

OMICRON DELTA KAPPA TO HOLD SONG CONTEST

Leadership Organization Plans to Sponsor Inter-Fraternity Sing

SILVER LOVING CUPS WILL BE AWARDED Each Social Group and Men's Dormitory May Enter a Chorus

An inter-fraternity sing in which all social fraternities and men's dormitories will participate will be sponsored by Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership fraternity, on or around December 1, according to an announcement made yesterday by Horace Miner, president of the organization. The winning group will broadcast over the university remote control radio station.

Each fraternity and dormitory will enter one chorus between 12 and twenty-four men. The fraternities groups will sing any two of their fraternities songs which they may choose. After all teams have participated, the entire chorus will sing "Hall, Kentucky."

A silver loving cup will be awarded to the winners of first place and probably other awards will be made to runners-up and other outstanding groups.

That the sing has the approval of the department of music was shown when the following members of that department agreed to aid each group in the preparation of their final rendition: Prof. C. A. Lampert, Josephine Parker, Elmer Sulzer, and Roy Jarman.

The sing to be held this year will be the first of its kind to be held on the campus. It is expected that it will become an annual affair if this year's contest meets with cooperation from the organized groups.

Elmer J. Sulzer, supervisor of the university remote control station of WHAS, gave the fraternity permission to allow the winning chorus to broadcast over that station. The time and date of the broadcast has as yet not been announced, but will follow within a few days of the date of the contest.

Further details will be sent each fraternity and dormitory within the next few days in order that work can be started immediately by each team. Professor Lampert will conduct several out-of-town judges to judge the event. Ben LeRoy is chairman of the committee.

Agriculture Agents Hold Annual Meeting Approximately 100 Home and County Workers Have Conference

Approximately 100 home agents and county demonstration agents attended the annual agricultural extension conference which was held from noon Tuesday, October 27, until noon Saturday, October 31, at the University of Kentucky. The assemblies were held at 9 o'clock each morning at the judging pavilion with T. R. Bryant, assistant director of the agricultural extension service, presiding. Those who spoke were Pres. Frank L. McVey, Dean C. A. Cooper, Dr. J. H. Hays and George E. Farrell, of the United States department of agriculture, and B. B. Derrick, of the federal farm board.

The afternoons were devoted to classes conducted by members of the faculty of the College of Agriculture. The classes for women were held in the Agriculture building on the campus, and those for the men in the dairy and livestock judging pavilion on the experiment station farm. The subjects studied were concerned with matters of marketing, poultry, soils and crops, farm management, horticulture, animal industry and entomology.

The agents attended a banquet at the university commons Thursday night where they were addressed by Lieut. H. D. Criswell, of the university military department, who spoke on "Hawaii."

White Mathematics Club Will Hold Second Meeting

The White mathematics club of the university will hold its second meeting of the year at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in room 109, McVey hall. Miss Mary Allison Threlkeld, president of the organization, will preside, and will give a brief address on "Breaking Up of Numbers into Factors." All students interested in mathematics are invited to attend.

At the meeting Thursday, the faculty advisor for the year will be elected, and the type of program to be sponsored during the year will be discussed.

The White mathematics club is an organization for students interested in mathematics. The group was recently reorganized, and officers for the year were elected. They are: President, Miss Mary Allison Threlkeld; vice-president, Elizabeth Ragland; and secretary-treasurer, Anna Bruce Gordon.

NOVEMBER ISSUE OF LETTERS FEATURES NEW U. K. LIBRARY

University Library Quarterly, Making Initial Appearance of Semester, Begins Fifth Year of Publication; Magazine Contains Articles on Library, World Politics, Philosophy, and Literature

By MARVIN WACHS
Featuring the new library, "Letters," university library quarterly, made its initial appearance in the November issue on the campus Monday. With this issue, the November number, begins the fifth year of its publication.

The magazine, fostered by the English department, first was published five years ago. Since then it has grown rapidly and successfully until, "quite a lad now, he gives promise of good health and a bigger appetite for that the family can give him in the way of literary gifts," quotes its editor, Prof. E. F. Farkner. An article by Miss Margaret King tells of the foundation of the university's library facilities. It began with the donation of $29,500 by Andrew Carnegie in 1906.

Later, with the advent of President McVey, it was enlarged, and the new building was planned to take its "rightful position of leadership on the campus and in the state. The new building is complete. Two excellent metal cuts by Rita Moore provide a splendid record of the new building's views of the building's Georgian architecture.

The entire issue is a story by a young high school student. It is so well written that it almost precludes the possibility of being the work of so young a writer without stringent editing. "Pagan or Priest?" by Mary Bright George, shows a nice touch in taking its "rightful position of leadership on the campus and in the state. The new building is complete. Two excellent metal cuts by Rita Moore provide a splendid record of the new building's views of the building's Georgian architecture.

"The Last of the McParlins," is the product of a frequent contributor to "Letters," Jessica H. Bell, Ashland. "Miss Bell's only trouble seems a slight lack of knowledge of purely mountain tongue, or else the article has been edited to get a better flow of thought. It has the flavor of an excellent mountain tale, and yet has a certain gripping characteristic that makes one read it with interest."

The political science department of the university comes to the fore in the next few days in order that work can be started immediately by each team. Professor Lampert will conduct several out-of-town judges to judge the event. Ben LeRoy is chairman of the committee.

Loan Fund Trustees Face Serious Task

While trustees of the student loan fund do not regret the work of the fund, it has been unusually slow, and consequently new loans are necessarily very small. "Reports of the fund are at this time unavailable. It is certain that the amount of interest due on unpaid notes is higher than has been for some time."

Kentucky Registrars Hold Annual Meeting

The Kentucky association of college registrars opened its annual meeting with breakfast at 7:30 o'clock Saturday morning, October 31 in the university commons. Dr. V. Payne registered at the University of Kentucky and president of the organization, presided at the meeting.

A round table discussion of problems likely to arise in the field of education was held by Prof. Ezra A. Gillis, registrar of the university. Officers elected at the meeting Saturday afternoon were: Maurine F. Stearns, registrar of the University of Kentucky; Barbourville, vice-president; Mary Page Milton, registrar; Morehead State teachers college; and secretary, Mrs. Margaret Kilroy, registrar of Asbury College, Wilmore.

STUDENTS WRITE PLEASONS

Students of dramatic production at the university under the tutelage of Prof. Frank C. Fowler, have written a series of four original Kentucky folklore plays dealing with Kentucky from pioneer days to the present time. The plays will be presented by Mr. Fowler over the university remote control radio station for four consecutive Fridays at 1:15 o'clock, beginning November 13.

CLASS ELECTIONS ARE OKED BY STUDENT COUNCIL

Officers Are Notified Officially by Clarence Yeager, Secretary and Treasurer

COMMITTEES CHOSEN FOR CALENDAR WORK Freshmen Will Be Called Before Body for Violation of Rules

Members of the Men's Student Council of the university decided against an investigation of the class elections which were held Thursday in the old reading room of the administration building, at a meeting of the organization which was held in the administration building at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon. This decision followed a personal investigation of the ballots which was conducted last week by several members of the council.

Recital Will Be Given Sunday Afternoon by Trio

The second musicale of the year will be presented at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon in Memorial hall when the Herman trio, Cincinnati, will give a recital of chamber music. The trio is composed of Emil Heermann, violin; and Tomie Prewitt Williams, cello, and Tomie Prewitt Williams, piano.

SuKy Circle Plans To Obtain Mascot For Kentucky Team

SuKy circle, student pep organization, is attempting to obtain, as mascot for the football team, the Kentucky mountain wildcat offered to the university by C. Hays Foster, former student at the university. The organization hopes to present the animal at the Kentucky-Duke homecoming game, Saturday.

ADAMS TO ATTEND MEETING

Dr. Jesse Adams, College of Education, will attend the Kentucky Teachers' Association meetings November 5 to 7. He will also speak at the annual meeting of the organization, held at Lawrence, Kansas, on November 6. He will address the high school section at Chanute, Kan., and on November 7 he will address the university alumni club at Wichita, Kansas.

CATHOLIC CLUB TO MEET

The university Newman club, an organization consisting of Catholic students of the university, will hold its second meeting of the year at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning, November 8, in the ball room of the Lafayette hotel, university campus. Members of the university are requested to attend.

Opening of 'Let Us Be Gay' Is Accorded Enthusiastic Reception

Katherine Davis Scores in First Guignol Presentation of Season

CAST OF CHARACTERS

Kitty Brown, Katherine Davis, Bro. Brown, Lawrence Earl Perkins, Bro. Kahn, Whitehead, Bro. Harting, Woodman Knight, Williams, Edward Bixby, Mrs. Boucquet, Sarah H. Salvers, Dierde, Lessing, Christine Johnson, Struthers, Herbert Dunning, Towley Town, R. D. McIntyre, Bruce Keen, Bradley Stephenson, Madge Livingston, Minna Bloomfield, Wallace Grainger, Alfred Andrews. On Friday night the part of Bro. Brown will be played by Frank Fowler.

As Kitty Brown, sophisticated, clever, woman of the world, Katherine Davis last night found the first Guignol theater in the university season enthusiastic in its approval of her efforts. The play, "Let Us Be Gay," which opened Monday night at the Guignol theater for a week's run, Miss Davis is well known to Guignol audiences, having been active in that organization for several years. She collaborated with Earl King Senn, also a graduate of the university, in writing the music for "Local Color," original production presented by Strohler's undergraduate dramatic organization, in 1929.

In the part of Bro. Brown, male lead, Lawrence Earl Bro. Kahn is charmingly irate, lit-tempered, sweet, Her lines, in themselves, are worth provoking. Christine Johnson handles the part of Dierde Lessing, Mrs. Boucquet's granddaughter, with her usual success. Strictly in character, she is most convincing in her avowal of love for Bro. Brown. White, Penn State, and the other chapter of the university was installed May 15, 1930.

Bradley Stephenson gives a suave performance in the role of Bruce Keen, the boy who was engaged to marry Dierde before she became involved with Bro. Brown, whom Dierde's grandmother wishes her to marry. R. D. McIntyre is the character of the play, a consistent week-end and man about town. Madge Livingston, emcee-striker, lady of the social scene, is well played by Minna Bloomfield, and Alfred Andrews is amusing in his role as her instigator, Edward Bixby.

Stage manager for the comedy is G. L. Crutcher, who has made the set necessary for the production excellent. For the production is Elmer G. Sulzer.

Other members of the production staff are: Business, Lillian Combs Meacham; Assistants, Polly Warren, Mary Lyler Robertson, Juliet Galloway, Dorothy Williams, Georgia Weedon, Dorothy Williams.

Ushers: Paul Williams, Lee Miles, Eleanor Ward, Betty Tutt, Horace, Mildred Holmes, Esther Green, Catherine Aufenkamp.

Advertising, Frank Stone; Assistants: Woodson Knight, Virginia Young, George West, Hugh Van Antwerp, R. Evans.

Program, Alpha Delta Sigma; Publicity, Marguerite McLaughlin; Assistant, Eugenie Beck; Stage, G. L. Crutcher.

November 22, program of German Lied, recital by Mary Ann Kaufman Brown, soprano, Cincinnati, assisted by Tomie Prewitt Williams at the piano.

November 23, program of Christmas pageant January 10, recital by Foster Krake, baritone, Detroit, Michigan, assisted by Tomie Prewitt Williams, violinist, New York City.

January 31, university philharmonic orchestra with soloist, recital by Mrs. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. Christmas pageant January 10, recital by Foster Krake, baritone, Detroit, Michigan, assisted by Tomie Prewitt Williams, violinist, New York City.

SAFETY RESULTS OVER WILDCATS

Alabama Takes Annual Contest 9 to 7 Before Crowd of 10,000 Persons

NEITHER TEAM SCORES BEFORE SECOND HALF

Kelly's 57-Yard Run for Touchdown Provides Feature Play of Game

By SUNNY DAY

Nestle, team scores during the first half but there was plenty of excitement, which was a nightmare for Kentucky fans, as the Tide was striking a block and punt game. The game was a 9 to 7 victory before a crowd of 10,000 people Saturday at Denny Field in Tuscaloosa, Ala., in the annual Wildcat-Cimson Tide battle.

On the second attempt at Kentucky's goal, the Tide was stopped on the one-yard-line. Kercheval, standing behind his own goal line, sent a beautiful 50-yard punt down the field, but Kelly's little Alabama speed-deamon, charged back.

In a moment, Alabama, relentless and playing superb football, was deep in Kentucky territory again. A pass, Chappel to Smith, Alabama's tight end, was completed on Kentucky's three-yard line. It was first down and only three yards to go for that coveted touchdown.

The another big rush with their backs against the goal posts, but the half ended, much to the relief of all.

Kentucky duplicated its trick of striking quickly in the third quarter. The Tide was stopped on the 13-yard line and sped to the 43-yard line before he was forced out of bounds. Kelly's reverse play was around the end, but failed. Richards then called a similar play but it was blocked by Alabama's defense.

Dr. W. F. G. Swann, Director of Bartol Research Foundation, Franklin Institute, will be the principal convention speaker. He will also deliver a public lecture at 8 o'clock Friday, in the physics lecture room.

The national officers of the fraternity are: president, Dr. R. C. Young, College of William and Mary; vice-president, Dr. M. N. Stiles, Central Scientific company of Chicago; secretary, Dr. Marsh W. Hahn, of the department of State College.

The officers of the local chapter are: president, W. A. Bruce; vice-president, V. A. Barnett; secretary, K. D. Little; treasurer, R. C. Little.

Arrangements for the convention are under the supervision of Prof. M. Hahn, of the department of physics.

The convention delegates and officers will be the guests of Lambda chapter at the Kentucky-Duke football game Saturday afternoon. A tour of points of interest in the Blue Grass will follow Sunday morning.

Art Center Shows Water Color Exhibit

An exhibition of water color paintings from the John Herron Art Institute, Indianapolis, opened at the Art center Monday and will continue until November 14. All are works of students of the institute.

The exhibition includes two new scenes and "The Spaniard" by Selma "Bowl of Tulips" and "The Dog" by Howard; "Lantern," by Raskenback; "Candle" and "Tea-tray" by William; "The Dog" by Raskenback; "Candle" and "Tea-tray" by William; "The Dog" by Raskenback; "Candle" and "Tea-tray" by William.

Homecoming Plans Will Be Completed

Preparations for the festivities which will accompany homecoming are nearing completion. The program, which includes a pep rally to be sponsored by SuKy Friday night preceding the game Saturday with Duke University, a tea to be given at Maxwell Place by President and Mrs. McVey, and the annual alumni dance Saturday night, will be completed by the time the entire Saturday afternoon, after a program of songs and yells, will be presented. The proceeds will be divided between the Kentucky management and SuKy. Kentucky management and SuKy.

PHOTOGRAPHERS RETURN

The photographer for the 1932 Kentuckian will return Tuesday and Wednesday, November 19 and 20, in instances of November 3 and 4, Frank Stone, editor, announced yesterday. All seniors and members of organizations which have contracted for pages in the annual must have their photographs taken during that time as the annual staff has decided that those who do not have their pictures in the Kentuckian will not have their names mentioned in the text. This applies to fraternities, societies and other organizations which will have pages in the book.

BAMA

As the official organ of the students of the university the Kernel expresses appreciation and admiration of the members of the Wildcat squad who played in the game against Alabama. That the team gave everything it had in an heroic endeavor to break the jinx that so long has hung over it when it meets the Tide is admitted by everyone. No one can ask more of a team than this.

At the first of the season The Kernel pointed out that the 'Cats had not given their best. That criticism certainly can't be made of them for their showing Saturday. That they lost the game matters little to the truly loyal supporters of the Blue and the White; that they played hard, tried hard, held 'Bama for four consecutive downs in the shadow of the goal, goal does matter a great deal. Had the score been three what it was in favor of the Tide we still could find little fault with the "gentlemen and sportsmen of Kentucky."

EDUCATORS' MEET

The 1,000 educators from throughout the state who attended the conference which was held at the university Friday and Saturday returned to their homes and their work yesterday with the knowledge that they had attended a meeting which gave them information of value which will be applicable to their individual problems and which will serve in making them more capable in fulfilling the duties of their positions.

In lectures and discussions delegates to the conference had opportunity to learn the answers to problems with which they have been confronted, and The Kernel believes that not one of them returned to his home without learning something which will be of value in the future.

If Kentucky is to take its proper place in the field of education in the other states of the nation, then conferences of educators of the state will be a necessary requirement for this program. It is only by such conferences that useful information can be disseminated to those who can best profit by it. It is the hope of The Kernel that the work which already has been done in this field by the university will be continued and enlarged in the future.

GUIGNOL THEATER

Every larger university has its little theater which is maintained by those persons who love it and experience in dramatic work. The Guignol is such a playhouse.

The Kernel believes that students of the university do not evidence as much interest in the activities of Guignol as they should, that more enthusiasm would give them pleasure which they otherwise miss. It is absurd that the majority of students should not enjoy the presentations of Guignol and we believe that the reason for the student attitude is their lack of knowledge of the work which is done by the theater.

The current production at Guignol, "Let Us Be Gay," certainly should entertain even the most rabid enjoyment seekers and give them at the same time, a type of dramatic production which can be seen nowhere else in Lexington.

LOVE TAKES FLIGHT

I did not know the reason why I smiled with joy. You fooled me with that sigh or pretended joy.

I did not know if love's deep word Could ever heal. I felt that death must follow soon— It was so real.

And then, the dream passed with the night; I felt relieved with dawn. But oh, there was no morrow's light. For you were really gone!

—JAMES R. MINER

Jest Among Us

If the bootleggers of the city and the student politicians would combine we could have a miniature Chicago right here on the campus.

Alabama would be a helluva swell school if it were not for the Tide which annually engulfs the Big Blue.

"Smiling the boy fell dead," probably will be appropriate if any of the local gin is consumed at the Duke game.

Coffee and sandwiches are becoming so unpopular with the Greeks that the Greekettes soon will have to establish bread lines to get rid of the concoctions they mix each Friday afternoon.

And had you noticed by now that the freshman who semi-weekly writes this column did not show up for this edition?

It is difficult for a student to turn his back on an opportunity to raise his grade unfairly, unless he is convinced that cheating is fundamentally just as wrong as is murder. So long as an attitude prevails that cheating is legitimate if it can be done without a little chance of accomplishing much.

Our only hope is that the near future will bring a generation of students whose elementary and prep school training has instilled in them a distinct distaste for even the most palatable forms of dishonesty. Then the remedy will come from within—Puritan Exponent.

Sneers Snickers Scandal

by Derek Smythfield

Brief Bits on the Big Shots

Kappa Virginia Waddle counted that only one person counted the ballots in the election Thursday and that that person was crooked... Delta and Kappa also take their seats in the election... Altagans entertained recently for the Piescops, who refused to be entertained, after another fraternity had refused the hospitality of the Delta and Triangle called the Fideles, asked if they were hungry... Altagan Ruth Wehle and Independent John M. Kane were the only two persons congratulating the opposition on its victory in the class election... Piescop Malcolm Foster did not believe he had been chosen junior president, called The Kernel and asked that he be pulled out for Alabama to make sure... Delatmanfromthebottom Derek Smythfield wants to take his now.

Nice, isn't it? It occurs to us that it is convenient no end that all the members of

The Kernel read the rag if they did not who would there be to tell the remainder of the student body what is in it?

ROAMIN' THE RIALTO

with ROAMIN' RENA

Passing the armory recently we encountered two of the most typically fresh fellows we have seen. Intently watching the antics of little gray squirrels in the trees, one of the animals jumped from his perch to a limb beneath.

"Gosh," gasped the verdant one. "I thought he was gone that time!"

Offer We believe that it would be amusing to devote part of our space each week to some person other than ourselves, and to vest this person with the right to write what he or she thinks about anyone and everyone, including ourselves. It perhaps would be the best plan to let one organization have space each week. Any member of any organization other than our own desiring to write half a typed page for the Friday edition may communicate with us and it will be arranged. And for heaven's sake, let us be bitter about it.

Now You Know We have been sitting for 13 solid minutes, i. e. a minute is one which consists of 60 seconds, in an entirely futile endeavor to bring you something charmingly witty, entertaining, amusing, in this, the last paragraph of our very interesting column.

Guess! Guess again! Once more! Ah! You've found us out, you clever, clever readers. We have nothing, we are through, finished. Our brain is what grandmother called "scattered." We hang our head and wipe away a salty tear—tears come easily when you are humiliated, beaten, bowed.

Aside: Only one more line to the superb performance of Ann Harding and Leslie Howard, who have made "Devotion" one of the best pictures of this year. Despite its plot, which is rather inconsequential, this production, through excellent direction and the adroitness of Miss Harding, Mr. Howard, and Robert Williams, chalks itself as a headliner. Excellent dialogue helps, but it is the humanness of the performances which "make" this picture. Miss Harding, who is the most attractive actress on the screen, gives one of the best interpretations of her screen career. Don't miss this picture.

After such movies as "Five Star Final" and "Front Page," any newspaper story which wishes to rank with these successes, must really have "something." "Sob Sister," now showing at the Kentucky, has this something in the person of a new screen personality, Linda Watkins, who plays the title role. James Dunn, hero of "Bad Girl," plays opposite Miss Watkins as a rival reporter. Here is another picture which may strike some of you as being not particularly forceful, and it is possible that you may tire of some of the wise-cracking of the newspapermen. There is plenty of action, however, and the acting of Miss Watkins, who, incidentally, is quite attractive, is sincere. There is some very good humor. We believe you'll like "Sob Sister."

And now we come to "Palm Days." Here is one production which has my unstinted recommendation. See it if you have to borrow the money from your professors, or if you have to sell apples on the street corner. Then go to the Ben All prepared to have the most hilarious evening you have had since you were born. Eddie Cantor proves beyond the shadow of a doubt, in my way of thinking, at least, that he is the screen's most humorous personality, and he rolls his eyes more than ever. My prediction is that "Palm Days" will go far toward bringing film musicals back to their rightful position as the most entertaining medium of beautiful girls (who can really sing)—catchy musical scores—excellent photography and unique close-ups—the antics of Charlotte Greenwood—the typical Cantor non-stop—all lead me to say: "Don't miss this picture!"

Best shot of the week: James Dunn as he reads to Linda Watkins excerpts from the diary of the poet who has committed suicide.

Gripe of the week: Not that any of us can do anything about it, but why does Ann Harding, who is one of the most attractive actresses on the screen, have to wear her hair all over her face? We know nothing of women's styles in hair dressing, but we do know that it doesn't add to Miss Harding's appearance.

Best advise of the week: Don't forget to buy your season ticket to the Guignol, and don't miss "Let Us Be Gay."

Students at the University of South Carolina are raising quite a rumpus over the fact that they have been assigned seats in back of the goal posts for all games at the fair grounds. They are also objecting to the fact that their cheering section is divided into two parts, being worked on the "echo" idea.

"Classroom tramps" are being welcomed at Syracuse University. Under a new rule, students may drop into classes for which they are registered without being regarded as intruders. But there may be no cutting in regular classes to attend the others.

CRITICISM GIVEN OF HONOR SYSTEM

Choosing on Examinations, Dishonesty, and Other Evidence of Failure Indicate Plan Will Be Abolished

"The most cherished of Carolina traditions is just about ready to pass into the junk heap," is the editorial comment of the student newspaper at the University of South Carolina. The paper's criticism on examinations, cheating, and other evidences of dishonesty as indicative that the students at that institution are incapable of supporting the honor system.

In placing the blame for the failure of the system, the paper states: "It is not the fault of the honor system that it is failing at Carolina, but the blame may be laid directly to the students themselves, and on the high schools from where they came. A careful survey of the students who believe that more cheating is done by freshmen than by any other class. However, they can't help it. It is fashionable to cheat in most high schools and you can't teach an old dog new tricks. Many students get through high school by cheating, and when they come to college they can't get through any other way except by cheating."

"Although the university does not have in operation the honor system, now showing at no paper free from student cheating. There are a good many unfair tactics pulled during examinations in spite of the close surveillance of instructors. The Carolina paper is correct, to a large extent, when it states that the tendency for college students to cheat may be traced to the training, or lack of training, which they had in high school. Every effort is made in college to remove anything that may serve as an incentive for a student to begin the habit.

The university dishonesty committee has been fighting for several years, and not in vain. But the situation can be only partly corrected through such a medium. If there is to be a great improvement in the existing conditions, it must come from the students themselves, there must be a change in their fundamental attitude toward their university life.

It is difficult for a student to turn his back on an opportunity to raise his grade unfairly, unless he is convinced that cheating is fundamentally just as wrong as is murder. So long as an attitude prevails that cheating is legitimate if it can be done without a little chance of accomplishing much.

Our only hope is that the near future will bring a generation of students whose elementary and prep school training has instilled in them a distinct distaste for even the most palatable forms of dishonesty. Then the remedy will come from within—Puritan Exponent.

CLASSICAL GROUP TO MEET

The thirteenth annual meeting of the Kentucky Classical association will be held at Western Kentucky State Teachers' college, Bowling Green, November 13 and 14, with Dr. T. T. Jones, head of the classical department at the university and president of the association, presiding. Doctor Jones will make the opening address to the guests extended by Dean F. C. Grise, of Western Normal, at the opening morning session. Professor Norman A. Cedar, at 6:30 o'clock Friday night, at which time Dr. H. Cherry, president of Western Kentucky Teachers' college, will extend greetings of welcome.

The university dishonesty committee has been fighting for several years, and not in vain. But the situation can be only partly corrected through such a medium.

It is difficult for a student to turn his back on an opportunity to raise his grade unfairly, unless he is convinced that cheating is fundamentally just as wrong as is murder.

Our only hope is that the near future will bring a generation of students whose elementary and prep school training has instilled in them a distinct distaste for even the most palatable forms of dishonesty.

The thirteenth annual meeting of the Kentucky Classical association will be held at Western Kentucky State Teachers' college, Bowling Green, November 13 and 14.

PEPEY'S DIARY

Saturday—I did arise late for I did not have any classes. I did walk to the Den of Enquiry to partake of food where I did see many of the young collegians. I did see BETTY POWELL RODES who was accompanied by NEAR LOVEBIRDS, BETTY GREAVES and SAMMY WOOLDRIGE. I did see MARY JO ARMSTRONG who did see to miss JACK PHIPPS very much. The sophisticated MARY JO ARMSTRONG was there but she did not know me for she had only met me fifteen times, and that only constitutes a mere acquaintance with her. I did think that by the fortieth I might be able to hold her hand. I did not dwell for long. I did see MCANDLESS and BOB TUCKER who were very well pleased with THEESELVES. I did see RUTH ROGERS and MARY LYNN who were sitting with two THANGLES. I did peruse the Friday Kernel and did note the officers that were elected. I did notice that the arch enemies, CHI OMEGAS, TRI DELTS and KAPPAS did get together on their political ambitions. I did see NANCY BELLE MOSS, who was with her BELOVED Methuath, AIN'T LOVE GRAND I did go to the freshman game where the flashy JEAN and BARNEY started. I did

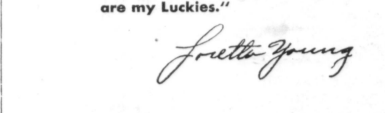

Sunday—I did arise late and did read the papers as usual. I did take in the sororities in the afternoon. The TRI-DELTS were entertaining with bridge. The ALPHA GAMES were entertaining the PHIS DELTS, or rather, they were the only ones there. The SIGMA CHI did seem bitter toward these ladies after the election. The one-time renowned KAPPAS had a mere handful of guests. The ever charming BALLARD was the chief hostess. I did see my old pal, GEORGETTA WALKER, who had just left her beloved BILL YOUNG. The CHI OMEGAS were not overladen with guests. The ALPHA XIS were very popular as were the K.D.s.

EXPERIMENT AT CHICAGO PRAISED

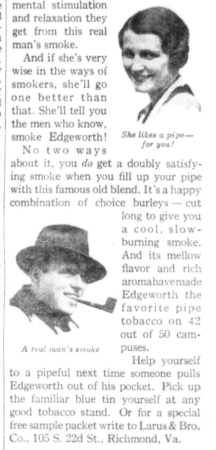

New System of Education Used by School Forces Itself into Attention of American Institutions
The experiment in education begun this year at the University of Chicago and the subsequent praise and censure of it, particularly by journalists and educators, make it evident that this plan will force itself to the consideration of all American universities and colleges eventually.
There has been no time more than the last few years when the American educational system, with emphasis on the college, has offered juicy material for criticism. Such criticism is directed toward principles of education formerly accepted as sound but which have not been able to adapt themselves to the change in social structure.
We may dismiss such tirades as Edna Ferber's recent mairaining of the Harkness Hotel at Yale. The majority of American students are superficial wisecracking gin-drinkers, as interested in a sound but which have not been able to adapt themselves to the change in social structure.

Literary Magazine Features Portrait Of U. K. Professor

The current issue of "The Step Ladder," monthly publication of The Bookfellows, an international association of readers and writers, features as its frontpiece the portrait of Dr. J. T. C. Noy, with the following tribute to the Kentucky poet:
Our Bookfellow leader this time is Cotton Noy, professor at the University of Kentucky and poet Laureate of Kentucky by act of the state legislature. He is Bookfellow No. 316, Inner Circle No. 72, a steady contributor to the Anthology, author of "Blood of Rachel" and other plays and poems, and writer of influential character sketches in verse which deserve a wide publicity. They are as fine American poetry, reflecting American scenes and characteristics, as can be found in time and space.
Among the prominent men on the board of the "Step Ladder" can be found the names of Hamlin Garland, chairman; Edwin Arlington Robinson, James Branch Cabell, Henry Stead Canby, Lorado Taft, Carl Van Doren, Irving Bacheller, Edwin Markham, John Erskine, Hugh Walpole and others.

Girls vote for PIPES (for men!)

ASK any girl you know to name her favorite smoke—for men! Ten to one she'll say a pipe!
She's discovered—trust her bright little eyes—that it's the BIG men, who in the ways of the world, mental stimulation and relaxation they get from this real man's smoke.
And if she's very wise in the ways of the world, she'll go to the pipe store, she'll go one better than that. She'll tell you the men who know, smoke Edgeworth's. For you! She likes a pipe—for you!
No two ways about it, you do get a doubly satisfying smoke when you fill up your pipe with this famous old blend. It's a happy combination of choice burleys—cut by Edgeworth into a cool, slow-burning smoke. And its mellow flavor and rich aroma have made Edgeworth the favorite pipe tobacco on 42 out of 50 campus pipes.
Help yourself to a pipeful next time someone puffs Edgeworth out of his pocket. Pick up the familiar blue tin yourself at your local tobacco stand. Or for a special free sample packet write to Larn & Bco., Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.

U. K. KITTENS WIN 20-7 OVER SEWANEE

By DELMAR ADAMS
While the varsity squad was in Alabama yesterday the Freshmen entertained the yearling ensemble of Sewanee on Stoll field by administering a sound thrashing during their second victory in three starts.
"Jack the Ripper" Jean led the way for the Kittens, with his sensational runs and smashes. The high mark of his progress against the invaders was his 60 yard dash for a score early in the second period. Jean consistently outplayed his rivals in the Purple backfield and averaged a yard better than 40 yards on his kicks. Bilbro and Barney also showed up well in the backfield for the Kittens, while Montjoy and Rupert started in the line, repulsing all the line plunging threats the visitors could offer.
The first period was scoreless, with the Kittens being repulsed after penetrating deep into enemy territory, and the rest of the first quarter resulted in a punting duel. Early in the second period, the Kittens scored on a 60 yard dash by Jean, but it was called back and Kentucky penalized. Not to be denied again, the Kittens scored on a 60 yard dash by Jean, but it was called back and Kentucky penalized. Argentine Natives Make Pro Football In Italy Popular

Football, which as a professional game appears to be the most popular of all great Italian sports, would be of less importance here, it was revealed recently, were it not for the large number of excellent football material which is imported annually from the Argentine. Every year, thousands of football players have grown by leaps and bounds.
Within the last 18 months, 31 Argentine football players have come to Italy under contract at salaries of from $250 to $500 a month. In a game between Rome and Genoa, recently seven Argentines scored on one side and four on the other.
All of the players, it happens, are sons or grandsons of Italians, and have Italian names, and their Argentine citizenship is not advertised to the public here.
Premier Mussolini recently prohibited further importation of players, but found that this would make for gross inequalities among the various teams of the country, and so lifted the ban temporarily to allow all teams to fit themselves up with enough Argentines to be able to play other strong teams.

Students Revolt at Expense of Dates

While women students throughout the other colleges and universities of the country were debating among themselves the advisability of offering to pay their shares in the cost of dates with college men, the University of Arizona makes good things into their own hands and organized a Bachelors' Club, the main purpose of which is to insure that co-eds go "dutch" on the expenses of all dates.
Although a Sports Club, combating the move of the men, was formed almost immediately, the university was surprised to find that what looked like a majority of the women were behind the men in their efforts.
Jack O'Dowd, football center and student councilman, was elected president of the Bachelors' Club, with more than 170 men students who crowded to the organization meeting.
It was pointed out by the men that women students as a rule have more money to spend than men students, and that if the women would accept and challenge to pay their share in dates, more dates would be possible since the social life of the campus greatly enhanced for the duration of the depression.

Cosmopolitan Club Party

A Halloween party was held by the Cosmopolitan club, Y. M. C. A. building, at the stock judging night in the university Y. M. C. A. reading room.
The guests came masked and dressed in appropriate costumes. The room was decorated beautifully in black and orange, with lanterns, pumpkins, and corn cobs. The Halloween spirit of the affair, Halloween games of all kinds were played, and Mrs. E. A. Bureau served refreshments for the party. Those on the program and decoration committee: Rosalind Agelucci, chairman; Joan Carigan, Angelo Tomosoni, Dorothy Downing, Elise Bureau, and the president of the club, Nick Chappelle.

Shower for Bride

Mrs. James Gloster, Miss Lola Combs and Miss Freddie Elbert entertained with a beautiful miscellaneous shower Friday night at the Lucile tea room on south Limestone street in compliance to the bride, Mrs. Lynn Esley, formerly Miss Oswald Stapp. The rooms were decorated in the Halloween motif and dainty courses were served.
The guests were Misses Jane Walker, Lucy and Elizabeth Thompson, Anna May Lewis, Betty Cunningham, Julia Belle Farrington, Mary Stoen, Helen Stoll, Eddie Bradley, Stoen, Price and Mary Elizabeth Fisher, Virginia Allender, Floyd Bowling, Anne Rodas, Betty Powell, Rodney Virginia Bean; Mesdames J. W. Stapp, Neville Moberly, Stanley McCoy and Max Eden.

Alpha Xi Delta Tea

The members of Alpha Xi Delta alumnae association will entertain with a homecoming tea after the football game next Saturday afternoon. The hospitality is planned in honor of out-of-town visitors. It will be given at the chapter house on south Limestone street.

CLUE FOUND TO EDUCATION HELP

Gamaliel Bradford, in Magazine Article, Offers Possible Solution to Problems of Students

Many a pedagogue has spoken of what he believes to be a solution, or partial solution, to the admitted dilemma in which the Twentieth Century education finds itself.

Writing in the Book Review Magazine of the New York Times recently, said he:

In this educational chaos there is one possible clue which, it seems to me, may afford a certain amount of help.

Gamaliel Bradford is a biographer. Writing in the Book Review Magazine of the New York Times recently, said he:

It is biography that can do to gether all the various elements of thought and life. Plato and Kant make philosophy, and they are human. Copernicus, Newton, Darwin make science, and they are human.

Bradford then pointed to the work started by Professor Amos White Vernon, who established at Carleton College, Northfield, Minn., the first known course in biography, and continued it when he called to Dartmouth to establish a similar course.

Professor Wedel is continuing the work at Carleton, he said, and Professor Cabot at Harvard, Professor McCall at Virginia, Professor Marjori at Boston University, and others, are giving similar instruction.

"I believe, however," he continued, "that the work is being done much further. The collegiate teaching of biography is excellent, and it is naturally capable of development that could not be attempted at a more elementary stage."

It is not a cold, bare, remote study of strange creatures and impossible events. It is just a history of human nature. . . . In short, biography is the autobiography of humanity, and it is the only study of greater educational value and utility."—Sewanee Review.

BOOKS ARE ON DISPLAY Books pertaining to the progress of agriculture during the last hundred years have been placed on display in the main floor of the university library, in commemoration of the centennial celebration of Cyrus Hall McCormick's famous invention, the reaper. This collection of books includes technical works dealing with the progress of scientific farming during the last century and biographies of the inventors of these improvements. McCormick's invention is said to have introduced the modern era of agriculture.

Y. W. C. A. VESPERS The Y. W. C. A. vespers, which will be held at 7 o'clock tonight in the reading room of Patterson hall, will be conducted by the girls of Smith hall. There will be a program of "Songs Under the World," Pearl Zinc and Eleanor Ward will give several vocal solos, a group of girls will give an Irish folk-song, and other well-known folk-songs will be sung by the entire group.

Some of the rules for freshmen of Harvard university in 1784 were: "No freshman shall wear his hat in the college yard except when it rains or snows, or on horseback, or hath both hands full."

"No freshman shall use lying or equivocation to escape going on an errand."

"Freshmen may wear their hats at dinner and supper except when they go to receive their commons of bread and beer."

PERSHING RIFLES HISTORY IS GIVEN

Facts Concerning Origin and Development of Honorary Military Organization Prepared by Officers

The personality and initiative of John J. Pershing were the bases for the organization and development of Pershing Rifles. First Lt. Pershing, who was in the University of Nebraska as commandant of cadets in 1892. He imparted a high degree of interest to the military department as a whole. Probably the most important and certainly the most lasting of his work as Commandant is the organization known as Pershing Rifles.

In searching for a means of improving the cadet regiment Pershing hit upon a plan. He selected the outstanding men and formed company "A" of the men. He intended this company to serve as an example and leader for the regiment. He developed this unit into an outstanding example of military efficiency by a great deal of work and extra drill for both company and commander.

As the skill of the group increased, so did the desire to develop among the members. In the spring of 1893 this feeling culminated in the formation of a fraternal order called "Varsity Rifles." It was made up of the members of company "A" and served the same purpose as those of the original company. In addition, it strove for recognition in circles other than military maneuvers, the Grand National and the Maiden drills. The Varsity Rifles persuaded Pershing to allow them to use the name of company "A" of the University of Nebraska cadet regiment. In the spring of 1894 the Varsity Rifles drew the first position in the Grand National. This was a tremendous honor for the unit which was required to compete on a comparative basis with every other group entered. So, a contemporary writer avers, the Grand National was lost solely, it is conceded, because they (Varsity Rifles) drew first place. However, the Maiden drill was won in a spectacular manner. The required maneuvers were completed 22 minutes before the allotted time. This exhibition was so outstanding, the citizens of Omaha subscribed voluntarily to a fund which was presented to the company. In addition the regular prize of $100 was carried back to the University by the victorious Varsity Rifles. The Omaha Cup has been presented each year since that time to the winning company in the University of Nebraska competition.

DEAN ANDERSON IS SPEAKER Dean F. Paul Anderson of the College of Engineering was the principal speaker Friday night at a meeting of the Louisville section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers held at the University of Louisville. His subject was "Engineering Marching On." Other men from the College of Engineering in attendance were Assistant Dean Freeman and Professors Bureau and Barnett.

PHI DELTA PHI INITIATES Breckinridge Inn of Phi Delta Phi, international legal fraternity held its fall initiation and banquet Friday afternoon and night at the Phoenix hotel. Ted Cassidy, Thomas Phipps, Walter D. Vest, Kenneth Howe, Ralph Homan, and Jesse McKnight were initiated.

PROFESSORS TRY OWN MEDICINE

Undergraduates at Columbia University Will Wage War to Enforce Use of Good English by Faculty

Columbia University professors are getting some of their own "medicine." It is in the form of a war on the part of the undergraduates to force the faculty to use correct English in the class room. Several days ago an editorial appeared in the Spectator, undergraduate newspaper, in which 26 members of the faculty were accused of "murdering the English language." With the innuendo belonging only to college students, stenographers were immediately rushed to the classes of these "profs" and word for word reports were made of their lectures. But the faculty were wroth to have taken the editorial to heart, and not a split infinitive was caught.

The students promised, however, to continue their efforts until every offender had been caught right up. Then the sniping went right up to President Nicholas Murray Butler himself. Butler's doctoral success. One of the president's sentences was submitted to Frank H. Vizetelly, a well-known English grammar book writer, and "O. K." as to the point of the students' attack.

Dr. Butler was reported to have said: "Save the ancient Roman Empire and Great Britain, no people in the world are so stupid as the students, beleaguered in their dormitories by the police, poured down a deluge of rain of water and missiles which lasted for an hour."

Depression Hurts Mexico University One of the saddest aspects of our present depression is its effect upon the institutions of learning. This, America's oldest educational institution, founded in 1861, is forced to remain in operation with only a skeleton of its organization until the next "crisis" should be over.

But, the dictionary editor ruled, the word "either" should have been placed between the words "no" and "people." Otherwise, he said, the sentence carried the character of the very people it included later. He called it a very common error.

DEBATERS MEET The university debaters are meeting regularly every Tuesday night in room 426 of the library building in preparation for the coming debate season. The first debate will be held Friday, October 30. This will be an intramural contest and the University of England is being invited to take part. A debate with Oxford University of England is being planned, as well as other intercollegiate debates.

ANNUAL CONTEST PLANNED SUK's circle, university pep organization, will sponsor its annual house-decorating contest to be held Saturday, November 7, previous to the University of Kentucky football game. All fraternities and sororities will be asked to decorate their houses in honor of the homecoming battle. A prize in the form of a cup will be awarded to the fraternity having the most unique decoration, while the sorority with the most beautifully decorated house will be similarly rewarded. The contest will be given in the next issue of The Kernel.

College men prefer college women as life companions, according to the nation-wide poll of the College Stories magazine. The poll revealed that men preferred college girls because they have "it" intelligence, and a knowledge of the higher values of life. There were some, however, that thought that college did a girl more harm than good. A statistician in Kansas revealed that figures show that the Kansas divorce rate is one every 100 among non-college graduates, and only one to every hundred among college graduates. College people have ninety-nine more chances of being right.

Seventy members of the University of Kansas participated in 318 broadcasts in the 1930-31 year over the university's K. K. P. Z. Eighteen different departments and schools of the university were represented on the air.

A recent editorial in the Columbia Spectator calls attention to the fact that the word "sex" has never appeared in the editorial columns of that paper. In making this startling announcement the word appeared five times.

Reb Russell, ertwhile All-American fullback, is a leading candidate for president of the senior class at Northwest university. Politics at this school is represented by two major parties, the Old Line and Students'. Russell is in the line-up of the former faction.

Two associate professors at the California Institute of Technology drove past a candy store recently and thought they saw two charming girls "give them the eye." The girls told them to come back later. The professors did and found two unsuspecting policemen waiting. They were fined $25 each.

Statistics reveal that no less than sixty former college athletes heroes are now presidents of colleges and universities throughout the United States.

The atlas of the Great Elector of Brandenburg, Germany, which is to be the largest book in the world, has been restored to its former beauty. The book is 66 inches high, 36 inches wide and weighs 275 pounds.

One of a group of five famous American portraits on exhibition at the Metropolitan Museum is by Samuel Morse, inventor of the telegraph, who was artist before he took up invention.

Invitations Are Sent To Press Convention

Invitations are being sent out from the university to the newspapers of 450 colleges and universities in the United States to attend the National Collegiate Press association convention, which is scheduled to be held at the university November 20 and 21.

The announcements contain a tentative program including luncheon, dinner dance, and tours of the Blue Grass. Open and closed meetings will be held, addresses are scheduled and there will be group discussions of college newspaper problems.

Delegates to the convention will be entertained at local fraternity and sorority houses during their stay on the campus. Three professional fraternities having chapters on the campus, Sigma Delta Chi, Alpha Delta Sigma, and Theta Sigma Phi will be in charge of the arrangements. Prof. Victor R. Portman is general chairman of the convention.

On the eve of Columbia University's gridiron battle with Dartmouth which they won 14-0, the pep meeting turned into a riot when the fire department arrived, reinforced by the police. Most of the students engaged in the fracas. A bit later, some of them stopped a movie by crashing it and trampling up and down the aisles. Other students, beleaguered in their dormitories by the police, poured down a deluge of rain of water and missiles which lasted for an hour.

A recent editorial in the Columbia Spectator calls attention to the fact that the word "sex" has never appeared in the editorial columns of that paper. In making this startling announcement the word appeared five times.

Reb Russell, ertwhile All-American fullback, is a leading candidate for president of the senior class at Northwest university. Politics at this school is represented by two major parties, the Old Line and Students'. Russell is in the line-up of the former faction.

Two associate professors at the California Institute of Technology drove past a candy store recently and thought they saw two charming girls "give them the eye." The girls told them to come back later. The professors did and found two unsuspecting policemen waiting. They were fined $25 each.

Statistics reveal that no less than sixty former college athletes heroes are now presidents of colleges and universities throughout the United States.

The atlas of the Great Elector of Brandenburg, Germany, which is to be the largest book in the world, has been restored to its former beauty. The book is 66 inches high, 36 inches wide and weighs 275 pounds.

One of a group of five famous American portraits on exhibition at the Metropolitan Museum is by Samuel Morse, inventor of the telegraph, who was artist before he took up invention.

SMITH HALL GALS EVICTED!

Entomologists prophesying that the destruction of the world will be wrought by insects scored another hit this week-end.

Residents of Smith hall, women's dormitory, were evicted for the week-end, the sorority girls being hospiced in the houses of their sisters, and the inter-period Kercheval fumbled the ball on his own 26-yard line and the Tama quarterback, Mosely, was on it like a hawk. And then came the Tide, this time not to be stopped by goal for a safety and the winning touch-down.

The evicting was not for non-payment of rent, but to make sure that carpenters might do some much needed repair work. The carpentering being finished, the girls were allowed to return to the hall Monday morning, but a number of clemens Cleveland, also evicted during the week-end, were not permitted to return.

First Intramural Debate to Be Friday

The first intramural debate of the season will be held Friday night at Falmouth. This debate will be held at the high school in Falmouth and the team will consist of Clyde Reeves, Eric McLeffers, Albert Benjamin, and James Palmer, all of whom were debaters at the university last season. Prof. W. R. Sutherland, debate coach, plans to use two of the first-year debaters and two of the experienced debaters in each of the intramural debates in the near future. The majority of the early intramural debates will be held at different high schools throughout the state. No regular team has yet been chosen.

The usual weekly meeting of those interested in debating will be held tonight in room 426 of the library building.

ESPERANTO COURSE AT TEXAS

A course in Esperanto will be organized at this school if enough students are interested in the international language, fast becoming popular. The only expense to be incurred by the course is the cost of textbooks, making this an unusual opportunity. However, credit will not be given for the course at Texas, whereas, at Oxford, Geneva, Cleveland college, and Columbia credit is given. There are no irregular verbs, irregular endings, or silent letters in Esperanto. The grammar consists of sixteen simple fundamental rules, without exceptions. Esperanto has a literature of 6,000 different books and booklets, consisting of original works and translations; among the latter is listed the Bible.

STUDENTS ARE INVITED

Students of the university have been invited to attend a series of lectures on prohibition to be given by Raymond Robbins, internationally known social worker, and Dan Polin, president of the International Society of Christian Endeavor, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday nights of this week at Woodland auditorium.

Safety Brings Victory To Tide Over 'Cats

placed the ball squarely between the uprights, Kentuckians had visions of licking Alabama, a feat which had not been accomplished in eight years. But we unto these visions for near the end of the third period Kercheval fumbled the ball on his own 26-yard line and the Tama quarterback, Mosely, was on it like a hawk. And then came the Tide, this time not to be stopped by goal for a safety and the winning touch-down.

On the free kick after the safety, Kercheval punted 65 yards to Bama's 15 yard line. He punted 17 times during the game for an average of 40 yards a two-year better average than the mighty Cain. A great many times he was standing on or behind his own goal line and even time, except once, the ball sailed far up the field. On the occasion that the punt was blocked it was not his fault that the opposing tackle broke through too soon. Kercheval did good work also in blocking the Alabama passes when the Tide took to the air. In spite of the fact that the Tides' touchdown followed his fumble, and the safety, his blocked punt, this sophomore, Ralph Kercheval, was the hero of the game. For had it not been for his remarkable punting, Kentucky might have taken a severe drubbing.

Alabama set out to bottle up Kelly as they did last year, but this time the "Shipwreck" would not stay bottled. His 57-yard sprint through the entire Bama team was one of the nicest runs he has ever made. Kelly also did good work on the defense.

In the line Bud Davidson, Seal, Wright, Kipping, and Gibson played on the sensational. "Bad Man" Godfrey, Alabama's star tackle, lived up to his descriptive cognomen by slugging Gibson. He really did his team more harm than good for the team was penalized 28 yards, half
