University Charged With Discrimination In Men's Dormitories

Foreign Students Refers To Notices Put in Halls

By RONNIE BUTLER

A charge of discrimination against foreign students living in the men's dormitories was made by Mike Ganji, Iran, at a meeting of the Student Government Association Monday night.

Ganji stated that the discrimination came in the form of a bulletin posted in the men's dormitories. Further investigation showed that one of the bulletins, filed in Bradley Hall, said, in effect: "ATTENTION: ALL FOREIGN STUDENTS—It has been decided that many of you do not use or do not care for your beds as you do use do not change your bed linen often enough. If you do not now have procure immediately four sheets... I regret that this is necessary, but we cannot afford to have mattresses, mattress covers and pillows ruined because of your failure to comply with regulations."

Foreign Students Refers To Notices Put in Halls

"Four rooms of other students, all American, were examined, including that of a monitor. Two of them were messy, with bedclothing hanging sloppily from the beds, books strewn about the rooms, and paper and other odds and ends strewn about. One room was in no better condition than that of any of the foreign students."

Dr. Wall expressed the opinion that if there is any discrimination in the dorms, it's against the American students. He said foreign students were given privileges that none of the other students receive, such as the choice of a single room.

Foreign Students Pay More

Ganji later stated that foreign students pay $10 for a single room, while the price for other students is $45.

Showing favoritism, Dr. Wall said, is not the way to sell democracy to these students. He emphasized the fact that, if they are to learn what democracy is, they must be treated the same way that other students are. They should be dumped in with the rest of them, unless they have a language difficulty, Dr. Wall stated.

Commenting on favoritism, Ganji said, "If you were to come to Iran, we would do everything possible to make you comfortable, not because we must do so, but because it is our duty and decency shows it."

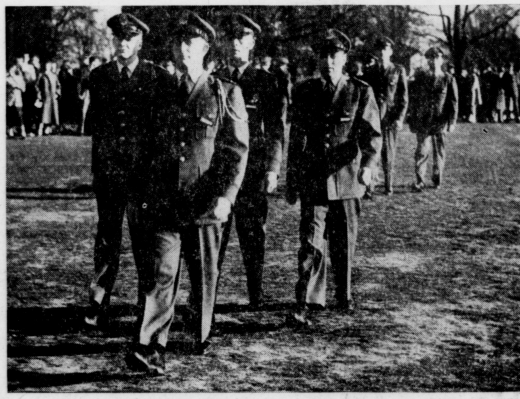

Kentucky Praised

One student, Luis Pacheco, Bogota, South America, said, "I share the feeling of disappointment of the foreign students about this matter, but this business won't change my impression that Kentucky people are the best. I am wonderful I have met in the states."

None of the foreign students who were questioned gave any examples of discrimination at UK outside of the men's dormitories.

"Everyone has been good to us," said Ganji. "I am sure that all those notices in the dormitories made me mad when I saw them, and some of them were hurtful."

The bulletins were taken down within an hour after the charge was made at the SGA meeting.

Born Yesterday Tryouts Are Set

Lecture To Be Given By Dr. Ralph Bunche

Tryouts for the next Guignol play, "Born Yesterday," have been set for 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the Guignol theater, Wallace Briggs, director, announced this week.

The play calls for a cast of 14, which includes 10 men and four women.

The movie version of "Born Yesterday" won an Academy Award for the star, Judy Holliday.

Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, of the U.S. Department of State, will deliver the fifth Blazer lecture at 8 p.m. Thursday in Memorial Hall auditorium. His subject will be "The United Nations and World Crisis."

Dr. Bunche first distinguished himself in international affairs in 1948 as head of the UN mediation board in Palestine during the Jewish-Arab conflict when he effected a truce between the two warring factions. Earlier, in 1944, he was assistant secretary of the U.S. delegation to Dumbarton Oaks in San Francisco, birthplace of the United Nations.

From this post, Dr. Bunche was appointed technical expert to the Trusteeship Committee of the UN. In 1947, Dr. Bunche became assistant to Count Folke Bernadotte, and won the Nobel Peace Award for his work in Palestine with the Israeli and Arab forces, which he headed when the Nobel Peace Award was slain.

K-Book Theme Is Announced

"This Is Your University" will be the theme of the 1953 K-Book to be presented to new students next fall. Judy Henry, editor of the handbook, said that final work on the book should be completed by the end of April.

"We want to emphasize to all the new students that the most value can be obtained from a college education by wholeheartedly supporting any activity, scholastic or social, that they enter. We hope that they will realize that a student can gain only when he contributes," Miss Henry said.

A staff, chosen by Miss Henry, includes an assistant editor, Carol Dorton; a business manager, Jim Perry; and four reporters, Kay Blinn, Larry Meyer, Rosalie Reading, and Claire Wood.

"We chose our present theme to try to encourage student enthusiasm. We plan to include as many pictures as possible, as well as information on details of campus life. Complete accuracy will be our prime aim," Miss Henry reported.

Mr. William Eber, of the Personnel Department, will act as the advisor for the handbook, helping to check information and assisting in its publication. SGA, YWCA, YMCA, Student Union Board, Keys, Panhellenic and Alpha Phi Omega are all contributing organizations.

Sub Applications May Be Turned In

Applications may be filed out for admission to the Student Union Board during the week of March 13 through March 20.

This is the first time that Board applications have been open to all students.

A board member must be at least a sophomore and have a 1.5 standing or over. Anyone interested and fulfilling the qualifications, whether or not they have served on Student Union committees, may get an application blank from room 122 of the Student Union.

Interviews will be March 26 and 27 from 4 to 6 p.m. The election will be Tuesday, April 14.

The committees are Activities committee, Art and Poster committee, Coffee Chat, Outing Club, Publicity committee, Sports committee, and House committee.

Best Dressed Contest Will Be Held Monday

Stylish fashion and the "new look" in clothes for men and women will be the keynote of the Seventh Annual Sigma Chi Best Dressed contest scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Memorial Hall.

The show, according to the sponsors, is designed to promote interest in fashion and better dress on the UK campus, and to "do away" with the popular conception that Kentucky is a backward state in habits and customs of dress.

Other candidates include Western, Sebree, AGR; Tom Fillion, AVTO; James Kostas, DX; Don Lennartson, DTD; George Howard, KA; Bill Rice, KID; Marvin Jones, LKA; Doug McCullough, Phi DT; James Boncour, Phi KT; Bob Westerman, Phi SK; Jim Harris, Phi R; Robert Strother, SAE; Louie Pritchett, SN; Pete Petrey, SPhiE; John Meiners, TKE; Joe Simons, ZBTA; and Stuart Yussman, ZTAE.

Candidates will be judged on poise, stage presence, personal appearance, and appropriateness.

Names of the students participating in the contest were to be turned in to Jerry Bradley or Herb Richardson, contest chairman, last Friday.

Winners of the contest last year were Jane Duncan, Chi Omega, and Bill Semason, Phi Delta Theta.

Psychologists Meet At UK For Lectures

Approximately 400 psychologists from throughout the nation are taking part in a Psychology Symposium today and Saturday at the University.

Formal name of the event, sponsored by the UK Department of Psychology, is Symposium on Relationships Among Learning Theory, Personality Theory, and Clinical Research. Experts in each of these three areas of study have been engaged as speakers during the symposium.

Among main sessions of the two-day affair is a dinner meeting scheduled for tonight at the Campbell House. Regular sessions are being conducted in a lecture room of the Department of Psychology.

The visiting psychologists were welcomed to the campus and Lexington by UK President Herman L. Donovan at 9 a.m. today after which the group opened technical discussions. Chairman of the symposium committee making all arrangements is Dr. Robert E. Bills of the Department of Psychology.

Other members of the general committee are Dr. Lyle W. Croft, director of a special committee formed to investigate the possibility of installing telephones in the men's dormitories; told Assembly members that the telephone caused a lot of give committee members figures concerning costs of installation on the grounds that members of the student body are not the right persons to deal with.

"However," Ganji said, "one new arrangement."

Institutions represented by speakers at the symposium include George Washington University, Ohio State University, University of Wisconsin, University of Michigan, Duke University, University of Illinois, University of Chicago, Ohio State Teachers College, University of Louisville, and Yale University.

Kirwan Explains Issue During SGA Meeting; Book Prices Discussed

Dean A. D. Kirwan told members of a Student Government Association meeting Monday night that certain news stories concerning the finding of whiskey in coeds' purses by UK campus police at the Interfraternity Council Dance Friday night were completely distorted by downtown papers.

"I was out of town the night of the dance," Kirwan said, "but when I got back and saw the picture of the campus police searching the purses, I investigated immediately."

Kirwan told members of the Assembly that the staffers started looking in the basement of Bowman Hall for closing at 12:30 a.m., and that there were from 40 to 50 purses lying around on chairs. Kirwan said that Mrs. Marie N. Fortenberry, director of the cafeteria, asked the police to watch them, since there were a lot of people still milling around.

One girl came to get her purse, Kirwan stated, and couldn't find it. He said after that, Mrs. Fortenberry asked the police to check each purse for identification, and that they were definitely not searching for whiskey.

"This would be the last place in the world where we would sanction the searching of someone's purse. That would be indecent as well as illegal," Kirwan said.

Telephone Company Contacted

During the meeting, Mike Ganji, director of a special committee formed to investigate the possibility of installing telephones in the men's dormitories, told Assembly members that the telephone caused a lot of give committee members figures concerning costs of installation on the grounds that members of the student body are not the right persons to deal with.

"However," Ganji said, "one new arrangement."

Institutions represented by speakers at the symposium include George Washington University, Ohio State University, University of Wisconsin, University of Michigan, Duke University, University of Illinois, University of Chicago, Ohio State Teachers College, University of Louisville, and Yale University.

Professor Wins Trip To Florida On Lucky Ticket

A little ticket dropped into a box in a Louisville electrical appliance store a few weeks ago brought a surprise vacation to Stuart W. Hallock, director of the Radio Arts Department, last week.

A telegram received Tuesday morning explained to Mr. Hallock that the ticket he had deposited had won for him a "trip to two Florida... seven days... all expenses paid."

The tickets were given to all the customers who purchased an article in that particular store. Mr. Hallock said he didn't buy anything, but they told him to fill one out anyway.

He explained, "I had purchased a recorder before Christmas at the ILLIS store, but they had failed to include a part of the appliance. As we were in Louisville, we went back to the store to pick up the appliance."

The drawing was held last week and Mr. Hallock was the winner. "The only trouble is that I'll be in Syracuse, N. Y., and the air travel provided leaves from Louisville. I guess we'll manage that difficulty, however."

Melodrama Rerun Set This Weekend In FA Lab Theater

"The Drunkard," musical melodrama, will be presented tonight and tomorrow night in the Laboratory Theater, Fine Arts Building, at 8 p.m., and a matinee is scheduled for 2:30 p.m. tomorrow. Don Clayton, director, announced.

Performances of the comedy were "sold out" for two performances last semester, and the rerun is by "popular demand," he added. Clayton, a graduate drama student, adapted the play from the 1880 original.

Several changes in casting and staff have been made. Now in the cast are Bill Eddy, the drunkard; Sue Jackson, his wife; Barbara Frances, their daughter; Sue Nall, mother-in-law; Claire Wood, a spinster; Don Hartford, a country boy; ILLIS Bean, his half-witted sister; Jim Holloway, the villain; Barbara Thompson, a barmaid; Betty Holtz, a girl; and Lourene McClellan, barflies; Charles Neal, bartender; Tom Gover, a reformer; Sonya Hess, a country woman; and Jim Broad, a messenger boy.

Songs include "Never Touch the Staff," "Just Because You Said I Love You," "Sitting Well," "Talk About the Moon," "Carry On," and "The Drue skit will be performed with a Latin American Band accompanying the show."

The Ball Room will be decorated with flags of all nations.

Last year, as a result of a similar donation, this organization donated $300 to the Student Women's Club to help them send two boys from Lexington to Europe for the summer.

This year the club plans to donate the money taken in to aid the people of some foreign land.

UK Takes First In Sports Meet

UK won first place in the Sports day held on the University campus March 7.

Georgetown, Asbury, Centre, Transylvania, and UK participated in basketball, badminton, volleyball, and swimming.

Centre College took second place and Transylvania won third. The theme of the Sports Day was "UK 1953 Olympics."

When the events were over in the afternoon refreshments and entertainment were provided for the visiting colleges in the Women's Gym.

Cosmopolitan Club For All Students

The Cosmopolitan Club is having an all-campus dance Saturday night in the Ball Room of the Student Union. The dance will be informal and the only charge will be donations accepted at the door.

The dance will begin at 8:30 p.m. and the music will be performed by the Blue and White Orchestra providing the music. The money taken in at the dance will be used to promote international relations by helping the poor in foreign countries.

From 10 to 11 p.m. a floor show will be presented by several of the foreign students in their native costumes. National dances are expected to be performed with a Latin American Band accompanying the show.

The Ball Room will be decorated with flags of all nations.

Last year, as a result of a similar donation, this organization donated $300 to the Student Women's Club to help them send two boys from Lexington to Europe for the summer.

Ray Anthony's version of "Slaughter On 10th Ave." holds the attention of UK students attending the IFC dance last Friday night in the Student Union Ballroom. Anthony and his orchestra provided music for the event which lasted from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. A record number of students, an estimated 2,500, attended the all-campus dance, an annual affair sponsored by the Interfraternity Council.

UK Should Seek Retraction Of Story About Campus Cops

Although the University and the Lexington Herald came out with contradictory statements last weekend, it appears both are satisfied to drop the case concerning the story appearing in last Saturday's Herald that UK policemen searched and found whiskey in some of the girls' purses at the IFC dance Friday night in the Student Union.

Dean A. D. Kirwan said this week that a meeting was held Monday of certain administration members and that it was decided to forget about the matter and not say anything to the Herald. He expressed that it was feared this would cause bad relations between the University and the local newspapers.

The news is definitely bad publicity for UK. The University should at least defend itself and seek retraction of the story, if it feels the facts have been misrepresented, regardless of maintaining good relationship with the press. We don't see how the University can think that good relations exist now if it thinks the Herald published such distorted facts.

The Herald doesn't seem to anxious to bring up the subject again either, even to the extent to defend itself. The Lexington Leader came out Saturday afternoon with a story quoting the UK cops and University personnel as denying the charges that whiskey was found in the girls' purses.

After an investigation of our own, we see that the Herald's story is thin in several places. The second paragraph of the story stated that "the girls checked their purses with the officers when they went into the dance, ostensibly to protect their valuables." This statement is unquestionably not true as can be verified by anyone at the dance.

Telephone Addition In Men's Dorms Is Not Much Help

The campaign to get telephones in the men's dormitories has paid off, but only one finger of one hand is needed to count the number of phones that have been acquired. One additional phone is surely not much help for the approximately 550 boys that live in the dorms and is well below the number we had hoped for.

It was announced at SCA meeting this week that another phone will be put in later if needed. Dean Kirwan said two additional pay phones have also been ordered. But even this will not be adequate for such a large setup as the men's dorms.

Several plans were presented to SCA by Mike Canji, who deserves a lot of credit for the time and effort he put into the project. The initial plan called for 16 or 20 phones which would be satisfactory. Another plan included a complete telephone-buzzer system, which costs too much and which we know the University would not listen to. Sixteen phones would cost money, of course, but the University should be willing to put out such an amount. The University requires that all freshman boys live in the dorms, so it ought to give them some conveniences.

SCA thanked a certain UK administrator this week for cooperating in getting the phone in the dorms. We can't blame him for cooperating. It's not a bad bargain in trading 16 phones for only one.

The Student Government Association cannot be blamed in this case for not achieving the full objective, because it made a complete investigation and offered several plans. The University just didn't feel like it should spend out money for such a project. Maybe some day it will wake up to the fact that the dorm boys deserve a few phones as much as all the faculty and administration members do.

Girls who did not check their purses at the check room either left them or left them on the tables. This information, which is definitely not true, tends to show that the remaining facts also could have been gathered wrong.

The reporter of the story admitted this week he did not see any whiskey bottles. He said the policemen told him they had found "two or three" bottles of whiskey and that "the names of the coeds would be turned over to the dean." Both the policemen and Dean Holmes denied the statement.

The picture that appeared in the Sunday Herald-Leader was reported this week by a Herald staff member as being posed for by the policemen. No whiskey is shown in the picture, and so this doesn't prove anything.

A combined story from Dean Kirwan, Dean Holmes, and Seth E. Taylor, foreman of the police in the Maintenance and Operations Department, is as follows. The policemen were instructed to report to the cafeteria at 1:15 a.m. Saturday to lock up the building. After they left the Coliseum after a basketball game, they saw lights in the cafeteria. Not knowing that the dance included use of the cafeteria, they went to investigate the matter.

Some time after 12:30 p.m., Mrs. B. W. Fortenbury, director of the cafeteria, who wanted to close and clean up the cafeteria, had the pocketbooks that were lying on the tables collected and put on chairs. She asked the UK cops to see that the purses got to the rightful owners.

In order to assure that each girl got the right purse, the policemen asked each girl to identify something in the pocketbook. They denied searching purses except in the presence of the owners.

The Herald was notified by a phone call that the UK cops were going through the girls' purses looking for whiskey. The person answering the phone at the office said he could tell the caller was drunk and started to ignore the call. However, a photographer and reporter were sent out to the cafeteria.

The University will be acting unwisely if it allows the matter to be dropped. It puts UK in a bad light with the public, and so, should be corrected. In any case, it shows an example of poor reporting on the part of the Herald. The paper should also have the desire to straighten out the matter.

Letter To The Editor

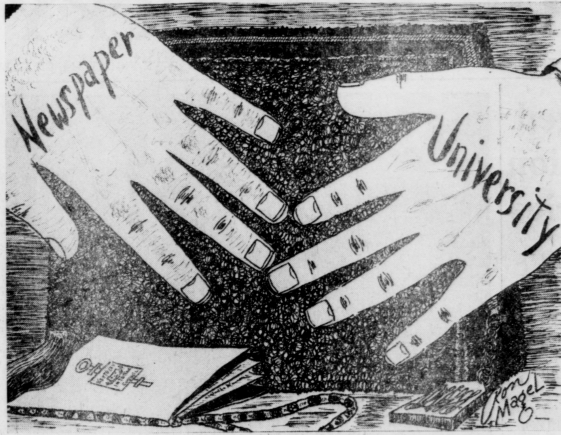

'Discords' Causes Discord

Dear Editor:

For nearly 20 years I had wine with every dinner. Since I came to this country, I had to drink water, plain water. By and by I got accustomed to it. I had to. But what I read under the title "Discords" in the last issue of the Kernel, was too much for an old lover of wine (definitely not synonymous with drunkard).

Between reports about thieves and communists you told your readers, apparently with great disgust, that it is possible to study the culture of wine and to make the degree of an academic vine cultivator at a German university. Can you tell me what the discord is?

After a regular and complete study of agriculture, students in Germany can take special courses in the cultivation of the vine plant and the preparation of wine. Why not? At UK agriculture students can take classes in cheese making. Do you think cheese making is more academic than wine making? Hundreds of thousands of farmers in Europe make their living with wine. So millions of people in Europe their daily wine means as much as their daily bread. What would a Frenchman be without his "vine rouge"? In parts of Spain wine is cheaper than water. To my home town, located

Another Friday The Thirteenth Proves Too Much For Student

By KAY BLINCOE

Tom Cattin glanced nervously over his shoulder, then to the right and left of him. He looked down just in time to skip the crack in the sidewalk. "Whew!" he said, "gotta be more careful today. I just about killed myself last month! And just think, there's another Friday the 13th coming up in November. Three all in one year!"

He looked at his watch; ten minutes before class. Just a few more steps and he'd be in front of Frazee within a few minutes left for a cigarette. Suddenly Tom stopped, frozen in his tracks. There, in front of him, was a big, black cat, slowly picking his way across the lawn. Sweat poured off the horrified, little-man's brow. The cat quit his stalking, casually settled himself in the center of the sidewalk, and began to cat wash himself.

The two cattily looked each other over. "Scat" was the insistent cry. That fat cat didn't even flinch. He just sat there, polishing his claws on his ebony coat.

From far-away Frazee, came the clear chime of the bell. Tom Cattin was late. He looked desperately around for aid in his moment of misery, not knowing quite what to do. His salvation came in the form of Bill Board, running at top speed for the drill-field. "Hey, Cattin! Move, I'm late for drill!" Tom stepped meekly to one side to let the express train roar through. The express train came to an unexpected halt as both the tardy cadet and the cat rascled in the middle of the sidewalk.

"Thanks, Bill," Tom said gratefully, as he took advantage of the situation and went to history class. Tom opened the door and slinked toward his seat. The professor finished calling the roll. "Will the boy who came in late see me after class?" glared the stern face of the historian.

The class finally came to an end, and the tongue-lashing had been administered. Bewildered and broken, Tom shuffled down the rickety, old stairs.

It was three minutes in front of nine as Tom trotted toward the Fine Arts Building. Suddenly he reversed himself, went back and picked up a pin. "Maybe now, my luck will change," he said. He pinned the prize on his left lapel and started to flash on to class, when he noticed his right foot. "Yipes," he shrieked. He was standing on a crack in the sidewalk. He murmured a short prayer for his mother's back, and raced off for his humanities class.

He looked at his watch. One minute between glory and damnation. Into the building, up the stairs, around the corner to the classroom, he ran. Tom read the note posted on the door and his eyes popped out of his head. "Class dismissed. Read next assignment." Tom staggered to the water cooler and took a long, deep drink. He sat down beside the fountain to rest.

Dejectedly, Tom Cattin decided to cut classes and go home. He felt like his head was taking power dives. Mentally beaten and physically tired, he climbed into bed and went to sleep, knowing that when he awoke, he'd be all right again—at least until November.

The Frying Pan

Columnist Claims 'Frying Pan' Is Pressure Cooker

By KATHY FRYER

There used to be a game on campus called "pressuring the Kernel." Now it has somewhat narrowed into "pressuring the Frying Pan."

The main variety of this delightful pastime is asking for free publicity. Someone is promoting something and he wants you, too.

Mike Ganji did his Cosmopolitan Club Dance was the first this week. The dark-eyed Iranian who is an official of press and propaganda in his home country wanted more in the paper about the dance than the usual story.

Then Kay Blincoe left a note asking me to print a story of his. Seems Kay (short, somehow, for George Carlen) wrote a feature on the Horace Haggitt show in today's TV In The Bluegrass magazine.

Both should be worth looking into. Blink's not a bad writer, and if the enterainers for Mike's dance look like the girls on his posters, ooooh!

The Herald story about the whisky bottle found in girls' purses after the IFC dance has been found untrue. Naturally. Who ever saw an evening bag with enough room in it for lipstick, comb, compact, cigarettes, and Kleenex, much less a fifth?

As a result of that dance, one-third of the campus now knows how to Bunny Hop. Comes in handy when rainwater fills the depressions in the sidewalks up to your ankles.

When you're in one of the mobs that surges over the sidewalks between classes, you can't help eavesdropping on the people behind you. Interesting, sometimes. For example:

"And then she slipped up and said 'There wasn't anything civil about that war.'"

"... that captain standing up there filling with that ball of string. I'd like to string him up with it."

"You have to watch him. He'll tell you one thing and mean something else."

"Now if you figure the pressure in relation to the temperature this way you're likely to come to the conclusion that..."

"Got a 1000 word theme due tomorrow and I've done about 100 words... it's just the third time I've taken that course."

"Our rent to the University for the year 1952 amounted to $39,444.88."

Following the reading of the above statement, Assembly members expressed the opinion that the institution of a student bookstore would in no way compete with the business of the bookstore. One member, Mike Ganji, suggested that students meet on a particular part of the campus at the beginning of each semester to swap books. Ganji also suggested that students might profit by keeping a reference library. "These books will cost in very heavy some way, and should be saved," he said.

"But Why The Candles, Holy Water And Beads?"

"It looks like hokus-pokus to me," Dave Smith said to Father Crane.

Dave was expressing a quite common view held by many non-Catholics . . . that the Catholic use of such articles as beads, candles, medals and holy water is unnecessary in religion and even smacks of pagan superstition.

"What good does it do," Dave asked, "to light a candle or burn incense? And how can a little metal around my neck protect me from accidents?"

Unfortunately, too many people outside the Catholic Faith have a complete misunderstanding of these religious articles and the use to which they are put. There is nothing pagan or superstitious about them, and they do have a very real religious meaning and value.

"Actually," Father Crane told Dave, "religious articles used by Catholics are meant to be helps to their religious life—nothing more. The value of such articles is not in the metal, wood or wax of which they are made, nor in the form they may have . . . but in the prayer of the Church and of Christ, in whose name the Church prays in blessing them . . . as well as the fervor of the user's own prayer and his good disposition."

But Dave was still not convinced. He argued that religion is a spiritual thing . . . that it requires no external manifestations. "Yes," the priest agreed, "it is spiritual. But isn't it the natural thing for a human being to give outward expression to the things within his heart? How, for example, could you be sure that your mother loved

It's the size of the FIGHT in the man!

That's right! In the U. S. Air Force, it's not the size of the man in the fight—it's the size of the FIGHT IN THE MAN! And Aviation Cadets must have plenty of it. For Cadet training is rugged. If you're good enough... tough enough... smart enough... if you can take it while you're learning to dish it out, you can have one of the most fascinating careers in the world. You'll be equipped to fly the latest, hottest planes. You'll be prepared to take your position as an executive, both in military and commercial aviation as well as in industry. And while you're helping yourself you'll be helping your country.

WIN YOUR WINGS! It takes little over a year to win your wings as a Pilot or Aircraft Observer (Navigator, Bombardier, Radar Operator or Aircraft Performance Engineer). But at the end of your training you graduate as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Air Force, with pay of $5,300.00 a year.

ARE YOU ELIGIBLE? To qualify as an Aviation Cadet, you must have completed at least two years of college. This is a minimum requirement—it's best if you stay in school and graduate. In addition, you must be between 19 and 25½ years, unmarried, and in good physical condition.

New Aviation Cadet Training Classes Begin Every Few Weeks!

- HERE'S WHAT TO DO:
1. Take a transcript of your college credits and a copy of your birth certificate to your nearest Air Force Base or Recruiting Station. Fill out the application they give you.
 2. If application is accepted, the Air Force will give you a physical examination.
 3. Next, you take a written and manual aptitude test.
 4. If you pass your physical and other tests, you will be scheduled for an Aviation Cadet training class. The Selective Service Act allows you a four-month deferment while waiting class assignment.

WHERE TO GET MORE DETAILS:
Visit your nearest Air Force Base, Air Recruiting Office, or your nearest Air Force ROTC unit. Or write to Aviation Cadet Headquarters, U. S. Air Force, Washington 25, D. C.

Then And Now

UK Alumni Find Themselves Scattered After Graduation

Kentucky alumni seem to find themselves scattered to the far reaches of the country, soon after graduation. One of the more recent graduates, William M. Welch, 50, of Louisville, is draftsman for the Army Exhibit Unit, 857th AAT, Camdon Station, Alexandria, Va.

Another of the 1950 graduates, William A. Neblett, is closer to home. He is living at Route 3, Louisville, and is employed by the Louisville Gas and Electric Company, 311 W. Chestnut.

Harry Ulinski, '50, of Louisville, has signed a pro football contract with the Washington Redskins for the fall of 1953. Ulinski, who played with Washington in 1950 and '51 played in the Canadian Football League last fall, and is returning to the Redskins after one season with the Canadian outfit.

Dr. William N. Lipscomb Jr., '41, of Lexington and Minneapolis, Minn., head of the physical chemistry department at the University of Minnesota, presented a lecture before the Lexington section of the American Chemical Society recently on the University campus.

Dr. Lipscomb also lectured at the Universities of Louisville, Indiana, Purdue and Iowa State on his recent trip here.

Alfred C. Pickard, '42, is assistant sanitary engineer in the State Department of Health's Division of Engineering. He received his BS degree in civil engineering from UK.

It's 'National Smile Week'

By JOHN NEWLAND

"When I lose my power to laugh, my teeth break," said Abraham Lincoln. He might have made this comment in observance of National Smile Week which is March 9th through the 14th.

Everyone knows that during this week, you're supposed to display that toothpaste advertisement look, but what is that certain something that makes people really laugh? Did humor begin with Hope, Crosby, and Company?

According to noted writers of wit and humor, laughter was born out of hostility. The original history dates back to ancient jungle life when two savages duelled until one submitted; the roar of triumph of the winning savage was interpreted as the first form of laughter.

Mishaps of others furnish us with a form of laughter, but they must be minor mishaps. We laugh at another person's blunder, if the injury doesn't affect the eye permanently.

Always popular in America is making fun of stuffed shirts or of the elite. A joke of this type might be the one about the aristocratic Bostonian who had just employed a new chauffeur, and as they started out for their first drive asked:

"What is your name?" "Thomas, ma'am," he replied. "I never call chauffeurs by their first name," she said. "What is your last name?"

"Darling, ma'am," he answered. "Drive on—Thomas," she said. Using people ignorant in the ways of language is also the basis for modern jokes, such as:

"Old negro preacher: 'That will be baptism in dis yere church next Sunday, two adults and four adults-ress is twine to be baptized.'"

Women bear the brunt of ridicule in jokes made-up and told by the male class. A certain wit was asked if he believed in clubs for women.

He replied, "I certainly do, but only if they fight the other night?"

"How did you get along with your wife in that fight the other night?" "Oh, she came crawling to me under her knees."

"What did she say?" "Come out from under that bed, you coward."

Billiard Team Wins Fourth In Tournament

The UK billiards team won fourth place in Section III of the Inter-collegiate Billiard Tournament played March 5.

Notre Dame won first place in Section III with a grand total of 234. The University of Georgia won Section I with 233 points, and the University of Michigan won Section II with 221 points.

The members of the UK team were Robert Kelley, W. M. Cochran, and James Riddle. Out of 10 frames of play their respective scores were: James Riddle, 72 total, run 27, average 7.2; John Kelley, 69 total, run 16, average 6.9; W. M. Cochran, 73 total, run 16, average 7.2.

The accumulative scores were: best single game 73, high run 27, grand average 7.13, and grand total 214.

For convenience in reporting, all entrant colleges were divided into groups of nine schools. Each group began play at the same time and half way through the match and again at the end of the play telephone reports were given to and from the Billiard Congress headquarters at Chicago.

This national telephone hookup served to inform all the colleges playing in the tournament of their standing compared to the rest of the entrants in their group.

Student Notes Growth Of Frats, Sororities

It may be all Greek to some, but fraternities and sororities today play a major role on the campuses of small colleges, large colleges, and universities across this country.

Since their advent in this country some 140 years ago, Greek-letter organizations have become recognized in institutions of higher learning.

The first Greek-letter fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa, was founded in 1776, the same year America declared its independence. It evolved from an earlier organization called "The Flat Hat," and most of its early members were representatives in the Virginia House of Burgesses and soldiers in the Continental Army.

Most of the feature characteristics of the fraternity and sorority system known today originated in Phi Beta Kappa.

In 1831 Phi Beta Kappa became strictly an honorary organization, limiting its membership to those who achieve distinction in liberal arts studies. Phi Beta Kappa, as an honorary, is today the largest Greek-letter fraternity, both in chapters and members.

I. C. Sorosis, founded at Monmouth College in 1867, was the first sorority. In 1888 it assumed its present name of Phi Beta Phi. From 1870 on, the sorority system as known today began to form. Social fraternities and sororities, as their name implies, are organizations that stress elements of everyday society. Friendship, morality, and culture are emphasized in social fraternities. Honor organizations stress scholarship, leadership, or some broad field of culture, and professional groups confine membership to specified fields of professional or vocational education.

Many college functions such as booster activities, dances and competitive awards are sponsored by fraternities and sororities. These activities help both the organization and the different institutions. Fraternities and sororities today are well established, and generally are recognized as a link between the student and the college. "Greek" apparently will continue to exist as long as friendship is connected with our colleges.

Then there was the agricultural college student who was voted the most likely to sack seed.

Doctor: "How's the patient this morning?" Nurse: "I think he's regaining consciousness. He tried to blow the foam off his medicine this morning."

'Catfish' Cop Fourth In SEC Swim Meet

By LARRY MEYER
Florida won the Southeastern Conference swim meet last weekend at Athens, Georgia...

was 2:24.3 by Georgia's Marshall Floyd who also broke a conference mark of 2:26.0 set by a teammate last year...

In scoring 47 points, they topped the previous high score compiled by the UK entry in last year's meet of 15 points.

One outstanding point established by the Kentucky squad was in the 1,500 meter grueling race when Gene Lewis and Jack McCabe finished fifth and sixth after the UK by Bob Percy of LSU...

McDonald Picks Up Fast Fourth
Other points picked up by the UK tankers were in the 200 yard backstroke as Captain Jack McDonald pulled a fourth place despite the fact that he turned in his best time of the year...

Florida Wins Meet
Florida won the three day meet despite the fact that Georgia pulled seven first places to garner second...

Commissioner Moore has done it again! We at Kentucky don't like to take on the attitude of persecution but in the light of what has happened in the past year and a half, it is hard to believe otherwise.

The latest escapade pulled by the venerable Mr. Moore is his negative ruling on the request for an Alumni game to replace the usual inter-collegiate game played at the close of spring practice.

We only wonder what Commissioner Moore has against UK and if he hasn't done enough. Fans of Kentucky are the only ones who are being punished by the ruling which won't allow former grid greats to exhibit their wares again on Stoll field.

In continuing the recognition of high scorers in the I-M league each week, we find one big name continuously cropping up in the two place numbers; that of Sig Ep center, Jim Briner.

In the Independent league, the Copy Cat's Don Appledorn poured through 24 of his team's 33 points but the Cats still went down to defeat at the hands of the Lakers, 41-33.

A lot has been said concerning the free-for-all which occurred after the University of Louisville-Seton Hall basketball game in Louisville two weeks ago.

Phil Rollins, brother of Ken Rollins who led the Fabulous Five to their Olympic heights, was the spark plug in the UL win and impressed many observers with his finesse on the court.

The following letter was received pertaining to this column in the issue of February 20. Mr. Shropshire was the faculty advisor for the 1939 undefeated Kentucky swim team.

Dear Sir:
It was with a great deal of interest that I read your column, "Sportlites," of last February 20. It is certainly nice to see that the Kentucky "Poolless Wonders" are now getting some much deserved publicity, and are having such a fine season.
The present team of swimmers, with their fine pool, are to be congratulated, and I am sure that each and every member of UK's teams of former days are proud of the record they are making.
Let me commend you on your last two paragraphs (Ed. Note: pertaining to the scholarship problem here for minor sports) relative to the swimmers with which I concur.
Very truly yours,
JAMES S. SHROPSHIRE

UK Fencers Lose First Bouts; Face Tough Three Day Trip

By DICK FURKINS

The previously undefeated UK swordsmen suffered their first and second losses of the season last Saturday, at South Bend, Ind., as they dropped both ends of a triangular meet to Notre Dame and the University of Chicago.

but due to inexperience and injury he was no match for Irish fencers, losing all three sabre bouts. High man for Notre Dame was McClain with two wins, while Seiler led Kentucky, as usual, with three victories against no setbacks.

The invincible Seiler led all fencers in total points by coping six out of six bouts, Prather ended up with four points and Whittenberg three for Kentucky.

NOTRE DAME 17, KY 10
A tough Notre Dame team, which won both their matches, stopped the Cats by a 17-10 margin.

CHICAGO 16, KENTUCKY 11
The University of Chicago, annually a strong fencing team, also nanded the Wildcats a setback.

MEET ILLINOIS, I.U.
The UK swordsmen will attempt to get back into the win column today when they take on the University of Illinois at Champaign, Ill.

The highlight of this match was a duel between UK Capt. Bill Seiler and Bob Walters of the Irish in foil. Walters, in ten meets this year, had not suffered a single loss until Seiler bested him.

The Cat foil team again bested the opposition's foilers, this time 6-3, but they also lost sabre and epee again, 2-7, and 3-6 respectively.

Last year, Kentucky lost to the Illini by a 20-7 margin. Saturday, the Cat fencers move on to Bloomington, Ind., where they engage the University of Indiana.

UK's strong foil team won 5-4, but the Cats lost out in sabre, 3-6, and epee, 2-7.

Kentucky was hurt somewhat by the loss of Bill Hartley in sabre. Hartley came down with the flu and had to spend his weekend in the Notre Dame infirmary.

Coach Breckinridge announced that on the trip back to Lexington, he, Seiler, Sternberg, and Wright will stop off in Louisville, Sunday, where they will compete in the State Three Weapons Championship.

The favorite is Albert Wolff, who was on the U.S. Olympic team. Another highly rated contender is veteran fencer Carl Burge.

The Cats were handicapped against Chicago, also, by the absence of Hartley, since he had to forfeit all three of his bouts. Had they won those three bouts, they would have conquered Chicago.

I-M Basketball Leagues End; Playoffs Begin Tuesday

Five Teams Dropped For Playing Ineligible Men In League Games

By JIM TURLEY and HENRY MAYO

Monday night will wind up the regular league play in both independent and fraternity with the playoff tournament getting under way Tuesday night. (Note: the schedules for both tournaments will be posted on the bulletin board Monday night.)

As we go to press on Wednesday, it looks as if the following teams will qualify: Fraternities: Division I, Phi Kappa Tau and Phi Delta Theta with either Kappa Sigma or Phi Sigma Kappa completing the three. Division II: Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Alpha Gamma Rho with the third team coming from either Tau Kappa Epsilon or Kappa Alpha. Division III: Sigma Chi, Sigma Phi Epsilon and Delta Tau Delta appear sure bets with Farm House having an outside chance.

the haunt of the Baskervilles
ONE there was a ghost named Leroy, who lived in a haunted cottage near a large Eastern university. Every Friday night, at exactly seven o'clock, he'd slide under the door of Baskerville Hall (the main dorm), and give the students all the answers to next week's quizzes. This was quite a set up. No studying, no cramming... and straight A's all term long. But then, one Friday, the hour came and went. No Leroy! And the following week, all the Baskerville Boys got an F on every quiz!
The Friday after that, all of Baskerville Hall waited... and waited. But still no Leroy! In high indignity, they set out to find him. Creeping into Leroy's haunted cottage... the Baskerville Boys found him moaning and groaning. "What's the matter, Leroy?" they asked.
Leroy wiped a ghostly tear from his ghostly eye. "The weather's so hot, a heavy tent I put on a shirt the collar curls and wicks. I haven't been out in two weeks!"
In high glee, the Baskerville Boys hurried to the local Van Heusen dealer and bought a dozen Van Heusen Century Shirts with the revolutionary soft collar that won't wrinkle ever. 6 whites, 2 grays, 2 blue and 2 tan... some with regular collars, some with spread collars. At only $3.95 apiece, they thought it was a very good investment.
Leroy was delighted. He rewarded the boys with all the answers to the following week's quizzes. Two months later, all the boys from Baskerville Hall had flunked out. Leroy's good-looking Van Heusen Century Shirts made him so popular with the co-eds, that he didn't have time for quizzes or papers.

Predictions Made On 'Sweet Sixteen'

By JOHN RYANS

With all the roads leading to Lexington next week and the annual high school state tourney, interest will be intense on the results of the various regionals and the fine teams which will come out of these regions to perform at the Coliseum next week.

So, for what it is worth, here are your Kernel Reporters prediction on the outcome tomorrow night and possible picks for the meeting of the "Sweet 16" next week over on the Avenue of Champions.

In the First Region, we find several outstanding quintets, but at the moment it appears that Paducah Tighman had the nod over Wingo, another tough squad.

The Second Region shapes up as quite a battle between South Christian (24-1) and Madisonville (24-2). My pick is Madisonville on the basis of tournament showing this year.

Owensboro Senior High appears on the road to a berth as the representative from the Third Region. Henderson Holy Name presents the only threat.

The Fourth Region champ will be one of three teams, Breckinridge County, Central City and Morgantown. Here is one vote for the Breckinridge countians.

In the Fifth Region, Ashburn seems to have the edge over the other teams by virtue of their 31-3 season record. Allen County seem to furnish a major obstacle.

The Sixth Region boasts two powerful teams in Caverna and Campbellville with Caverna having an edge, slight as it may be.

Another real battle will shape up in the Seventh Region when Male and Flaget do battle tomorrow night. Male has taken two of the previous meetings this season but Flaget should take the fourth.

The Eighth Region is a lopsided between Milton, Bagdad, Shelbyville and Owen County. Milton apparently holds the edge.

The Ninth Region will be a battle between Covington Holmes and Newport Catholic with Holmes taking the nod in a close one.

The Tenth Region appears the closest of them all. Bracken County (25-4), Fleming County (25-6) Georgetown (22-1) and Maysville (13-12) all have top teams. My vote goes to Bracken County.

Lafayette and Henry Clay have the nod in this, the Eleventh Region and should meet in the finals. I give Lafayette the pick in this tough one.

night and should go all the way in the Twelfth with Mount Vernon a dark horse, long shot as a result of the pairings.

Undeclared Clay County should have little trouble in the Thirteenth on the basis of their undeclared (31-0) record for the season.

Hindman (24-4) should return to the tournament here in Lexington as a result of their 24-4 record. Hazard only stands in their way.

In the Fifteenth Region, Pikeville (26-10) appears stronger than Meade County despite the Meade win over a strong Inez squad.

Ashland and Clark County meet in the opening round but Ashland should come through unscathed in the Sixteenth Region.

Dim Outlook Viewed For UK Track Squad

With the track season soon getting underway, prospects for Coach Seaton aren't too bright. With the squad working out each day, the lack of distance men, dash men, 440 yard dash men and additional hurkies is appalling.

The season opener, on April 11 with Marshall, will find three men gone. Al Wiley, ace miler, is now in the army. Captain "Speedie" Price is sick and won't be ready for about a month and another member of this Fall's team, Frank Scott, is ineligible scholastically.

The lack of men for the dashes, 100 and 220, is a carryover from the past two years. There just aren't any. The field events will have to wait until Coach Bryant decides whether his footballers will be able to take part in track. Outstanding prospects for field from the football squad are Jim Proffitt in the shot put, Aron Blivin, who set a state record in the shot last year and also is especially proficient in the discus, and Lou Karibo, counted on in the pole vault.

Rishell Looking Strong
So far, George Rishell, who is looking strong in the middle distances, Jay Wallace, captain of last year's squad, Doug Adamson, Duane Bennet, another newcomer and Dick Rundell present a pretty fair field for the middle distances.

Hurdler Bill Valleau, second high scorer from last year, Jack Beckwith, a new man in the javelin and one dash man, Ed Erndt are working out regularly.

Dr. Seaton again would like any and all men interested in track, in any capacity, to come out any afternoon to begin practice.

UK Riflemen Finish Second In Regional

The Kentucky rifle team finished second in the regional meet of the National Rifle Association's Inter-collegiate Rifle Team Championships held last weekend in Atlanta, Georgia.
