Students Drink Oodles of "Coke"

After a careful investigation and many strenuous efforts which finally terminated at Quigley's Drug Store, at George Washington University, it was discovered that enormous quantities of coca-cola were being consumed by the student body of this grand old institution, and after diligent application and use of the slide rule the following facts were ascertained:

Three barrels of coca-cola per month are dispensed. Said barrels containing 19,968 ounces of coke are the equivalent of 39,936 glasses (my error—pink cups), which when mixed with ice and soda for serving contain 19,974 ounces of liquid, that being equal to 13,000 B. T. U's per cup. (British Thermal Unit—consult Professor Benjamin Carpenter, Cruikshanks, B. S. in M. E.). There are approximately 5,000 students consuming 31,948 ounces of that delicious beverage, often flavored with lemon, per month, this being equal to 418,291,600 B. T. U's. If this same amount was used in the gasoline tanks of G. W.'s sundry "puddle-jumpers" they would have motive power enough to resemble a herd of kangaroos.

In view of this enormous power that has been consumed per month by our student body the question that naturally arises in the mind of the writer is why the effect of said power was not more evident during our past mid-year—George Washington University, Hatchet.

TRACK SQUAD IS HOLDING FIRST PRACTICES

The wildest track squad, with the exception of a few men who are on for spring football practice, have started workouts on Stoll field. An ambitious schedule has been arranged for the Big Blue who will all but one of their dual meets last year.

Some of the leading candidates for the team have been working out daily on Stoll field for the past three weeks and a few of these were taken to the Cincinnati Indoor track meet held in Cincinnati last Saturday, March 7.

Co-captains, "Shipwreck" Kelly and Heber are among the Wildcatters who were entered in the Cincinnati meet, both being registered for the 50-yard dash. Both Kelly and Heber have been timed in 5.2 in the 50 yard dash this spring, and Kelly had run the 300 yard dash in 3:8.

In the quarter mile, Milliken, Parrant, Saunders and McCaughey have shown up well. All have run the quarter in 55 seconds, which is exceptionally good for this time of the season, considering the condition of the track.

Baker, O'Bryant and Farmer are out for the half mile. O'Bryant seems to be the best bet for the mile run. He has been entered in the half and mile runs at the Cincinnati meet. His best time is 4:54. There are only two men working out for the two mile run. They are Burress and Struble. Burress, a sophomore, promises to develop into a real distance runner this season.

The following men have reported for work: Longacre, Gibson, Wetzel, man, Williams, Shirley, Emmerick.

MAKESWOMAN Mrs. Mary K. Platt, of Baltimore, Md., has been shooting only two years but recently, on an indoor range, turned in a score that was within three points out of a possible 250 of equally the world's record on a twenty-foot range. The record is held by Dr. J. E. Caulkins, of Springfield, Mass. Pistol shooting is the hobby of both Mr. and Mrs. Platt and they spend most of their summer vacations at the National Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio.

Roaming Fire Rialto with Thomas E. Riley

Poor Rena had a tough time catching all the shows by herself because our roaming was curbed by the flu. Rena gave faithful confidential reports but stubbornly refused to write this column so the readers had to suffer along with us.

We thought we were about recovered so we ventured out to see "Reaching for the Moon" and immediately suffered a relapse. A combination of a poor picture and several freshmen or faculty members sat behind us and laughed uproariously at the crude stuff and failed to appreciate the few subtleties in the entire footage. "No Exactly Gentlemen" was not exactly a good picture. Of course, the fact that "Maj" Wigginsworth (screen name, David Worth) was cast in the juvenile lead caused considerable comment. However, it must be said that not even the best actor in the business could have done anything with the insipid role assigned him. Buster Keaton's Parlor, Bedroom, and Bath" will be held for the week and it deserves it. We got some genuine laughs from the picture which is one that almost everyone will enjoy.

During the filming of "Women of all Nations" on the Fox lot the other day, El Brendel was accidentally kicked in the eye by a chorus girl in one of the comedy scenes. Ever the trouper, Brendel had his part changed so as to call for a damaged object and went on with the scene.

John Gilbert's newest opus is "Gentlemen's Fate" which opens at the Strand Sunday. This Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer release is particularly significant in that it presents the final performance of the late Louis Wolheim. Anita Page and Louis Hyams are other members of the pretentious supporting cast. "Gentlemen's Fate" is an understudy of a gentleman killer. The inside is that Metro is perturbed over Gilbert because of his failure to click in talking pictures. He continues to pull flap trade but not so much as formerly.

The prize laugh of the week was found in the State's marquee: "Lovel Sherman and Mary Astor in 'The Royal Bed'."

Donald Henderson Clarke wrote a best-selling novel called "Millie." The Radio picturization of the work will open at the Kentucky tomorrow. Helen Twelvetrees, of the wistful expression, is cast in the title role and the cast includes Liljan Tashman, Robert Ames, John Halliday, Joan Blondell, James Hall...

rial, "A Promise," which appeared in its columns a week ago.
The Kernel which is a student newspaper, with a policy of expression for student opinion, having unwittingly misrepresented the facts, we take this method of retracting the statements under discussion.

WHY NOT A RIFLE RANGE?

Kentucky has been fortunate during the past two years in having in the various forms of intercollegiate competition which have won both, for themselves and their university southern and national recognition. The student body and university officials have been profuse in their expressions of praise. Unfortunately, however, one team which has distinguished itself has been given only praise, and has not had the full cooperation it has needed to enable it to carry on the splendid work it has started. This is the rifle team.

Probably no organization has been forced to continue its activities under more unfavorable conditions than has that group which is sponsoring this most ancient of sports. Inadequate facilities—poor lighting—cramped quarters—all have entered into making what might develop into one of the more popular sports a pastime bordering on drudgery. When the call for rifle team candidates was issued this year more than one hundred students reported to military officials. All of these men were actively interested in this form of athletics, and deserved the privilege of continuing it. Under present conditions, however, it was impossible to care for more than a squad of about thirty men, and as a result some seventy men were deprived of this privilege.

The Kernel realizes that the university is handicapped in its building program by curtailed money appropriations. On the other hand, the Kernel believes that in view of existing conditions the need for a rifle range is one of the foremost problems facing the building commission. Temporary measures are all that can be hoped for at present, especially in view of Doctor McVey's recommendation for a new armory in the future. It should not require an expenditure of a great sum of money to extend the present drill hall to give more space, and to excavate beneath the building for a suitable range. Here might be had more spacious facilities—for proper training of a team, and here at all hours interested students could practice without interruption from military classes and other activities.

Since the installation of Pershing Rifles on the campus added impetus has been given to the move for such improvements. Scores of students who wish to avail themselves of such opportunities as may be offered by rifle training are clamoring for the privilege of having such supervision. Each year men selected from various universities and from army circles compete with representatives of foreign countries for the international rifle team championship, a title which the United States now holds, having won the most held last year at Switzerland. The Kernel feels that unless some means is provided for furthering the talents of our own students along this line, an injustice is being permitted to exist which might at a comparatively small outlay of money, be removed.

A PLAN

The advantage of the radio programs which are being broadcast by the university were set out in an editorial appearing in a recent edition of The Kernel. Enumerating these, they are: service to the people of the state; service to Lexington, as this is the only broadcasting station in the city; service to the university; publicity for the university, and a new and stronger link between the state and the university.

The present location of these studios is in the music building, which is not properly constructed for broadcasting; the walls are thin; the acoustics are far from ideal, and the arrangement of the rooms is not conducive to the best results in radio programs. Radio is a keen producer of accurate sounds, but deviations from ideal tone quality seem to be accentuated by it. Proper acoustics can prevent outside interference from having undue influence on tone quality. Tones of voices and instruments are entirely different when they are used in a room which is properly constructed to bring out their best qualities. Music hall does not do this.

In accordance with the ever increasing radio consciousness of people more completely equipped and better situated rooms are essential to the further development of radio in the university. The programs which the university is sponsoring are increasingly important for they are Lexington's and the university's only representative on the air. Due to this the university should take advantage of the opportunity and become Lexington's radio center. If provisions were made for better location it should be but a short period of time before the university station should have its own station rights and cease to act as subsidiary to Louisville.

There is an ideal location on the campus for a radio station. Plans have been drawn up for the construction of such a station showing the possibilities of such a station. The building which it would be located in Memorial hall. The basement of this building would have to be enlarged and deepened; plans show that this could be easily accomplished. The location would be ideal for broadcasting rooms. Furthermore, the construction of such space would solve three major problems which are confronting the music department at present. A music hall would be the central room, this hall would be used by the university chorus and bands as a practice room. The band would have proper storage room for its instruments, the music building would have the room which it now needs and conditions promoted by this change would be ideal for all parties concerned. Then, the radio rooms would have the proper acoustics and the ideal location for broadcasting. In other words the following problems would be solved: poor radio broadcast facilities; lack of space for music department building, and provision of a practical location for the university choruses and the band.

The Kernel is heartily in favor of the execution of the plans for these rooms in the near future for we think that the advantages and the opportunities which such a location would offer are too valuable to be allowed to remain latent.

Attention has been called to the school of crime which is being conducted in Illinois. Further notice has been taken of the fact that governmental and city officials of certain crime centers have publicly denounced periodicals publishing crime news, as they are setting bad examples for the people. We are driven to wonder why, contrary to their pronounced policies they have allowed "The School of Crime" to be "placed up" in newspapers, to be reproduced in magazines, to be featured before the people. Yet we wonder why crime is so prevalent! There is no surer way to sell anything than by advertising it and that is what is being done to crime today. The front pages of every paper are covered with sensational trials, murders, robberies and raids. It is in this manner that the papers have the power to do evil as well as good. Liquor trade and traffic is illegal, yet it has received even more than its due amount of publicity until the lure, the adventure and the sheer daring of such have been painted in an appealing picture and put before the people. It is a fact that all people are romantical; hence we have the gentlemen bootleggers, drawn into it by the appeal of their romantic dreams. Hence we also have the tolerance of youth for such people. Youth is essentially daring and romantic and instead of properly directed publicity, they too have been drawn to adventure.

Recently the youth of the nation has had college raids printed for it to read; madcap ecstasies caught with liquor in their possession. Fascinating, isn't it, to think of gay collegians doing as novels have them doing. Featuring youth, featuring daring, featuring it in such a way that the entire college world is saying "tough luck," and that the younger people are saying "goosh," but college must be almost as exciting as a night club.

We wish to say that prohibition is going to meet its Waterloo in the attitude of these young people unless some of the allure is taken from the press stories, or unless they cease to receive front page publicity. Liquor, like crime, is receiving too much free advertising. Liquor linked with college and featured with it will be the ruin of the next college generation. If it is not the ruin of this one, it does not seem right to allow such publicity to continue, when, judging from precedence, it can have such a detrimental effect on the youth of today. We wish that disseminators of such free advertising would remember that we, even though we are the younger generation today, are the citizens of tomorrow.

MAY WE INTRODUCE...

Margaret Cundiff
Bumming around the Journalism department one day, I saw a little girl who seemed blue. Sympathy moved me—who was the little girl with the 'dret', big, sad look? Caustically, I edged nearer to where she stood.

"Why are you so sad?" I asked.
She answered me rather vaguely, something about her love—McCormick—gone away. I couldn't gather what she meant, so I ventured.
"Did you say John McCormick?" I thought maybe she was musically inclined.

"No," she answered, giving me a withering look. "Louis. And not a singer—a lawyer."

That reminded me what my business was, so I attended to it.
"Maybe if you would tell me about yourself, you would forget your troubles for a time."

"What would you like to know?" she asked.

"Everything about yourself," I replied, pulling out my notebook.

"In case you wonder," she said, "I am Margaret Cundiff."
Heaven help a struggling journalist. How could I have known that she was the present associate editor of the Kernel and one who had been editor-in-chief during the summers of '29 and '30? After that I assumed a very business-like attitude.

"Have you always gone to school here?" I asked.
"Yes," she said. "I entered from Hamilton."

"What were your activities there?" I asked.

"I was representative of the town students on W. S. G. A., vice president of the junior class, a member of Sigma Gamma, scholastic society, and president of Alpha Delta Sigma, social society."

"What are your activities at the university?" I asked.

"I am a member of Mortar Board, Theta Sigma Phi, president of Chi Delta Phi and Alpha Gamma Delta, member of SuK, Strollers, secretary of the executive board of Gungol Players, treasurer of W. A. C, member of the Pan-Hellenic council, representative of the town students on W. S. G. A. for '30-'31, vice president of the junior class '29-'30, and vice president of the senior class '30-'31."

"What true journalist she was, telling me everything I wanted to know so that I wouldn't have to beg for every word. "Gosh," I thought, "and you were offering her sympathy." This, however, was how real admiration for one who could so quietly go her own way, gaining so many honors and friends. As she turned to leave me I felt that I was the one who needed sympathy.

THE QUESTION OF SMOKING

Authorities have been most lenient this year on the matter of co-eds smoking. In response to the general desire to abolish old rules in the dormitories regarding smoking their stringency has been lessened, and a new freedom, in accordance with new customs, has been enjoyed. Giving way to the modern habits, people are no longer shocked to see women smoking; it is no longer a question of raised eyebrows. Understanding this, and the fact that many girls were allowed to smoke in their homes, university authorities acknowledged the need for new rules.

Nevertheless, they have not been rewarded with a return course of observance of those few rules regarding smoking now in effect. Their violation has become a problem which is annoying to those who must cope with it. "Give them an inch and they take a mile," is the feeling they naturally have after seeing flagrant misuse of the privileges co-eds have been allowed thus far. Necessarily the line must be drawn somewhere, and definitely at that.

On the other hand, the women students request the privilege of giving their side of the matter. Smoking in such a place as the University Commons should not be forbidden there, they claim in what seems justified terms, for the privilege of smoking at meals is not denied to men. Surely they have equal rights to indulge in such diversion. They also feel that the establishment of a smoking room on the campus would prove a solution of this problem. This accommodation is made even in girls' schools in this modern day, and with the spread and present popularity of smoking, co-eds at the university are asking for some similar recognition.

Centralization of smoking on the campus might well prove an aid in handling the situation on the part of the authorities, and would certainly be a welcome step to many women attending the university who wish to comply with rules, yet are unwilling to give up smoking on the campus.

PAGING ELMER SULZER, PLEASE!

Spirit and pep by University of Kentucky students have been lacking in past years. This year at football and basketball games, their attitude was highly commendable and praiseworthy.

At football contests, the band was present with a full attendance. At basketball contests, a fragment of the band played. When the Vanderbilt basketball team played here, an ensemble, composed of the basketball, concert and co-ed bands entertained the fans.

Through the efforts of The Kernel, a mammoth homecoming was planned for the greatest basketball team in the South, who were to come back one hundred per cent present, and not as a fragment of the team that left the Wednesday night previous.

The band was there at the station, and immediately following the arrival of the team, the band was dismissed and the proposed tribute and parade were abandoned. None were garbed in uniform, no formal preparation was made to honor the occasion as it should be done.

We understand that absence from band practice is made up by playing at such gatherings and affairs.

Traffic officers graciously gave their time and efforts to lead the line of march. This line of march was to lead through the business district then to the East Avenue gymnasium.

A pep meeting in the gymnasium was substituted for the proposed tribute and parade. In an editorial entitled A PROMISE under date of March 6 in The Kernel, a regret was expressed by this newspaper over the unfortunate affair.

We believe justified criticism should not draw the ire of gentlemen. And we believe that no retraction for this editorial is needed. We should have given it time. The editor of The Kernel, a woman, was required to read three times an apology to the band for the editorial she had written, which does not strike Kentucky gentlemen as exactly the sort of chivalry that should be shown to a woman.

This is what the bandmaster at the university did to the editor-in-chief of this paper. We know our band is the best in the South. It consists of students, for students, and should serve their interests and needs. We do hereby take off our hat to that superb organization of which all Kentuckians are proud.

To the bandleader of the University of Kentucky band, we say, YOU PROMISED, and we further state, that we believe you owe an apology to the women editors of this newspaper. Gentlemen generally do apologize under such circumstances.

did discuss HUGH NORMANT and did see him shortly after. Did see CHESTER JOLLY, RED REYNOLDS, FLOPPY FORQUER, and HILDA COOPER with the inevitable EARL KING and did smile at the pin of SIGMA NU. In the evening to a show of moving pictures to enjoy CAROLYN RAY did seem to enjoy a gentleman with whom I am unacquainted. Very late to bed.

Did attend a GROOMING contest to wonder why he no longer courts the ALPHA GAMES with the old ardor and WINSTON ARDERY with his much beloved JANE PAYNTER, and LOIS PURCELL and COLEMAN SMITH and TIMMIE SHROPSHIRE who did look still worried over the delay which did accompany the publication of the KERNEL Tuesday and did sympathize with them and MILDRED GREENE. After a stupid afternoon to home and to bed.

Coach M. E. Potter Issues First Call for Freshman Track

Coach M. E. Potter has issued a call for freshman track candidates, all candidates are expected to answer the call Monday afternoon, March 16, at 10 o'clock.

The prospects for an excellent freshman track team at the university this season are the best in the country and the customs of the stars are expected to report. A crack quarter-mile is on hand and is sure to make things hard for all of the KITTENS' opponents.

Several freshmen have been training all winter for the distance events. From the quarter-mile up to the two mile run the Kittens are strong.

Several melagrophic meets with Southern Conference schools have been tentatively arranged. Also meets will probably be arranged with several scholastic and freshmen track teams in the state. Coach Potter to come out. No cut will be made in the squad. All men have an equal chance to make good. Constant attendance is the only requirement necessary.

BOOK REVIEWS

Living Africa

The Rift-Valleys of central Africa furnish the subject matter for a new book of travel and science. Baily Willis writes a popular description of his wanderings through these regions, and of his many experiences. While geologists will undoubtedly find this work called Living Africa it ought not to be difficult for the observant reader to trace for himself the peculiar and immense rift faults in the African crust. Those who are not even interested in the geological part of the journey will discover curious entertainment in the intimate view they receive of the natives of central Africa. The volume is well illustrated and anecdotes are plentiful. (McGraw-Hill is the publisher.)

Another Trail Blazer

Not unlike the geologist, who has to blaze his own trail through virgin forests and perils of every description, is the pioneer missionary, though his objective is a far different one. As early as 1806 A. D., a Franciscan friar, John of Montecorvino, built his monastery and school in the very shadow of the imperial palace at Peking. And as early as 1888 A. D. Father Francis naive American priest to set foot on Chinese soil, began his work. The story of his life, as well as it could be gathered from his letters and those of a fellow missionary, is presented by the Rev. Marion A. Habig, O. F. M. and is called "Pioneering in China." The work, picturing vividly the hardships, sacrifices, and successes of the missionary life, contains as well historical matter of considerable interest. (Franciscan Herald Press.)

March

A Seneca sought deliverance from suffering through enduring it, an Epicurus through ignoring it, but the only deliverance from suffering is through sacrifice—through offering. Once a man accepts pain no longer in the spirit of rebellion or of blind endurance, or even of mere negative resignation, but in the spirit of cooperation he is free. We gather this from the chapter on March in Shella Kaye-Smith's "Mirror of the Months." It is a tiny volume, which treats each month of the year, as dedicated by the Church, to its particular patronage. (Harper & Brothers, N. Y.)

Dr. Henry Beaumont Speaks on Holland

A talk on Holland by Dr. Henry Beaumont was the chief feature of the March meeting of the History club, which was held on March 5 in the Education building. Doctor Beaumont, who spent 21 years in Holland, described the psychology of the Dutch mind, the nature of the country and the customs of the people.

The next meeting of the club will not be held on the first Thursday afternoon in April as has been the custom, but due to the spring holidays, the meeting will be held in April 9.

DISCUSSION HELD

A joint discussion group is being held by the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A., each Monday night, 7:15 o'clock in Patterson hall. Student problems on the campus are discussed. An invitation is extended to any student on the campus who is interested in the subjects of the discussions.

Again people talk excitedly of "Burning Air"

When a public display of gas lighting was given in London in 1802 to celebrate the Peace of Amiens, people talked excitedly of burning air. Napoleon called it a grand folly, and Sir Walter Scott wrote that the world was going mad.

Thus was ushered in the era of gas illumination. It lasted for 75 years. Then electricity stole the field and the gas giant dozed through a quarter century, used chiefly for kitchen cooking.

Now it reawakens in a changed world, to new possibilities, greater opportunities. Eighty thousand miles of pipe lines already laid, extensively equipped with Crane valves and fittings, prove that the old problem of transportation is solved. Pipe lines crisscrossing the country as numerous as electric power ones are freely predicted.

What has brought this second greater gas era? The answer is: piping materials. Thanks to these, gas men can say for the first time that they are able to pipe gas in enormous quantities from Amarillo gas fields to Chicago, from isolated natural gas fields to users everywhere.

No matter what field of engineering you take up on graduation, you will find its future and its growth interwoven with the development of piping materials. And, as in the past this development has, time after time, been first reflected in the complete Crane line, it will pay you to keep in touch with Crane research and Crane materials.

Entering the tournament at Atlanta in the role of "dark horse" North Carolina State, Duke, and Florida in the order named only to lose a heart breaker to Berger and his cohorts in the finale with Maryland. One of the most popular teams in the tournament, Kentucky placed four out of five men on the Associated Press all-Southern for 1931 including Captain Carey Spicer, Louis McGinnis, and co-captains Elmer George Yates and Jake Bronson.

Too much credit can not be given to George Yates for his fine effort to see the tournament through in spite of heavy fever which kept him in bed during the time he was not actually on the playing floor. George returned to Lexington some 20 pounds lighter but the unanimous choice of the critics for all-Southern center.

It is to be regretted that Spicer and McGinnis, high scorers of the tournament have played their last game for Kentucky. Their graduation leaves a large gap to be filled before the Cats can hope to duplicate the performance of 1930-31 team.

Finishing the year with 15 wins out of 18 starts is a fine record for any basketball team and the final game with Maryland which cost Kentucky the championship reflected as much credit to Kentucky as did to the Old Lions. Their trophy is simply a tribute to Berger, their great guard who never quit.

What the NEW HUMIDOR PACK means to Camel Smokers*

COMPARE a package of Camels with any other cigarette and note the difference in the technique of packing. Note that Camels are completely enclosed in an outer transparent cover of moisture-proof cellophane and sealed air-tight at every point. We call this outer shell the Humidor Pack. It differs from the ordinary cellophane pack and while it is egg-shell thin, it means a lot in terms of cigarette enjoyment. It means, for instance, that evaporation is checkmated and that Salt

The Humidor Pack insures that. It prevents the fine tobaccos of Camels from drying out and losing any of their delightful flavor. Aside from cheap tobacco, two factors in a cigarette can mar the smoker's pleasure: Fine particles of peppery dust if left in the tobacco by inefficient cleaning methods sting and irritate delicate throat membrane. Dry tobacco, robbed of its natural moisture by scorching or by evaporation gives off a hot smoke that burns the throat with every inhalation.

Camels and other ordinary dry cigarettes. First of all you can feel the difference as you roll the cigarettes between your fingers. Camels are full-bodied and pliable. A dry cigarette crumbles under pressure and sheds tobacco. If you will hold a cigarette to each ear and roll them with your fingers you can actually hear the difference. The real test of course is to smoke them. And here's where the new Humidor Pack proves a real blessing to the smoker. As you inhale the cool, fragrant smoke from a Camel you get all the mildness and magic of the fine tobaccos of which it is blended.

The Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory chart above graphically shows you that only the Camel Humidor Pack delivers cigarettes to you in prime condition

Lake City can now have as good Camels as Winston-Salem. While Camels are made of a blend of the choicest Turkish and mellowest domestic tobaccos, it is highly important, if you are to get full benefit of

We take every precaution against these factors here at Winston-Salem. A special vacuum cleaning apparatus removes dust and now the new Humidor Pack prevents dryness.

But when you draw in the hot smoke from a dried cigarette see how flat and crackish it is by comparison and how harsh it is to your throat. If you are a regular Camel smoker you have already noticed what proper condition of the cigarette means. But if you haven't tried Camels in the new Humidor Pack you have a new adventure with Lady Nicotine in store. Switch your affections for just one day, then go back to your old love tomorrow if you can.

this quality, that these cigarettes come to you with their natural moisture content still intact. Check the difference yourself It is a very simple matter to check the difference between Humidor Packed
