

STADIUM FIELD TO BE IMPROVED WITH NEW FUNDS

$40,000 Government Appropriation Will Be Used To Build New Improvements

PRESS BOX, RADIO ROOM ARE PLANNED

Concrete Wall, Sucky Stand, Running Track, Retaining Wall Listed

An appropriation of $40,000 from the Federal government will be used in improving the football field and stadium, it was announced Monday by Prof. D. V. C. C. civil engineering department.

In the place of the wooden fence which is now on the north side of the field a ten foot concrete wall, 500 feet long will be built. The wall, about four feet thick, will slope to the top. On the south side the field a 600 foot retaining wall will be erected. This wall will be built out from the present line and will include about half an acre more ground in the field.

A modern press box, accommodating seventy press writers will be built at the top of the south stand. The box will be constructed of concrete, with a large plate glass window 18 feet high, and will contain three tiers of tables on the inside. Included in this structure there will be a broadcasting room, a place for the public address system and other conveniences.

The present running track, around the outside of the playing field, will be removed and a new track put in. It will be a quarter of a mile long, with 220 yard straight away filled to a depth of 18 inches with crushed stone.

A drainage system will be put in, covered with 18 inches of crushed stone, topped with a concrete layer. The track specifications are according to national regulations and records and will be in accordance with them.

Under the south stand, a Sucky room is to be built, with built-in benches and comfort seats on each side of the stadium will be waterproofed, so it will withstand the weathering.

Construction is to start as soon as possible, but it will not begin before the football season is over, so the stadium will not be disturbed for the Thanksgiving game.

STUDENT GROUP HOLDS MEETING

Frosh Absent from Cheering Section at Game to Be Called on Carpet; May Be Suspended by Council

At a meeting of the Men's Student council held yesterday afternoon, it was decided that all petitioners for freshmen, sophomore, and junior class officers had to be in the Dean of Men's office by noon next Monday. These petitions must be accompanied by the signatures of 25 persons in the respective classes, and the candidates for each office must sign his willingness to run for office by affixing his signature to the petition.

A motion was passed and carried saying that all freshmen caught not wearing their caps will be brought before the council and suspended from the University for a time not less than a week and not more than a month.

Those freshmen who did not appear in the freshmen cheering section at the Kentucky-Florida game last Saturday will be notified to appear before the Student council next Monday at 4 p. m. They will be dealt with accordingly, and punished by being suspended from the University.

Tuberculin Tests Carded for Today

Tuberculin tests will be given this afternoon to all freshmen who did not report back to the dispensary when they were given the test at the beginning of the year. All upperclassmen who desire to have the test at this time may report to the dispensary between 1 and 5 p. m. today.

The following students kindly report to the laboratory of the dispensary and obtain the results of their X-ray pictures immediately: Delynn Anderson, Herman Brooks, Edson Current, Louise Current, Martha Crain, Arthur Dohson, Paul Durbin, Richard Evans, Seymour Galt, Joseph Hume, Charles Kelley, Estill Lyons, George Pritchard, William C. Pauley, John R. Thomas, Albert Seltman, Paul Smith, James Taul, Thelma Tauman and Kendrick Wells.

International Trio Entertains Through At Weekly Musicales

Well Balanced Program Is Enthusiastically Received By Large Crowd

By DAVE SALYERS

An audience which filled the Memorial auditorium despite inclement weather enthusiastically received the International Trio, consisting of Winifred Merrill, violin, Lennart Von Zowberg, cello, Ernest Hoffzimmer, piano, Sunday afternoon at 4 p. m. in the second of the weekly musicales under the direction of Professor R. D. McIntyre.

The artists displayed unusual finesse in handling their instruments and presented their arrangements with excellent cooperation and perfect ease. Although several of the numbers were short, the effect created was all that could be desired.

The program consisted of five parts, the first a number by the trio, the second a series of three numbers by Mr. Hoffzimmer, the third three numbers by Mr. Von Zowberg, the fourth three numbers by Miss Merrill, and the concluding part a selection by the trio, including "Gipsy," "Gipsy Trio, D. Major, Opus 70, Number 1," by Beethoven, three movements being played, the allegro vivace e con ritmo, the largo and the presto. This exceedingly difficult number was rendered in perfect fashion.

Dr. Hoffzimmer's selections consisted of Chopin's "Etude C minor, Opus 24," Chopin's familiar "Nocturne in F sharp" and "Chopin's 'Polonaise, A flat, Opus 53." Dr. Hoffzimmer displayed a finished technique, and his selections, especially the popular "Nocturne," drew the attention of the audience.

Mr. Von Zowberg chose for his encore Arenski's "Chant triste," a beautiful and touching piece, and the ever-familiar "Humoresque," by Arenski. The cellist showed complete mastery of his instrument and his playing of the Humoresque was superb.

Miss Merrill's program included "Serenade" by Chamade-Kreisler, and a "Danse" by de Falla-Kreisler. Her numbers were easily accompanied by the pianist. Her program and her renditions were all that could be wished for. She (Continued on Page Four)

Guignol-Goers Promised "Shivering" Evening For Mystery Play This Week

Week's Run of Murder Mystery at Euclid Avenue Playhouse

By R. D. McINTYRE The Patrons of the Guignol theater will have a shivery evening this week, when they attend the second production of the year, for director Frank Fowler and his associates have been doing some devilish convincing and "A Murder Has Been Committed" is a mystery play written by Emlin Williams and under Professor Fowler's capable direction has been admirably produced at the campus playhouse.

It would not be fair to reveal the plot of this enthralling mystery play, but it is to say that the action takes place on the stage of an early theater, where years ago, a cruel murder had taken place according to the legend of the theater certain terrible things will happen on a certain night, at a certain hour, in a certain way. Well, these things do happen—and how!

The cast is uniformly excellent. There are no weak characters in the play and every one seems to be fitted for the part he plays. The play moves with speed, lines are delivered with the necessary "punch" and the whole production has a thoroughly professional air.

Katherine Davis, who has appeared in many Guignol plays, gives an excellent account of herself as the harassed secretary, Miss Grosse. The blonde beauty, Barbara Smith, a newcomer to the Guignol, coupled with splendid histrionic ability, makes her a welcome addition. Miss Grosse is the role of Lady Jasper. Jean Abel, as Mrs. Wragg, a cockney charwoman, does a fine bit of character work as does Genevieve Liles, as Mrs. Arthur, the domineering mother of Lady Jasper. One of the most interesting character bits seen in the Guignol in many a day is Katherine Davis's interpretation of the dumb woman, Priz. One of the most interesting characters in the Guignol, gives us another debonair performance as Jimmie North, a young man-about-town. James Boucher is excellent as Sir Charles Jasper. He speaks his lines with assurance and gives a convincing performance throughout the play—even in the last act. Alexander Capurso has a part which he plays admirably, a real life that of the orchestra leader. He speaks his lines and leads his orchestra with equal assurance.

AG STATEMENT HOLD FESTIVAL AT AG PAVILION

Prize Turkeys From Kentucky and Other States Will Be Shown Wednesday To Public

NOVEL CONTESTS WILL SUPPORT FESTIVAL

Hog Calling, Chicken Calling and Greased Pig Roll to Top Program

The annual fall festival sponsored by students in the College of Agriculture will be held Wednesday night from 7:30 until 10:00, Nov. 13, in the livestock pavilion on the Experiment Station farm.

An assemblage of prize turkeys from all over the state, and from other states, will be on display on the second floor of the livestock pavilion, from 7 to 10 o'clock Wednesday evening, and again all day Thursday. Persons not familiar with the breeding of turkeys and the big holiday bird will be amazed at the size of some of the gobblers exhibited at this show.

The fall festival proper will be held in the judging arena of the livestock pavilion, with George Kurtz, Lexington, as the judge. Many stunts are being arranged, including calling contests for boys and girls, designed to show their talent in bringing up chickens and pigs; a milking contest for girls, and a greased pig race for boys. The Greased Pig Race, a hog club, honorary organization of students in agriculture. There will be plenty of butter milk and cider on hand. The lucky lady in the crowd will be given a fifteen pound turkey and the lucky man will be presented with a basket of apples. Most every department in the college will be represented by an exhibit in a booth for that department.

A brief address by Dean Thomas P. Cooper is promised as the whole of the speaking program. Prize livestock from the Experiment Station's herds and flocks will be shown to the visitors.

The fall festival is being arranged under the direct supervision of the Block and Bridge Club and the Home Economics club, assisted by members of the Alpha Zeta, dairy and poultry club, student organizations.

AG STUDENTS HOLD MEETING

Mr. Herschel Weil, Lexington Alumnus Is Speaker; Scholarship Prizes Awarded

Mr. Herschel Weil, Lexington, who was graduated in 1922, was the speaker at the assembly of the College of Agriculture Saturday morning in Memorial Hall.

Other events on the program were the presentation of the dairy judging contest, which placed third at the National Dairy Show in St. Louis, pledges to the honorary student orders of the college, and the honoring of sophomore students who made the highest standing as freshmen. Richard Allison, senior, sang in solo accompanied by Miss Jessie Wilson, junior. Dean Thomas P. Cooper presided.

Members of the dairy judging team presented by Mr. George M. Harris, coach, were: Eugene Cullon, Parkville; Maurice Meshew, Arlington; and Noel Watson, Somerset. Prof. L. J. Horlacher, assistant to the dean, awarded five dollars to Eugene Cullon, who was the third highest among the judges from nineteen colleges including one team from Ontario, Canada. Wildcats, With Davis Making Brilliant 59-Yard Run For Touchdown in Final Minutes, Beat Florida 15-6

A last minute jaunt of 59 yards ending in a touchdown by Bob Davis, brilliant Wildcat sophomore, gave the 10-0 alumni, students and townspeople, who had gathered on Stoll field Saturday for the annual Kentucky homecoming, something to remember him by. He led his team mates to a 15-6 victory over the University of Florida "Gators."

Kernel Thanked By Old Graduate

I just want to express my appreciation to the management and staff of this paper for the wonderful and effective cooperation that has been granted Stroller Alumni Association in the matter of our 25th anniversary celebration.

Of course, it will be impossible for me to give praise for my mind the numerous things that were done, but I know that one memory will fail to pass. That is, I shall never be quite able to forget the manner in which this paper supported our anniversary celebration. Its management gave liberally and the giving was so graciously done that it was the outstanding feature responsible for the success of our breakfast and reception.

Armistice Parade Postponed Due To Inclement Weather

Due to heavy rain the parade scheduled for the Armistice Day observations was called off, but the ceremony on the courthouse yard was held as planned at 11 o'clock in the morning.

Mrs. Virgil McClure, past national president of the Fayette County War Mothers, offered a prayer at the beginning of the ceremony. A wreath was hung on the marker dedicated to the Kentucky students who gave their lives in the World War.

Despite the rain, a large crowd was present. Jean Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Johnson, Bassett Avenue, recited the poem "The Nameless Dead." A firing squad of University of Kentucky students fired a volley, and Ellis Goe blew "Taps."

Talent Wanted For Stage Show

If you can sing, dance, play the harmonica, whistle or yodel, you are wanted on the College Night program at the Ben All theatre, to be held the night preceding Thanksgiving.

A complete stage show is being organized, and will be presented with Billy Jacob's orchestra as a musical background. College talent from the University of Kentucky and Transylvania is needed, so dig up that old fiddle or those worn top shoes, and join in the fun!

A try-out may be obtained by submitting an application giving the type of act, name, telephone number of the entertainer to Box 823, University post-office.

BEAUTY QUEEN WILL BE CHOSEN AT KYIAN DANCE

Kentuckian, Junior League Groups Will Sponsor Affair on Saturday Night

MOST POPULAR MAN WILL BE SELECTED

Names of Men, Women Candidates Will Be on Display Today

The Kentuckian-Junior League dance will be given in Alumni gymnasium Saturday night from 9 to 12, with Miss Betty Anderson and her orchestra. The Kentuckian beauty queen and the most popular man will be chosen at the dance.

Six men judges will select the beauty queen. Three of them will be University faculty, and three others will be selected from the student body. The manner in which the University men will be selected is by a "K" in the post office, and will be put in a hat, and three of them will be drawn at the dance.

Among the early contestants who have been turned in are: Barbara Smith, Lois King and Lucile Thornton, representatives of Kappa Kappa Gamma; Lucy Maddox, representative of Chi Omega; and Velma Hardesty and Elsie Woodson, are two of the Alpha Gamma Delta's representatives. There have been no names of candidates for most popular man turned in at press time.

The names of both men and women candidates will be posted on a large "K" in the post office, and will be added to the "K." All names must be turned in by 4 p. m., Thursday, Nov. 14. This is the last possible time candidates will be accepted. The sale of Kentuckians is the basis for nomination of one representative for either honor.

The candidates for beauty queen will be presented on a raised platform as they were last year. The ballots for most popular man will be given at the door with each admission, and may be deposited in a ballot box at the door.

YMCA Will Hold First Membership Dinner in Commons

The Y. M. C. A. membership dinner will be held at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday night, November 12, in the University Commons. This is the first in a series of six dinners to be held every six weeks during the school year. Dr. J. Archer Gray, pastor of Everybody's Church, Lexington, will be the principal speaker.

An after-dinner program has been planned, consisting of informal speeches, songs, and music by the University radio artists. Don Reister, president of the YMCA, will preside.

All persons interested in the YMCA and its work and members of the organization are invited to obtain tickets, which are being sold for 40 cents each, by members of the Senior cabins among whom are Henry Adams, Tommy Atkins, Frank Burg, William McCabe, John Darnell, Wesley Dodge, Frank Ellis, Ray Lester, Dan Reister, Leslie Scott, and John Spragens.

Pikaps, Alpha Gams Come In Second; Phi Taus, Kappasits Tie for Third Place

Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity and Kappa Delta sorority were awarded the annual cups given by Sucky for the best decorated fraternity and sorority house for the Homecoming Saturday, according to an announcement of the winners made second and Kappa Gamma Gamma Thursday night.

Second place in the fraternity contest was given to the Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity and Kappa Sigma and Phi Kappa Tau fraternities tied for third place. In the sorority contest, Alpha Gamma Delta came second and Kappa Gamma Gamma third. Awards were made on the basis of originality of idea, execution, attractiveness, time and effort, and appropriateness to the occasion. Judges who selected the winners were Lieutenant Colonel E. Brewer, Clint Cleveland, advertising manager of the Lexington Leader and Robert Rouse, city editor of the Lexington Herald.

The Kappa Delta winning decoration featured a large sign showing a caricature of Coach Wynne blowing away an hurricane. Above it were printed the words "You think you've had a bull-runt—wait until you see our Wynne." The winning fraternity display was based on the idea of "Kappa Delta cards." Large playing cards bearing the picture of Wynne, Johnson, Davis and other players were spread across the front lawn of the house.

Announcement of the winning decoration of the downtown business houses, a cup for which is awarded annually by Sucky, was also made at the dance. J. D. Purcell's department store was awarded the first prize, Keller-Oram florists second, and Phoenix Drug company third. In the business-house group the store winning the cup three consecutive times is awarded permanent possession of it.

HOLIDAY SPIRIT MARKS ANNUAL UK HOMECOMING

President McVey and Honor Guest, Dr. Tizert, Speak at Gaily Rally

ALUMNI REGISTER IN LARGE NUMBERS

Fraternities and Sororities Doll Up for House Decorating Contest

Climaxing an interesting series of events commemorating the annual holiday spirit—the coming of the Lexington Alumni association entertained with a dance Saturday night in the Alumni gymnasium. "Andy" Anderson and his orchestra furnished the music.

Honor guest for the festivities this year was John J. Tizert, president of the University of Florida and former football coach and professor of psychology at the University of Kentucky. Dr. Tizert spoke at the 25th anniversary celebration of Strollers, and at the mammoth pep rally held Friday night.

The initial feature of the homecoming was the pep rally sponsored by Sucky. President Frank L. McVey, Doctor Tizert and Dan Ewing, president of Sucky, made short speeches. The speakings were followed by a downtown parade and a bonfire on Stoll field.

The principal event of the Saturday contest was the house decorating contest participated in by fraternities and sororities. In cooperation of the Inter-fraternity council and Lieutenant Colonel E. Brewer, Sucky sponsored a freshman cheering section at the game Saturday afternoon. A special section was roped off and given to the freshmen.

Omicon Delta Kappa, honorary leadership fraternity, sponsored a large number of tags and a Union building fund. This has been done at all games and the tags will also be sold at the Tennessee game. AND STILL NO TICKETS

Saturday some ten thousand people gathered in McLean Stadium to witness the outstanding football occasion of the year—the Alumni Homecoming game. Students, faculty, alumni, mothers and fathers—all were there with one notable exception.

That notable exception was the fraternity and sorority housemothers. The Athletic Council has not yet seen fit to include in its list of complimentary guests these diligent, loving ladies who mean so much to their respective organizations and to campus life in general.

To make no provision whatsoever for these integral parts of University life is little short of tragic in as much as they are all interested in the team and would like to show their enthusiasm for it by attending the home football games. They are obviously handicapped by financial reasons, beyond their own control and the control of the organizations which they serve.

If the powers-that-be feel it is asking too much to request complimentary tickets for these ladies who mean so much to their respective fields, they could at least grant them the same privileges which are accorded the members of the faculty, namely the right to buy a season ticket at a reduced rate. If such were done the various organizations could afford to and would be willing to buy the tickets for their respective housemothers.

The football season is almost over but there remains yet all of the basketball season in which the housemothers will be equally interested. It is the hope of The Kernel that some action will be taken in the very near future which will make it possible for them to attend the basketball games during the coming season.

IS IT SUBVERSION?

Much has been said regarding subversive practices among the professors of our American universities and colleges. For the most part, such action has been directed toward state-supported, tax-free schools, because it is here that the elements of national ethics and patriotism find their way to the front more readily. In the case of any educational institution, however, the situation is still the same—little, if any differentiation has been made between teaching as it should be done and subversion as it actually is.

It should not only be the right of any teacher, but also his duty to explain thoroughly all doctrines which might be termed inimical to our institutions. Both sides of an issue can be expounded upon and upheld without overstepping the normal and reasonable rights of the teaching profession. To teach in an American institution that Communism aims to make war on Democracy is Explanation. But to teach that Communism should make war on Democracy is Subversion, instigation of revolution, and indoctrination.

In the Open Forum held recently on this campus, a University professor expressed much the same idea as we have stated above regarding the rights and duties of a teacher. Whether or not a professor may express his own views to his students depends on the nature of the proof he has to support his stand and on the requisite that he also express support for the opposite side.

Professor Edward H. Reischer of Columbia University in a recent address drew a parallel between Russian, German, Italian and American schools. He said, "In the last analysis, the instruction in American schools is controlled by the accepted and dominant values of American culture just exactly as the schools of contemporary Russian, Germany and Italy are controlled by the social purposes of the groups which find themselves in power."

Our American culture has been gained at a terrific cost of life and property. It is the supreme duty of our teachers to protect American cultural life where it is most vulnerable, namely, in education. Dr. Reischer continues with, "It is unlikely that teachers will find themselves encouraged to continue to propagate at public expense, doctrines which seem to be destructive to American Society. It is the activity of those who exceed their reasonable rights, which prompts legislators to save the schools from what they consider to be propaganda destructive of American Society and inimical to the democratic tradition."

It is essential to the protection of American culture, however, that all doctrines whether unpropitious or not, should be explained in our universities and colleges. It is in the relation between explanation and indoctrination that we find the margin between Teaching and Subversion. —Daily Californian, University of California.

PRaise WHEN DUE

It has grown customary for editorial writers to blame persons and condemn things, but never give credit where credit is due. At this time The Kernel wishes to commend the student body for its cooperation in the attempt to curb excessive drinking during the home-coming festivities.

The welcome sight of persons in possession of all their faculties instead of staggering drunks was noticed and commented upon by nearly everyone at the game.

Although conditions were slightly worse at the dance, it was a remarkable improvement over the home-coming dances of the years past, when it was necessary to carry some of our guests out of the gymnasium. This proved that it is possible to eliminate the unpleasant criticism which results from intoxication, and the Student Council has resolved that it will maintain this high standard throughout the remainder of the school year.

A splendid example of the temperance which was observed during the week-end is the story about one of the judges of the home-coming decorations who went in one of the houses which was under consideration and asked for a drink . . . since he had been tramping around all morning in the damp, thereby subjecting himself to cold and possible pneumonia. To his surprise and the chagrin of the boys, not a drop could be found in the entire house.

This unnecessary menace has been successfully combated, and now it will not be difficult to keep down, if the student body will continue to give its support to the Student Council, Athletic Council, and the Lexington Police Department.

Kentucky High School papers will have their relative merits compared monthly during the present school year by Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity at the University of Kentucky, according to a recent announcement. Honorable mention will be given each month to the paper having (1) the best news story; (2) the best feature story; (3) the best editorial; and (4) the best make-up.

Five students from foreign countries are enrolled at the University of Kentucky this fall. They hail from Germany, Cuba, the Argentine, Brazil and Porto Rico.

Two series of educational plays are now being broadcast weekly from the University studios of station WHAS, Louisville, at the University of Kentucky, Lexington. "Epoch Discoveries of the Past" on Tuesdays at 1:15 p. m. dramatize important discoveries. "Famous Plays" presented each Thursday, 1 and 1:30 p. m., are either condensations of "Othello," "Romeo and Juliet," or plays of like character.

Four extensive museums are now open on the University of Kentucky campus and available to visitors six days a week. Important mural paintings in the University library and Memorial Hall and regular art exhibitions at the Art Center are other attractions for visitors.

College students, notoriously hard drivers, are having a little caution instilled these days. The sensational Reader's Digest article—"And Sudden Death," which deals realistically with the horror of automobile crashes, is being widely reprinted in the collegiate press.

The first college cheer is credited to Princeton students, who got the idea from an unknown private of the Seventh Regiment of New York, as the outfit mobilized for war in April, 1860.

Two Indiana campus sweethearts of the 90's have found a last resting place near a historic old sun dial on the grounds of the Greencastle institution. Their ashes were scattered in that place by their son.

Dan Cupid Again Tillie Denton is now the proud possessor of the Greek pin of Jess Wilmot. Jess, you got a good little gal pinned. But we hope you aren't keeping anything from us. After Phyllis Caskey and Budgie Hardin kept their marriage a secret for so long a time last year, we are ready to suspect a KP of most anything.

She Ain't Dumb Last week a few of the boys told Martha Ammerman that her courtier, Sam Powell, was in the hospital with a sprained ankle. She called two hospitals in town and insisted that Sam was in one of them, but the nurses told her that they couldn't oblige her. She went flying around, and finally someone told her that it was just a big joke. Did Sam get out of that date check?

FLASH: Did you notice in the near student center that Lib Jones lives in Bradley hall. How do you get away with it, Lib?

Drippings from the Quill Congratulations to Ike Moore and Len Van Arsdale for their protest in English class. Joe Rupert was in town over the week-end with Marion Connor Dawson. Have heard lots of griping about Dr. Jennings economic history book.

FLASH: Who were the buxom lasses seen in the company of Jim Smees and Eddie "The Great" Reiser on the other night? Reliable reports have it that the boys are thinking of going into the brewing business and were trying out a couple of brewery houses.

A Curse to Humanity In the don't care of the Sigep house there is just one double bed. In the last four years there have been just six occupants of this bed, and everyone of them has married. Those boys who have succumbed to its influence are: Leo Zeigler, Ben Stapleton, Gene Miller, Willie Stivers and now, just about a week ago, Allen Brady stepped out and took unto himself a care, she signed the license as Willie Ann Fraas, and is a Theta Sigma Phi from Illinois.

Who Will Carry the U. S. Mail? We offer for your approval a little letter made up entirely of song titles. complete defense of compulsory military training, but merely to point out a few of the fundamental principles overlooked by the above mentioned writer.

In the first place something has been done about it. The quality of training received by the R. O. T. C. is constantly improving.

According to the "facts" set forth by "J. L. S." it would be logical to wait until just before a big football game to train the team. The practice in which they indulge every day for months is largely a repetition of a few simple operations.

Even if football players were not college men they should be able to learn the movements in a week. The point is that military discipline, athletic team-work, social behavior, and many other things in order to have the necessary effect must have been practiced until their execution is automatic. In times of emergency it is not sufficient to have men who can stop, think, and maybe remember what should be done. They must act automatically and rapidly if they are to survive.

In connection with the cost to the government, it would undoubtedly be cheaper for a man not to put a roof on his house but wait until it rains and then have the entire family sit on the house and hold umbrellas over it. Most intelligent men put roofs on their houses and every country that expects to continue to exist makes provisions for defense.

Something equally erroneous could be pointed out in connection with nearly every sentence in the letter, but I will stop by asking just what invaluable use would be actually made by students of the three hours a week that "J. L. S." designates as "Wasting the time of the students in unprofitable repetition." If, as he also says, "The classroom work is only too quickly forgotten," I suppose that the students' time could be more profitably spent in still more quickly forgotten other subjects. If cost to government really means anything why not take up the subject of the State supporting an institution for the benefit of students who attend classes merely to forget.

Alumni News

By C. T. HERTZSCH The following taken from a letter issued from the President's office, November 11, the Alumni contains information of such interest that we take pleasure in helping bring it to the attention of the alumni.

The year 1934-35 may be regarded as a satisfactory one. The University had a larger attendance than the year before; salaries were paid, bills met, and a small surplus remained at the end of the year.

"Enrollment for the present term is 3169, just 53 less than the record enrollment of 3222 in 1932. Although the University's income for last year and this was not increased by the 1934 General Assembly...

"Perhaps the greatest need of any university, however, is an active and interested group of alumni. I hope that you will keep touch with the University through your Alumni association, and that you will take part in the selection of candidates for representative on the University Board of Trustees."

Arthur Board Haswell, B.M.E. '11, M.E. '13, is with the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, Birmingham, Alabama. After graduation he was with the Atlantic Steel company, Atlanta, Georgia.

Miss Francis Looman (Miss Teresa E. Buchignani), A. B. '15, and her two little sons, Frank and Jimmie, aged six and three, respectively, have returned to their home in Tacoma, Washington, after a visit with Mrs. Looman's mother, Mrs. H. Buchignani, Fontaine and Spaynor streets. Mrs. Looman will be remembered kindly by her friends among the alumni as the secretary in President McVey's office.

Herman L. Becker, B. S. in Chem '18, is with the Armstrong Cork and Insulation company, 268 Fifth Avenue, New York.

Robert Ward McMeekin, B. A. '21, Lexington, and Miss Martha Terry Smith, of Frankfort and Hopkinsville, were married Saturday November 2, at Frankfort, Kentucky. Mrs. McMeekin attended the University of Kentucky and Florida Woman's College and has studied and traveled extensively in France, Switzerland and Italy.

Despite the fact that the Wildcats came through with their second Southeastern conference victory and pleased a large gathering of Home-comingers who witnessed the 15 to 6 triumph over Florida, they were not overly impressive in the process.

Kentucky played better ball Saturday than they exhibited against Alabama, and we are told, showed a great improvement over their performance against Auburn at Montgomery. Yet their top for the season, as far as team play is concerned, is still the losing battle they staged against Ohio State.

In that contest, you'll remember, playing against a supposedly superior team, the linemen and backs of the Blue team really worked as a unit and each had the old "do-or-die" spirit all the way through.

Probably it is unfortunate that the Wildcats met Ohio State in the first week of October and became keyed up for that vital tilt so early in the season. Even though they followed up the next week with a smashing win over Georgia Tech, the letdown was inevitable and came apparently in the Auburn game.

After that beating at Montgomery, Dick Harlow, present Harvard coach, in a talk with Grantland Rice, cited Kentucky as an example of the problem which faces most football coaches in Ohio State and Minnesota. And even there, as has been shown in the past two weeks, it's a difficult job.

Harlow stated that the only thing a coach could do was to try for two or possibly three important games during the season and try to bring his team into these games in the proper frame of mind.

He went on to point out that Kentucky had evidently been worked up for the important game at Columbus and inferred that they went on to beat Georgia Tech on the strength of this same impetus but were mentally "off key" at Auburn.

Of course, the fact that Johnson, Nevers and Sam Potter were on the hospital list had much to do with the loss, but it was essential with the mental attitude that allowed such a large score to be registered by the Flaminians.

Even the fact that they had a week's layoff didn't seem to help much in restoring the spirit and morale of the team and it was not until the Cats dropped that 13-0 decision to Alabama that they began to take the old interest in their work.

During last week's scrimmage sessions the freshmen had the unhappy task of trying to gain against an enthusiastic varsity. During the time that we watched the workouts, the frosh were "taking it on the chin" with astonishing regularity and the varsity seemed to enjoy "dishing it out".

Saturday, the team carried some of this enthusiasm into the conflict against the Gators and for the first part of the game looked great. For some reason, however, the attack bogged down in the middle and it was not until late in the game that Kentucky got underway again.

It may have been that Florida got tough out there in the second and third periods and they probably did, but at any rate, the Wildcats were halted.

It was an encouraging sign, though, to find Kentucky showing some vestige of top form. With the Tulane tilt coming up this week and Tennessee ready to appear here on Thanksgiving Day, the Cats should be just about primed to finish off the campaign in a blaze of glory by winning both engagements.

Notes on the recent Florida operation... after being bottled up since the Georgia Tech scrap Bob Davis finally got away in the closing minutes for another of his spectacular, sithering excursions to the goal line... aided greatly by Hammerhead McClurg's well-executed blocking... when Stan Nevers blocked the Florida punt for a touchback... we were uncertain for a few moments just what to score it... we thought it was two points but when Bernie Shively announced over the public address system that the score was then 10 to 0 we changed over to three points... a moment later he corrected himself... Nevers again gave a great performance at his tackle position... the Sunday papers failed to agree on the name of the song which was presented by the men's glee club during the half... one had it as the "Anvil Chorus" from the Meistersinger and the other, which was right... said it was the "Soldier's Chorus" from the Merry Widow... anyway they were agreed that it was a chorus... Frank Foster, managing editor of the Florida Alligator, student paper, was in the pressbox... sending his story by wire to Gainesville... where the school paper goes to press on Sunday... the athletic association has taken a tip from other schools and now serves cakes and sandwiches to the working press between the halves... Forrest "Aggie" Sale, one of Kentucky's two All-American basketball players... still retains his positions as custodian of the upper pressbox as a sideline... the freshman cheering section looked good... with everyone wearing blue and white frosh caps... the between-

Ag Students Have Initial Assembly

Pledges to the Alpha Zeta included Howard Tison and John W. Lynch, Lexington; Paul E. Carrio, Carrollton; and Fred McGoldrich, Versailles. Miss Vivian L. Muster, New Haven, and Miss Frances Brown, Brandenburg, were pledged to Phi Upsilon Omicron.

Mr. Well reviewed his experiences since 1922. "We can become so over-specialized that our imagination is educated out of us, and we tend to become provincial in our limited fields," he stated. "Only minds that have quit thinking freeze into prejudice or intolerance. One of the reasons why farmers go to larger towns and become successful is that they retain their imaginations; but not many professional men can become successful farmers."

Wildcats Defeat Alligators 15-6

(Continued from Page One) The Wildcats scored their first touchdown early in the second quarter. After Chase had punted to the Kentucky 40-yard line where Davis took it and returned to the 45, Johnson gained three yards and on a reverse from Davis carried the ball for 17 yards and a first down on the Florida 35-yard line. Davis then gained nine yards around left end, and the Gators were penalized five yards, giving the Cats a first down on the Florida 20. Johnson then piked up 11 yards around right end. Davis carried the ball to the one-yard line, and Kentucky had it for second down and one yard to go. Johnson and Davis each hit the line for no gain and "Red" Simpson, sophomore fullback, carried it over for the touchdown. Seconds later he booted the ball between the goal posts for an extra point, giving Kentucky a 7 to 0 lead.

Shortly after the Wildcat touchdown, the two teams exchanged punts and Kentucky had failed to make a first down in midfield. Davis, with the ball on the 50-yard line, booted a beautiful punt high in the air and it was downed by Gene Myers, on the Florida one-yard line. Capt. Billy Chase stood in the end zone to punt and as he raised his foot to kick, Stan Nevers, "Cat tackle, who played one of the best games ever seen on Stoll field, charged through and blocked the punt, which bounced out of the end zone, automatically giving Kentucky a safety and two points.

Kentucky had everything their own way except for a few minutes in the third quarter, when the Floridians charged up and down the field for first five downs to one for the Kentucky team. Also in the early part of the fourth quarter when the Gators made their marker, it looked as if the Florida team would stage on of the Notre Dame last half rally.

The Kentucky fans did not feel safe until Davis made his spectacular run and gave the Cats their nine-point lead. Statistics show that Kentucky gained nine first downs to eight for the Gators. On the total yards gained from scrimmage, Kentucky had 177 to Florida's 104. In the forward pass department Kentucky attempted three and completed one for 12 yards, had one intercepted and the other was incomplete. Florida attempted 15 passes, completed four for a gain of 22 yards and had one intercepted.
