergraduate representative: Lydia Roberts, Mary Kate Bledsoe.

The new officers will be introduced at the women's banquet on Sunday evening, March 28, in the recreation room of Patterson hall at 6:30 o'clock.

physical education departments or the coaching of women's athletics, will find these discussions helpful. Monday's program is especially designed for the purpose of starting a state-wide sentiment in favor of a safer and saner type of sports for women. The ultimate goal of the National Athletic Association of the University of Kentucky, is the formation within the various high schools throughout the state, of little-sister chapters of the W.A.A. Boys-rule basketball as played by girls is the particular enemy against which the organization intends to hurl its attack. Those who are not in sympathy with this movement may discover the how and why of the W.A.A. standpoint by attending the meetings held under the direction of Miss Schoedler.

May 17 to the 21, each one receiving a copy of the dates. It is absolutely necessary that each one appear for this oral examination at the date and time set, so if anyone has a preference as to the date and time, please see Dean Funkhouser immediately. The election of officers resulted in the following: Charles A. Lendermilk, president; John O. Taggart, vice-president; Mrs. Vaneta Thomas Horliacher, secretary-treasurer.

It was decided to have a banquet, at which time a well known speaker would address the club. The arrangements were left to the executive committee with the suggestion that the banquet be held on Friday night sometime between April 26 and May 17.

When silvery moonlight falls on town and field—and the long, joyous tour home is ready to begin—have a Camel!

WHEN moonlight washes woodland and hills with platinum light. And the tour home is ready to begin—have a Camel! For Camel makes every smooth tour smoother, adds of its own contentment to every delightful journey. Camels never tire your taste or leave a cigarette after-taste. Pay what you will, you'll never get choicer tobaccos than those in Camels.

Camels contain the very choicest tobaccos grown in all the world. Camels are blended by the world's most expert blenders. Nothing is too good for Camels. In the making of this one brand we concentrate the tobacco knowledge and skill of the largest organization of tobacco experts in the world. No other cigarette made in the world. They are the overwhelming choice of experienced smokers.

So this night as the forest-topped hills race by in moonlit procession. As the magic road curves through the colonnades of birches—have then the finest made, regardless of price. Have a Camel!

Our highest wish, if you ever buy from Camel quality, is that you try them. We invite you to compare Camels with any cigarette made at any price. R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company
