Convocation Is Feature Of Founders Week; Humanity Talks Stress Need For Fine Arts; Symposium, Musicales Conclude Observance

Drs. Donovan, McLain Speak Wednesday; Writers' Symposium To Be Held Tonight; Louisville Philharmonic Will Play Saturday

The eighty-fifth birthday of the University of Kentucky was celebrated Wednesday by formally presenting a new home to the art, music, speech, and drama departments and by honoring the men and women who were its founders.

President Herman L. Donovan called on the departments housed in the new Fine Arts Buildings to assist their programs in the direction of the people.

The University of Kentucky is the people's university, he said. The University cannot become exclusive for the education of the few because it belongs to and must serve all the people. President Donovan continued.

Dr. M-Lain Speaks Closely allied to the hopes expressed by President Donovan were portions of Dr. Raymond E. McLain's address in which he pointed out the true meaning of the arts. Speaking on the subject, "John Doe, Artist," Dr. McLain declared that the nature of life itself is an ineluctable struggle from which emerges art.

The arts work in human experience, he continued, through intensifying and clarifying that experience. In return, life requires of art both relevance and detachment. Dr. McLain continued. Art, just as science, must have relevance to give it meaning in the human experience of its time, and it must have detachment to make it ageless.

President Donovan, in outlining the University's role of taking the fine art to the people, said the institution must contribute toward the enrichment of the cultural life of all Kentuckians. He also expressed the hope that the program in the new building would acquaint the people with all the fields and ages of the fine arts rather than being dedicated to the field of the day.

In his address, President Donovan also discussed the numerous challenges to the Fine Arts Department. For the Department of Art and other art teachers throughout the state, he said, there is the challenge of the removal of so-called art objects from the roadside highways.

Dr. Donovan also was to have unveiled.

Library Exhibit Carries Out Theme Of Founders Week

An exhibit of books written by Kentuckians or about Kentuckians is on display in the first floor foyer of the Margaret L. King Library.

The exhibit, which opened Feb. 19, was prepared by Mrs. Hammond Dusan, associate archivist. In nine showcases are displayed some of the University's rarest books concerning Kentucky frontier days.

One case is filled with half-raising thrillers and dime novels, such as "The Phantom Hunter," and "Old Quick Hand," familiar names in nineteenth century Kentucky fiction.

Also on display are some of the better known works of leading Kentucky literary figures such as John Fox Jr., Elizabeth Maddox Roberts, James Lane Allen, Jesse Stuart, Irving S. Cobb, and Joseph A. Aldenderfer. The original manuscripts of Fox's "Mountain Europe" and James Sull's "Rivers of Earth" are displayed.

Summer Trips Are Offered

American students who want to travel this summer are offered a choice of 21 trips planned by the National Headquarters of American Youth Hostels. It was announced by Ben W. Miller, director of the association.

In addition, hundreds of other trips, many of which will cost as little as $12.5 a day are planned by AYH Local Councils throughout the United States.

Trips sponsored by the AYH National Headquarters will range in length from five to 10 weeks and will start in late June and early July. On these trips, hostlers will travel in small mixed groups with trained leaders.

June Graduates Should File For Degrees

Seniors who entered the University at the beginning of this semester and who expect to complete their requirements for graduation in June or August, and who have not at a previous time made application for degrees, are requested to do so on Friday or Saturday, March 24.

As the Commencement lists are made from these cards, it is very important to file application at this time.

Candidates for the bachelor's degree will be charged a graduation fee of $9. This will cover the rental of cap and gown, diploma fees, the Kentuckian, and other necessary expenses.

Comptroller Conducts One-Day Paint Clinic

A one-day paint clinic, designed to assist Kentucky Colleges and Universities in eliminating protection to their property through the use of paint, was held recently at the University under the auspices of Frank D. Peterson, comptroller.

Approximately 30 paint foremen and painters from various Kentucky schools attended the meeting.

Speakers On Humanity Subjects Declare That We Must Concentrate On Our Arts, Discontinue Devotion To Foreign Works

By Betty Compton

"We shall not be taken seriously in the cultural field until we take ourselves seriously," stated Dr. Howard Hanson, one of the nation's foremost music educators, at the Fine Arts Building Tuesday night. Dr. Hanson, director of the Eastman School of Music at Rochester, N. Y., continued by criticizing American importation of the cultural arts.

Dr. Edwin E. Stein, head of the UK music department, when introducing the speaker described him as possessing all the qualities necessary in a national leader of music.

The enthusiastic speaker added, "But one of the problems of leadership in these times is that someone might take your advice and follow you."

Dr. Hanson stated that a study of the humanities teaches a sensitiveness to nature. The first Founders Week speaker furthered his statement by proclaiming that music calls for an enthusiastic and devoted teaching.

Dr. Hanson continued by saying that the arts have little to offer unless approached in the spirit of sincerity and the creative arts must be known for their inspiration to the "grass roots."

Dr. Hanson stated, "I believe man is turning today to philosophy and religion and to the creative arts for the solace, comfort, and inspiration which they can bring to him."

Dr. Hanson's was sung by the University Chorus and the Founders Day Convocation Wednesday morning.

The distinguished educator has several works for both chorus and orchestra to his credit, including "American for Beethoven" and "Drum Taps." Dr. Hanson has composed works for every instrument, with specialized in compositions for choir, organ, and piano.

Memorial Hall To Be Scene Of Women's Job Conference

Openers March 14 A convocation on March 14 in Memorial Hall will open the conference. Mr. Virgil L. Couch, personal director of the Economic Council of Administration, Washington, D. C., will speak on how to "Select a Vocation Now."

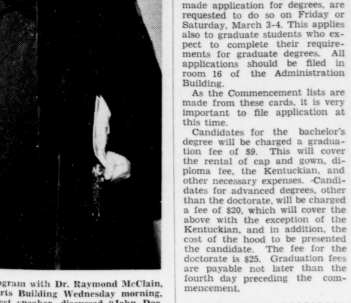

Discussions of vocations in 17 departments will be conducted on campus in the afternoons from 4 to 6 o'clock on March 15 to 16. Heads of departments and professors will be held on discussion. The meetings have been scheduled in the departments so that students will have better opportunities to see the vocational specialists. There will be tours conducted through the departments.

Conference Theme "Keys to Vocational Opportunities" will be the theme of the conference. The main purpose will be to inform the students of the training possibilities the University offers in the fields which will be represented in the conference.

The fields to be discussed will be elementary education, medical technology, music, home economics, journalism, physical education, public health, nursing, social work, related fields of religious education, radio, physical therapy, secondary education, personnel, public health, speech therapy, library science, art, and secretarial work.

Visions Of Greatness

Founders Week, about to come to an end for 1950, has been an impressive and interesting celebration in appreciation of the work of those men who were instrumental in launching and improving the University throughout the years.

It has had very real significance this year, in part because of the visible growth of the University—the new Fine Arts building, the newly-completed Memorial Coliseum and the Maintenance buildings and the newly-started Journalism building.

Most of the present inhabitants of UK might well wish that some of those men could return and see the results of years of genuine sacrifice and hardship they underwent. But perhaps they wouldn't want to return—there is a vision that went far beyond their time. There is ample reason to believe that they expected their school to become what it is today—or even what it will be when it has ripened into a greater University of Kentucky in the future.

Boo Kernels

LONESOME VALLEY
By Henry Hornby

The mountains of Kentucky are a lonesome and mysterious region, and the people there are misunderstood by most of the world outside.

But when a man who worked his way out of those mountains and through school writes of scenes of his earlier life and of the kind of people he knew, the mountaineers come to life in all the complexity of their characters.

In Lonesome Valley, Henry Hornby catches the spirit of the mountain folk in their actions as seen through the eyes of one boy—Johnny—who is driven from the hills by the harsh treatment of the uncle and aunt with whom he lives.

New Hemingway Novel

Ernest Hemingway's new novel, "Across the River and into the Trees" is the story of a fifty-year old U. S. infantry colonel who returns to Venice for a last visit with a young and beautiful Italian girl. They are happy in their intense love, but it is a happiness made poignant by her realization that the war-battered colonel hasn't long to live. Hemingway, in describing their last visit, recounts the events in the soldier's colorful life which made him the brutal, and yet strangely tender man that he is. The novel starts in the February issue of Cosmopolitan magazine and in Hemingway's first work since his famous "For Whom the Bell Tolls," published in 1940.

The reader is continually with Johnny, seeing people through the eyes of a boy who is one of them and thus knows them for what they are. It is a quiet book, moving slowly with Johnny through his first love, through high school and college and finally back to the mountains, where he hopes to find himself again after an unhappy love affair at school.

The suspicious nature of a mountain boy made Johnny believe that Hazel, the sister of his new school teacher, had snubbed him in telling him goodbye. Actually, Hazel had fallen strongly in love with Johnny and was disappointed in a naive sort of way that he had not taken advantage of her when he made love to her, though he was unaware of her feelings.

Johnny, bitter towards people in general, had then gone off to school and worked his way into an instructor's position only to rebel at asking the blessing in the college dining hall as the position required. His experiences with Edna, the school secretary, served to bring his discontent to a climax and he returned to the mountains to find Hazel teaching at the old school, waiting for him and the fulfillment that had to come to them.

But the book doesn't end happily—mountain folk can't be really happy for long. Something about the rugged hills prevents complete enjoyment, and sorrow strikes again as usual. Johnny seems to learn that though hell always have Hazel, he may never be happy, and certainly not in the lonesome valley.

This is a first novel by a graduate of the University of Kentucky. Henry Hornby majored in Journalism here, and received his degree in 1948. At the present time, he is acting city editor of the Lexington Leader.—George Reynolds.

One of the central tests of any man is the nature of his pleasures.

LEAD CANCER CRUSADE—Top right stars, as caricatured by Al Hirschfeld, noted illustrator, will play leading roles in the 1950 Cancer Crusade, the fund-raising drive of the American Cancer Society for $14,585,000, which opens April 1. The quintet is representative of scores of entertainers who will aid the campaign with personal appearances and radio broadcasts.

Chemistry Fraternity Announces Pledges

LETTERS to the Editor

THE TRIANGLE

Editor, The Kernel:
I love the paper!
I think it's swell;
On Friday mornings
I run pell mell!
To get my copy—
And read every line.
The stories and columns
I think are fine.
I laugh at the jokes,
I read the ads,
I note all the news,
I join all the fads.
When I graze the paper
I score those who laugh.
I'm really most loyal—
Sincerely, THE STAFF.

Each week the editorial board of The Kentucky Kernel chooses the most interesting letter to the Editor which is run in that issue. To the winner goes a carton of Chesterfields, presented by the campus representatives, Tom Dinkin and Bob France.

Last week, however, only one letter was read and this was not signed. To be eligible for the prize, there must be at least two letters sent and the author must sign his or her name. Should the writer not want his name published, please state so in the letter and it will be complied with.

Fine Accomplishment

Next year's program sponsored jointly by the University, the Lexington Public Forum and the Central Kentucky Community Concert Association is by far the most ambitious cultural advance made here in many years.

Bringing such famous persons as Jascha Heifetz, Arthur Rubenstein, Charles Laughton, James Melton and Eleanor Roosevelt to the Memorial Coliseum is not its only advantage. The admission prices offered the general public, and especially the students of the University, are almost unbelievable. In addition, the program should serve to prove to skeptics who have frowned upon such a large expenditure as that made on the fieldhouse for athletics that the building will in the future be of great importance in other activities as well.

Besides the important personalities which the group has engaged for next season, three famous musical organizations of large size will also appear. The London Philharmonic orchestra is probably the best-known in the world and is certainly one of the best. The Don Cosack chorus has become famous for its recordings of "Meadowlands" and other songs, and the Dallas Symphony has aroused nation-wide attention because of its unprecedented success.

Any one of the attractions is worth at least $5.00 per seat, and the audience at the last community concert, at which the program was announced, chuckled appreciatively when UK's most popular professor, R. D. McIntyre, said the admission price for each performance would amount to about 66c. But he referred to general admission season tickets at $7.20 each. UK students will be admitted free upon presentation of student activity books or identification cards, the cost of which is covered by registrations.

Certainly the three organizations which have co-operated so well in preparing this program are to be congratulated and sincerely thanked by every University student.

Time To Quit

More and more students are bringing it to our attention that the furniture and interior woodwork and walls of campus buildings are being defaced with alarming indifference.

Since there is practically no way in which such action can be suppressed, short of actually catching the person in the act of whittling, writing or generally messing up the property, the only way to improve the situation would seem to be an appeal to common sense. The old saw about doing it at home does not apply here, because all the people of the state have an interest in the University, whereas, possibly, indulgent families control our respective homes.

Both students and faculty members are at fault, especially concerning mistreatment of walls. We realize that a long class period often leads the student to some means of preoccupation and the teacher to the restless propping of a foot against the wall. But it would seem that the student could just as well use paper for his doodling and the professor could sit down while delivering his lecture.

Dr. W. R. Allen, curator of the Zoology museum, points out several points of interest in one of the museum's several cases to two graduate students. The museum, although not yet complete, is open to the general public. It is located in room 10 of the Funkhouser Biological Sciences building.

Variety Of Species Shown In New Zoology Museum

The first unit of the Department of Zoology's teaching museum which opened recently shows specimens taken from many branches of zoological science. The museum of Zoology is located in Room 10 of the Funkhouser Biological Sciences Building. Notable in the collection now shown is the skeleton of the famous race horse and sire, Hanover. Skeletons of a gorilla and of the rare duckbill of Australia are also among the most valuable of the mammal collection specimens. A representative set of mounted birds is also included in the collection. Some of these birds were prepared for the department, some were gifts, and some have been in the department since the 1890's, when they were received on exchange with the Smithsonian Institute for certain archaeological study materials from Kentucky.

The museum, which was planned in 1938 when the first designs for the Biological Sciences Building were drawn, is a single large room on the ground floor. Although the building was completed in 1941 with the assistance of federal funds under the Public Works Administration, the funds were stopped before the museum could be completed. The room was left without furnishings and was used during the war for drafting classes in the Army Specialized Training Program. The first unit of the construction was authorized by the University two years ago, consists of a set of wall cases on three sides of the room, with plate glass openings six feet high. Two other units, a series of glass and concrete aquarium and vivarium tanks in which living specimens will be kept and a series of six floor cases for special exhibit, are planned in addition to this unit.

(Continued from Page 1) and replace them with objects of real artistic value. For the Department of Music, Dr. Donovan went on, there is the challenge of teaching Kentuckians a great music, and for the dramatics division of the English department the challenge of stimulating and guiding the production of more and better drama, particularly in the state's high schools. Music was provided by the University Choristers and Madrigal Singers and a string quintet of music faculty members. Invocation and benediction was given by Elliot Jones, president of the YWCA.

Cats Expect Rocky Road In Last SEC Tournament

By Earl Conn
For the first time in seven years the University of Kentucky Wildcats are expected to have some real competition in attending the Southeastern Conference basketball championship. The tourney to establish the champion will start at the Louisville Army March 2 with the final game scheduled for Saturday night, March 4.

In the pairings held Sunday at Birmingham, Ala., Kentucky's Wildcats were seeded first although—at the time—they were second in the conference standings to Vanderbilt. Vanderbilt was seeded second behind the Cats while Auburn was seeded third and Alabama was fourth. All four seeded teams were given first round byes.

This season is the last year for the SEC tournament which decides the Conference championship. Starting next year the championship will be based on the round-robin conference play as it is decided in most of the major conferences in the nation.

UK Has Won 11 Times
Kentucky has dominated the SEC tourney since its institution in 1933. The Cats have won the title 11 times while only five other teams have been able to capture the bunting. Three times the Cats were stopped in the tourney by Tennessee.

According to the schedule for the 1950 tourney Florida and LSU will meet first Thursday at 1:30 p.m. and will be followed by Tennessee and Georgia Tech at 2:15 p.m.

Mississippi will play Georgia Tech at 3:15 p.m. while Tulane will make their first tourney start against Mississippi State at 8:15 p.m.

The seeded teams will start action Friday when Auburn meets the winners of the Florida-LSU tilt at 1:30 p.m. Then Vanderbilt will swing into action at 2:15 p.m. when they play the winner of the Tennessee-Tech game.

Alabama plays the winner of the Mississippi-Georgia game Friday night at 7:30 p.m. while the Cats will take the floor for the first time by meeting the winner of the Mississippi State-Tulane game at 8:15 p.m.

The two semi-final games are scheduled for Saturday morning while the battle for the championship will be played at 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

While Kentucky's road to the title will undoubtedly be much more difficult this season, things are beginning to shape up for the Cats as they approach the end of the season. The sophomore-laden club now has nearly a full season's experience.

Tulane Might Surprise
Of course the big disappointment in the conference this year is Tulane. The Green Wave was supposed to be the power but wasn't even seeded. However, the Cats will probably meet the Wave in their first game and Cliff Wells may have his boys up for this one last great effort.

Kentucky rode to the championship last season on the strength of Alex Groza's great play. Big Al smashed records left and right as he paced the Cats to the title. They stopped Florida in their first game, 73-36; then rolled over Auburn, 79-39, followed by a smashing victory over Tennessee, 83-44, in the semifinals.

In the championship game the Cats swamped Tulane 63-32 the third time the Cats had beat the

Initiation To Be Held By Newman Club

Formal initiation of all new members of the Newman Club will be held Sunday at 4:15 p.m. at Christ the King Church. Benediction will follow the initiation ceremonies.

The initiation is being held on the feast of Cardinal Newman, founder and patron of the Newman Club. It will be one of 400 ceremonies conducted throughout the United States Sunday in honor of Newman.

All students who were not members of the Newman Club last year are asked to attend the ceremonies.

SAE Initiates Five

New initiates of Sigma Alpha Epsilon are Phil Kinsberry of Ft. Knox, Andy Polites of Lexington, John Hill of Williamsburg, Bill Soaper of Nicholasville, and Tommy Pardue of Frankfort.

A banquet will be given at the chapter house honoring the new initiates. Mrs. Elizabeth Luxon, house mother, is in charge of arrangements.

Major Bill Reynolds, Oregon '40 Pilot-Professor, U.S. Air Force!

Bill was an all-round athlete. He chose football as his favorite sport, made the varsity teams at Pomona Junior College and also at the University of Oregon.

A Theta Chi, Bill enjoyed campus social life. Found that it eased the pressure of operations officer to squadron commander. He came home a Major and qualified for a Regular Commission.

Upon graduation, Bill chose a future in the Air Force. He "flew" his first flight trainer as an Aviation Cadet in 1940. By March, 1941, he had won his pilot wings.

Recently commended for peace-time work—organizing and improving instruction techniques—Major Reynolds, a "Pilot-Professor", looks forward to a long and gainful career in the U. S. Air Force.

If you are single, between the ages of 20 and 26½, with at least two years of college, consider the many career opportunities as a pilot or navigator in the U. S. Air Force. Procurement Teams are visiting many colleges and universities to explain these career opportunities. Watch for them. You may also get full details of your nearest Air Force Base or U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station, or by writing to the Chief of Staff, U. S. Air Force, 4th Aviation Cadet Branch, Washington 25, D. C.

Kentucky Five Loaded With Sophomore Stars

Of the 15 players on the Kentucky Wildcats basketball roster, 10 of them are sophomores. These second-year sharpshooters have performed very well for the Blue and White this season. Because of the ten talented sophomores, enemy coaches are somewhat worried that Coach Adolph Rupp is coming up with another super team that might match the "Fabulous Five".

With the Southeastern Conference getting underway next Thursday night, the Baron must select 12 players from the 15-man roster. The SEC has a ruling allowing only a dozen players to carry on each team during the post-season tourney. There is a possibility that nine of the 12 chosen might be second-year men—making up 75 percent of the tournament squad.

The ten sophomores are Center Bill Spivey, Center-Forward Shelby Livinville, Center-Forward Walt Whitaker, Forward Red Morgan, Forward C. M. Newton, Forward Bud King, and Guards Guy Strong, Skippy Whitaker, Whitley Pearson and Bobby Watson.

The five others who complete the UK roster are Seniors Dale Barnstable and Jim Lane; and Juniors Walt Hirsch, Spec Tomes and Roger Layne.

Spivey Topping Mike Mark
A brief thumbnail sketch of each sophomore follows:
BILL SPIVEY, is a physical education major. He was born in Lakeland, Fla., played his final three high school years at Warner Robins, Ga., but now lives in Madison, Ky. He is well-liked by his teammates for his even temperament, affability and sense of humor. At the present time he is averaging more points per game than George Mikan did in his sophomore year at DePaul. Going into last night's tilt with Xavier, Spivey had a 191 average, while Mikan averaged 182 in his sophomore year.

LEN 'WHITELY' PEARSON has definite possibilities of winning a first-string guard position by tournament time or by next season. Whitely, also a phys. ed. major, comes from Chicago Senn High, where he captained the team his final three seasons there. He is a great competitor and has the drive and natural ability to become a brilliant player before he leaves Kentucky. The 160-pound Svede made All-Chicago in his junior and senior years at Senn High.

SHELBY LIVINVILLE, is an o.e.r. basketballer who loves to play the game and really knows how. He was one of the finest high school players developed in Ohio in recent years, making All-State two years. "Shelby" played Middletown High in the 1948-49 championships. Coach Rupp is high on him, for he can play equally well at center, forward and if necessary at guard. Livinville is a transfer from Miami U. of Ohio. He almost enrolled at Western, but fortunately came to UK. He should be a great help in the coming SEC tournament and any subsequent meets.

SKIPPY WHITAKER, is considered one of the best high school college prospects ever to come out of Florida. "Skip", whose full handle is Lucian Cary Whitaker Jr., was born in Quantico, Va., but attended high school at Sarasota, Fla. He is brilliant in basketball, football, baseball and track. Whitaker, a Commerce major, has a keen eye and plenty of hustle and drive and will develop into one of the top guards in the nation next season. He was named on the All-Super Bowl line last December along with Spivey and Lane.

BOBBY WATSON plays a steady, reliable game. Robert Earl impressed the New York sportswriters very much in the St. John's game when

Intramural Sports

By Lewis Donohew

Whenever possible, the Kernel sports pages will run rosters of the various Intramural basketball teams. Since there are over 50 teams in their roster, listing the full name of the players, their height and years of eligibility. We'll try to run them in the order received.

The roster for the "K-Club" team includes: Bill Kozlov, Doug Moseley, Nick Orlivak, Uis Saylor, Frank Yessin, Shorty Jamerson, Frank Clegg, Jerry Claiborne, Al Bruno and Bill Bolter. This squad should leadfully be one of the strongest teams in competition this winter.

Break Hall certainly also to be a potent outfit. Lists: Dave Reed, Bill "Whitely" Zoellers, Charlie Warner, Jolly Hill, Fred Pittard, Joe Great-house, Gene Auen, and Jerry Conyer. Most of these players were in last year's IM championship team.

every one of their key players back from the 1948-49 campaign, including 6-4 Paul Durbak, outstanding center, and 6-9 Gene "Squeaky" Melchiorre, speedy guard. This Tuesday the Associated Press came out with its weekly poll, taken over the week-end by AP writers throughout the nation, and Bradley held the fourth place, losing to the USA's top quintet. Holy Cross had been in the first position for well over a month.

Voting listed Bradley with 1,269 points, Holy Cross with 1,124. Most of the cages that Coach Anderson's Braves have scaped this season include Ohio State (65-46); St. Louis twice; DePaul twice; Oklahoma A & M (59-46) and Tulane (78-61). One of the three losses has been to our Wildcats, in the Sugar Bowl, finally by 66-71.

Cats No. 5 In AP Poll
At the beginning of the current basketball season, Coach Adolph Rupp was asked who he thought would be the No. 1 team in the nation. After a little thought, the Baron picked Bradley University (formerly "Tech") of Peoria, Ill. One of the reasons that Rupp named Bradley was that they have

Coach Rupp's Record Here Outstanding One

By Tom Diskin

Francois La Rochefoucauld, the French writer and philosopher, once commented "if you want enemies, excel your friends; if you want friends, let them excel you". And since 1920, when he first came to U. of Kentucky, Coach Adolph Rupp has been excelling his coaching friends and making enemies left and right, especially in the South.

Some sportswriters used to label him as "The Most Dinked Coach in Dixie" and keeping the philosophy of La Rochefoucauld in mind, the reason is obvious.

In his very first season, Rupp became as unpopular as a skunk at a church picnic when he and his boys defeated 13 opponents in 18 games. And he has been losing friends ever since, as does Frank Leahy, head football coach at Notre Dame. Both Rupp and Leahy become more unpopular each season among many of their coaching brethren, charged at their constant failure to whip the Kentucky basketballers and the Notre Dame football eleven.

Has Lost Only 16 Games
Since coming here nearly 20 years ago, Coach Rupp has been beaten only 78 times in 481 contests—and only eight of these have been on the home court, Alumni Gym. This is certainly one of the finest records ever attained by a major college basketball coach. Rupp is considered by many sports authorities as the best cage tutor in the business and his sensational record seems to prove this.

The Southeastern Conference decided in 1927 to have a tournament at the end of each season. Needless to say, Kentucky went to the meet and took the prize hardware as it defeated Mississippi State, in the finals, by the humiliating score of 66-27. This was just the beginning.

For in the 16 SEC cage carnivals that have been held, Rupp and his Rillemen have returned with the lion's share 11 times—including the last six years in succession.

The only season that none was held was in 1933. The Conference was in 1933, a campaign, including a perfect 11-0 mark for league play. By general consensus, the Cats were awarded the title.

Perhaps many of the SEC cage coaches are glad that this coming tournament is the final one. For, in the past six years, Rupp has made a farce of the thing as his teams' ridiculous catches.

Usually won the tourney titles with Rupp busy man. Besides coaching, the 49-year-old players you might have heard of, namely, Alex Gross, Ralph Beard, Walt Jones, Cliff Zwick, Walt Hirsch, Jim Lane, et al.)

One of the foremost reasons for Rupp's noted success with basketball teams in the past is his uncanny ability to spot a potentially-great player.

For years now, Coach Rupp has looked over dozens and dozens of high school athletes and can generally spot which ones will make the tough college grade.

Bill Spivey is an outstanding example. Informed by several other universities, Rupp says that he kept a diamond in the rough and he might have, much to the sorrow of UK opponents.

With the present crop of freshmen, whom Freshman Coach Lancaster rates as the best in the history of the school, it looks as if the Baron and the Big Blue, like OF Man River, will keep on rolling along.

Billy Joe Atrock, Vanderbilt's outstanding candidate for All-American honors this season, scored a total of 872 points in his first 58 games of collegiate ball for an average of 15.03.

Vanderbilt's highest score ever tallied in a basketball game occurred last season when they rolled over Mississippi State 96-43 in an SEC contest.

DisKintucky Sports Review

— By Tom Diskin, Sports Editor —

The University's new "Memorial Coliseum" will be ready for basketball "in about two or three more weeks", according to one of the top engineers on the job.

By course, by that time the Wildcats' season will have been completed, which is very regrettable. Labor strikes, bad weather, plus shortages of men and materials from time to time slowed up construction on the $4,000,000 structure.

For a while this winter, it was hoped that the Coliseum would be ready for the final six home games (February 11 through 25). But a strike late in January snuffed out the last faint flicker of hope that it would be finished.

The Coliseum was started in March, 1947. It will probably be completed in March, 1950 — or a total of 36 months.

Many weeks ago, Coach Adolph Rupp stated publicly that "it will take longer to build that than it did the Empire State Building in New York City."

Just for the record, we checked in the library for the time needed in erecting the world's largest building.

We learned that the 1280-foot Empire State Building was constructed in about one and one-half years.

Demolition of the old Waldorf Astoria Hotel was begun on Oct. 1, 1929. Just 19 months later, on May 1, 1931, the new Empire State Building was opened for use on the old Waldorf-Astoria site.

Furthermore, our source said that "at times, construction advanced 4 1/2 stories a week."

In other words, it will take about twice as long to put up the Memorial Coliseum as it did the world's tallest building.

Cincinnati Gardens, which has a seating capacity of 15,000 for basketball as compared to 11,500 for the Coliseum, was erected in the rapid time of 15 months.

According to Earl Ruby, of the Courier-Journal, the structure will be dedicated to the war dead on Memorial Day (May 30) . . . and "its sports facilities will be christened officially in the fall with a basketball game featuring Notre Dame and the UK Wildcats."

Congratulations to Bill Spivey and Cliff Hagan for their new scoring records. As everyone knows, Spivey broke Alex Groza's SEC mark of 38 points for one game (Georgia, 1949), when he plunked in 40 tallies against Georgia Tech last Saturday.

We feel this is just the beginning for "Griz" Spivey. For next season, he'll probably hit 50 or more points several times. And to think several coaches told him that he would never amount to much as a basketball player—including a few in Georgia.

Spivey's average for this season going into last night's Xavier game was 33.5 with 49 points in 33 games. Groza, Mikean, and his sophomore year at DePaul, finished with an 18.5 average, or 64 points in 35 games.

Cliff Hagan, 6-4 freshman from Owensboro, smashed the Kentucky Kittens' record when he flipped in 32 points against Campbellsville Junior College last week.

For the benefit of the out-of-state alumni readers who might not have heard of Cliff Hagan, here are some interesting facts on the 18-year-old center who enrolled at UK this past semester and is considered a tremendous prospect.

The 205-pound Hagan is probably best remembered for his record-breaking 41 points against Lexington's Lafayette High School last year.

Hagan was a basketball, football and golf star at Madisonville.

The dates for the National Invitational basketball tournament at Square Garden are March 11-13-14.

SEC Ticket Sale

The sale of tickets for the coming SEC basketball tournament in Louisville, March 23-24, will close at noon on Wednesday, March 22.

Students may purchase them at the ticket office in Alumni Gym.

The winners of the Eastern and the Western playoffs then get together for the N.C.A.A. championship in Madison Square Garden on Tuesday night, March 28.

In the current issue of Sport Magazine, Alex Groza, of the Olympians, has an article on "How I Play Mikan". Says Alex, who will be returning to UK for the summer term, "If you can't stop him from scoring, the next best way is to get your own."

In the two meetings this season, Mikan outscored Groza 29 points to 21 in the first clash, but the Kentucky great whipped in 38 tallies to Mikan's 31 in the other duel.

There is a good possibility that the two will again meet in the post-season playoffs.

Speaking of the Olympians, Ralph Beard drew some real praise from the SEC in his article in the Sports Illustrated.

"If we had Ralph Beard on our team, nobody could ever beat us," said Cervi, whose team is pacing the pro leagues with a brilliant record of 41 wins in 49 games.

Louisville sports followers are concerned over the fact that their city may soon lose three basketball tournaments in the near future.

The Southeastern Conference will be pulling out of the Army for food after this season's meet.

The SEC starts a round robin schedule next year which will eliminate the post-season tourney.

Then the Ohio Valley Conference is to be held in the new Coliseum.

Name '50 All-Tourney Five And Win A Prize

The Chesterfield cigarette company is conducting a contest for the UK students in connection with the Southeastern Conference basketball tournament next week.

The rules are simple and any student at UK is eligible. And you needn't submit a pint of blood or the right arm of your mother to win the prize.

Here are the contest rules:

1. Pick the five basketball players who you believe will be named on the 1950 All-SEC Tournament first team, listing their positions.

2. Mail in to Tom Diskin, Sports Editor, UK, Lexington 29, or leave entry addressed as above at University Post Office BEFORE noon on Friday, March 3.

3. Only one entry is allowed each student, who should be sure to put full address on his or her ballot.

4. Any kind of entry blank is acceptable. However, if a winner submits his list on the inside part of a Chesterfield pack, an additional prize will be awarded him.

5. The contest is open also to UK Pharmacy College students at Louisville as well as those in the Northern Kentucky branch at Covington.

6. The prize for the winning contestant is 600 satisfactory Chesterfield cigarettes, or three full cartons. In case of more than one winner the cartons will be equally divided, as if there are three winners, each will receive one carton.

However, with the five All-Tournament players of the 1949 tourney gone, this should be a wide open affair. Last March, the coaches and sportswriters named Wah Jones (UK) and Warren Perkins (Tulane) at forward; Alex Groza (UK) at center; and Virgil Risner (Tulane) and Ralph Beard (UK) at the guard posts.

Risner, now a senior, was cut from the Tulane team last month for breaking training rules, while the other four stars completed their athletic eligibility last season.

The All-Tournament five will be selected immediately following the SEC title game, Saturday night, March 4.

Mail your entry in today.

Vandy, Cats Vie For SEC Lead

Vanderbilt's Commodores sail into Lexington tomorrow night with the deliberate intention of capturing the unofficial Southeastern Conference crown by defeating the perennial champion Kentucky Wildcats.

Vandy with an 11-2 conference record is 13 percentage points better than the Cats who have a 10-2 record and this final game will clinch the round robin title for either team.

Of course the official championship will not be recognized until the tourney finals have been played next week in Nashville.

Big gun in the Commodore barrage is All Conference Billy Joe Adcock. Nashville's pride and joy will be playing his last regular season game for Vandy, and he wants it to be his best.

He has a 19 point average per game during his four year play at Vanderbilt and wants this sign out performance to be a good one.

Captain Dale Barnstable, one of the top defensive regulars on the Wildcats for the last two years, ranks Adcock as one of the most difficult men he has ever had to guard.

"I played against Bob Cousy of Holy Cross, Dick McGuire of St. John's, Virgil Risner of Tulane, and Paul Walker of Tennessee, but Adcock is without the toughest," states

Barney. "He gets his shots off in a hurry, and from anywhere."

The other senior on the squad is Center Pete Robinson, only 6'4" but a giant under the backboards. Sophomore Dave Karcokus gave the Cats a hard time in the first meeting of the two teams this season.

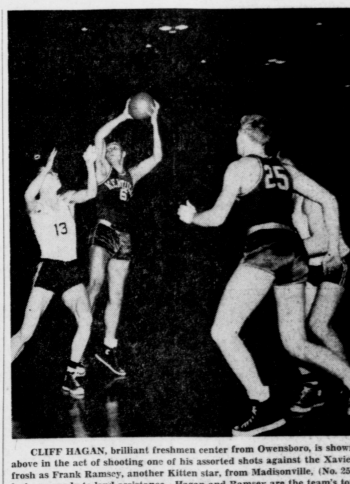

Bob Dudley Smith and veteran Hank Davier round out the Commodores' starting lineup.

Ed Wails, a transfer student from Transylvania College who played his high school ball at Cynthiana High, will also make the trip with the Vanderbilt squad. Jack Wampler, a reserve guard who gets a laugh every time he steps on the court, is considered the clown of the team. He should see action tomorrow night.

Kentucky defeated Vanderbilt earlier in the season in a tip and luck affair down in Nashville, but they had to come from behind in the last two minutes with a five point splash to tie it, 39-34. Neither team seemed to have a definite edge, the decision could very well be reversed at the final meeting.

No doubt about it, Vanderbilt could cut Kentucky's home court winning streak at 83 games. They're ready to go.

Wait Hirsch played a brilliant game. His passing was a pleasure to watch. On one play he passed the entire length of the floor, over the heads of four Teachers. Lane took his pass and layed it in for a goal.
