Should Freshmen Be Forced To Wear Beanies Next Fall?

At the request of Suky, the Student Government Association voted this week to accept the resolution to let Suky go ahead with plans to have freshmen wear beanies next year. John Faulkner, president of Suky, told the Assembly such a plan would raise the school spirit of the University. We doubt the validity of this statement.

Several things should be considered in deciding whether or not freshmen should be forced to wear beanies. How will they accept them? Lot of students would enjoy wearing beanies, but others might be sensitive about it.

There's No Point Fining Freshmen Now For Cars

Harsh action is now being taken against freshmen who have cars here at UK. Such students are being fined ten dollars apiece, but ample warnings were given before the fines were levied.

At the beginning of each semester, freshmen are told they are not allowed to have automobiles while a freshman at the University. The judicial committee of the Student Government Association last month sent letters to freshmen known to have cars here. The letter stated that "by bringing an automobile to the campus while being classified as a freshman you are placed in the position of violating this rule. The judicial committee is recommending to the Dean of Students that any freshman who has an automobile after April 10, 1953, will be dealt with severely." The committee sent this letter last month in hope that freshmen having cars would take them home over the Easter holidays and leave them.

Dean A. D. Kirwan explained this week that the ruling against freshmen having cars is a long standing rule of the University. He said one reason for the ruling is because of the lack of parking places on campus. Freshmen live in the dormitories, he said, and so don't need cars.

From the academic point of view, Dean Kirwan said, it is bad for freshmen to have cars. It is the first time many of them have been away from home and on their own, and cars can be a great temptation for them to forget about the things they came to UK to do, he said.

Dean Kirwan explained that the judicial committee found that many freshmen were disregarding the rule and that something had to be done. They voted a couple of weeks ago to place a ten dollar fine on such students.

We realize that for any organization or structure such as a university to function correctly, rules must be laid down and enforced. But we think it is too late in the year to begin fining freshmen for having cars in their possession. It will not do any good. It is too near the end of the semester for a student to take his car home, since he wants to keep it to carry his belongings home when school is out. Fear of being fined ten dollars will probably not cause students to take their car home at this time of the semester.

Fining this year's freshmen will have no effect on next year's freshmen. The time to begin enforcing the rule is next fall.

Our Readers Speak: On McCarthy, Rally

Dear Editor: In both your April 17 and April 24 issues of the Kentucky Kernel you indicate you have been misled by the so called "Liberals" who think McCarthy, Jenner, and Veldle are worse people than the leaders of Soviet Russia. You gave a feature story of Dr. Robert E. Cushman's speech on the campus that "the public is to be blamed in the witch hunts for subversives." I might add that we people here in Washington who really know what the conspiracy is are very happy that the public wants these investigations to continue. The director of the largest public school system in America (New York City) thanked the Jenner committee for its work and stated that he could not have eliminated Communist teachers from his school system if it hadn't been for Senator Jenner's committee.

But to Dr. Cushman it has been "bungled" by the so called politicians. I am afraid if Dr. Cushman had his way the Communists would have taken the school system a long time ago. Thank goodness he is not in control, and his opinions are the policies in this country.

For your interest (read editorial April 17), Senator McCarthy has never had one hearing on education although your editorial would lead you to believe all he has been investigating are educators. There is no fear in good Americans who are teaching at the present time. For the Communist there is plenty of fear. For as taking courses in universities that discuss Lenin, Marx, and the Communist principles, Senator McCarthy does not criticize it as long as the teacher doesn't say that this system is better than our system. I took several courses at UK dealing with Marx as well as graduate courses here in Washington.

If you fight Communist infiltrations into our educational system, at least one former Kentucky student will.

Dewitt O. Burke
Alexandria, Va.

When a student pledges to a fraternity or sorority, they expect to go through some type of hazing. They ask for it by pledging. But when a student enrolls at UK, he is doing so to get an education and is not asking to be hazed or mocked.

It is apparent that some freshmen will not want to wear beanies, and so how will Suky discriminate between who will wear them and who won't wear them. The line is not easily drawn. There are about 210 Korean veterans on campus now, and there probably will be more next fall. Some of them will be married and have kids. Wearing beanies will surely seem foolish to them.

What about freshman foreign students? Are they going to be forced to wear beanies? This would not make a very good impression on them.

Faulkner said he intends to talk with Bernie Shively and Dean A. D. Kirwan to see if it can be made compulsory that freshmen buy beanies as they go through registration next fall. If the Administration approves the idea of forcing freshmen to wear beanies, then they have no room to criticize the hazing and hell week carried on by fraternities. If UK returns to beanies, then fraternities should replace help week with hell week.

We compliment Suky on their attempt to raise the school spirit at UK, because it is needed. But we disagree with the plan to have freshmen wear beanies. It's true that such an idea if put in effect would set freshmen apart from the other students, but will this raise school spirit?

Until a few years ago, freshmen wore beanies. If beanies raise school spirit, why was the practice discontinued?

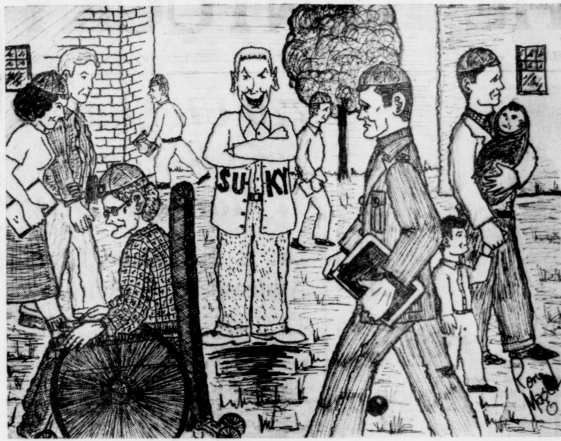

University of Toronto senior has decided not to bother with his final exams and says that a university degree is not worth the paper it is printed on. The student, in a letter of defiance printed in The Varsity, student newspaper, blasts the administration, the teachers, and the students.

The administration talks in terms of dollars, the teachers in terms of marks, and the students in terms of sex," he says. As for the examination system, it "draws these three groups together and proves that the process of learning consists of a bad speaker divulging a lot of dull facts to a group of sullen students."

Three girls from Reading, England, now studying in France, sent letters of protest to the boys back at Reading University for trying to import French girls as date.

Some Reading men had invited three "particularly beautiful" girls from the Paris Sorbonne. Following the letters of protest, the English girls paraded in Bikini bathing suits to show that not all the beauty was in France.

Anyway, the Paris girls refused the Reading invitation.

Art Majors Of Third Spittoon Pass Inspection With Colors

By QUENTIN ALLEN

"Right shoulders, arms," the command rang out and filled the Armory of the Finer Arts Building in a Southern University. We rhythmically jerked our giant sized brushes in place.

All of the Art majors of the Third Brass Spittoon, three's company A, were nervous. "Brush, Arms!" Our brushes tapped the floor softly. Only ten minutes before, I had been inspecting my art paraphernalia for final correction. We knew the penalty. Fifteen days in jail looking at modern paintings. Some had returned blinded from the ordeal.

The First Stroker strode nervously past the Spittoon. We knew all about the First Stroker; he was one of those. He liked Chlorophyll Gin, which was started one day when a color-blinded Signum Moo man dropped his Chlorophyll toothpaste in his gin bottle that he was using as an after shave lotion. Being color-blind, he didn't know the difference. He claimed he got a lift out of gin as his skin absorbed the alcohol. "Never touch the filthy stuff," he was heard to say.

Captain Longnose bellowed a preparatory command. "Prepare for inspection." Not counting Longnose's perennially running probibis, his Yankee accent made him an unpopular officer among the kadets. Because of his affliction he speeded his sorts and sniffs between his words. Often he runs out of hankies for his wayward nose.

As he stepped in front of me I stiffened my body. Longnose went behind me. Something was wiped on my shoulder. I shrank a little in surprise.

"Mr. Kluski," Longnose broadcasted, "your hair is too long! Regulation 48, article 9 out of the manual on Fingernail Filing, Nose Picking, and Hair Combing states that a kadet must have his hair hanging, en masse, over his ears at least six inches. You're supposed to look like an art student. Where's that worried creative look, the soiled clothes, the distinguishing marks of poverty on your attire that denotes a genius?"

"But, sir, I've got those marks of poorness. No money."

Longnose turned the class over to the First Stroker.

"Be seated, gentlemen." We sat down on a crazy red floor. Before covering the importance of hazing your mouth in correct position while making a stroke with a brush, I want each of you to read your assignments."

The class started to read their evaluations concerning the running of horse and street cleaner statue and the Arts Building own version a fervent Praying Manilla.

My time finally arrived. One hundred and twenty-three pages later, I summed up the thesis, saying, "I like the horse statue because the street cleaner smokes Faggets, my brand."

"Mr. Kluski, are you afraid of extensive research?" "No, sir; that's all I could get after you checked all the library books out about the subject." I suspected discrimination. After all, the PRs, or the Painting Reds, were passed with one-sentence papers.

But I was proud to be in the Regimented Paint Pacers of America, of Pallette Army IV, under the command of General Brossau, who had attended both the Western Painters College and the Water Colors University, located on the Painted Desert, where he had graduated with flying colors.

General Brossau is famous for his deep regard for discipline. He spares none, not even himself. One time, in a parade, when they were moving heavy tanks by the Parade Platform, Brossau's baby daughter walked in front of a tank. Brossau could have saved her. Did he? No! He's a military arts man. "I hope the tank isn't discolored," the General was heard to say later.

One student aptly described the General when he said, "Ole iron-jaw is afraid to cry for fear his jaws would rust off."

"Are you really interested in becoming a Second Painter Pacer, Mr. Kluski?" The First Stroker's voice was harsh.

"Yes, sir, I'm interested in being a Second Pacer in Brossau's Original Tencent Clowis."

"What is your professional ambition, Kluski?"

"To paint the town red, sir. I realize that we are receiving our training to prepare to paint a brighter world. I want to make people stop and say, 'Dig that crazy red painter!'"

The First Stroker cleared his throat rapidly.

"Now, sir, you're wrong. I can describe a flank very easily because of my appreciation of flanks, especially broad flanks. While being an expansive subject, I feel I have covered enough to know the technique utilized in handling flanks in drawing."

"Faces, now, are easy; some faces are just right and the others, not alright, compel a guy to look to the left, where left face is derived."

The bell rang. I ran. Enough is enough.

Groups Can Save Money Building Floats, Displays

By KATHY FEYER

The weather couldn't have been better for the May Day parade Saturday. With three or four exceptions, all the 30 some-odd floats were strong candidates for the trophies. Too bad they didn't have more to go around.

While we're on the subject, why don't all the groups building floats and Homecoming decorations next year get together and order all their crepe paper wholesale or from the manufacturer through the sponsoring organization? It would cut down the cost of those things tremendously.

According to rumors, one fraternity had so much yet to do on their float by Friday night that they almost decided to quit and go as the Unfinished Symphony.

Next To Impossible Department: Fitting any electives into your schedule if you're a commerce major.

Finding anyone who hasn't heard one of the bebop jokes ("Dig that crazy-") going around.

Getting in the northwest door of McVey when post office and delivery trucks back up to the platform there.

Figuring out the exam schedule if you've been living on fast time.

Spiked shoe relays have been over several weeks. SGA campaigning has died down. Wonder how long it will take the white painted signs to wear off the sidewalk.

You know it's getting close to June when seniors start reminding their professors that their grades have to be in early. . . . you see them carrying black robes out of the book store. . . . the placement service does a bigger business than usual. . . . the Kernel runs the final exam schedule. . . . the rash of spring dances tapers off and hayrides pick up. . . . down town stores turn on the air conditioning. . . . people sit out on the grass in tow. . . . and the baseball season gets going.

People You'd Like To Strangle: Couples who sit out an entire dance and then say they didn't have any fun.

Professors who say, "To me you're a C student." Yourself when you put off studying for a test until 12 o'clock the night before.

Confucius say: bald man who go to beach come back with baked bean.

According to the grapevine, the higher-ups want to revive the old custom of freshman beanies, and they have asked Suky to sponsor it. The idea has something to do with increasing "school spirit," we've been told.

Hmmm, may be. If the beanies are worn with the feeling of "look, I'm a UK student now," it might work. But if they're going to mean "I'm a lowly little greenie who, doesn't know from nothing," they will raise school spirit like branding cattle makes them love the ranch.

There's Nothing Like: The feeling of relief after finishing a test you've worried about for a week.

Realizing you can stay in bed an extra half hour. Finding the set of notes you've given up for lost two months ago.

Idea for a publicity shot: line up a campus beauty queen in front of the little building between the Mining Lab and the Engineering Building by the sign that says "High Voltage."

OPTOMETRY IN THREE YEARS, IF YOU HAVE SIXTY L. A. CREDITS

In three college years, you can prepare for the attractive profession of optometry, if you have a minimum of sixty required Liberal Arts credits.

There is a shortage of optometrists in many States. Eighty per cent of the Nation's millions depend upon the Doctor of Optometry and his professional skill in correcting vision.

The optometrist possesses the dignity of being a professional man. He renders a service essential to the health and well-being of his community. Substantial financial rewards are obtainable almost from the beginning of his practice. Optometry is specially attractive to women.

The U. S. Department of Defense and Selective Service grant optometry students the same consideration accorded medical students.

Chicago College of Optometry, nationally accredited, is located in the heart of the world's greatest center for teaching in the healing arts. It is famous for its eye clinic. A building program is in progress. Dormitory accommodations, apartments and other facilities are available on a large campus.

For catalog and other literature, address Registrar, Chicago College of Optometry, 2303 No. Clark St., Chicago 14, Ill.

... If he hollers let him go!
ONCE upon a time a huge, ferocious lion escaped from a zoo that adjoined a small college. For days and days, this many-beast terrorized students and faculty members alike by growling at them from dark places. Finally, one afternoon, word reached the Dean that one of the students had killed the lion.

The Dean was delighted, and sent for the brave student. Soon, Charlie Jones, a 112-pound Freshman, was standing in front of him.
"Did you kill the lion?" the Dean asked incredulously.
"Sure did," said Charlie. "There I was, walking to class. It was pretty hot, but I didn't mind because I was wearing a cool, comfortable Van Heusen Van Dual Shirt with short sleeves. That smart collar looked swell with my school tie. And imagine, I only paid $3.95 for this swell shirt!"
"But what about the lion?" asked the Dean.
"Well, all of a sudden," continued Charlie, "this fugitive from a circus leaps out from behind a tree and grows at me. This was no spot to be wearing a dress shirt, I decided, so I whipped off my tie, opened my collar, and presto!—my Van Dual became the best-looking, most comfortable sport shirt on campus. Now I was ready for action."

Seventh Annual 'Blue-White' Game Scheduled For Tonight

By DICK PURKINS
Two hand-picked squads which Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant feels will be evenly matched will clash tonight in the seventh annual Blue-White intrasquad game at Stoll Field.

The affair, beginning at 8:30 (EST), or 7:30 (CST), is being played this year for the benefit of the K Club, which is trying to raise enough money to build a club house for their organization. The club house would be a sort of fraternity house for UK letter winners.

Blue-White Will Be Spectator
Coach Bryant will watch this contest from a spectator's view as the Blue team has been turned over to Clarence "Buckshot" Underwood, with Phil Cutchin and Jerry Chalkhorse as his aides. Errol Allen will head coach the Whites with Jim Owens and Pat James serving as his assistants.

The Blue squad will be led by one of the Wildcat Co-Captains, Tommy Adkins. The rest of the Blue group includes: ENDS — Al Zampino, Gayle Rouse, Jim Proffitt, Sam Sartin, and Charles Wilson; TACKLES — Jerry Mungie, Bill Wheeler, Arvon Bin, Tyezman and George Fuller; Mitchell, a junior letterman, GUARDS—John Bailey, Joe Koch, Jack Kason, Ken Cobb, Duke Curmitt, and Tony Clincium; CENTERS — Adkins, Ken White, and Jess Cotton; QUARTERBACKS — Bob Hardy and Herb Hunt; HALFBACKS — Lucky Brown, Don Jischelie, Max Mason, Joe Platt, and Steve Mellinger; and FULLBACKS — Ralph Polone, Hayden Hooper, and Jack Hanley.

Center To Lead Whites
The White forces, headed by the other Co-Captain, Ray Correll, will field: ENDS—Howard Schlenker, Larry "Dude" Hennessey; Bob Bassitt, Harry Kirk, Jerry Beatty, and Harold Morgan; TACKLES — Jack Butler, Jim Schenk, Ken Lutz, and Jim Burris; GUARDS — Correll, Neil Lowery, Jack Bundy, Joe Stuart, and Clarke Haidtler; CENTERS—Leo Strange and Bill Simpkins; QUARTERBACKS—Dick Shatto, Dick Hushins, and Miles Willard; HALFBACKS—Bradley Mills, Dick Moloney, Bob Phillips, Roper Harrington, Frank Pettitt, and Jim Mayo; and FULLBACKS — Tom Fillion, Don Bowman, and Ken Williams.

Halfbacks Dick Mitchell and Ray Callahan, guard Clarence Mitchell, and center O. E. Philpot will miss the contest due to injuries. Dick Patterson, and George Fuller; Mitchell, a junior letterman, a leading contender for one of the starting halfback berths. Newcomers, Possible Starters — Ken Lutz, Lucky Brown, Frank Pettitt, Don Bowman and Ken Williams, among the newcomers, appear to have better than even chances of crashing the starting lineup. However, Bowman and Williams both cannot start, since they are listed as White fullbacks and also face the unenviable tasks of rooting Tom Fillion out of that job.

The recent work of "Dude" Hennessey, Neil Lowry, Bob Hardy, Bradley Mills, Williams and Bowman has brought praise from the coaches, not to mention such steady performers as Proffitt, Bailey, Correll, Adkins and Mellinger. Since the Blue-White game was originated in 1946, the White teams have been victorious in six out of ten games with one game ending in a 7-7 tie. Four games were played in 1949 throughout the state.

A summary of past results: 1946—Blues 7, Whites 0
1947—Whites 7, Blues 0
1948—Whites 28, Blues 6 (at Paintsville); Blues 15, Whites 13 (at Madisonville); Whites 60, Blues 0 (at Newport); Whites 21, Blues 20 (at Stoll Field)
1950—Blues 27, Whites 13
1951—Whites 21, Blues 6
1952—Whites 28, Blues 13
Ken Kuhn, UK public relations head, announced that admission to the game would be $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for students. ID cards will not be good for this battle since the proceeds will go to the K Club building fund.

Rupp To Speak At Sports Fete

Athletes representing eight University of Kentucky spring and winter sports teams will be feted by the Fayette County Alumni Association of the University in a public sports banquet on May 28. The inaugural of the spring sports banquet is intended to honor participants in UK sports other than football and basketball. Mrs. Hampton Adams, president of the alumni chapter, said. However, since the annual basketball banquet was not held this year, the case team also will be invited to the affair slated for the Bowling Springs Country Club in Lexington.

Mrs. Adams emphasized that the banquet is open to the general public, as well as to UK alumni. Tickets may be purchased now from members of the board of directors of the alumni group and will be available starting May 25 at Graves-Cole clothing store in Lexington. Letterman in baseball, track, swimming, fencing, tennis and golf will be announced and presented with their K sweaters by their respective coaches. Also, awards will go to members of the Pershing Rifles squad and the Wildcat basketballers will be publicly cited for their performances in several public intrasquad games during the past winter while suspended from inter-collegiate competition.

Basketball Coach Adolph Rupp will be the main speaker on the program. University President Herman L. Donovan also will extend greetings and All-American cager Cliff Hagan is to deliver the invocation. The two-day affair which began yesterday and will continue through this afternoon, was arranged both for local persons who already play tennis and for young people and children who are interested in learning to play. Wade emphasized that the entire event is free and that parents in this area are invited to bring their children for instructions.

Tennis Clinic Being Held Here Today

Two of the most outstanding tennis players of the Cincinnati and Ohio Valley region will stage an exhibition match at 4 p.m. (CST) today at UK in connection with Lexington's first formal tennis clinic.

The clinic is being sponsored by the University of Kentucky and the Blue Grass Tennis Club and is being conducted on the UK all-weather courts behind Memorial Coliseum. Co-operating with the UK Department of Physical Education and the local tennis club is staging the event. Dr. H. H. Downing, veteran Kentucky tennis coach, Dr. Downing is acting as chief advisor for the venture.

The two-day affair which began yesterday and will continue through this afternoon, was arranged both for local persons who already play tennis and for young people and children who are interested in learning to play. Wade emphasized that the entire event is free and that parents in this area are invited to bring their children for instructions.

Baseballers Close Season With Loss

By JOHN RYANS

Saturday afternoon the Cats really poured on the Transy Pioneers, as they won their most decisive victory of the season by a score of 16-0. The Wildcats used five pitchers in the contest as they toyed with the Pioneers.

Hugh Coy started on the mound for the Wildcats and pitched the first four innings. He was relieved by Jim Day, who pitched the fifth and sixth innings for the Cats and received credit for the victory; his second of the year against the same number of losses. Don House, Herb Hunt, and Phil Grawmeyer each pitched an inning to finish the game.

Doug Lawhorn, Harry Jones, Miles Willard, and Billy Evans paced the Wildcats 16 hit attack. Willard hit safely in three of his four official appearances at the plate, as well as connecting for his third homer of the year. Lawhorn had four hits in five trips to the plate, Jones had three hits in five trips, and Evans had two for four including scoring four runs himself.

Cats Chase Eastern Hurler

The Wildcats apparently had the game won in the top of the eighth when they chased Bonnie Pellagrino, Marston starter, with a three run surprise. He was relieved by Don Richardson who received credit for the victory.

Hugh Coy started on the mound for the Wildcats. He was relieved by Phil Grawmeyer, who was charged with the loss. Jess Curry relieved Grawmeyer in the ninth and finished the game for the Cats. Miles Willard with three hits and Charlie Anderson with two hits paced the Wildcat hitters.

Score by Innings:

Batteries: Jeffrey and Cunniff; Coy, Day (5); House (7), Hunt (8); Grawmeyer (9) and Harper, Anderson.

This year's Blue-White game will mark the seventh annual affair but hopes have been entertained that it might have been replaced by the first annual Alumni game.

A suggestion by Chuck Tilley, former Kernel sports editor, started an investigation into the possibilities that such a contest could replace the inter-squad tussel and add more interest to the game which climaxes the spring grid drills.

This fall, the plan was offered to Mr. Bernie Moore, high mogul of the SEC, and was promptly vetoed. The grounds on which it was turned down, aren't too clear but we hope sincerely that Mr. Moore will see the absurdity of the ruling and maybe a law could be changed to allow some of the all-time grid grats to again exhibit their talents for the many followers of UK football and athletics.

There is one bright ray emanating from the Coliseum these days from the office of Harry Lancaster, UK baseball coach.

As he looks over the record for this year, the ray is dulled a bit. The squad won only seven games and lost 11. The flame burns brighter as Mr. Lancaster notes that only three members of this year's squad will not be around next season when the horse hide is again taken out of mothballs.

Frank Ramsey, All-SEC gardner for the past two seasons and the dual out combination of Harry and Larry Jones are the only seniors on this squad.

In the hitting department, Ramsey was the top man with a .324 mark for the season, followed closely by third sacker, Miles Willard who wound up only a few hundredths of a percentage point behind Ramsey with a .323 average. Willard is only a junior with one more year of eligibility.

In the pitching department, the picture for the future is the brightest. The winningest pitchers were three freshmen, Phil Grawmeyer, two wins and two losses; Jess Curry, two wins and three losses, and Hugh Coy, also a freshman who pitched the most innings on the squad, 54, and wound up with a two and four record.

All points taken into consideration, next year's team should be 100 percent improved and a far cry from a 7-12 record come next May.

Credit for the track Decathlon, the first of its kind here at UK, goes to George Hinds, track student manager. Being a track enthusiast, Hinds figured that the boys would like a little competition from the squad in all fields so that the best athlete could be picked.

The plan calls for each member of the squad taking part in not only his usual event, but also nine others which will no doubt seem strange to some of the boys.

Track enthusiasts from all over the Bluegrass area will be interested in this innovation as an attempt is made to better the standing of track in the interest of sports fans in this part of the country.

A hint to the sports fan who wishes to attend the Blue-White grid contest tonight and also keep abreast of the Rocky Marciano-Joe Walcott championship fight tonight. Why not take along a portable radio and listen to the broadcast of the fight, which will be carried over station WLAP, while watching the football game?

Our orchid this week goes to the K-Club for their attempt, in reorganization, to increase the relationships between the athletes and the student body.

In the past, students have read about big name athletes in the newspapers and seen their pictures but for some reason the big name stars remained on a plane above the average student.

This may be explained by either their ability to remain aloof as a result of their newspaper clippings or that there just hasn't been any opportunity for them to get acquainted. We prefer to believe the latter.

Students follow college sports because they have a feeling of pride in the team because they attend the same school with the participation athletes, not because they know the stars personally. This association should be increased on a personal basis but, how, we don't know.

We just hope that the "Letter-Winners" can figure out and carry out some method.

Coach H. H. Downing's charges will travel to Cincinnati for a match with Xavier, a team defeated 7-2 by the Cats earlier in the year. The Cats will close the season with a contest with Centre on May 11. This match will be played here.

UK's receivers suffered their fourth straight defeat when they dropped a contest Monday afternoon with Georgetown on the latter's home court by a 5-2 count. This was a reversal of form as the Cats had defeated Georgetown 6-2 in Lexington earlier in the season.

Don Eds defeated Monty Price 6-0, 6-1; Billy Nutter defeated George Carey, 6-3, 6-2; Bill Portman defeated Ted Phillips, 7-3, 7-2; Edmund Bodman defeated Jerry Rich, 6-4, 5-7, 7-5; Glenn Dorroh defeated Roger Bedford, 6-1, 6-2.

Netters Lose; Face Berea And Soldiers

The UK net team will take on the Port Knox soldiers, a team which defeated them 8-1 earlier in the season, in the first of three matches to be played this week. The contest will be played tomorrow on the Fort Knox courts.

On Monday afternoon, the Cats will tangle with Berea on the home court. UK edged the Berea netmen 3-4 at Berea in a previous engagement.
