

Georgetown, Ky. Jan. 11, 1904

Mr. Wilson,

Lexington, Ky.

Dear Sir:-

Enclosed I send you a letter from Mr. Caleb Powers telling me to write you and get you to see the express company about a lot of books that were shipped for Mr. Powers which have never reached their destination. As you will see from the list I send you they were sent in October and there is no reason why they should not have reached their destination. Mr. Veach from the Transylvania has been to see them several times and I have written them and still the packages remain undelivered and Mr. Powers wants you to notify them that they will be held responsible if the packages are not delivered immediately either to the parties for whom they were intended or there whereabouts are made known.

Thanking you for prompt attention to this, I remain,

Respt.

H. S. Bradley