CAN YOU WRITE?

HERE IS YOUR CHANCE TO PROVE IT.

State cannot boast of a purely literary magazine, as most universities can, and therefore, how does the public know whether there is any literary talent at the University of Kentucky? We will show them next week for the next issue of the Idea is to be the "Literary Issue."

If you ever composed any poems, or if you ever attempted any short stories, now is the time to show your abilities.

In order to create interest in the Literary edition, the Idea will give a free subscription to The Idea for the rest of the school year, and will give also five copies of the Literary edition to all persons who have a poem or story printed in the Literary issue. If the person is also a subscriber to the Idea, the free subscription will be mailed to any address he directs.

Your name will appear above your production, and you will be given due credit for it.

All poems and stories must be in The Idea Box, entrance to Main Building, before Tuesday, April 19th, at 4:30 p. m. All English Departments, both professors and students, are asked to co-operate with the Idea in getting out a creditable issue.

This is a novelty, and may be a failure, but on the other hand may be a great success,—it all depends upon whether you write something for the issue, and try to boost it, or not.

Don't forget to sign your name to your poems or stories.

STATE TO RIDE COLTS TO-DAY.

The second game of the series between the Lexington Colts and State will be played on Stoll Field this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The first game was a close one, resulting in a score of 2 to 0 in favor of the Colts.

STATE 18. T. U. 3.

In a one-sided game last Monday, State walked home eighteen times and allowed T. U. three scores on three errors. Hil'emeyer pitched a good game for State, but was taken out in the latter part of the game to give Taylor a chance to try out.

You will be needed on Stoll Field Saturday to help defeat Central. Bring some noise.

WHAT TO EXPECT AT COLLEGE.

Here is a straight business proposition to you, take it or leave it just as you see fit.

A student of the University wrote a play which he called "What to Expect at College." It is a college play, the scenes of which are laid at the University of Kentucky. The characters in it are the ones that you come in contact with every day in your college life. The play is a comedy—not a tragedy as most amateur productions are.

The mistake was made in making up the cast—except in the case of the female parts—of selecting a student who would fit a part and asking him to take part in the play. The average college student is a queer combination, one-half vanity and the other half a jolly good fellow, if the first half does not hide it. It was found to be the general rule that when a fellow was asked to take a part he came to the conclusion that he was absolutely needed for the success of the play and that he was conferring a favor on the managers by taking part. For this reason one half of the cast did not attend rehearsal and took little or no interest. They had no reason to think that they were favoring anyone for this is the way the play is to be given: the expenses of the play will be about $125.00, as follows: $50 for opera house, $25 for printing of play, $15 for orchestra, $15 for costumes and extra scenery, and about $20 for advertising. The net proceeds over this will be divided as follows: 40 per cent to the Glee Club for taking part, and the other 60 per cent goes to the persons taking part in the play, to give a banquet with, or to use as they see fit.

The play is not being given for the benefit of any body or thing, merely for the purpose of giving those students who like to be in a play and make it worth seeing and hearing, a chance to do so and indirectly to help their University.

All persons interested, and who would like to take part in the play are requested to meet in the Y. M. C. A. room Friday, tomorrow afternoon, at four thirty prompt. This applies to men and young ladies also, for although the important female parts have been assigned and cannot be improved upon, there are several more female parts to be taken.

This article is not meant for a slam on those fellows who have been asked to take parts. If they will be present this afternoon at the same hour and place, they will be allowed to keep the part they were given if no one shows up who is more capable of taking the part than they.

No one is wanted who can not become enthusiastic enough to attend the rehearsals and learn the part given them. It will take three weeks of hard work to stage the play, three weeks of rehearsals which must be attended at the time, and not when convenient.

There are surely thirty or forty students in the University who have energy and brains enough to make the play a success. It will not require any "histrionic ability" to take part in the play, you will only have to act natural, for it is a college play dealing with college people.

Come to the meeting tomorrow afternoon at four thirty and see for yourself. You will be put under no obligations by coming.

The policy of formally inaugurating new professors has been established at the University of Washington. The first professor to be thus inaugurated was Dr. Richardson, who was formally placed in the chair of European History yesterday.

STATE Vs. CENTRAL.

Next Sunday at 3 o'clock, the baseball team is going to show what it can do. We have not had a decent baseball team since Phil the Dago was a boy. That is, up to this season, for we sure have one now. The team is going to defeat Central Saturday, and the dope is that the score is going to be 6 to 3 in our favor.

THE GLEE CLUB.

The Glee Club has already shown a wonderful improvement over last year and this, the second year of their career, promises a most successful future.

We feel thankful to Prof. Zembrod for the invaluable assistance and encouragement he has given. To Prof. Wheeler we extend our heartfelt thanks for his untiring, yet most effective efforts, to lift the efficiency of the Glee Club to the highest possible standard.

Next Saturday night they go to Paris. Very soon they will visit Winchester, Georgetown, Richmond, Louisville and other towns and cities of the State.

All who attend Chapel appreciate the Glee Club's ability, and their kindness for entertaining them so delightfully. Here's to the success of our Glee Club! Let one and all accompany them Saturday night.

The Brickbat Flirtation.

Fanning self with brick—"I love you madly."

Balancing brick on nose—"Beware, we are observed."

Slipping brick in pocket—"I will meet you in the same place, at the usual hour."

Throwing brick through window—"Make haste, I am tired of waiting."

Chewing corner of brick—"If you don't say yes, I will kill myself."

Mae—"Just think, Bob is playing on the Yale football team!"

Clara—"That's jolly. What is he, half-back or quarter-back?"

Mae—"Neither. He's a draw-back. Charlie says he's the greatest drawback the team ever had."

The women of the University of California have organized an orchestra.

In order to become better acquainted with the students at Harvard President Lowell is having Sunday afternoon receptions.

The faculty at Miami has recently ruled that the editor of the college paper, the Miami Student, shall receive two hours' credit.

The honorary fraternity, Alpha Psi, will install a chapter at the University of Kansas this spring. Membership in the fraternity is open only to women who excel in music.

A new administration building has been provided for by the legislative appropriations for the University of Kansas. The foundations are to be laid out by the senior engineers.

The Oxford, England, boating crew defeated Cambridge in the annual regatta recently held on the Thames, winning by three and a half lengths, after a race of four and one-half miles.

Efforts are being made at Minnesota to secure an appropriation of $5,000 to be used in paying the officers and band master of the cadet orchestra.

John R. Allen, professor of Mechanical Engineering at Michigan, will leave for Constantinople at the close of school to superintend the construction of buildings to be used as an engineering department by Roberts College, located four miles north of the city.

Natré Dame athletes tied the world's record in two events in the recent indoor track meet in which they defeated the Ohio State University. The events were the 40-yard dash in 4 2-5 seconds, and the 40 yard low hurdles in 5 seconds flat.

The action of Yale withdrawing from the Association, composed of Pennsylvania, Cornell, Yale, Princeton and Columbia, was the result of a meeting at New York, in which Goebel, the heavyweight champion, and Sweeney, the lightweight champion, were voted ineligible to wrestle in this year's Intercollegiate meet.

The Iowa State Board of Control of educational institutions favors the gradual elimination of football and other inter-collegiate athletics at the State institutions. Its opinion is that if students do not go to school for education they might as well stay at home.

At a recent meeting of the student body at Stanford a sum of almost $20,000 was raised for the erection of a club house on the campus.

The faculty of Michigan has recommended to the trustees that the students on the Daily be given college credit not to exceed eight hours.

Those students of the Montana Agricultural College who engage in oratory, debating or do regular staff work on the College paper will be given credit in the Department of English.

Hereafter the "Victory Bell" at Whitman College will be tolled for not more than five minutes to celebrate a victory for that institution. Formerly the big bell was often rung for an hour and proved very annoying to people living near by, especially when tolled during the midnight hours.

Automobile Rules.

Max Parry, of the Parry Automobile company, has prepared a set of rules for joy riders as follows:

Rule 1. Crank the machine with your right hand. If it kicks, be ready to shift to your left hand. You can sue for more with both hands broken.

Rule 2. No map is required during the joy ride. All roads lead to the county jail.

Rule 3. Some women can never understand. After running over a lady don't yell, "Look out!" She'll think you're coming back.

Rule 4. And if you do any canine killing, don't hunt up the farmer to pay him. He's probably wondering whose dog it is.

Rule 5. When lying with your back in the mud, your feet in the rain, your hands in the oil, and still another passerby inquires, "Anything wrong, old man?" don't shoot, don't shoot! (The gasoline may explode).

Rule 6. Don't argue with the policeman who gets you. Gently request him to see of there is enough "juice" to make the station, and hand him a match.

Rule 7. Further information for joy rides or long tours may be looked for in Ruskin's "Ethics of the Dust."
