ACTIVITY LIMIT FAILS TO CARRY IN LEGISLATURE

Salary For President, Vice-Presidents Approved
The much-discussed "activity monopoly" bill, which would restrict BMO's in the number of extra-curricular they could participate in was defeated in the Student Legislature Wednesday by a 10 to nine vote.

Fees Are Due Before Day Of Graduation

In response to several requests, the University business office yesterday announced that the fee of $9 for graduating seniors, and the fee of $15 for graduate students who receive their Masters degree in June, are due in the business office any time before the day prior to graduation. If payment is made by check, the check should be in the hands of the business staff at least ten days before graduation.

Up For Student President Are . . .

Allen, Lassie, Albert, Massie, Trent, Hall Are Running
By JIM CALDWELL
With a "jam" that paled in comparison with last October's hilarious meeting, the 1940 Student Government presidential campaign got under way in Memorial Hall last night before a crowd of 200 patient onlookers.

POLITICAL CHIEFS ALSO TALK AT MEET

Allen, Lassie, Albert, Massie, Trent, Hall Are Running
The fault apparently lay in the fact that the committee in charge of the election, which was expressed to plan the affair to be held on Wednesday by which time the Alumni gymnasium had already been engaged and it was too late to make preparations anywhere near as elaborate as those made last fall. The result was somewhat of a disappointment to the student body, some of whom had expressed hopes that the political rallies would improve with each year and thereby increase campus interest in student government.

79 Drivers Tested In Campus Safety Campaign

So far the number of men has greatly surpassed the number of women taking the tests. Only 10 of the women tested were able to pass their out-door driving test, while 11 students flunked the test, although several scores were high enough to rank better than the average driver.

What They Think

Question: "Do you approve of having politics on the campus?"
Bob Leng, A & S sophomore — "No. People should be interested in their personality and not just their political affiliation."
Laura Lyons, A & S junior — "Yes. It gets students interested in politics so they will take more interest in government after they graduate."

What They Think

Question: "Do you approve of having politics on the campus?"
Hugh Owen, A & S junior — "No. There is just a lot of talk about it and they control the way the majority votes."
Margaret Trent, Ag junior — "Certainly. Students have to be concerned with them after they graduate, so they should get used to them now."

What They Think

Question: "Do you approve of having politics on the campus?"
Granville Clark, Law Senior — "It's a good way to spend your time if you don't have anything else to do."
Margaret Cantrill, Com. sophomore — "It is through the political campaigns that many students make themselves known."

SGA CANDIDATES

State Platforms
In their speeches, the candidates for the most part spent their allotted times in outlining their respective party platforms, which are printed elsewhere in this issue of The Kernel.

Demonstration for Albert

The only phase of the affair that was comparable to last October's rally was a short demonstration for the Independent men, vice-presidential candidate Vernon Albert. Between one of the speeches, a delegation entered the hall bearing large signs on which were inscribed such legends as "Shoot the votes to Albert," "He's no Throatslitter," and "Pass the biscuits pappy, here's Albert."

Other than that incident and two or three political jokes told by Gordon and Barrickman, nothing much else happened to inspire enthusiasm. The candidates themselves, setting, appeared to be sincere in bearing up well in disapproving their desire to maintain an active, efficient student government, "with the interests of the entire University in mind."

Diamond Cats Claim Xavier In Prep For Vols Today And Saturday

BLUES OUTLAST MUSKIES FOR 9-8 WIN

Out of their own private win depression after Wednesday's 9-3 verdict over Xavier, Kentucky's Wildcats will face the Tennessee Vols in a two game series today and tomorrow afternoon on the Stoll diamond.

Today's game is slated to start at 2:30, while the Saturday bout is booked for 2:30 following the Kentucky-West Virginia track meet. Student activity books are good for admission to both tests.

Against Xavier before a hand-full of customers the Cats were forced to weather a desperate last inning rally in order to rack up their first win of the current campaign. For the first seven innings Alan Rathbun, Kentucky pitcher, had side-armed the Muskies into complete submission and led by 6-1.

After Xavier had plated three runs in their portion of the eighth round, the Cats retaliated with a trio of markers. The final frame found Rathbun wobbling. After two were out and four more markers were shoved across, Carl Staker was rushed to the rescue and struck out Klingenberg to end the rally.

It was a drastically shuffled lineup that led-off for Kentucky. Coach Frank Moseley, trying desperately to uncover some batting punch, moved Joe Shepherd to shortstop and inserted Billy Black in the third base vacancy. Lincoln Ellington, a reconstructed pitcher, opened in left field in place of Charley Martin.

Kentucky's 11 hit attack off the offerings of Bert Robben, Xavier hurler, who acted throughout his term on the mound as though he was pitching for the news-reel camera, was led by Shepherd, who hit safely four times in five appearances. Captain Wilce Carnes, Grover Cardwell and Ellington added two safeties each to the total.

Rathbun's early control of the situation was demonstrated in the first inning when, after Blunt had scratched a hit to left, Steuer was forced to stroke into a smooth double play, Carnes to Shepherd to Cardwell. The frame was closed with Thuman striking out.

It took Kentucky exactly three pitches to jump into a lead that was never lost. The third ball that Robben pitched to Carnes, Cat lead-off batter, was bopped over the left field fence for a home run. The third round found the Cats adding to their total as Shepherd singled to center and stole second. Ellington drew a base on balls and Shepherd slipped to third on a passed ball. One run was scored when Litsinger, Muskie catcher, attempted to catch Ellington at second. The second run of the inning came when Ellington ranced home on Cardwell's line single to center.

The lead jumped once more in the fourth when, with two men out, Fritz walked and scored on Shepherd's single to center. Shepherd in turn dashed home when Ellington laced a double into center.

For four innings Rathbun kept the Xavier score sheet blanker than a pick-pocket's expression. However, in the fifth frame the first Muskie run was manufactured when Gates surprised all concerned by bumping a double into center field and scoring on Blunt's single to right.

Shepherd and Ellington combined to shove the lead to 6-1 in the seventh with successive hits. Xavier's first show of power came in the next inning. After Blunt had grounded out, Greener and Thuman singled and Nicolai walked to cram the corners. Sheeran then cleaned the sacks with a scorching double down the third base line.

Robben was relieved of his pitching chores in the same inning as the Cats closed their register with three runs. Noland Navarre walked, stole second, raced to third on an overthrow and scored on the Wildcat's long fly to left field. Fritz kept the rally alive by drawing his third base on balls and scoring on successive singles by Rathbun and Carnes. Shepherd singled for the fourth time to fill the bases and Rathbun scored as Shepherd was thrown out at second on a fielder's choice led by Roy Graves, who batted for Ellington. At this point Putman entered the game in place of Robben and forced Cardwell to strike out and end the round.

The last inning found Xavier again rallying to plate four runs in five hits before Fireman Staker rushed to the rescue and squelched the flame.

In all probability the same lineup will open against Tennessee in this afternoon's Southeastern Conference battle. George Tomocchi, fireball right hander is due to get the starting pitching assignment, with Staker or Staff Kelly ready to toe the mound in the Saturday game.

Cat Racquetters Beat Vols, 5-4

Games With Indiana, Georgia Tech Slated For Week-end

Sparked by Captain Lee Huber, and showing signs of a quick recovery from lack of practice miseries, the Kentucky tennis team yesterday came through in the final match to defeat the Tennessee Volunteers, 5-4.

Credit for the victory went to Grant Lewis and Billy Hodges, who with the score tied at 4-1 and down one set in their double match with the Vols' No. 3 pair, put on the pressure to clinch the Kentucky victory.

Outstanding player on the courts was Huber who, though way below mid-summer form, defeated Tennessee's Gillespie in straight sets, then teamed up with Bobby Boone to win his doubles match.

Also pleasing to Coach Downing, was the work of Heinz Seelbach, who played the No. 6 spot for the home team. Seelbach, playing his first year of varsity tennis, lost his first set, 3-6, but quickly recovered to outstroke Littleton of Tennessee in the last two, 6-0, 6-3.

Summary:

Huber (K) defeated Gillespie (T) 6-3, 6-4, 6-1, 6-2.
Boone (K) defeated Boone (K) 5-7, 6-1, 6-2.
Ellington (T) defeated Boland (K) 6-3, 10-2.
Arledge (T) defeated Dunlap (K) 5-7, 6-3.
Lewis (K) defeated Carradine (T) 1-5, 6-3.

Seelbach (K) defeated Littleton (T) 3-6, 6-4, 6-3.
Huber and Boone (K) defeated Gillespie and Slattery (T) 6-4, 2-6, 6-3.
Boone and Arledge (T) defeated Boland and Dunlap (K) 6-3, 6-4.
Lewis and Hodges (K) defeated Littleton and Carradine (T) 3-7, 6-4, 6-4.

The Wildcats racquetters will meet Georgia Tech tomorrow afternoon on the University courts.

Russell Bobbitt, Tech star will match strokes with Lee Huber, Wildcat ace and one-time State champion. Mr. Bobbitt, along with national intercollegiate champion Frank Guernsey, is the No. 3 ranking doubles player in these United States. In the singles ratings, he places in the twenties, which is no mean feat.

The Georgia Tech match is the Nash, first-year law student of first of three which the Cats are scheduled to play in Lexington this week and next. On Monday they play the University of Indiana team, and on Thursday they will tangle with Cincinnati.

Named to play the singles matches against Georgia Tech are Huber, Bobby Boone, Joe Dunap, Soney Boland, Grant Lewis, and Billy Hodges, or Heinz Seelbach. Huber and Boone, Dunlap and Boland, and Lewis and Hodges will team up in the doubles.

Lexington, is a Sigma Alpha Epsilon active, men's vice-president of the Student Government association, a member of Beta Gamma Sigma, commerce scholastic honorarium, the radio staff, and the interfraternity council.

Staker, engineering junior from Maysville, is a member of Tau Beta Pi, engineering scholastic honorarium, the Student Legislature, and the basketball and baseball squads.

Zimmerman, arts and sciences senior from Louisville, member of Phi Beta Kappa, arts and sciences scholastic honorarium, the Student Legislature, and the band.

All actives and pledges will meet at noon today in the office of James S. Shropshire, Room 121, Union building.

Independents And Constitutionalists Present Party Platforms

Allen And Colleagues Favor Student Decisions

1. To uphold any measure that would be for the good of the student body as a whole.
2. To establish a student loan fund from the surplus money designated to the Student Legislature for appropriation as needed in campus activities.
3. To establish a student employment agency to supplement the help given by the assistant dean of men and dean of women.
4. To provide a better system for paying salaries earned in the service of the University.
5. To set up a wage scale for students employed by the University.
6. To advocate a student representative in the handling of any catering company which has or may obtain a franchise to operate in the Student Union building.
7. To obtain additional dormitories for both men and women.
8. To provide adequate nurses and nursing facilities in the men's dormitory.
9. To revise the method of giving Intramural awards so that all groups on the campus receive an equal opportunity of winning those trophies, cups, and medals.
10. To establish a lost and found agency for the convenience of students.
11. To try to obtain optional class attendance for all upper classmen with a 2.2 standing or better.

As a member of the student legislature for the past year, I learned many things concerning student government. I feel that the Student Government association has accomplished a great deal but I feel that in the future it should accomplish more since the inertia of the starting year will be removed. I feel that the student government can give the students a great voice in directing their life academically as well as socially while they are on this campus. For this reason I sponsored the bill asking for student opinion concerning preference of the time for spring vacation. This matter is one concerning the students only and in my opinion they should be allowed to determine such a matter. Not only this particular matter but all proposals concerning their welfare should be left up to the students. I think that there are many problems facing the students which are urgent and demand immediate action. I am for immediate action.

With a five-day program devoted to the theme, "What Is a Durable Rural Life Program for Kentucky?" the sixth annual Rural Leadership Institute, will open with a general session at 1:10 p. m., Monday, in the Stock Judging pavilion on the Experiment Station farm. Three prominent agricultural authorities will speak on various phases of "Backgrounds" for a rural life program during the first afternoon session. Dr. Carl P. Trausch, chief of the division of program study and discussion, United States department of agriculture, will speak on "An Adequate Philosophy for Modern Rural Life." Dr. John Stoner, department of government, University of Indiana, will discuss "General Social and Economic Backgrounds of Present Day Rural Life." The final speaker for the entire year will be Dr. Henry C. Taylor, director of the farm foundation, Chicago. He will point out the "Immediate Backgrounds of Proposed Rural Life Programs." As a preview of the leadership convention the annual Rural Life Sunday program will be broadcast from 9:30 to 9 a. m., from the University studios over the WHAS network. Dr. Howard W. Beers, professor of rural sociology and secretary of the Kentucky Rural Church council, announced. The Rev. T. W. Spicer, Kenne president of the council which is conducting the institute in cooperation with the College of Agriculture will speak during the broadcast. The Men's Glee club, directed by Donald Allen, will furnish the music. Participants from the agricultural college staff include Dean Thomas P. Cooper; Prof. T. B. Bryant, assistant director of extension; and W. D. Nichols, head of the department of farm economics.

We stand for a more democratic, more effective and more efficient government by the student body of the University. This is the beginning of a second year of the new student government. The framework has been well set up during the past year. The coming year will bring the test of whether this system will live. Its success now depends upon two factors: First, in our opinion the most important, the active interest in the government by a majority of the students. Second, capable and representative persons to carry out the will of this majority. We believe that the students can and will fulfill the first requirement and that we, Mr. Hall, Miss Zenz, and I, can aid in fulfilling the second requirement.

Track Cats To Face Hill-Billys

Calling 'Em Wild

By JOE CREASON

Since the weather for the past two weeks has been such as would cause even Admiral Byrd to slip into his galoshes, few events of broad taking value have hatched within Kentucky's sports realm.

My duty, or so it was mapped out to me some three years ago, is to manage this paper's sport show. Now when nothing of athletic account happens, a sports writer might well be compared to a rooster without a comb or a water wagon without water.

Even the tireless efforts of my highly capable and talented staff mathematician, my Minister Charge d'Alibi, my forecast caretaker and my personal bodyguard, all of whose initials, strangely enough, are J. C., went unrewarded when this search for sports stuff started.

Jacob searched for the Golden Fleece. I looked only for column contributions. The first hero was successful in his quest, the second, which is I, was foiled.

Into each life some rain must fall, but doesn't it seem that I'm getting more than my share? It's hard on these various Kentucky teams that are gathering rust from inactivity, but it's worse on me. I've got to write something about something they haven't done. If we could just tangle the little man who wasn't there into the mess, things would really be in a heluva fix.

Have Greyed Overlighted? So here I sit at my desk, no longer young, no longer hopeful, the tell-tale grey of the years showing in my hair.

And so in desperation it came to pass that I was made to stop and do a thing that is strange to me. Think. Time has proven that when a sports writer thinks the results are more apt to be alarming. But I think I did.

Concerning Will At first, since I will on more than one occasion be referred to as a faint-wit, my cranial gears were concerned with rehabilitating funny stories from out of the past, to pass on to you, bless you. While running such a fever I thought of things of horrible tales. To wit:

1) The story of the Alcatraz convict who played football on the counterfeiter's team—he was the originator of the fake buck.

2) The cut-up—some men make and some men drink, but Pat Manchu.

But I feared such efforts might be flatter than a pauper's wallet, so I groped on still thinking.

World Troubles To Be Cleared Next I became international minded and resolved to solve the problems abroad. As is customary in all well ordered essays on international happenings, I thought of so-called "Adolph Hitler," a so-called Benito Mussolini and comrade Joe Stalin, the three arm-chair Casars who as builders of international morale must rank with the great disturbers of all time.

The choice phrases, drawn from the supply of a certain Mr. John Steinbeck, that I would use in describing my opinion of this internationalist would prove unprintable, so will be discarded.

On World Chaos However, I felt certain you would be deeply concerned with my ideas as to whether or not this country will become involved in this world chaos. Being of Republican sympathies I might naturally be expected to believe that unless an immediate substitution is made in the captain's position of the Washington executive variety we are doomed to war. Strangely enough I retain an optimistic attitude even with the Democrats in power.

To these admittedly prejudiced eyes, there's a little, intangible, will-o-the-wisp something commonly referred to as the American spirit that will keep us out of the mire of war. That spirit is shown whenever customers gather to watch horse racing, dial their radio gauges to catch a baseball game, jam the fairways to witness a golf match, or rush to a track meet to track meets. To Americans these things are important, mighty important. Perhaps that's one reason for our not being a part of all this chaos we read about but hope never to experience.

American Example The whole world, from Helsinki to Tokyo, could take a lesson from America's tremendous interest in sports. In a universe gone mad with the lust to conquer, we remain the one sanctuary. Again, perhaps there's a parallel between this and the fact that we spend more money each year on sports than the rest of the world. Perhaps this athletic interest is a sort of safety valve by which we are able to let off steam and conserve energy. Certainly it is an amazing something and well worth mulling over.

Right now our seats for this international throat-cutting are in the bleachers some 3,000 miles away. This minor prophet can see no reason for wanting a ring side reservation.

Kentucky's rain-bruised track team, still weak from lack of practice, is scheduled to match stride, strength and stamina with the West Virginia Mountaineers, one of the toughest track organizations south of the Mason-Dixon line, tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 on Stoll field.

Under the tutelage of Coach Art Smith, a former Olympic mentor, the Mountaineers rolled up a 98-13 score against Wayne college in their first test of the season last week.

The Cats, hindered seriously by the steady downpours which have made practice impossible, also have met only one opponent this season, downing Hanover 90-45 with amazing ease on April 18.

Coach Joe Rupert announced no major change in the line-up that performed against the Hanoverians. With Captain Paul Durbin, veteran miler, leading the pack of the Wildcats, the team promises plenty of power and should give the highly-touted Mountaineers more than their share of trouble before the engagement is ended.

Bob Sholtz sophomore, hurdler who has already begun to exert a little pressure against the standing records, and Jim Hardin, dash fella, will run up against their toughest competition Saturday, according to Coach Rupert. The West Virginians boast their greatest power in the shorter dashes and in the hurdles.

Ralliards were pleased with the way Paul Scott and Clark Wood performed with the discus last week in the first meet, and predict that the Cat field forces will not prove themselves so weak as is reported.

Still undeniably below par, however, are the shot put and javelin divisions. Larry Spears, who lacks only form, and Clyde Johnson should be able to parry a few points in the high jump, while Tucker, Hardin, and Mullins have shown steady improvement in the broad jump.

Probable Kentucky line-up: Mile run - Durbin, Montgomery, and Sterling.

440 yard dash - Lee, Haskell, and Johnson. 200 yard dash - Mullins, Hardin, and Taylor. 100 yard dash - Durbin and Sterling. 200 yard high hurdles - Flunkab and Taylor. 200 yard dash - Mullins, Hardin, and Tucker. 100 yard dash - Montgomery and Mullins. 200 yard low hurdles - Sholtz, Flunkab, and Zink. Mile relay - Hearing, Haskell, Lee, and Johnson. Pole vault - Dunn and Jones. Shot put - Spears and Beeler. Javelin - Zander, Spears, and Beeler. High jump - Spears and Johnson. Broad jump - Tucker, Hardin, and Sterling.

Freshman Ball Candidates Asked To Meet

All candidates for the freshman baseball team are requested to meet at 1:30 Monday afternoon at the athletic equipment room in Alumni gym according to Gene Myers, Kitson diamond boss.
