Cats To Meet Vandy Monday In Season's Last Home Game

Three Regulars Will Be Playing Last Game Here

By JOHN CARRICO

Capt. Lee Huber, flashy Keith Farnsley and Carl Hoop Combs will make their final cage appearance on the home floor when Kentucky's up-and-coming Wildcats tangle with Vanderbilt's Commodores Monday night in Alumni gymnasium.

Commodore "Pinky" Lipscomb and his mates, considered darkhorses for the Southeastern conference tournament next week-end in Louisville, will head for the Cat crippers under full sail eager to average a one-point decision Kentucky gained earlier at Nashville by 51-50.

Staker Will Guard

To Carl Staker will fall the job Monday night of guarding the irascible Vanderbilt forward who has kept the rejuvenated Commodore team in the thick of the conference battle with his high scoring.

The Tennessee bell cow is now in second place in the Southeastern conference scoring, due chiefly to his sensational play against Auburn and Georgia Tech last week when he averaged 25 points a game.

Rupp Was Not There

In their last meeting with Vanderbilt, the Wildcats were slow-down by influenza and their coach, Adolph Rupp, was unable to make the trip because of sickness. Lipscomb, as usual, led the Vanderbits, scoring with 21 points.

The Cats returned to practice Thursday after a two day layoff following their illness win over an impotent Georgia Tech team. Rupp gave the boys a short talk and then sent them off to practice fold shots.

For SEC Tourney

Students will definitely receive a fifty cent reduction on Southeastern conference tournament tickets. Kermit Bernie Shively, Kentucky athletes chief and tourney chairman announced yesterday.

Tickets start at 1.25 and scale down to 81 and 75 cents. A fifty cent reduction will prevail on all of these tickets.

Race Is Wide Open

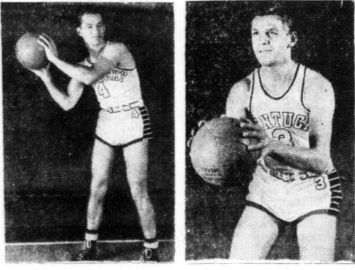

The Jefferson county armory is the site of this year's race. Believed to be the best in recent years, the race is expected to be a wide open affair, with Tennessee, Alabama, Vanderbilt, and Mississippi State all given a chance to upset Kentucky the defending champion.

PROM QUEENS ARE BANNED BY COMMITTEE

Junior, Senior Ball Funds Apportioned; Fees Considered

Expense money for the senior ball has been cut to $200 and there will be no election of queens for either that dance or the junior prom. It was revealed in an informal report of the social committee to the student legislature Tuesday night.

Small Charge Considered

There is a possibility, the report continues, that students may be asked to pay 10 or 15 cents for their bids to the dances, thus increasing the funds to permit negotiation for a more expensive orchestra.

Lovett Retains Seat

The case of Jack Lovett's qualification to be a member of the legislature was settled after much discussion by passage of an amended by-law which makes it compulsory for any member to resign his position if he shall change from the college from which he was elected to another.

Result of the decision is that Lovett will retain his seat in the legislature for the year.

In line with his agricultural activities, Bingham recently presented $10,000 to the University to be used in establishing a 4-H club center.

In titling the young newspaperman-publisher, son of the late Judge Robert W. Bingham, "Man of the Year," the Progressive Farmer cited him as "a man who rendered distinguished service to agricultural progress during 1950."

A magna cum laude graduate of Harvard, Bingham is trustee of Berea college, president of the Kentucky Children's Home society, and the Louisville Mental Hygiene clinic. He is director of the Southern Newspaper Publishers association, a member of numerous other organizations and clubs.

The Youth Congress And Its Annual Harangue-Fest

A fortnight ago approximately 5000 members of the widely publicized American Youth Congress met at the national capital to stage their annual harangue-fest, this time in the form of a "Town Meeting." The convention, which lately has been interesting for one reason or another, somehow seemed not up to its usual standard this round.

The AYC, which purports to "speak for more than four million," but which is habitually dominated by the non-representative American Student Union, will be recalled as the organization which last year booted the President of the United States and was so kind to Mrs. Roosevelt that she had to ask them on several occasions please to let her finish what she was saying.

This year the reporting of the meeting was not so complete as usual, and so it has been pretty difficult to learn what went on.

Yesterday, however, some light was thrown on the matter when there arrived a copy of the Student Advocate, the bi-weekly publication of ASU. The issue, which was devoted almost entirely to the recent "Town Meeting," apparently had been sent to every college paper in the country.

Even though all the writings are inaudibly favorable, it is not difficult to read between the lines what actually happened in Washington. It was the same old Youth Congress, characterized by the same old exaggerations and displaying the same paradoxical braggadocio and persecution complex.

And the method of expression is the same old style that distinguishes all ASU pamphlets and handbills—and causes 90 percent of the nation's students (many of whom, incidentally, really do give a damn) to snicker and flip the tripe into the nearest wastebasket.

In the publication, for example, the Youth Congress is modestly termed "America's foremost youth organization," and its members the "REAL youth representatives."

The customary amount of "demanding" was done—with everything asked for from defeat of the Luce-Lend bill to the release of an Indian youth leader now imprisoned in Bombay. Some random headlines and quotations read:

"Don't let us leave our lives" shook the very foundations of Washington as the young Americans passed through the streets to dramatize their demands."

"AYC Demands Pate's Release."

"Like the 5,7000 youth at the Town Meeting all America is beginning to demand the stoppage of the drive to war."

And living up to another AYC tradition, the convention managed to ridicule any and all efforts at dissent; and the Advocate wrote them up in a manner that would make any devotee

A Yank Replies To Rebel Bond's Recent Letter

To the Editor of the Kernel: After reading Mr. F. E. Bond's letter published in the Kernel of Friday, February 14, I could not help feeling that his obvious hypocrisy and history were almost ludicrous.

He says that this is a white man's country. Has he by chance ever wandered down through Irish town, or out across the state past little shacks where live or ten people are huddled together in depths of degradation and poverty? A white man's country, perhaps, but certainly nothing to merit a boastful tone.

When he was forced against his choice to live among the "dignified Yankees" with their definitely higher standard of living, better homes, better educational system, etc., was he ever branded as a of objective reporting shudder. For instance: "One attempt to disrupt the meeting was made by Joseph P. Lash, $1,000 a year 'student' leader from the International Student Service (a liberal rival of the ASU). He attempted to get the floor in violation of the procedure, but was literally booed and hissed into his seat. When he did get his chance to speak, he told the delegates that 'nothing but all-pink to Britain was of any importance.'"

Then, of course, there was the customary amount of "intimidation" indicated: "When Jack McMichael, head of the AYC, stood up in the Senate Caucus room after being denied the opportunity to reply on behalf of America's youth, he was yanked out of the room by six burly policemen and placed under arrest."

(Such items as these, and one wonders if it can possibly be coincidence that makes the Advocate's newswriting read almost exactly like that of the Daily Worker.)

And yet the ASUers and AYCs are constantly heard to wonder just why it is they're laughed at by the majority of American college students whenever they crop up with some different idea or some new proposition.

If You Would Help The Men Of The R. A. F. . . .

In speaking of the Royal Air Force one day last fall, Britain's Premier Winston Churchill said, "Never before in the history of the world have so many owed so much to so few."

He was referring to Empire pilots who are our own age—and younger. Not veterans in their late twenties and thirties, but kids of 21, 19, in some cases even 17. These kids are brilliant fighters, and slowly but surely—and almost singlehandedly—they're licking Fascism in Europe.

A large proportion of the R.A.F.'s pilots are today coming from Canada, which has been designated as the official British aviation training base. And many of them are fraternity brothers of university students in the United States.

Consequently the International Fraternity Council has asked each local council in America to sponsor a dance on behalf of the Canadian Red Cross, which is closely correlated with the R.A.F. and other military units composed of Canadian university students.

Thought at 8 o'clock the UK Interfraternity and Pan Hellenic councils are presenting this dance on behalf of Canada's Red Cross fund. The date and time are not the most desirable, but they are the best that could be done under the circumstances.

We think the cause is a good one, and we urge every fraternity member, and all other interested students to attend.

Anything that will help the British lick European Fascism is bound to be worth supporting.—J. W.

"damn Rebel?" I defy him to say that he was.

He says that he wishes he had been born earlier so that he too could have fought in the Civil War. Perhaps he forgets that the United States is "one country indivisible with liberty and justice for all." His attitude is as contrary to the American spirit as it would be if he were a Nazi or a Communist or a member of any other subversive element.

He says with scorn that perhaps we might even have "niggers" at the University. Does he set himself up as superior to men like Dr. Caver, Paul Robeson and others, just because he happens to have different pigmentation of his skin? I say that if the University had people like that on their alumni list they could be justly proud.

We will keep it the same old South," he says. And apparently he would like to keep the University the same also. Perhaps he doesn't realize that the honor of the dear old South has slipped to the extent of giving rise to a problem of cheating in classes at the University which has grown

It's 'Homecoming' For The Catfish

Says He Doesn't Like Our 'Dam Yankee' Editorial Policy

To the Editor of The Kernel:

Your recent unprovoked attacks upon Southern traditions are not only unbecoming to a Southerner (which I assume you claim to be) when you travel in the North; but the criticisms you have received should have convinced you by now that the issue you have brought up is far from a closed one, although it has been dormant.

One's opinions upon this subject are bred into him from birth, just as his politics and religion are, and are not to be changed by your literary criticism.

Before my arrival at this university, I thought perhaps naively that all Southerners, Kentuckians too, were raised to believe the same things which I was raised to believe. I believed that Northerners did not understand nor attempt to understand this view. Any Southerners who did not hold Southern views, I mentally branded as ill-bred. To find gentlemen in high places in our campus life with liberal views was very disappointing.

In the February 14th issue of the Kernel you referred to, I quote: Gen. John Hunt Morgan and our grandfathers." Far be it from me to condemn anyone as unworthy of their forebears, but you must either accept your antecedents and their "lost cause" or unconditionally condemn them—a dashingly act no true Southerner would commit any more readily than the son of one who died in Flanders would turn fifth columnist.

By continuing your assaults upon what is held sacred by many, you are giving us the impression that the Kernel is no longer our paper, but the publication of some Northern school with a student body made up of members of the ASU. Since The Kernel appears to be designed not upon that student support, but upon the advertising of the merchants of this city—many of whom are of Yankee or other foreign descent—prevalent that the faculty have been advised to condescend about it. I wonder just how successful the honor system, which functions perfectly at many northern schools, despite the negroes in attendance, would prove down here.

In conclusion I can only say that if Mr. Bond thinks that his attitude is in keeping with the spirit of democracy in this country, then I guess that a few million of us had better start learning our definition of democracy all over again, perhaps from Mr. Adolf Hitler.

Sincerely,
Sidney C. Coale

which the South never did do. At present the secret is not just, but we are unable to make use of it due to the destruction and damnation wrought by the hordes of the ignorant 80 years ago. There are still many who believe that the people of Mississippi should be permitted to work out their own problems without the interference of the rabble of New York's shams, regardless of the fact that there might be a majority of the latter. It is upon this premise that the representation in the Senate of the United States is supposedly based.

And so, Mr. Editor, in closing let me say that if you do have opinions unbecoming a Kentuckian please do not print them and put them into the mouths of an entire campus but keep them to yourself. Outsiders see you as the people of the entire South for that matter—should be allowed to work out their own problems in their own way. But it also follows that the people of Mississippi and Kentucky and the entire South must recognize what these problems are, must admit they exist, and must actually begin to do something about them, not just chatter.

(Signed)
John Marshall Prewitt
of Mt. Sterling, Ky.

We agree with Mr. Prewitt that the people of Mississippi should be permitted to work out their own problems. It follows necessarily, then, that the people of Kentucky—and the people of the entire South for that matter—should be allowed to work out their own problems in their own way.

WE, regardless of the attacks from those whom we naturally expect to be with us, will continue to be disgusted at those who obtained Jimmy Lane's photograph last Saturday, as long as it is the white man, not the Negro, who are the only ones to arise when ladies get on a crowded bus. In general, the South discovered the secret of good living, something

Running Wild

By JOHN CARRICO

We hate to keep harping on the Tennessee game, but it was such a swell battle that we can't help it.

Time: 1930.
"What's that, sonny? Did your grandpappy ever play basketball? You're gold-durned tootin' he did. And perty good he was, too, if I don't mind sayin' so. If yer really wants to know, I sorta invented the game. I was a-sittin' around one day a' watchin' the women pass—uh, I mean engaged in, er-uh, metaphysical-temptation, uh, that is, concert-plays, when I—what's that? did I see Kentucky beat Tennessee back in '41?"

Why, suddenly I did I guess I was about the best man they had. Why the Vols were so skeered of me, that Coach had get Pinkerton men to find 'em so's we cud play the second half. Why I even—what's that? sonny? Oh tell you about it? Sure thing."

There was me and Marvin Staker, or was it Carl Akers? Can't recall so good any more. But your granddaddy'll remember. Yessiree, she was right proud of me that night. You see, I—what's that? did I start? Well, no; you see I had a kind of hangover—No, I mean hangnail. Yep, that's it, a hangnail. Coach was afraid I'd get it caught in something and rip my arm off. Wasn't takin' any chances with his star.

Whatcha say? Will I have a shot? Well that's right nice of you; it is sorta chilly.

Oh, you said was Akers a good shot? Well, that's what I thought you said—just havin' a little fun, you know.

Sure, he was a good shot, hittin' 'em from everywhere that night, he was. And he could do it right consistently too—wasn't only that night. But as I was sayin', I had just come down—whatcha say, then? Would I like a gallon? Well, sonny I think I could handle it, but—uh? Oh, Ernie Allen? Yep, he was perty fast—and faked! Well, sonny, I'm tellin' you the truth, I seen him that night fake a Tennessee man right out of the gym and down Limestone! He'd still be goin' the next mornin', but he hit a red light at Maxwell. Yep, that Allen was a whole lot like me! I was quite a faker myself in those days.

From the Orange and White, Vol student newspaper, comes this report of the game here: "The Kentucky fans surprised the Vols by according them the nicest kind of treatment, refraining from booing or other similar expressions of disapproval."

Don't tell us Tennessee has a perfection complex and that "nice treatment" surprises them. Also from the Orange and White: "The man in the brown suit just doesn't give a hoot. About name or fame. As long as he wins the game. Less truth than poetry, methinks."

Grave Diggers, K Club Win Independent Tourney Games

By HAROLD WINN
Independent league play dominated the intramural basketball season this week as a pair of sensational teams turned in sparkling victories and kept their undefeated records intact for that all-important date, February 22, when the Grave Diggers and the K club clash in what is expected to be the "battle" of the season.

The fast-moving Grave Diggers erased another team from their path as they snuffed the hapless Quadrangle Quintet team under by 42-12, with Stan Cluggish, former member of Coach Rupp's Lost Battalion, contributing 16 points to the Grave Diggers' cause.

The K-club, co-favorite with the Grave Diggers, kept pace with their Independent brothers by stopping the Dairy Club, 37-20. Other victories in the Independent league were the Dare Devils' 34-12 win over the Wolf Patrol for their third straight victory; Jake's Independent' 22-19 beating of the Hound Dogs and the Outlaws escaping with a 21-19 win over the Fleming County Firecrackers.

AGB'S Win
Alpha Gamma Rho added another victory to its string in the second division of the A league, beating the KA's, 20-11 with Trigg contributing 8 points to the AGB's credit.

Homer Flunked Out!

NO wonder... he never had time to do his lessons. His domestic duties kept him too busy! Homer's chief trouble was buttons... unfasten little perforated disks that kept coming off his shirts (which weren't Arrows). While other guys were out dating on weekends, you could always find Homer nimbly thinking a needle.

Why didn't someone tell him about Arrow shirts with anchored buttons? They're as permanent as the fine style and fit of all Arrow shirts. Arrow whites are all-time favorites. As all Arrows they have the Mitoga tailored fit and the one and only Arrow collar in a variety of styles to suit your type. Stock up on Arrows today. $2 up.

than the average of the 4 other largest-selling brands tested—less than any of them—according to independent scientific tests of the smoke itself

YOU don't need a science degree to tell you that the pleasure you get from a cigarette is in the smoke itself! That's plain common sense! But science can tell you—has pointed it out many times—that Camels are definitely slower-burning. That means a smoke free from the harsh, irritating qualities of excess heat—a smoke that is extra mild, extra cool, and extra flavorful.

Now science confirms another important advantage of Camel's costlier tobaccos and slower way of burning—less nicotine in the smoke (see above). So light up a Camel—now. Try Camels. Smoke out the facts for yourself. Dealers everywhere feature Camels by the carton. For convenience—for economy—get your Camels by the carton.
