Down With Party Politics

Let's abandon party politics on the campus. As The Kernel begins its new quarter, it is adopting this as one of its primary aims. We are calling upon party leaders, student leaders, organization leaders—and everyone interested—to help us in this campaign.

Party politics have brought the Student Government association, the organization most affected by the bickering and brawling, to one of its lowest points. If the situation isn't remedied, the SGA may well become something in the past.

Here is the whole thing, simply and concisely. Students have become so conscious of party affiliations that they have forgotten the primary purpose of SGA.

Student government is not designed, dear students, as a training ground for state politics. Service in SGA is not a stepping stone to the governor's mansion or the White House.

SGA is an organization to benefit the students. To paraphrase, it is government "of the students, by the students, and for the students." But have we realized that fact? Have we understood that with the power given the student body through SGA we can make the University exactly what we want it to be?

Instead of looking at the situation realistically, we have formed two teams and are battling it out every chance we can find.

And we have divided on the most ridiculous lines imaginable. If you wear a Greek pin, you are a Constitutionalists; if not, you are an Independent. What you believe, what you stand for doesn't matter an iota. You're in the clique or you're out of it. Isn't that utterly foolish?

Certainly there are good, interested persons in both parties. Why can't they get together and make SGA something to be proud of, something to respect?

Let's forget we're Kentuckians and leave politics out of it for a while.

So Long, Soldiers--

It's beginning to look like a lonesome quarter—that has been the general opinion of everyone around the campus. With the ASTP folding its tents and stealing away and with our own ROTC-ASTP boarding an OCS train, there have been plenty of the old tears and heartbreak during the past weekend.

Without going sentimental on the boys, The Kernel would like to bid his fond farewell to the going.

First to the perpetual "juniors." To Jim, to Ed, to Dunc, to Walter, to Tommy, to Bill, to Dick—to all you fellows who wore those little blue caps with the white numerals '44. We wish you every thing that you could be here getting your diploma in June with the rest of your class. But we'll be proud of you when you get those gold bars instead. So long, boys, and hurry back.

And to you ASTP men who were transplanted to the UK campus. Maybe you haven't been here so long as the others, maybe we don't know your names so well. We've fussed at you, about you, and with you. But all along we've been glad you were here. We'll miss your bright and shining faces, your lines in the Union, your congenial formations on the campus. Good-bye to all you, too, and we hope that you'll come again.

We Wonder About Us

We wonder if we'll ever stop tip-toeing into this front office.

Ever since Boy Ammons held sway from this oversized revolving chair, we've felt this room was hallowed ground—he gave us that impression. Now that we're "sitting in the big seat" we still cling to the habit and enter gently and quietly—well, comparatively speaking.

We wonder if we'll ever stop feeling that we're overstepping the bounds of journalistic practice with all this personal opinion which is taboo in the newsroom but essential in the editorial office.

We wonder if we'll ever stop feeling like the last of the Mohicans without Watkins and Bederman.

But most of all we wonder if we'll ever stop feeling foolish at calling ourselves we.

'Power Over What?' Writer Asks Editor

DEAR EDITOR:

It is to my surprise that you are not living up to the standards of a writer or a reporter of a newspaper, the standard of reporting the facts. In your editorial two weeks ago, The Puppet with Power, you revealed your ignorance of the set-up of student government on this campus. You revealed your opinion, as if your editorial is supposed to do, but at the same time, you disregarded the facts.

I believe that if you and your staff should become more acquainted with the so-called SGA here, it might bring to light all the weaknesses that the SGA has to operate under. And by comparing our constitution with that of other schools, you might get student government up to where it should be on this campus.

Now getting back to the editorial, please show me in the SGA constitution where the students have any powers to establish any disciplinary rules and if so, where is any provision made for enforcing them. The students have very little to say about the rules by which they are to abide. This power is vested totally in the hands of the University, men and women.

If student conduct is not a matter in which the students should

Ad Libbing

To The ASTP

The boys' dorms and Boyd hall now appear dark and deserted for the boys are gone. Over 500 ASTP soldiers left Saturday, 150 more left Wednesday and Thursday, and soon they will all be gone. This is written as a salute to the boys who are leaving.

Not quite a year ago The Kernel ran the front page story about the ASTP soldiers coming to the campus. Some students wondered what the letters "ASTP" stood for; most didn't even care.

Saturday, however, many of the students of the University followed the boys to the downtown train station to see them off. A group of girls began to sing "When You Leave Kentucky, We Shall All Sit Down and Cry," and cry many of them did. The boys are returning to troops and we students are sorry to see them go.

They were a really great bunch of boys and a credit to Uncle Sam's army. We feel that we were fortunate to have them here on the campus.

This is not designed as a flowery tribute that invariably occurs when any group departs, but rather a simple expression of what we think is the feeling of the majority on the campus—deep regret at seeing the ASTP go.

They were always kidded about being "members of the fighting ASTP—fighting with school books and slide-rules." The boys who have already reached camp are probably taking a lot of ribbing right now for being "former school boys." But that kidding won't last long; it will quiet down just as soon as "our boys" prove themselves once again to be just as good soldiers as the new GI Joe—and able to take "army life" just as well.

They gripped a lot just like any normal group of soldiers. The dorms weren't right, the food was punk, the University was lousy, and the town was worse. But there wasn't any griping this past week. The boys said that they never thought the day would come that they would be sorry to leave Kentucky—but it did come.

They were a great bunch . . . there was Pete from New York, Sam from California, Bob from Georgia, Darrell from Idaho . . . and all of the others from Chicago, Los Angeles, and Orleans, Vermont. There was Sam who knew everyone on the campus but who never knew anyone's name . . . there was Bernie who never gave up trying to learn the Kentucky style of jutterbugging . . . there was Bernie who wasn't superstitious but always carried a rabbit's foot just the same.

The train pulled out Saturday carrying about 520 GI's west. The boys scrambled to the windows to wave to the girls who stood by the tracks at Limestone watching them go. They were leaving alright. A few of them will be back before the war is over; a few more will be back afterwards; but most of them will never hit these parts again. They are gone.

One girl stood silently by and waited until the entire train was passing out of sight. And then looking at the vanishing tail car she said, "Goodbye, it was nice knowing you."

First Get Yourself Some Japs Cadet Challenges UK Student

Dear Kernel Editor:

I received my Kernel of February 25 today and needless to say it received a very warm welcome. However there was one thing which "kinda got under my skin."

One Jimmy Saunders, A&B senior, made a rather poor statement in the "So They Say" column. When asked, "What do you think about the curtailment of the ASTP program?" he made some awful "damned" statements.

Editor's Note—Mr. Saunders' answer read, "I think it's being controlled because public opinion is that too many husbands and fathers are being drafted while boys who are better equipped physically are going to school at the taxpayers' expense and are not doing their part toward the war effort."

An aviation cadet and former UK student was punk, the University was lousy, and the town was worse. But there wasn't any griping this past week. The boys said that they never thought the day would come that they would be sorry to leave Kentucky—but it did come.

They were a great bunch . . . there was Pete from New York, Sam from California, Bob from Georgia, Darrell from Idaho . . . and all of the others from Chicago, Los Angeles, and Orleans, Vermont. ☆☆☆☆

Not very fitting now that our ASTP friends have departed for God-knows-where is a laced-edged little song they sang weeks ago:

Dust off your shoes, boys, time out for tea;
 We are the fighting ASTP
 Grabbing learning on the run
 Pick up that slide rule, drop that gun
 Up from the trenches, down from the sky
 We'll win the war with a equals Y.

Ironical now. Funny, how a few weeks will change sarcasm into irony.

BOX CARS

1. Tri Bell House:
 Anchors away! Hornsipe special-ists Sis Duder, Frances Street, and Marybelle Calvert gave Annapolis its first thrill since Davy Jones found a woman in his locker.

They come and go at the three potrooms. Lloyd Waddell left with dampened spirits due to Ann Stephens' tears, as the Walton well-known hand struck up for Benny Owen.

Watch that Erskine, her anti-aircraft brought down a date! Tom Lanier (Danville Air Cadet).

Neff Scherer, Tri Bell's own, is giving Duncan Hines some real competition. His "Lodging for a Night" has turned into "Boarding for a Day" at every sorority house on the campus.

2. Zeta Tau Alpha House:
 Virginia Long, fan letter fiend, is going to be making beds for the whole third quarter.

Breda Von Allmen, happy birthday! May we add that the birthday card you received smelled?

Bonnie Craig has been applying to the Air Cadet Dale bureau. "If so can't come, we send another!" Did Steve have three or four dates the other night?

Doris Christman is thinking of retiring from life it's getting too active.

Lieut. Hudson Hatcher, freshman friend, read of her love life in this column and is trying to make the twosome a threesome.

3. Kappa Kappa Gamma House:
 Locke's Marriage bureau is thriving, but the president wants a man. The calls from unknown admirers won't suffice.

Open Letter to Sal Ewing: Lock yourself in with your phone calls from Lee Booth (back from overseas) won't keep out the 15 evas-opping sisters at the keyhole. Shame on them!

Kappa Crashes: Who's getting crushed anyway in the Betsy Bank Stephans—Harris Short? Fan? Martha McCauley is suffering from lack of T.U. (telephone urge).

She wants a good connection like Brewster Phelps and Jim Conners.

The Kappa's "Birdboys" are planning to name their Liberator bombers. One is to be called "Frankie Bell" and the other "Big Red" in honor of Spenser.

4. Alpha Xi Delta House:
 In the absence of Co. G's broad shoulders, Big (Mother) Ted is allowing Alpha Xi's to cry on his.

Lieut. Charles Collier staggered under the weight of his many medals to give Laura Jessa's Bikie a special citation by his presence.

The press rolled—the news tops shouted, and five copies of the morning paper showing the gals of Alpha Xi were delivered to the house at 5 a.m. by special order of Jim Moore and the lieutenant for "Worm" and J.J.

Betty Fraysure, in spite of the postage price hit, plans to keep the scrolls rolling to Jim Moore.

5. Dangerous Ground:
 Davis Troupe really got around. This is dangerous! Blondes wear his specialty and when his essays were read to them they couldn't resist. Lexington avenue was one part and I'm scared to tell the other.

6. Famous Last Words:
 These farewells, how sad. As usual the girls dripped tears and the boys alcohol or vice versa.

Last words:
 Jim Rose—Just call me baby!
 Bill Carver—Hi!
 Tommy Ewing—Didn't have enough breath left to make comment after kissing everyone good-bye at least twice.

A. B. Duncan led the rendition of the last cheer: "All aboard for Rose Street!"

7. Chi O House:
 The old bucket brigade is hard at work passing them around tearful Pat McCarty, Marjorie Hammond, M. V. Gibson, and Hunsinger. They swear they will never take another train as one took Co. B away.

Betty Bohannon's roommates are having doppel dark glasses a bit early this season. Sun, heck! 'Tis her new finger headlight.

Society Note: "Nell" Hines Sehere is catag here soon.

Jane Elliott is so nice to come home to according to Nelson Woolcott.

8. Alpha Gamma Delta House:
 Jean Mills' trip to Alabama had plenty of "punch" in it.

Jean Wireman has landed "Pin Up Boy" Paul Blazer (P. Knox, OCS).

We want Billy! Come over please, Sturgill, we need you!

Nancy Taylor and Marian Yates can discuss the finer points of a triangle with intelligence. In fact, they rather enjoy it.

9. A. Delta Pi House:
 Texas Aggies on the way to shoot up the town. All shot with the idea of their coming are Peggy Ward, Maxine Rogers, Patsy Hookan—wait—she is getting Sid Smith and could she want more?

Elsie Rodgers made a 22 standing and an all week sitting during exam week with Co. A boys. May we touch you? Afterthought: Bettye McClanahan sat too.

10. Keeps:
 Now we know that this Haynes-workman case will never be unlocked. It's the real thing, folks.

11. Pledge Pins:
 It is a fact in the sorority world that, on a percentage basis, more "tra" pins keep pledge pins company than active ones. Ya, rah, rah, pledges!

12. Kappa Delta House:
 Bee Gee Foll's time is up; she is leaving school to be married. Other people have left, but didn't get half so much in return. We don't know about the somethings old, blue, or borrowed, but the something new is her K. D. diamond.

Jane Scott and Eloise Williams are hanging around from radio to radio, waiting for their men to score again.

Harlan Cops State Crown

By Gene Whicker

Alumni gym was the scene of the Kentucky State High School Basketball tournament, annual climax of the cage season, beginning Thursday morning and ending Saturday night of last week. At the conclusion of hostilities, only Harlan's Green Dragons were left unquelled, and they consequently walked off with the four-foot-tall victor's trophy.

The vanquished in the final game was another crew of 'greenies,' the Dayton Green Devils. Coming in for third honors was the Bluegrass representative, Madison, the Richmond club subdued Olive Hill in the consolation brawl. Both contests produced identical scoring, 40-28.

In the semi-final session Saturday afternoon, two second-half comebacks were witnessed. One resulted in triumph while the other, however, merely alarmed the eventual winners. The Madison Royal Purples dominated the situation throughout half of their encounter with Dayton, leaving the floor with an 18-11 score in their favor; but the flashy boys from upstate once again stole the show in the second act, emerging on the bright side of a 41-20 count. Olive Hill was left at the post while Harlan sprinted to a sporty 23-9 lead at half-time; later the Cornies nearly mustered enough buckets to extinguish the blitz, but were sunk, 29-26.

Most outstanding player of the meet was Wallace Jones, six-foot-five-inch Harlan center who is a one-han demolition crew. Among his youthful mates was one Humzey Yessin, sixteen-year-old brother of Wildcat Rudy.

Most irritating folks we know are those who stop you by saying "I know" and then turn out to know.

From The Bleachers

By BETTY TEVIS

Only this time it's From the Press Table—at Madison Square Garden in New York city. After a 24-hour journey, the cage Cats arrived in this big city at 4:00 Sunday afternoon. They took over Car 24 completely; the few non-Kentuckians aboard were content to remain silent and marvel at the lank' boys. Indefatigable Rudy Yessin chanted, "Green an' white dynamite—yea team, fight, fight!" all Saturday night, while his little brother Humzey (Schu pummed "Humzey Dumzey sat on a wall") was playing in the final state basketball game in Lexington.

Two of Moseley's girls are in New York at the same time and when last we talked to him Tom had doped out a way to see both of them and keep the peace. P. S. There's another reason the boys trekked up north—to play basketball.

Ever since a day several months ago in New York when a taxi driver dubbed him "Doc," Bernie Shively has hated the name. For devilment the basketball players call him that on trips when the poor man is unable to escape them. So, for 1,500 miles, it's been "Doc" Shively.

Carks (condensation card and shark) Allan Abramson and Jack Brannum are matched in perseverance only by Brannum, Tingle, Yessin, Moseley and Parker. DeMoisey and Buis talk and read Dick Tracy.

Little Adolph junior, known as Hercules or Herky, is a prodigious three-year-old personality kid. Wearing a blue-and-white satin Kentucky jacket, he races around the car grinning and saying "Hi" to everyone. Nate Buis punches the little boy on the chest and says, "Do you want to buy a typewriter, Herky?" And Herk runs to big Bob Brannum, his obvious favorite, and clambers up on the All-American's knee. Remainder of the day he spent sitting on his mother's lap and jabbering about sitting up all night to see the country go by. Entertaining Herk also were Alec Bower, Leader sports editor, who talked to him for hours, and Big George Vulich, who read fairy tales. Congratulations, kids, on a difficult mission successfully completed.

Funny sidelights: George Vulich reluctantly announcing to the team in the club car: "Bed time, fellows" . . . Brannum and Vulich complaining Sunday morning about their berths being too short for their 6' 5" and 6' 7 1/2" frames, respectively . . . Jack Tingle planning a boat cruise around New York harbor . . . Allan Abramson teasing everyone about taboo cigarettes . . . every team member, except green-tied Tingle, wearing a red tie just coincidentally . . . Schu wearing his red beat-up hat which he swiped because he "wouldn't buy anything that loud" . . . someone telling Kansas Brannum that the Kansas state basketball tourney was on the radio . . . Tingle eating constantly.

Chicken Pox Aren't So Bad If You Have Some Friends

By Billy Fischer

Chicken pox usually lasts a few days, but it took us two weeks. This is due to the many efforts of our good friends. Therefore, we'd like to give thanks to:

Mother and Dad for the lovely flowers. They were used as bribes for cokes.

All those who sent glorified "TS" cards. The funniest came from Betty and Sam, "the Lollipop Kids." Excerpt:

"They were training Mandy in her duties as a maid. Upon answering the phone the first day she brought no message, but explained:

"I wasn't nobody, jes' a woman says, 'It's a long distance from New York,' and I says, 'Yes mam, it certainly is.'"

Loyal Friends

Those loyal friends who came to visit and strained their vocal chords by yelling through the shut door with the "Keep Out" sign on it. Adele Denman, who opened the door just wide enough to let us see her and then shut it. Seeing your dyed hair and broken wrist made us feel healthy again.

Frances Murphy, the best little roommate in the world, who brought us everything we asked for except the wire clippers, the ladder, and the track shoes.

The soldiers on the athletic field, who counted up to six one day. It was good to hear.

Editor Bederman for those gay little jokes she whispered through the keyhole.

Just a G.I. Seamstress?

If you're forever getting out the needle and thread, here are some tips:

When a button comes off, sew it on well the first time. A slipshod job just means you'll have to do it over again soon.

Make your next shirt an Arrow. Arrow buttons are attached with a patented stitch, which "anchors" them to a shirt.

Check your size—you may be wearing too small a shirt and therefore causing too great a strain on the buttons and seams. The Sanforized label in an Arrow shirt guarantees shrinkage no greater than 1%—no danger of an Arrow ever getting too small!

German Culture Club

In an effort to improve the student's knowledge of the German language and culture, a new organization, Die Liedertafel, has been initiated on the campus.

The first meeting was held Thursday, March 9, in Miller hall to sing the music of Brahms, Schumann, and other composers of Germany. The society will continue to meet bi-monthly.

Officers of the organization elected at the meeting are, Esther Nevitt, Lexington, president; Kitty Crapster, Winchester, vice-president; and Alice Dean, Lexington, secretary and treasurer.

Three Nazi war prisoners have been recaptured in Kansas and charged with theft. Behaved just as though they were at home, eh?
