

Frankfort April 26. 1828

Dear Sir

Your favor respecting the bringing suit for Col. Billingsley in the Federal Court in Duke reached me a few days since - I feel confident the Statute of limitations will not bar the action and should commence it immediately, but time would probably be lost instead of gained by it - You may think this curious, but it is owing to the rule of court, that unless process is returned Executed 30 days before court, or ^{issued & returned} in term time, the cause is put on the rule docket - in the two cases above mentioned it stands for trial, tho in the latter case not at the first term -

The Marshall may possibly be going down to Marion during the term, (tho I think it not likely)
