The Spice of Life

By Amy Price and Helen Dorr. YOU are so very near to me forever at my side; Fate has decreed for you and me together to abide. You're with me every moment every hour of the day; You have become a part of me. Why don't you go away?

We dedicate this poem (which we swiped from the Saturday Evening Post) to all pined couples on campus. ... Roommates George Rice and Bill Harbaugh seem to spread their so-called charm all over the campus. ... High school girls are noted for their crushes. A good example is the letter Buddy Parker (SAE) received from a young admirer who asked for his picture and wants to correspond with him.

Best song of the week at the Green Dome: Smoke Gets in Your Eyes. Best brush-off of the week: "I see you around."

Dutch Tubercular Student Sends Letter To Campus WSSF

How Now, Mr. Solicitor? (Three gentle knocks at the porch). MR. SOLICITOR: Open the door! VOICE: (From within) He's not here. MR. S: Is Wilpert here? VOICE: That's not come in. MR. S: It's about this Operation. WIL: Say, Buddy. An 8-am. blood test is scheduled for a cord 2-1/2 miles long. The block swings between the 10th and 11th floors 2 degrees from the vertical. Find the initial speed of the bullet.

Knowing, that the University of Kentucky has during the past year contributed to the W.S.S.F.; I want to thank you for it with all my heart. It is marvellous that this year again your students try to find money for the W.S.S.F.'s good purpose in Leysin. I do hope, they will have success, because here are still many poor, very ill students, who need desperately a longer stay in the healing Swiss climate. With the thanks of all students, who shall have the benefit of your help, I greet you warmly. Good luck to you! Very sincerely yours, Angelborg Rose

The letter above, received by UK's World Student Service Fund Committee, is self explanatory. It is worthwhile to note, however, some of the implications of such letters as this, written in gratitude for the generosity of American students. Ingeborg Rose, a typical European student-victim of war, lost her father, brother and mother in three consecutive years during the occupation. In that time Ingeborg contracted bronchial T. B. which was aggravated by the climate of Holland.

The Purdue Disaster

The tragedy at Purdue, while it is not likely to be repeated in Alumni gymnasium, should serve as a warning to University students that "it can happen here." A lighted cigarette could well result in a greater disaster than that at Purdue. Students in the top sections of the bleachers when a fire started beneath the bleachers or in the basement would have little or no chance of escape. As one professor has put it, fifteen or twenty would number more than that. Certainly the list of injured would be a long one.

Those students at Purdue had no idea that the bleacher was going to collapse. Perhaps they would have heeded at the suggestion.

Wright or Wrong

By Orman Wright. Man, set above the rest of the animals by his ability to reason, apparently has a limitless creative and inventive capacity. He has controlled rivers and moved mountains. He can fly like a bird, swim like a fish. Today, he is on the verge of his greatest achievement: harnessing the atom. But, despite all these abilities and accomplishments, there is still one creature man hasn't been able to control—or even understand, for that matter. This creature is, of course, woman. She has been desired by Schopenhauer, cherished by Dante and taken for granted by too many of their present-day descendants. I certainly don't propose myself as an authority on woman, but since I got pinned two weeks ago, I figured I might have some good advice for some of the young men here. So, ye blundering males who revel in unappreciated freedom, read my words and heed my warning. To begin with, getting pinned is something of a major operation. It requires an incalculable amount of planning. For instance, when you get pinned you are supposed to send your girl a dozen red roses (something like a dire lack of funds prevented me from doing), but all of your fraternity brothers a clear apiece (something the brothers didn't expect me to do) and have a "pining rendezvous" for your girl (something I knew damn well the brothers wouldn't do). So, even though my pining was probably the most inexpensive one this campus has ever seen, you can easily see that it could have been a major financial debacle. After you hang the pin, your troubles are just beginning. For the next two weeks your female friends (who are strictly "friends" by this time) are going to give you a phrase into your ear each of which you are destined to hear. They will give you your right hand assumes the proportions of a soft pulpy mass by the time your other right hand, through shaking it. Each time you are congratulated, of course, you don't know what to do so you stand there and look sweetly self-conscious (this is probably the best part of the whole procedure). After the initial excitement you reach that state of false security called "being pinned." Your troubles still aren't over, however. You are expected to see your girl every term exam. In the eyes of your

A University student sitting on the next to the last row at the Alabama game returned a request that he put out his cigarette with a very dirty look and a few cuss-words. The cigarette remained lighted. The student who had requested that the cigarette be put out was reluctant to report the incident to patrolling firemen, and nothing further came of it. The smoker should have been reported.

Students should take it upon themselves to see that such danger to themselves and to other students is eliminated. Penalty for violation of the fire laws is fine or imprisonment or both. A few convictions might result in greater safety to the rest of us. Let's be careful before we speak. Then we can boast that it can't happen here.

How Now, Mr. Solicitor?

(Three gentle knocks at the porch). MR. SOLICITOR: Open the door! VOICE: (From within) He's not here. MR. S: Is Wilpert here? VOICE: That's not come in. MR. S: It's about this Operation. WIL: Say, Buddy. An 8-am. blood test is scheduled for a cord 2-1/2 miles long. The block swings between the 10th and 11th floors 2 degrees from the vertical. Find the initial speed of the bullet. MR. S: That's not come in. WIL: I got my own problems. MR. S: Certainly you. You're a man who understands facts and figures. There are more than 400,000 college students in the world who need emergency help if they are to finish school. There is a group of people, including myself, concerned with seeing that those young people have a chance at finishing school. WIL: What's the idea? MR. S: They believe that the potential leadership among those students needs to be saved so that the people of those countries can reconstruct their communities. WIL: Engineers too? MR. S: Certainly engineers. They rebuild bridges. And doctors, teachers, leaders of all kinds. WIL: Well, now, I guess if university students need help, that organization should help them. MR. S: You want to join that group? You see, the people who administer this emergency relief to students and professors depend for their support on students and professors. WIL: Why didn't you say so at first? MR. S: Because I wanted you to understand that there is a big idea behind this work. Students receive this help from students in 14 lands. Result: every dollar, pound, peso, shovl stony is a step to better understanding among all students everywhere. WIL: Dual-purpose? MR. S: Right. Attitudes change on both ends. The immediate suffering is alleviated; continuing good in developing the spirit of co-operation is achieved. WIL: How much should I give? MR. S: How much do you think? For UK, we're shooting for a goal of $5,555. It's up to you to demonstrate your concern.

Letter To The Editor

A most outstanding tribute to the humane humanitarianism of the student body was its warm-hearted action on Founders Day. Just before the convocation the student body was asked to contribute that one of the speakers was suffering from an unusual malady, namely, and to his, fear of crowds. True or not, the students felt it kinder to take no chances, and they stayed away by the thousands. Only inconsiderate faculty members and a thoughtless few—I am happy to say, very few—students appeared. My heartfelt congratulations to my fellow students on their generous and kind action on Founders Day, I remain, Proudly yours, Siegfried W. Gooch

They are committed to the singular task of challenging the imaginations of students approached for support.

They know that: World Student Service Fund is positive action in rehabilitation of students whose potential leadership is in danger of being lost to the world.

Student-to-student: WSSF is unique student-to-student relief reaching directly into shattered colleges and universities in Europe and Asia.

The WSSF ideal of promoting world student understanding is gaining momentum. Since 1937 students in 15 lands have raised nearly $2,446,000 for strictly student welfare work.

Over 1,000 colleges and universities in U. S. answer the appeal for moral and material support of reconstruction activities.

As an example of the need, 200 Greek students will die of tuberculosis in the next two years if they are not helped.

As an example of the action taken by WSSF to meet such need, student donations helped to establish the Moni Pendelj Rest Home for Greek women students—a "preventionarium" for potentially tubercular young people.

UK's Concern: Operation University is UK's expression of concern about students everywhere who starve, freeze and die of disease.

Operation University is our University reaching across all barriers of nationality, religion and color to share with this conviction:

THE FUTURE OF MANKIND RESTS LARGELY IN THE MINDS AND HEARTS OF THE STUDENTS OF THE WORLD.

$5 will buy 1-6 books for a European university whose library has been destroyed.

$15 will keep a tubercular student for a week at Leysin. (see letter at left)

$500 will equip a modest student kitchen for cheap, nutritious meals.

Other colleges give: Smith College raised $6,370 for WSSF this year.

Women's College, University of North Carolina, raised $2,550.00.

The University of Kentucky, with enrollment of 6600 and with support of faculty and staff can reach the goal of $5,555.55.

14,000 books have been shipped by WSSF to help replace the nearly 7,000,000 books destroyed by war in the Philippines.

The important work of WSSF constitutes a direct challenge to international confusion, offers American students the chance to participate actively in the promotion of goodwill among men.

Operations University

Johnny Crockett and Howdy Stephenson, Co-chairmen of WSSF Drive

Endorsement of Operation University by all campus groups has been the sustaining force behind the organization of this year's WSSF Drive at UK. Starting with the nuclear planning committee last term, the leadership has fanned out to include more than 350 students ready to get the story of the vital work of student relief to UK faculty, staff and students.

President Donovan Dedicates Carillon Bells At Convocation

Dr. H. L. Donovan, president of the University, in dedicating the carillon bells of Memorial Hall last Friday as part of the Founders Day convocation, paid tribute to the men and women who have contributed to the University through the years.

"There are many men and women in different periods of the life of the University of Kentucky who have contributed to its founding, and these contributions are still going on, and we predict will continue to be made in the decades ahead."

It is appropriate on Founders Day to dedicate the beautiful carillon bells that have been presented to the University of Kentucky by Alexander Bonnyman, of Knoxville, Tennessee, an alumnus of the University. These bells have been given by Mr. Bonnyman in memory of J. Alexander Bonnyman, Jr., who sacrificed his life in one of the fiercest battles of the war that his country might remain the land of the free and the home of the brave.

Brave Man

"Lieutenant Bonnyman was a brave man. Even though he was in command and could have sent others on their dangerous mission in which he lost his life, he chose to take the risk himself rather than assign it to any of his men. For his extraordinary heroism, courage, and leadership in action, the Congressional Medal of Honor has been awarded to this gallant Marine for whom these carillon bells toll every quarter hour of the day and at evening in a short concert that marks the end of the day. The music that will be heard by generations of students as they come and go across the campus will keep alive the memory of one who died to perpetuate the kind of government under which we are privileged to live."

It is fitting to dedicate these carillon bells on Founders Day, and to express to Mr. Alexander Bonnyman our appreciation for this gift in memory of his illustrious son, Mr. Bonnyman, too, becomes a founder of the University.

Cats Down Two SEC Foes For 11-0 Conference Record

By Tom Diebin

The Kentucky Wildcats clawed two more Southeastern Conference opponents to pieces over the weekend, both games being played in the Lexington gym before packed crowds. On Friday night, the Cats sank the Vanderbilt Commodores, 84-41, and the following evening blasted the gold-jerseyed Georgia Tech Engineers, 85-46.

By making 167 points in the two games, the Kentuckians ran their total points record this season to 1,985; the opposition has lost 1,065 markers. The closest rival in this respect is Tulane who has tossed the 1,612 tallies in 28 contests while their enemies have netted 1,333.

Thus the Bluegrass quartet entering the S.E.C. tourney with an average of over 43 points per game as against 37 tallies per game for the opposing five.

For individual scoring it was still Alex Groza who has 330 points, an 11.4 average, followed by Ralph Beard with 232 markers, an 8.7 average; Captain Kenny Rollins is third with 247, for an average of 8.5 per try. That of individual scoring is held by Jack Parkinsman who last season dumped in 239 tallies for the 30 games in which he played.

22 Straight Wins

With the two decisive victories over Vandy and Tech, the Kentucky quartet boosted their winning streak to 27 wins to two defeats. Seventeen of the winning battles were played on Alumni Field, making it 52 straight wins on the Cat's home floor.

The sharp-shooting Ruppman also finished in first place in the regular conference standings with 111 points and no losses. L.S.U. took second with a 9 and 2 record; Tennessee was third, winning 10 and losing 3 against Southeastern competition.

Kentucky 81, Vanderbilt 41

In the previous meeting between Kentucky and Vanderbilt, the Wildcats won easily, on the Asheville court, with a margin of 52 points. Last Friday, before the Lexington assembly, the colorful Commodores sank the "improved" Commodores, 84-41, to take another lopsided contest by some 43 points.

With almost embarrassing ease, the Kentuckians took the Nashville netters as Adolph Rupp in 15 minutes of the first half. Vanderbilt five was never in the contest. It started off slowly, the score being 7-7 after the first half was elapsed. Then the Blue boosted it to 19-7, at 25-9, and finally 49-19 at the half-way mark.

After the rest period, the Lexington basketballers picked up where they had left off and pushed the score to 65-23 with 11 minutes to go, leaving 15 points to the out-

UK Pool Team Wins District Tournament; To Play In National

By Winfield Leathers

Kentucky now has one of the top four college pool billiard teams in the nation. This was achieved by defeating the other six teams in the South Central section, Group II, and scoring 514 points out of a possible 750.

Led by Frank Griffin, A. & S. freshman from Oak Ridge, Tenn., Kentucky jumped from an eight inning, half-time score of 256 points, which was third to Florida and Eastern State Teachers, to their 514 total by pocketing 288 points in the last seven innings to win the second division and now out Florida by 11 markers.

Griffin, who won the local pool tournament and the right to captain the UK team, scored 128 points over a possible 150 to place second in the UK Team, scored 120 points, finished first with 140. These two in the whole United States, Griffin was also second in this division in the highest individual run, making 60 straight only to be topped again by Prots who was clicked for 66.

Cats Start Slow

Getting off to a poor start in the first three innings, the Wildcats only scored 76 points of a possible 150, a maximum of 90 being allowed for each inning. Then the cue-men began hitting their gait and continued to pile up points, reaching their peak by making 45 balls in the twelfth inning.

There was, apparently, a misunderstanding of instructions by Eastern's collection of the number of innings to be played. All of the Sectional collegiate qualifying tournaments are played on the honor system, with the score being called in by telephone.

Eastern Disqualified

As the schools in Group II called in their scores it appeared that Kentucky had won. Then Eastern called in their score which was 522, putting them 49 points ahead of Kentucky and making them winners of the Southeastern. The following day a telegram was received from the sponsors in Chicago saying that Kentucky was the winner since Eastern had erred and reported a 20 inning score.

Paxson Stopped

Although the Bluegrass five had topped Paxson who had scored 29 points in their previous meeting, Collier counted for 12 tallies, 19 of which came in the second stanza. Anderson and Broyles followed for Tech with 10 each. Three Tech players, Collier, Paxson, and Broyles, all played together in 1942, for the Georgia school.

For the powerful Kentucky squad, it was Ralph "The Cat" Beard with 29 points to lead the champions in scoring for the game. After Beard was Rollins and Jones with 13 apiece; Hoffman had 10, Parker 8, and Groza 7. This was the Wildcats' 29 straight Southeastern Conference wins and set a new record for points scored for the campaign with 1,985.

with the Louisville YMCA last Saturday as follows:

Division	Ky.	YMCA
Saber	1	3
Epee	1	3
Foil	1	3
Total	3	9

There is still nothing definite on a pair of tentative matches with the University of Cincinnati club, but word should be forthcoming soon. If not, the Charleston match tomorrow will end the season for the Wildcats, who are back in this sport undefeated after a long absence during the war.

Continuing the pace they set in their first match when the foil team won their division 6-2, they have turned back the Louisville YMCA twice in this division by 2-1 and 6-3. In every case thus far it has been left to the foil team to put the Kentuckians back in the running for victory.

This may be evidenced by club scores before and after the foil bouts. To wit, in the first Charleston match the score read 4-14 and afterwards it read 10-16 to lessen the sting of defeat. In the next bout, with Louisville the score was 3-10 and again it was left to foils to pull the match out of the fire, which they did to end the day's meet in a 11-11 tie. And last night against Louisville, the foils took 6 of their 9 bouts to throw a scare into Fall City team, but the rally was short as the match ended with Kentucky on the losing end 8-9.

Members of Kentucky's undefeated foil team are Robert Thompson, Micky Kaufman, Bill Scherle, and Louis Brown, who is also a member of the Epee team.

wins to five losses. One of their most humiliating defeats was to the Wildcats in the season opener, 64-35.

Since then the Greenies have improved and clipped seven of their last eight opponents before yielding to L.S.U. 58-50, in the season's closer. They dropped another to the Tigers, 64-41, and handed them a 40-38 setback. The Vols didn't tangle with Tulane in regular season play, nor did Georgia, L.S.U. and Tennessee have not met this season, and a semi-final game between these two teams could steal the show. If the two teams do clash, the winner may have a tougher time of it than any battle the Kentucky squad would have to put up. However, the upper bracket winner has the advantage of better than an hour's more rest than the lower division champion.

Vols, Upset Cats, 33-29, In '43

Assuming that the finals produced another Kentucky-Tennessee sep. The Volunteers can be expected to put up a tough battle. Although they have fallen before the Cats' power and speed twice this season, it isn't impossible by any means that it will happen again. Kentucky fans haven't forgotten the 1942-43 season, when the Vols upset the Cats 33-29 in the finals after losing to them 39-26, and 33-29 during the season.

Another Kentucky-L.S.U. contest teams will be presented with keys, symbolic of participation, by the Billiard Association of America. The winning team will be invited to Chicago to participate in the Charles C. Peterson National Invitational tournament on April 26.

Name	Score	Average
Griffin	128	8.52
Hughes	111	7.49
Pope	109	7.26
Jones	81	5.69
Victor	82	5.46

Kentucky held the Intercollegiate key shot team high score with 469 points set in 1939, which Minnesota topped to 513. The Wildcats also held the Intercollegiate key shot team high average with 8.10, also set in '39, and moved to 8.20 by the Minnesota cue-men.

Other universities in the same division with UK were Cincinnati, Illinois, Indiana State Teachers, and Parks college of Aero Technology, located in E. St. Louis. The winner and runner-up of each group follow:

- Group I—New England and Eastern section:
 - 1st—Ohio State..... 519
 - 2nd—Michigan..... 472
 - Group II—South Central section:
 - 1st—University of Kentucky..... 514
 - 2nd—University of Florida..... 502
 - Group III—North Central section:

 - 2nd—Purdue..... 450
 - Group IV—Western section:

should furnish some excitement for the spectators and won't exactly be the best sleighing for the Wildcats. The two teams have never met in regular season play since the reign of Adolph Rupp, but have clashed six times in tournament play with the Cats emerging victorious from each encounter.

Kentucky has knocked the Tigers out of the tournament for the last three years. In '43-44 it was the semi-finals with the Cats winning 65-28, while the '44-45 tourney brought them together in the quarter-finals with the Tigers taking a 68-37 thumping. Last year it was the finals and Kentucky took an easy 58-38 victory.

Cats Hold Records

In last year's tournament, Kentucky set a new total-points record of 256 for the four games, and L.S.U. established a record of 74 points for a single game. With a 70 point average for the 11 conference tilts, the Cats may easily break both records, especially since the Baron has been limited to the use of his top ten men by a new ruling.

Among other tournament records the Wildcats hold are these: Most points in finals, 62 against Tulane in 1944; biggest margin in tournament, 45, in defeating Auburn last year, 69-24; fewest foul shots missed, one, against Alabama in 1942; and most gratis tosses made in one game, 24, against Old Miss in 1941.

Bowser Chest of Nashville and Dan Tolan of Cincinnati were selected by the coaches to officiate the game. Last year's plan whereby three men alternated in working the game was voted against.

Bowling Begins

The keggers started the timber floor Monday afternoon with 14 teams rolling the big balls down the hardwood alleys. The teams have been divided into two leagues of seven each, and will continue to roll in a round-robin tournament until March 3.

Division I in the bowling includes the SX, ZBT, PDT, DX, ATO, PRK, and Triangle teams. The SX, PKT, LTD, KA, AGR, KS, and 7 Marks are the outfits making up Division II.

All-Campus Basketball Team Listed

By O. C. Halvard

While trophies were still being awarded to the winners, and runners-up in the intramural basketball tournament, Bill McCubbin, Intramural director and his staff met and selected the all-independent, all-Fraternity, and all-Campus fives.

Two of the ten players selected were unanimous choices for berths on the teams. They were Henry Dunagan, the Kentucky Aggies' outstanding center and Harry Gorham, Sigma Chi star guard. Both boys were likewise unanimous choices for the all-campus team.

Independent Stars

In addition to Dunagan, the all-independent five included: W. J. Hanna, Aetna's, and Jim Stephens, Collins N. Kyans, at forwards, and Bill Bolter, Turbines, and John Goldston, of the league winning Cuckolds, at the guard posts.

All-Campus Team

Selection of an all-campus five was a tough job for the committee, but after the votes were counted the star-studded squad included:

- G. Harry Gorham, SX
- G. John Goldston, Cuckolds
- C. Henry Dunagan, Ky. Aggies
- F. Charles Harris, SN
- F. Jim Stephens, Collins N. Kyans

Ping pong and badminton have been progressing with the big fields of entrants being narrowed by the sudden death tourneys. As the fields narrow, play can be more rapid, and all contestants are asked to keep check on the bulletin board and meet the assigned deadline.

MUSING with Melton

By Baxter Melton, Kernel Sports Editor

Throughout the scheduled season just concluded basketball fans, particularly those in the Kentucky area, have talked about Coach Rupp's list of stars, his wealth in depth. Rival mentors don't just talk about the matter, however; they broom the fact.

No where is that talent aptitude of more use than in tournaments, and the Southeastern eliminations now under way in Louisville will probably bear that out. Although Kentucky should win the annual event with not too much effort, its abundance of reserves may come in quite handy. Many meets are won or lost by a team's playing a close semi-final, being physically beaten before the windup starts. On the other hand, its opponent, though weaker in sheer ability, has cruised by some weak sister in the semis, is waker to go in the finale.

To get down to specific facts, there are three teams in the upper bracket which could cause the Ruppman a heap of trouble, especially if the Cats are pushed in their next-to-last go. Tennessee, Tulane or Louisiana State are "pretty fair" teams in their own right, have that natural psychological edge that comes from "laying for the favorite." If Tennessee gets by its opener with Georgia, as expected, then the Vols face Tulane in their next attempt. How Johnny Maur could use a couple subs of Kentucky's calibre of reserves! The winner of this possible Tulane-Tennessee mixup meets LSU in the semi-finals of that bracket, provided the Bengals get by Mississippi and Florida, which doesn't pose as much of a task.

Top Bracket More Even
Whatever quietest emerges from this division should be whipped in stamina by Saturday night, regardless of name or score. Kentucky, in the lower bracket, faces comparatively easy sledding in its first two tries against Vandy and Auburn, but will face tougher competition against Alabama, probable Saturday afternoon foe. Here, however, the Baron can rest his regulars much more than the skipper of the upper bracket winner. He can use a two-team system, or start his usual five, send in the subs after an early lead.

This is, of course, if things run true to form. Happenings in the Army should prove much to scale of the events so far a Kentucky standpoint, anyhow. The Cats who have already played there twice this year are performing before a partisan crowd this weekend. Rooting sections for other outfits should be almost negligible in size, unless too many die-hard "anything-to-stop-a-favorite" fans invade and others team with local alumni of the visiting schools.

Remember 1942!
Memories of the 1942 tourney come to mind when that loss of stamina by a hard semi-final is mentioned. The Wildcats had beaten Tennessee twice during the regular season, and had topped the Vols by 24 points just two weeks before the meet. A hard Saturday afternoon contest helped the Mattern edge Rupp's Raiders that night, 36-33.

This year's picture is almost unique among SEC tournaments, however, for never before has there been such an overwhelming favorite. That all squads have pointed for the Cats is granted; what success they will have remains to be seen. One thing is certain. Almost all the teams in the tourney have improved considerably during the season.

Tulane A Corner
Tulane's hoop heels made up mostly of freshmen and sophomores, are an outstanding example. The Greentoes were that, literally speaking, at the campaign's outset, have now developed into a much smoother club. Tennessee is always a threat, especially when up against Kentucky.

Weather Hampers Opening Track Meet

Although Spring is still six weeks hence, thoughts of outdoor sports have returned again, with track getting the upmost attention, according to Coach Phil Hudson, athletic trainer and coach of the thin-sticks.

Outdoor meets have already been scheduled with Tennessee and Vanderbilt, while three others are still tentative, in preparation for the Southeastern Conference tournament to be held in May in Baton Rouge, Louisiana.

Wildcats Invited To Defend Metropolitan Championship

With the Southeastern Conference tournament still to be decided and a game with Temple still to be played, Kentucky's winning Wildcats, the nation's Wonder team, has been extended and has accepted a bid to defend their National Invitational Tournament championship won last year in Madison Square Garden.

The Wildcats became the second team to accept an offer to play in the country's outstanding basketball tournament, which is scheduled for March 15-24. West Virginia, last year 50-51 semi-final victims of the Cats, was first to accept.

At the present, Kentucky is listed by most of the experts as the No. 1 team in the nation, with West Virginia holding second place in the pickings. The Mountaineers' record for the season reads 16 wins and a single loss.

An 86-56 win Wednesday night over Washington and Jefferson University will give Wildcats fans an idea of the Mountaineers' strength. Their one loss was at the hands of the Navy Blue Jackets and was just a two point margin, 57-55. The winning basket was awarded the Navy in the closing minute of play when a lanky West Virginian hit the netting while defending the goal.

Contact Close
Kentucky followers also remember that last year's contest between the two schools was much closer than even the eight point victory margin might indicate. With just a little over a minute of playing time left in the game, the count read 51-41. Then the mighty Cats dumped in four in succession while holding the Mountaineers scoreless to take the largest lead in the battle.

Fans will get a chance to compare the two schools a little more following the Kentucky-Temple game, March 8. The Mountaineers have

Two overwhelming victories chalked up against the Orelis, an early 86-44 triumph and a later 20 point win, 80-60.

Third Bid For Cats
It will be third appearance for the Kentuckians in the big tourney, having come out on top last year with a narrow 46-45 win over the vicious Rhode Island quintet to make their record five out of six in tourney games, and give them one crown in two tries.

With a season of 27 outstanding victories in 29 starts, not counting a possible addition of four S.E.C. tourney games and one regularly scheduled tilt, the Wildcats present one of the most impressive cards in the nation, which includes a 50 point win over Notre Dame, Kentucky's two ill fated defeats were both six point setbacks, one to Oklahoma A. & M. 37-31, and one to DePaul 33-47.

Kentucky Will Be Seeded
Coach Adolph Rupp's squad undoubtedly will be one of the four teams seeded in the eight team event. Last year the Kentuckians were seeded No. 1 in the tourney, and fought through three tough scraps to receive the title.

The Baron said he was "delighted" that his team had been invited back to the Garden to defend their hard won championship. He added, "I only hope we go as well as we did last year."

Sport Magazine Features Rupp's Wildcats

"Champions From Kentucky" is the latest story on the Kentucky Wildcats to be published in a nationally circulated magazine. The article, written by Fred Russell, Sports Editor of the Nashville Banner, and man who started the Ermal Allen trackus last fall, presents a good account of the Wildcat squad and their colorful coach.

It appears in the March issue of Sport magazine which goes on sale at the news stands today.
