This very worthy offering was made possible through the efforts of Prof. W. F. Galloway, of the English department, who translated the play from the Italian especially for the Guignol and whose work is in itself a real contribution to the field of dramatic art in this country.

But the internal beauty of the lines is not the only reward which audiences at the presentations receive, for this is combined with beauty of costumes and setting and

Cynical Men Sympathize As Theta Sigs Soliloquize

By Jessie Marie Sun. Gosh, hemlock, yes! Theta Sigs have put out The Kernel despite all predictions to the contrary, and despite the fact that, with this issue, the Alumni page becomes a thing of the past.

This week The Kernel has taken on an atmosphere rather conspicuous with co-eds. However, the more cynical eds lurked in the distance with grave doubts.

For once we clipped, copy-read, head-lined and did the other tricks of the trade without admonition from the male cohorts. We found it great sport to decide questions which have formerly been considered outside of our realm.

Our versatile editor, with this edition, has proved that capability and beauty may go hand in hand. The abundance and vivacity of her energy will be potent factor in our combined effort.

It has come to the conclusion, however, that everything is not what it seems and that the cap between practice and theory is not exactly commensurate. Perhaps Wilbur perceived all these things by intuition because throughout the week he was most solicitous of his beloved paper.

The race track, the tennis courts, the Kentucky bridge path, the show, and the river seemed more enticing and alluring than ever before—nevertheless, Theta Sigs shook their

the modern prospector

ASTOUT heart; a burro laden with pick, shovel, and the bare necessities of life; and the prospector was ready for the gold rush—Sutter's Mill, the Pike's Peak country, Cripple Creek, Klondyke. A scattered trail of half-worked claims marked his successes.
To-day mining is a business, with electricity replacing wasteful brawn in mine and mill.
The deep mine, with electric lights, hoists and locomotives; the surface mine with huge electric shovels scooping up tons of ore in a single bite; the concentrating mill with batteries of electrically driven machines; the steel mill with its constant electric heat—here are but a few of electricity's contributions to the mineral industries.
So in every industry, electricity increases production and cuts costs. It is the modern prospector, leading the way into wider fields and tapping undeveloped resources—that we may enjoy a finer civilization and a richer, fuller life.

You will find this monogram on powerful motors that drive heavy mining machinery and on tiny motors that drive sewing machines. Both in industry and in the home, it is the mark of an organization that is dedicated to electrical progress.

University Band Will Play Today

Old English Folk Song Scores Are Arranged for U. K. Orchestra

The University band, pride of every student on the University of Kentucky campus and the host of the South, will appear three times today, in the May Day exercises to be held on the University campus. A feature of the performance will be the program of music to be played by the 42-piece concert band for the May Day dances.

These dances are more like the old English folk dances, some of the composers even having been forgotten in the years that have passed since they were first used. They are very difficult dances for a concert band to accompany, and 12 special arrangements were necessary for the proper performance. Prof. E. G. Sailer arranged the score.

The band will make its first appearance May Day, in first white outfits, at which time it will accompany the seniors from the Administration building to the gymnasium for special May Day exercises. In the afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, the band will lead the annual May Day parade through the main streets of Lexington, gathered for the occasion in vagabond costumes. The musical organization will then return to the campus where the concert band will again appear in the new uniforms to accompany the May Day dances.

College and Board of Commerce Will Hold Joint Banquet

The annual joint banquet of the Lexington Board of Commerce and the College of Commerce of the University will be held on Tuesday, May 7, at 6:30 o'clock at the Phoenix hotel. C. L. Thompson, president of the Board of Commerce, will be toastmaster.

The object of this annual banquet which originated in 1928, is to bring together the business men of today and the business men of tomorrow. The students of the college will be the guests of the Board of Commerce. Business men attending the banquet are to furnish souvenirs, samples and advertising matter.

This year women will invade the male domain and be given signal recognition at the banquet by two honorary men's fraternities, Delta Sigma Pi and Beta Gamma Sigma, as the honor student being graduated from the Commerce College this June.

The splendid program this year is as follows:

James E. Gates, of the University, will extend greetings from the senior class.

President Frank L. McVey, of the University, will speak on "Scholarship in Business."

Dean West, of the College of Commerce will give "A Tribute to Scholarship."

Mayor Harrison, of Louisville, will also speak.

Paul Clay, of New York City, formerly associated with Moody's Investment Service, will have as his subject, "The Business Situation."

Two New Subjects Will Be Taught at Summer Session

The University, for the first time, will offer during the summer session of June 17-July 20 and July 22-August 24, several courses related to "Library Science" and "Higher Education." The courses, which will be taught by noteworthy men in the educational field, are being introduced to enable teachers to meet the new standards prescribed by the "Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States."

The program in "Library Science" was decided upon after conferences with officials of several national library associations and will consist of three daily two-credit courses during the first summer term. Extensive facilities for laboratory work will be offered in the city library, and the libraries at Transylvania and the University.

The rapid growth of "Higher Education" in the past few years has brought about many problems in administration and finance which are giving concern to many of the educational leaders. To throw some light on the most pressing of these problems the University will offer "The Function of the Registrar's Office," "The Administration of Higher Education," and "Problems of College Teaching."

WE THANK YOU

It has been the annual custom of Theta Sigma Phi to edit The Kernel some time during the school year. In fact, this has been a custom for so long that it has almost become a tradition. But, although this is a tradition with Theta Sigma Phi, it does not imply that the high and mighty lords of journalism are under obligation to allow their more humble sisters to exercise their talent, or perhaps lack of it, on the sacred and mighty paper, The Kernel.

We hope that we have not done any worse than our brother journalists predicted we would. We have struggled with the mysteries of rubber type and type lice, not to mention midnight ghosts in the press room. We learned that "putting the paper to bed" was, in reality, sending it to press. Of course we had numerous other heartbreaking disillusionments too embarrassing to write about.

After one week of actual work on the paper car hats (when we wear them) are off to our brother journalists for accomplishing this Herculean task each week.

To the staff of The Kernel we extend our thanks. Likewise we feel forgiveness for our errors and pranks, if possible, for our accomplishment.

DIE WELTANSCHAUNG

An acute observer has noted that conversationally people may be classified under two types—those who talk about personalities and those who discourse upon ideas. The latter should be the distinguishing mark of the college student. Is it?

There has been much talk recently upon the all engrossing topic, "Does the College Educate?" Just what do we mean by education? One definition—so typically American—is that an education is a commodity which will not the possessor a certain amount of coin. As one student so laconically put it, "There's nothing like the little old sheep skin when it comes to getting a job!"

A commendable ambition—getting a job. We would not minimize its importance. But is there not something more—a vague, disquieting hint of a problem which has something to do with Life and what one does with it? The Germans expressed it beautifully by Die Weltanschauung which, translated, means The View of Life.

Knowledge is but a part of Die Weltanschauung. Life is too big, too enveloping, varied, mysterious, interesting, uninteresting, sordid, beautiful, mad and sane, quiet and tumultuous to say that any one thing is the be-all and end-all of existence. The student will not have attained Die Weltanschauung by the time he has graduated but surely he should be seriously concerned about getting it. From his reading, meditation and experience, from the confusion and perplexity of it all, somehow there must be a quiet lagoon, if he can only find it, some place where he can erect around him a structure of Beauty.

But let him remember that Die Weltanschauung is different for each of us. In the final analysis none of us can help another for although human nature is the same, ideas are constantly shifting. As Spencer put it, "Truth generally lies in coordination of antagonistic opinions." To attain some degree of wisdom without growing cynical and bitter? To understand human frailties and weaknesses without despising? To listen sympathetically? That is building Die Weltanschauung.

WHY GO TO COLLEGE?

The value of our universities is not realized, and its students are not generally credited with a real and true purpose for their academic career. Justice has been done to our colleges and to our students by the leaders of tomorrow and they should be trained for the task which confronts them.

There are some who say that young men and women go to college merely because it is the fashion and everyone else is doing it. They are ascribed as dumb cattle on a four-year course of academic jazz. Occasionally we hear complaints on the part of the dear taxpayer to the effect that students go to college for a passport to social preference.

Those who say that these things are the motives of college students fail to recognize the philosophy of service, and the seriousness in youth which must be observed. What better way than through the universities is there for acquiring knowledge? Ignorance is the dynamite of society, the mother of intolerance and bigotry.

The leaders of our democracy sponsor higher education, and still those remain who are too narrow to understand its value. The students of today will be the leaders of tomorrow and they should be trained for the tasks which confront them.

The universities free the imagination of youth and keep alive their spirit of adventure. Youth comes to learn the most difficult of arts—the art of thinking. In doing this they develop discriminating minds, and fearlessness against bad politics. This is the type of citizens that any city wants in preference to the cringing "yes, yes man."

It is at the universities that the student can catch the spirit of a good society and strive for its betterment. Each generation should rise above its elders in civilization and culture. America can look to education, if she looks straight and clear, for a universal solvent, dissolving bigotry and hypocrisy.

A WOMAN'S BUILDING

Co-education is recognized in the leading universities of the United States. Why then, are college women accorded so few privileges, especially privileges which college men regard as necessities?

Take, for instance, the question of buildings. What co-educational college or university has a woman's building; that is, one devoted entirely to the use of women students? True, there may be a gymnasium, or the Y. W. C. A., not to mention the dormitories and sorority houses. But why can there not be a building devoted exclusively to women; not a club room, and not a gymnasium, but a combination of both.

Dr. Frank L. McVey, in his recent address at the annual banquet of the Women's Student Government Council, stressed the point that the women of the University of Kentucky need a building of this type.

Now, when an organization wishes to have a meeting, they must either assemble in some classroom or sorority house. Why not have a building which the University women can use for their meetings? Let it be for the use of sorority and non sorority members alike. It could be equipped with a gymnasium, club rooms and a kitchen.

This building is not a luxury, it is a necessity, and should be included in the building program of the University of Kentucky.

COLLEGE COMMENT

The only class of people who call for banana splits and nut sundae are the big business men coming from a golf game or college students who have just received a check, according to Louisiana State University students. Yep, we admit that cokes and sodas are more popular—and cheaper.

If all the people riding in rumble seats at this time would get out and stand side by side, they would—ho! hum! stretch—West Virginia Atheneum.

Mercer University players also gave "Square Crooks" recently. Another good school, trying to reform!

INSANITY

What's that shape a-moving?
What's that sound I hear?
My very senses I am losing—
'Tis the strangeness that I fear.

In the shadows there they're crouching;
And their faces at me leer.
Cold shivers through me rousing
Fill me, thrill me with that fear.

Oh, the evil they are thinking
As now they draw more near.
They're sneering and are winking
They're happy at my fear!

My fevered brain they're crushing;
And my strength begins to wane;
Fast upon me now they're rushing—
O my God! I am insane.

SPRING LAMENT

I had always loved Spring before today,
But since you have made a grave of love,
It can bring me nothing.
Ah—the merciless beauty of these nights!
Heavy, dark nights with the new moon
Pinning the skies together;
Cool, gay nights when the heavens
Are silver with the far flung largeness of the full moon.
Each glittering star burns white hot into my brain.
These nights I might have loved,
Become an agonized torture.

Music, Stage and Screen

(By Jessie Marie Simon)

As it would not be surprising for me to write "Roamin' the Rios" of the column this week will be given merely a poor attempt to review the current music, stage and screen.

Tonight and Saturday night will be the last presentations of "The Flight of the Duchess," which is the last production of the Gaiety for this year. It is a colorful and beautiful dramatization of Robert Browning's poem, and it marks the close of a most successful season for the Gaiety. Mr. Frank Fowler deserves much credit for the work which he has done for the University during the past season.

Looking Over the Magazines

(By Lee Keyes)

The galaxy of worthwhile and really interesting articles in the May issue of current magazines is so large as to equal to overcoming the most severe attack of spring lethargy on the part of the reader. Take the May issue of Scribner's.

Mr. Swift makes some startling revelations in this article. In fact, one is almost led to believe that the author would "put up his money" on the ape. For instance, Mr. Swift cites this observation, "When man can survey a problem and interpret it in the light of his past experiences his judgment is superior to that of the ape. But when man is given a problem he cannot survey from start to finish, he blunders through it much as do the lower animals." While the reader may not agree with Mr. Swift, this article is recommended to those who prefer the unusual.

Noteworthy among the fiction of Scribner's is the opening chapter of Ernest Hemingway's latest novel, "A Farewell to Arms." The notation at the beginning of this novel states that the action takes place on the Italian Front during a period of the greatest disaster; a love story woven with such pictures of war as would discourage either victors or conquered from that terrible solution of international troubles.

A continuation of the interesting series on Mad Anthony Wayne, by Thomas Boyd, is also included in the May number of Scribner's.

Perhaps the most engrossing article in the May issue of the American Mercury, to journalists at least, is Gerald W. Johnson's contribution, "Why Men Work for Newspapers." Mr. Johnson makes the rather discouraging remark that men who have grown old in the newspaper business become pessimistic because, like a child, the shiner is worked out of their eye. He also adds that considering newspaper work in the light of other professions there is really small chance for fame in this field of work. He likewise states that the poor members of other professions are expelled, but the poor journalist "lingers on." As to the economic side, the writer points out that the journalistic profession is just below school teachers, and just above musicians.

The May issue of the Forum takes the front rank with its debate, "Should Radicalism Be Suppressed?" Arthur Garfield Hays discusses "Democracy's Safety Valve," and asks the question, "Do Americans have freedom of speech?" The second writer is Archibald E. Stevenson and his main argument is that man's liberty ends at the point where the exercise of it begins to endanger the liberty of others. Mr. Hays in his rebuttal asserts that he fails to see how man under a free government can violate the law by merely expressing his opinion.

Whether one is conservative or liberal he should read the Forum's frank debate on this subject.

Law College Hears Thomas McGregor

Annual Banquet of Law Students Held in Lafayette Hotel

The College of Law of the University gave their annual banquet last Friday in the ballroom of the Lafayette Hotel, at which time Thomas B. McGregor, former attorney general of Kentucky and chairman of the state board, was the principal speaker.

In his address he made a plea for reverence of law and a return to the fundamental "virtues of manly integrity and common honesty. He also scored such "destructive critics" as Sinclair Lewis, Theodore Sherman and Anderson and L. Menkin, and declared that a revival of respect for law was the need in America.

Other speakers included Robert G. Gordon, of Louisville, member of the board of trustees of the University, who presided as toastmaster; David A. McCandless, chief justice of the court of appeals; John Y. Brown, former state and local attorney; and Chester D. Silvers, speaker in the College of Law. Dean Evans opened the banquet with a welcome address. The entire student body of the College of Law, as well as the wives and mothers of the students and faculty members, were present.

They gave the express rider a good start

Henry Wells, developing the mail and express business of Wells Fargo, knew the necessity of careful preparation and alert management. Communication was more than the picturesque racing of pony express riders; behind the scenes there was always the systematic planning of routes, the watchful inspection of outposts and men.

Communication today is immeasurably faster than it was then, thanks to electricity. And to a vastly greater degree has the work of preparation behind the scenes become important. In the Bell System, management must constantly look ahead to provide the sinews of service against growing public demand—material and men must be mobilized to extend and keep open the lines of communication.

GUIGNOL PLAY PROVES ONE OF RARE BEAUTY

with strength of character portrayal to make what may well be held to be the most successful production from an artistic standpoint of the five plays which the Guignol has offered this year.

The flowing gowns, with their long sleeves lined with rich satins, and the picturesque head-dress worn by the ladies, the curling-toed shoes, unflattering tight, and elaborate jackets worn by the men, and even the dress of the scullery maid and the court jester were carried out to perfection. Mrs. W. G. Galloway was in charge of the costumes and was most successful in her accurate designing and executing copies of authentic representations of the dress of the fourteenth and sixteenth centuries.

Of the work of the players no adverse criticism can be made. Margaret Lewis, in the role of the Duchess Ise, made an enviable name for herself by her portrayal of the lovable child-wife, while the cruel, ancestor-norshipping Duke inspired hate in the hearts of all as he was vigorously interpreted by the English department.

Marion Galloway added another feather to her cap in her characterization of the grasping, pitiless mother, Dowager Duchess Ursula, whose unrelenting nature she portrays in every detail. Alice Spalding and Melvin Nollau, the court attendants who have their own little love affair on the side, fill their parts with much vivaciousness and dramatic ability.

John Noonan, in the role of Maitre Robert, the Duke's eccentric tailor, adds a spicy bit of delicious humor by his clever tongue and agreeable manner which the play could not well do without. He is assisted by Verna Law, as Rudolph, the jester, who also causes many laughs. Other members of the cast who performed with admirable ability and with credit to the direction of Mr. Fowler were Jeanette Kimberlin, Carolyn Speyer, Floy Workman, In. Carolyn Speyer, Floy Chancellor, Martin Glenn and Louis Dudley.

The rest of the cast included Sam-Workman, Catherine Davis, Elizabeth Bond, Claude Walker, Joseph Kee, George Roberts, Jr., and Vernon Van Winkle, who appeared in the mob scene.

The beauty and effectiveness of the production as a whole is deserving of high tribute.

At the close of the show on Monday night the following persons were awarded Guignol prizes for distinctive service to the theater this year: Dr. George K. Brady, Allan Charbonneau, Mary Aden, G. L. Crutcher, Luisa Dudley, Irmen Fort, Frank Fowler, Marian Galloway, Jeannette Kimberlin, Verna Law, Julian Laffer, Margaret Lewis, Melvin Nollau, Thomas Lyons, Rossanna Ruttenauter, Garnet Shouse, Alice Spalding, Cynthia Smith, Polly Warren, Katherine Davis and Lean Wigglesworth. Those to receive honorable mention were: Richard Carman, Elizabeth Gillis, Helen Moore, Mildred Phillips, Thomas L. Riley and Mrs. B. H. Pumpfrey. Frank Davidson, director of Strollers, was honored by the theater for his distinctive contribution to dramatic work on the campus this year.

For the coming year the theater plans to carry on its present policy of presenting five plays of distinctive value on regularly scheduled dates. These plays will be of a more elaborate nature, as the theater is now established and has the friendship and support of the city because of the excellent work which it has done this year.

U. K. WILL CELEBRATE CROWNING OF QUEEN

at 1:30 o'clock with the colorful parade of floats entered by various sororities, fraternities and organizations on the campus. The parade will travel downtown sections of the city and will end in the gym between the Law building and Dicker hall. Here, before a large assembly of students and citizens, Miss Martha Reed, surrounded by her attendants, will be crowned Queen of the May. Following this ceremony a silver loving cup will be awarded to the most beautiful float, and a cup to the most mirth-provoking float.

After the awards a group of English folk dances and the customary May-pole dance will be given. Miss Helen Skinner is in charge of these dances, which will be given by members of the girls' gymnasium classes.

The day will close with the annual May Day dance, given by the SuKy circle. This will begin at 8 o'clock in the Men's gymnasium and will last until midnight. The dance one of the most delightful social affairs of the year, is known as the "Gingham Dance," the guests wearing gingham costumes. Willie Willis and his band from Richmond, Va., will furnish the music for the occasion. SuKy will hold its semi-annual pledging during the dance and will add three girls and four boys to its membership.

Movie cameramen will take pictures of all the chief events of the day.

PRESIDENT, MRS. McVEY ENJOY TRIP ON RIVER

President and Mrs. Frank I. McVey were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Gratz on a trip on the Ohio river last week end. The trip was made on the "Polly," the houseboat belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Gratz. The "Polly" is a large boat having accommodations for 19 guests. It is 130 feet long and 22 feet wide, and is driven by two twin motors of 65 horse-power each. It is a remarkable craft in that it is 18 years old and has traveled 160,000 miles. The party made its way along the river from Louisville to Frankfort through the Kentucky waterway and the trip was one of the most enjoyable that President and Mrs. McVey have taken this year.

CAT TRACKMEN CONQUER FROSH

Yearling Relay Team Takes Mile Event Easily; High Jump Won by Roberts at Good Height.

Sending his charges to the barrier with the odds about even, the variety entries of Trainer Bernie Shively from the Kentucky stables scored a decisive victory over the yearlings from the same quarter in trial heats run over the local track last Saturday. The youngsters, trained by M. E. Potter, although beaten by a margin of 64-65, uncovered enough speed and form to give promise of some real stake horses and Derby contenders after one more year of tutelage.

The veteran campaigners gained their chief superiority by running one-two at distances above the quarter mile. The yearling speed demons broke on top in the dashes and flashed across the finish line in front.

The field events were more nearly a toss-up with honors divided. McLane and Thompson, competing in the blue and white varsity silks, and Butler and Lindsay, from the freshman camp, scored double victories in the meet.

Thomasson Stars In the absence of a regularly-scheduled meet for either of the teams, the coaches got together and hatched out a scheme whereby both outfits could get some fast practice. No time was taken in the shorter distances but the track was fast and the mentors were pleased with the performances of their sprinters. Probably the best comparative time of the day was made by Wayman Thomasson in the quarter-mile dash which he navigated in 25.5 seconds.

The best performance which came from the freshman ranks during the afternoon's entertainment, came in the high jump. "Scaly" Roberts scaled the crossbar at a height of 5 feet 11 1/2 inches, while his opposition dropped out at the five and a half-foot mark. The frosh mile relay team surprised the railbirds by decisively romping over the varsity quartet. The yearlings opened up a lead which the varsity anchor man did not try to overcome and they were easy victors in the fast time of 3 minutes and 40 seconds.

Kittens Trip Irvine In Ten Innings 8-7

Playing Kindergarten ball against a high school outfit, the University freshmen picked out an 8-7 victory over the Irvine High school team last Friday on Stoll field. The game was forced to go one extra inning before the freshmen gained their one-run decision. Coach Johnny Mauer sent his one pitcher to the mound and he was in hot water from the start. Boucher, the freshman pitching ace, held the high school boys to five hits in eight innings but his lack of control nearly caused his downfall. During his stay on the hill he walked nine men and gave the mountaineers a nice lead. "Red" Howard, the Kitten first-sacker, relieved him in the last two innings, striking out two of the visitors and holding them hitless.

The freshmen garnered 13 hits from the deliveries of Dalton and McLemore, but because of drowsiness on the paths and dumb plays were unable to gain full benefit therefrom.

IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATIONS ORGANIZED FOR FARMERS

The College of Agriculture reports the organization of two new dairy herd improvement associations. They are composed of farmers in McCracken, Ballard, Carroll, Gallatin, Owen, Trimble and Henry counties. There were eight improvement associations in Kentucky last month containing 173 herds and 3,324 cows. One hundred and eighty-one cows produced 40 pounds or more each, and 74 cows produced 50 pounds or more each last month. The report shows that cows producing 400 pounds of fat in a year returned, above feed costs, as much as three cows producing only 200 pounds of fat, and almost as much above feed cost as seven average Kentucky cows.

McBrayer's Homer Helps 'Cats Defeat Centre Colonels, 7 to 3

Coming from behind in the fifth inning when McBrayer drove two men across the plate in front of him with a long fly to center field that was good for the circuit, the University of Kentucky baseball team scored their second victory of the season over the Colonels of Centre College on Stoll field Wednesday afternoon. The final score of the contest was Kentucky 7, Centre 3.

Ten days ago the Wildcats visited Darrille and were victorious over the same outfit by a 10-3 score garnered from the offerings of Edwards and Lewis. The margin of victory in Wednesday's game was not so great but nevertheless it was another win from Centre. Shearer was on the mound for the Colonels and only the breaks of the game kept him from the showers.

Centre scored in the first inning when Castleman poled out a triple. He scored on Harris' clean single. Harris accounted for another marker in the fourth when his long hit to center field was good for four bases. McBrayer, who started for Kentucky against the team over which he held one triumph, undertook to rescue the game in the fifth. Layman got a base on error which he held one triumph, undertook to rescue the game in the fifth. Layman got a base on error which he held one triumph, undertook to rescue the game in the fifth.

The Centre Scores First Last of their trio in the sixth. Boucher opened with a hit. He advanced on two infield outs and crossed the plate when Gilb's throw to first for the third out was wide. Going followed with a single and Rhoads replaced McBrayer on the hill for Kentucky. Harris achieved the only hit from him during the rest of the fray.

Centre placed an improved team in the field but the Wildcats should have won by a larger score. Devereaux's men failed to hit when bingles meant runs and consequently 10 men were still stranded on the cushions. Layman received three of the seven bases on balls issued by the Colonel hurler.

VANDERBILT AND KENTUCKY SPLIT

'Cats Take Slugging Contest But Drop Second Fray to Commodores; Trott and Barnes Get Circuit Blows.

The good ship Kentucky, under the experienced navigation of Pat Devereaux, voyaged into foreign waters last week and, sighted the worthy frigate Vanderbilt, engaged in two fierce encounters with its ancient foes and returned to the home port with honors even.
 Propelled by a brisk wind in almost perfect weather, the sturdy craft bearing a cargo of Kentucky hopes, hovered in sight of the enemy on Friday. The Nashville gunners set a long range on their pieces and early in the fray sent several booming charges across the Kentucky's bow. But the sturdy crew of the Kentucky ballhaws soon drew aboard and raked the Vanderbilt deck from stem to stern with a barrage of potent base hits that forced the Commodore to flee. They limped away from the scene of battle with the damage of a 16-10 defeat.

Vandy Takes Second
 The following day, the revamped Vanderbilt vessel again challenged the invaders. Mighty McBrayer had relieved Rhoads at the helm of the team for the second encounter and he directed his hearties in a most capable manner. Mac appeared to have ample control of the situation but in the second frame a well-aimed homerun directed by Hawkins, the opposing commander, swept away the Kentucky matman, poop deck, and one-run lead. Kentucky never rallied sufficiently to turn the tide of battle and was defeated by an 8-3 advantage.

The Wildcat nine, with three consecutive victories notched on their firearms, made a determined effort to annex two more in Nashville. But Vanderbilt, supporting one of the best collegiate teams in the country, refused to be whitewashed by the Blue Grass boys. Both teams played brilliant ball but the lightning-fast diamond worked a hardship on the fielding records of the Wildcats.

Kentucky outhit the Vandy crew in both games by the margin of one safe blow. Barnes punched out a homer in the initial contest and Trott, who replaced Leyman in the center garden, lifted one over the fence in the final setto.

Kittens Best Center Nine and Tracksters

Adding insult to injury, the University of Kentucky freshman track team added the baseball squad in handling a double defeat to the representatives of Centre College on Wednesday afternoon. The yearling cinder artists breezed to an easy victory, 87-30, over the Lieutenants.

The Kittens reigned supreme in the track competition, running one-two in most of these events. Armicar, Centre weight star, attempted to regain some lost prestige and captured the blue ribbon in the shot-put and discus. Hassara in the broad jump was the only other victor to score a first at the expense of the Potter men.

'Shipwreck' Kelly was high-point man of the meet, striding to victory in the century and 220-yard dashes and placing in the broad jump. Harold Butner, star timber-topper, also won a double win, taking both hurdle events in good style. The fresh mile relay team came up to expectations by transporting the baton over the distance in 3:05.5.

ST. XAVIER TEAM TO BATTLE 'CATS

The tennis season of the University will come to a climax this afternoon at 2 o'clock when the stars of Cincinnati St. Xavier will come to Lexington to combat the St. X team conquered the Wildcats. The invaders are led by Captain Billy Clines, singles intercollegiate title holder of Ohio, and his equally famous brother, Tommy. Charles Sonnenman is the only other veteran player on the Ohio team, having played last year with the St. X team.

Coach Downing's team has been very successful in its last two meets, defeating Georgetown on April 25 by a score of 4-0, and its old rivals, Centre, by a 6-0 whitewash. The results of the two meets follow:

In the Georgetown-Kentucky game Ragland (K) defeated Jones (G), 6-2, 6-3; Kee (K) defeated Garth (G), 6-4, 6-4; Hamersley (K) defeated McCracken (G), 6-4, 6-2; Brock (K) defeated Garrett (G), 6-4, 6-2. In the double matches the meet was called off after one set because of rain. Ragland and Hamersley (K) won the first set over McCracken and Garrett (G), 6-3.

In the Kentucky-Centre encounter, Ragland (K) defeated Kelley (C), 6-4, 6-0; Kee (K) defeated Rodman (C), 6-2, 4-6, 6-3; Hamersley (K) defeated Coleman (C), 7-5, 6-7; Brock (K) defeated Cobb (C), 6-4, 4-6, 7-5; Senff (K) defeated Wilson (C), 6-4, 6-6. In the doubles Ragland and Hamersley (K) defeated Kelley and Rodman (C), 6-4, 6-2; Kee and pier (K) defeated Cobb and Coleman (C), 6-2, 7-5.

Women's Tennis Tourney Delayed

But few of the matches scheduled in the Women's Athletic Association tennis tourney have as yet been played off, for although it drew a large group of contestants, many of the matches had to be postponed because of the weather and conflicts with the varsity and freshman schedule.

In the first round of the doubles, the Zeta Tau Alpha team of Spalding and Bird forfeited to the Kappa Kappa Gamma team of Best and Wilson, while the Kappa Delta team of Patton and Spradlin lost to the Alpha Delta Theta team of Robinson and Smith. In the lower bracket Callison and Richardson, playing for the Alpha Gamma, conquered Wendt and Poole of Alpha Xi Delta. The result of the Chi Omega-Delta Zeta game has not been turned in. The finals of the matches must be played by May 7. Katherine Best, the probable winner of the singles tournament, had not played her first match last Wednesday, nor had the other favorites for the trophies.

In the first round of the singles Mary Richardson won over Laura Johnson and will meet Katherine Phelps, winner over Maud Van Buskirk, in the second round.

Beautiful but dumb

We are reliably informed that the above familiar phrase is applied mainly to certain poor dears in whom all the pituitary runs to pulchritude. A gargoyle is "in' restin'", at least. Better pick 'em freckled and friendly than lovely but lacking.

Chesterfields are mild, certainly—but "aren't they all"? The point is that Chesterfields are also "in' restin'". They satisfy—and right there is why they gather in the gang.

And getting our minds back on business... innocuous, unmitigated mildness rather palls in a cigarette, too.

Taste—the taste and richness of quality tobacco—that's what matters. And the blend can't be copied; you know you are smoking a Chesterfield, nothing else, at every puff.

Prof. Alfred Peter, of College of Agriculture Elected Treasurer

Seven professors of science of the University were on the program of the sixteenth annual meeting of the Kentucky Academy of Science held at Berea College last Saturday. Dr. G. Davis Buckner, of the agricultural experiment station, is the retiring president of the organization.

Besides the president's address by Dr. Buckner, other University speakers were: Dr. Paul L. Boynton, acting head of the department of psychology; Prof. Glanville Terrell, head of the department of physiology; Professors Richard C. Miller, E. N. Ferguson, E. S. The size of the first issue will be nine by twelve inches and will contain 24 pages. The magazine, which will be published monthly, with the exception of July and August, will be devoted entirely to news and activities of interest to alumni. A portion of each number will be given to news of the University and various athletic contests, and contributions will appear from both students and alumni.

The May issue will be dedicated to William B. Munson, of the class of '89, who now lives at Dennison, Texas. He was the first graduate of the University and is the only living member of his class.

The change from an alumni page in The Kernel to a separate publication is a forward step, according to Mr. Kirk, who explained that it is hoped that "The Kentucky Alumnus" will rank along with the best alumni magazines in the country.

Missing Links

A chain of evidence stretches far back into the past to attest the remarkable endurance and economy of Reading Genuine Puddled Wrought Iron Pipe. The links of this chain are the years—the long generations—in which Reading Pipe has served the Nation so faithfully.

With untried substitutes for Genuine Puddled Wrought Iron, these links are missing. That is why no substitute can give you proved protection from pipe troubles. Time alone tells the truth about pipe.

To assure you of the qualities that have made Genuine Puddled Wrought Iron so famous, Reading still uses the time-tested puddling process—the only fully proved way of making genuine wrought iron. You will eliminate guesswork by insisting on Genuine Puddled Wrought Iron—and by making sure that every piece of wrought iron pipe you buy bears the Reading name, date of manufacture, and spiral knurl mark.
