

Party Lines Tautly Drawn For Senior Class Election; All Petitions Are O. K.'d

Richard Butler, Tom Nichols Are Presidential Candidates of Two Factions

By MALCOLM PATTERSON Kernel Political Writer

Eight petitions of candidates for senior class offices in the election to take place Thursday, October 29, were approved yesterday afternoon by the student council committee on elections...

The Fraternity combine is sponsoring Tom B. Nichols for president; Henry Miller, vice-president; Jeanne Short, for secretary; and Laban Jackson, for treasurer.

The Independent combine's candidates are Richard Butler, president; Dave Flinders, vice-president; Mary Edith Bach, secretary; and Carl Vannoy, treasurer.

The election begins at 9 a. m., to 4 p. m., with the balloting being held in the basement of the Administration building, the committee said.

Voters must present their student athletic books for identification in order to vote, the committee further stated.

Each political combine offered a complete slate of candidates, with one not affiliated with the factions being offered for office as the time for petitions to be in closed.

The chairman of the two cliques, Fred Puzazzi and Joe Craft, of the Fraternity faction and Reynolds Watkins of the Independent combine, stated that the two factions "fences repaired" and are ready to put the force of their organizations behind their candidates.

Leaders expressed desires for clean campaigning and voting.

In fact, the two factions have been building up for the respective victory and let-down since last week, when they held their secret meetings and selected their candidates. Representatives from each fraternity in the two cliques attended these meetings.

The organizations composing the Fraternity combine are Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Delta Theta, Chi Omega, Omega, Delta Delta Delta, Phi Kappa Tau, Kappa Delta, and Pi Kappa Alpha.

The Independent combine, which claims to have the support of all students not affiliated with fraternities, is made up of Sigma Chi, Sigma Nu, Phi Sigma Kappa, Alpha Sigma Phi, Kappa Alpha, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Alpha Gamma Delta, Alpha Delta, Phi Sigma, Delta Zeta, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Delta Chi organizations.

Representatives from Delta Tau Delta fraternities stated they had not decided to support either of the two cliques.

Transfer Students Will Make Plans At Meet Thursday

The YWCA transfer club, an organization for all women students who have transferred from other universities, will hold their second meeting of the year at 7:30 o'clock Thursday, Oct. 29, in the Boyd hall reading room.

An "intercollegiate night" has been planned by the newly elected chairman of the club, who are Anne Pence, Nelle Pennington, and Virginia Richardson.

They will exchange traditions, stories of their campus activities, and other interesting customs carried on in their Universities which differ from those present on this campus.

The club was started last year by the YWCA, since transfer students felt that they could not meet other students, and could not become oriented quickly. This year there are fifty members in the club.

PERSHING RIFLES COMPANY MEETS

Lieut.-Col. B. Brewer addressed candidates and members of Company C, Pershing Rifles, last night in Buell armory.

The junior members of the company gave an exhibition of the "Wildcat" intricate drill movement, followed by the drilling of the sophomores by Captain Slivers, showing the fundamentals of movements that will be taken up.

Remaining candidates will drill and fifteen men will finally be chosen by the officers. The following schedule is to be followed: Companies A, B, Friday, and E, G, Monday, from 4 to 8 p. m.

RURAL SCHOOLS HOLD MEET HERE

University Entertains 1,200 School Children in Two-Day Tournament Under Extension Asuspice.

More than 1,200 county school children, parents, teachers, and friends were guests of the University over the week-end attending the annual two-day Kentucky rural school tournament, conducted under the auspices of the extension department.

Representatives of Henderson county grade schools scored the most points in the athletic contests conducted on Stoll field Saturday morning and this victory gave them a sufficient margin to win the trophy for general excellence.

Other schools winning trophies, which were presented by Lewis Clifton, director of the extension department, at the conclusion of the contests, were: scholarship, Boone county; declamation, Boone county; and music, Mason county.

The visitors were welcomed Friday afternoon at the training school by Professor J. D. Williams, principal of University high school, following a luncheon at the high school cafeteria. After the athletic contests, Saturday, the visitors were guests of the University at the Memorial hall and scholarship and declamatory events in the auditorium of the training school.

Miss Clifton, at the conclusion of the department of music, was in charge of glee club competition, and Mr. Robert Shuron and Mr. Emory Rogers in charge of declamatory contests.

The chairman of the two cliques, Fred Puzazzi and Joe Craft, of the Fraternity faction and Reynolds Watkins of the Independent combine, stated that the two factions "fences repaired" and are ready to put the force of their organizations behind their candidates.

Leaders expressed desires for clean campaigning and voting.

"Personal Appearance," Initial Offering of Guignol Theater, Opens for Run of Week

By CHADWICK BRIDGEWAY "Personal Appearance" opened last night at the Guignol playhouse on Euclid avenue for a week's run. It should be longer.

Aside from one or two points, we liked everything about "Personal Appearance." Especially we liked one Dossett, a newcomer, who plays the part of Bud as we imagine Mr. Riley dreamed of him when he put the plan over. The contrast of allusions to the barn, where Carl and Bud have hid themselves late in the act, and the complete perfect in adding the right note of suspense.

Frank Willis, as the public relations councilor to Carl Arden, plays the role with professional ease and in his own booming stage voice turns the perfect foil for Mrs. Brown. We liked Wally Briggs and Isabel White as Hyde Nelson and Gladys Keeloy. They portray the typical small-town loves of America, and Miss White, as the movie-fied, has some of the best lines in the play and gets them off accordingly.

Joyce Struthers, played by Eleanor Rankin, has an exceptionally pleasing appearance and a forceful personality but she speaks her lines with difficulty and is somewhat awkward in her mannerisms.

As usual, the Guignol settings are all that could be asked for. Mrs. Brown's costumes are strikingly like the clothes she would expect a movie idol to wear.

Guignol this year is managed by Lois Robinson, manager of the Lexington Players, and a member of the Kentucky Child Welfare committee, who has been in the department of education in Lexington. During the semester the group will visit reform schools, orphan asylums and other institutions in Kentucky. Any YWCA member may sign up for the group before the next meeting.

DAMERON DAVIS TABS ON LONG PUNT RETURN

Wynnenmen Withstand Last Minute Drive of Opponents

A sluggish Kentucky football eleven managed to eke out a 7 to 0 victory over Coach Josh Cody's Florida Gators Saturday afternoon on Stoll field. Coach Wynne's boys scored when Dameron Davis kicked off the second half and raced to a touchdown, and Elmore Simpson place-kicked the ball squarely through the uprights for the extra point.

Dameron Davis got off his spectacular run with 6 minutes remaining in the first half. The younger Davis, playing in place of his injured brother, gathered the ball to his chest and shook off several Florida players in his 40-yard dash to the goal line.

Kentucky kicked off to the Gators to start the game after trying two plays, Florida, unable to gain, punted. The Big Blue was also forced to punt before a huge bonfire in accordance with a recent ruling of the Men's Student Council. All freshmen are asked to bring their caps to be burned in the fire.

Neither team was able to gain with any consistency in the first half. Simpson had slightly the better of a punting duel with Brock Hagan of the Florida team.

Coach Wynne placed Johnson and Sands, 200-pound ball carriers, in the first half. The younger Johnson, Wildcat offensive kicked in mid-field but bogged down when it neared scoring territory.

Numerous luncheons and dinners will be given and many sorority and fraternity houses will be decorated to welcome the old grads back "home."

PWA Grants $327,272 Additional Allotment For Building Program

Doctor McVey Receives Word From Washington of New Funds for Construction

BIDS TO BE TAKEN ON UNION BUILDING

$1,100,000 Original Request Is Met by New Donation

An additional PWA grant of $327,272, bringing the total federal appropriation for the University building program to the originally requested amount of $1,100,000, was approved for release yesterday by officials in Washington, according to an announcement late yesterday by President Frank L. McVey.

The additional money granted will be used to carry ahead the rest of the original building program, Doctor McVey said, and the balance of funds will be used for a west engineering building, a science building, an art building, and equipment for the student union building.

The originally requested amount, which was applied for early last year, provided for a building program to include a central heating plant, a student union building, a law building, and two engineering buildings, to cost approximately $1,100,000. Of this program, work on the central heating plant is now nearing completion, and work on the engineering quadrangle is in progress. Bids for a student union building, which will be the third building on the program, will be called for in about a month, Doctor McVey said.

All grants granted through the federal government to colleges are on a 45-55 basis, that is, the government furnishes 45 per cent and the institution 55 per cent of the total cost of a building. The institution issues bonds for its share of the cost.

Doctor McVey expressed appreciation to the Washington authorities for granting the extra funds and also to Dean James H. Graham and his associates for their work in helping to obtain the money.

HERE SHALL THE KERNEL PRESENT ALL STUDENT RIGHTS MAINTAIN

POINT NO. 1 FOR OPTIONAL CLASS ATTENDANCE FOR SENIORS

Some discussion has been provoked over a premise in the editorial of last week which read as follows: "Class room technique of teachers would have to be improved in order to attract seniors to class. This improvement would spread itself into the lower division and alleviate one of the more serious problems of the campus."

By class room technique is meant the manner in which the instructor is able to "put across" to his students the meaning of a particular course, using his personality, his own embellishments, and his peculiar technique, as opposed to a dry rehearsing of the contents of a text book.

In institutions where the optional class attendance system has been successfully put into practice, it has been found that the professor noted for his inability to keep students interested, and therefore, his inability to teach a course, suffered a decrease in prestige when students refused to attend his class.

In this way, the professor either was forced to change his methods, putting new vigor into his class work or resign his position at the institution.

The big hand shake of the week goes to the Sigma Chi halfback, Sonny Boland who, after a spring summer, and autumn love campaign, has finally placed his badge on one of the finest girls in the Blue Grass, Chlo Ann Stevenson.

This is a singularly strange story. It tells of how two Greek kin are not busy slashing each others throats.

CONGESTION AT UNIVERSITY DANCES

Congestion in the checking of coats and hats at University dances was very forcibly brought out at the Suky dance in the Alumni gymnasium Saturday night. One cloak room cannot hope to serve a crowd as large as was in attendance at this dance.

The fault is not with those who are in charge of the checking. It is the result of an inadequate system for a growing institution—the University dances. We believe that something should be done about this situation before the home-coming dance Saturday night.

Two checking rooms would relieve the situation to a considerable extent. An entrance to these checking rooms could be constructed so that only a single line could enter at a time and from the side only. Under existing conditions, only the playing of the role of gentlemen on the part of the students could relieve the situation.

VIVID CONTRAST

Selection of a fraternity in no way resembles selection of a wife, so the University of Washington Daily says.

The editor of that campus journal stated that it is a funny thing the way a man picks a wife. First he meets her. Then he "steps her out" a few times and begins to like her. He examines her closely, analyzes her, watches her actions, her disposition—everything that pertains to her (or at least he thinks he does), and then finally accepts or discards her. Regardless of whether he really understands her at last, he at least tries to understand her. He takes his time. He is careful because he realizes he is signing himself up for life.

How different it is when a man picks his fraternity. No careful thought there. No watchful waiting. No cautious discrimination. It is just like leap year to him. Somebody jumps on him with a proposal of everlasting love and affection. Another puts on the badge which still another murmurs the fatal words, "I'll death do us part."

"I'll death do us part." That phrase is applicable almost solely to these two things, both equally important to the young man. With one he is cautious, with the other foolish. But what can the poor fellow do? So long as fraternities have every year a leap year, and no year a sane year, there is no hope.

Happily, the above description of fraternity rushing is exaggerated to emphasize the mistakes each year of a small number of rushees.—The Daily Athenaeum.

hand had but five practices before that engagement. In five months it should be ready to go places.

Losing your money on horse races makes you do peculiar things. Take the case of Helen Riddell who last her own fortune out at Keeneland and in desperation began on her Sunday School club's treasury and managed to climb back into the black ink before the card was finished. A divine inspiration.

Lambda Chi John Hunt Morgan began courting Nancy Orrell, Joan of Arc at Western State last year, just one week ago. Sunday night Morgan placed his badge on her. Swiftly recently recovered from a romance with Delta Zeta Mary Nell Waldon.

Martha "I Love Louy" Alexander giddily waiting for Phi Delta Johnny Creech to call on her at the Tri-delt barracks... Sigma Chi Jim Chester, famous Murphy zealot, under the command of treacherous tea, punter Neil Craik Saturday at 4 p. m. but she handed it back after the dance. Rosemary Clinckleaks is receiving mail from the Georgia Tech drum major who hasn't quite recovered from the striking figure she portrayed in Atlanta.

Those who remember the '33-'34 school year can easily recall that Kappa Nell Craik had an army of beselgers at her heels at all times. At the dances the imporing males stood five deep around her. If you took six steps with her, you took a long journey.

Things are different now. Nell stayed home two Sunday nights ago just reading "Time and watching the fire. Yet Nell has lost none of her charm and interesting qualities but is probably a bit smarter and a little more fastidious. Hence, the short-sighted oafs who do most of the courting have neglected her so far—because the untutored freshmen are still agreeable enough to believe a restless man's line and his willingness to settle down for a week or two.

Another Kappa who felt the first pang of being a passing fancy is the jolly intellectual Betty Boyd. When Betty missed the Keys can-can it marked the first time she missed a dance on Saturday night since her soph year in high school.

"The old order changeth yielding place to the new."

Congratulations to Andy Anderson, whose new sweet swing combination sounded great at the Suky calisthenics last Saturday. The world that she has thrown in the towel and ended her bout with Red Simpson... What's all this about House Mother Jesse Wilmonet chasing Mary Scott around the ATO ranch? ... The most attractive couple on the campus is SAE pledge John Shelton and the swoon-invoking Evelyn Flowers... Warp Stevenson sent flowers to Polly Dawson before the Florida game, making things too tough for Polly to break the date, even though L. E. Fish, Polly's old cracker, came to town to take her to the tussle.

Marjorie Weaver, campus sensation a few years ago, has signed a movie contract... Taking a hint from the Lost and Found department, Bob Forsythe is again kindling his dilemma with Helen Irvine... More Tridelt pledges, heretofore unnoticed in this column, are Betty Bakhaus and Elizabeth Branch. You would have to search through a million girls to find two prettier coeds... Jack "Bello thar" Crain roared into Lexington for the game and almost shook himself to death shaking hands and drinks.

The Kentucky Kernel.
Dear Sir:

Why has the University of Kentucky allowed Centre College to score another crushing victory over this year? Not on the gridiron but an impressive victory, nonetheless, in smart public relations.

Kentucky has not played a football game in Louisville since it terminated athletic relations with the University of Louisville several years ago. Centre usually manages to play at least one game here each year. Last year it was Washington and Lee; this year, the University of West Virginia.

The Kentucky-Notre Dame basketball game scheduled for Louisville this winter represents very intelligent strategy on the part of the athletic officials. But why not book a football game here for next fall?

Louisville is the gateway to southwestern Kentucky, as well as southern Indiana. It has no first class college football available and the populace is hungry for it. While it is true that it is not very far over to Lexington, it is just far enough that most people who are required to work until noon on Saturdays cannot make the games there.

Each year Alabama plays several games at Birmingham. Notre Dame usually plays a game or two at Chicago, and many other institutions meet gridiron foes on neutral fields. The purpose being to exhibit their wares to as many of their alumni as possible, and to also develop friendship and support of these metropolitan centers.

If the University of Kentucky is to grow and prosper, it must sell itself to the people of the state. Louisvillians, generally, are prejudiced against the University of Kentucky and do not hesitate to voice their dislike of it. The University, itself, is largely responsible for this attitude. For too long it has played the role of a recluse and has failed to build an esprit d'corps among the citizens of the state, including its own alumni. As a result, compare the type of buildings and equipment at Lexington with the buildings and equipment of most of the state's too numerous normal schools.

It requires more than synthetic appeal for alumni support, to construct a militant alumni organization. Alumni will respond with earnest enthusiasm when it is manifested that the institution is tangible, which can best be displayed by arranging for its athletic teams to play in Louisville more often. There the contests will be witnessed by thousands who will never and can never go to Lexington but who will always loyally support the University.

Alumni News

ROBERT K. SALYERS, Secretary

Dear Alumnus:

This week-end is your homecoming. A refreshing visit to the campus and its building, "back when" reminiscing with former class mates, a pep rally by Suky, dinners and luncheons by various fraternal organizations, music by the "best band in dixie", and an Alumni Dance climaxing the activities, are only a few of the many things in store for you when you come "back home" to renew old acquaintances and watch the Kentucky Wildcats fight it out with the Crimson Tide from Alabama, Saturday afternoon at two o'clock.

Registration booths for alumni will be located in both Lafayette and Phoenix hotels and at the Alumni Office in the Administration building. Be sure to register as soon as you arrive so that we can give complete information about the schedule for homecoming activities.

President and Mrs. Frank L. McVey will be at home to alumni and friends of the University immediately following the Kentucky-Alabama game. The homecoming tea at the Maxwell place is informal and all friends are invited to attend. Guests of honor will be Governor A. B. Chandler and Lieut.-Governor Kenn Johnson, president of the Alumni Association.

The Wildcats expect plenty of stiff opposition from Alabama, and they will need the support of all the alumni in order to win from this team. Be sure to join us for the week-end, see your old friends, talk over the "old days", and enjoy being "back home".

Signed,
Bob Salyers

RAILROADS
Welcome New Ideas

Young people today should find much to their liking in the policies of management adopted by our modern railroads. Nothing is sacred merely because it is old. Policies are based solidly upon the test-tube findings of current public usefulness and favor. • Consider these evidences of railway experimentation: Reduced fares, faster and more convenient schedules, streamline trains, added comfort and beauty in passenger equipment, lower-priced meals, air-conditioning, free pillows for coach passengers, free pick-up and delivery of less-than-carload freight—such innovations bring luster to the long-held railway advantages of safety, economy and dependability. • The Illinois Central System is especially proud of its Green Diamond, $425,000 mile-a-minute streamline train recently placed in service. It has been called a rolling laboratory, in which will be worked out principles affecting the development of future passenger transportation, and it embodies the latest findings of science in a wide variety of fields. Favorably received, it gives every promise of fulfilling its chosen mission. • This needs give proof of progress and confirm the skilled determination of railway management and personnel to keep in the very forefront of transportation. American railroads in such ways are daily justifying their kinship with the college and university world.

REMINDER...
Education today must keep in touch with the railroads. Fundamental everybody ought to know are what the railroads mean as carriers, employers, taxpayers, purchasers, fields of investment, and foundations of national defense. Educators especially should remember that railway taxes keep 1,600,000 students in school; that railway bonds are the backbone of many an endowed institution; that the railroads today, in keeping with the spirit of all true education, are forging ahead progressively to new goals.

Kentucky's in-and-out football club conquered Florida last Saturday but almost made Coach Wynne a nervous wreck in doing so.

Johnson and Coleman when they dropped back to pass. Several of Bert's throws were made on the dead run with three and four Gators right on top of him.

Here are a couple of stories concerning football which we heard over the week-end. One concerns Coach Edward "Slip" Madigan, whose Gals of '31, Myrns dropped a 7-6 decision to Fordham last Saturday.

As in the majority of the season's games, the blocking for the ball-toters was of a noticeably inferior sort. On end sweeps, especially, was the blocking poor and very little protection was given tempted quarterback sneak through center. Florida recovered and punted out of danger.

With less than four minutes remaining in the game, Florida went from its own 38 to Kentucky's one-yard line. The passing of Meyberry, Gator quarterback, was chiefly responsible for this offensive threat.

A lateral pass from Mayberry to Brock gave the Gators a first down on the Wildcat 6-yard line. Two more plays placed the ball on Kentucky's one-yard line. Mayberry then tried a wide end run but was tackled hard and fumbled. Sands recovering for Kentucky on the eight-yard line.

Coleman then made 27 yards around right end to get the Wildcats out of trouble. The game ended a few minutes later with Florida trying desperately to score by filling the air with long passes.
