WASHINGTON MONUMENT — Designed by Thos. Crawford, this work of art has been declared by critics as the finest equestrian statue in the world. The design of the base is a six-ray star, the statue of an eminent Virginian resting upon each ray, as follows: Patrick Henry, George Mason, Thomas Jefferson, John Marshall, Thomas Nelson, Jr., and Andrew Lewis.

VIRGINIA STATE CAPITOL — The central building of the connected group dates from 1789, and is designed after an ancient Roman Temple. The two wings were added in 1905. Here Aaron Burr was tried for treason in 1807, and here sat Congress of the Confederate States. In the rotunda stands Houdon's incomparable statue of Washington.

MAYO BRIDGE — Replaces the old Mayo Bridge over which the Confederate Army, defending Richmond, retreated, just before the evacuation and burning of the city in April, 1864. The new bridge begins at the South end of 14th Street and, crossing the Mayo's Island, it joins the two portions of the city lying on the north and south banks of the James River. Erected by the City of Richmond at a cost of $300,000 and completed and opened to the public in September, 1913. From abutment to abutment, it has a length of 1,775 feet.

JEFFERSON HOTEL was first opened to public patronage in 1895. Erected by the late Maj. Lewis Ginter at a cost of nearly two million dollars, it is not surpassed in point of architectural beauty and completeness of equipment by any other hotel in the country. Ideally situated in the most desirable section of Richmond, within five minutes' walk of the business center and shopping district.

VIRGINIA MUSEUM OF FINE ARTS — This State Institution, opened in January, 1936, houses the famous John Barton Payne collection of paintings and prints and equally famous Henry P. Strause Collection of fine and decorative arts and many other works of art belonging to Virginia. The Museum and collections are valued at more than $5,000,000.

VIRGINIA WAR MEMORIAL — This graceful tower is a memorial to the 1,784 Virginians who fell in the World War and to the 93,000 survivors who served with the armed forces of their country. Located on a commanding site in the principal park of the Virginia Capital, the war memorial was erected by the Commonwealth of Virginia. It rises to a height of 240 feet, and contains a carillon of sixty-six bells, on which concerts are frequently given.

JEFFERSON DAVIS MONUMENT — This imposing monument, the work of Valentine, is remarkable for its symbolical character as well as its artistic beauty. Standing upon a base of native granite is the portrait figure of the first and only President of the C.S.A. His right hand is outstretched in eloquent appeal to the Future, while his left hand rests upon the open book of History.

WHITE HOUSE OF THE CONFEDERACY — Formerly a private residence, it was purchased in 1862 by the City of Richmond for the use of the Confederate Government, and was occupied during the war by President Davis and his family. It is now a Confederate Museum, each of the 14 Confederate States having in it a memorial room. In front of the mansion is the propeller shaft of the "Merrimac", whose engagement with the "Monitor" revolutionized naval warfare the world over.

HOTEL JOHN MARSHALL — Located at the corner of 5th and Franklin Streets in the center of Prosperity overlooking the entire city. Six blocks from the home of Chief Justice John Marshall, U.S.A.

MEDICAL COLLEGE OF VIRGINIA — A 103 year old institution has recently added a twenty-story building costing over $2,500,000.00. It is the second largest hospital in the South and contains over $300,000.00 worth of the most modern medical equipment. It is one of the few completely air-conditioned hospitals in the world.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH — Completed in 1845. Has long been prominently associated with the social as well as the religious life of the city. It was here on the morning of April 2, 1865, that a dispatch was handed President Davis from General Lee, announcing the loss of Petersburg, and the consequent necessity for the evacuation of Richmond, which occurred that night. President Davis and General Lee occupied pews in this church during the war. The pews are marked with name plates.

OLD ST. JOHN'S CHURCH — This venerable and historic edifice stands upon the site of an old Indian settlement. The original structure (completed in 1741) when the Old Dominion owed allegiance to George III, and the Protestant Episcopal Church of Virginia was in the jurisdiction of the Bishop of London, has undergone several alterations and enlargements, but much of it still remains, forming the East and the West transcripts of the present building. Here was held the Virginia Convention, during a session of which Patrick Henry delivered his famous speech ("Give me Liberty or give me Death"). The surrounding burial ground contains many curious tombs and unique epitaphs.

STATUE OF WASHINGTON — Houdon's Statue of Washington, in the rotunda of the Capitol Building, is considered by historians to be the greatest statue in the world. This is the only statue posed for by Washington.

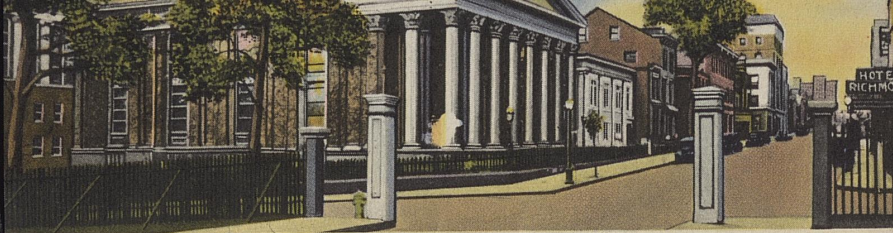

UNIVERSITY OF RICHMOND — Founded in 1832, it was for the first eighty years of its history known as "Richmond College". In 1920, its charter was amended and the present name adopted. Its grounds now embrace an area of nearly 300 acres about three miles west of the city, and possesses many features of great natural beauty. It is organized on the English system and has a faculty of sixty members and an attendance (1926) of nearly 1,250 students. Since 1903 Frederick W. Boatwright, L.L.D., has been its President.

EDGAR ALLAN POE SHRINE — The oldest building in Richmond. Said to have been Washington's headquarters here, and it is known that both he and Lafayette were entertained in the building. Now its gardens beautified, it houses many manuscripts, relics and much data associated with the life and work of Poe, who was raised in this vicinity.

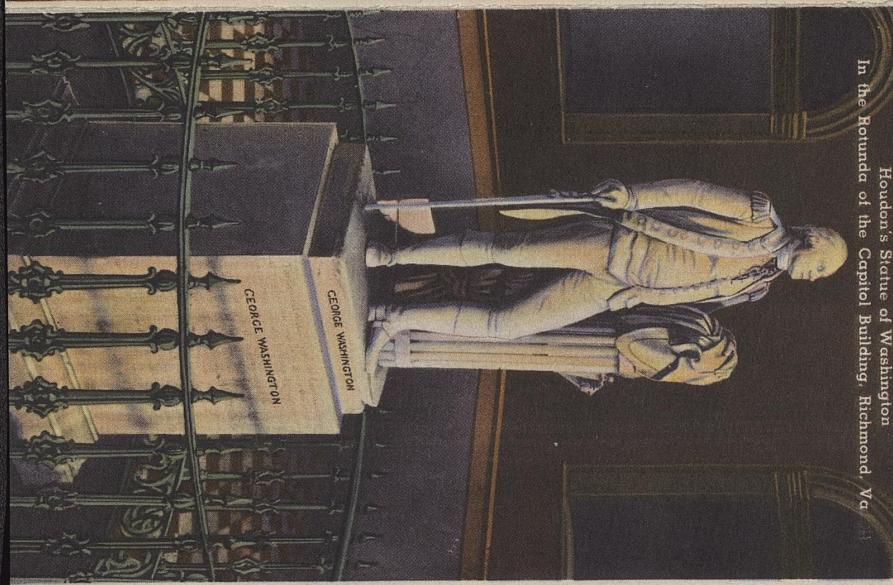

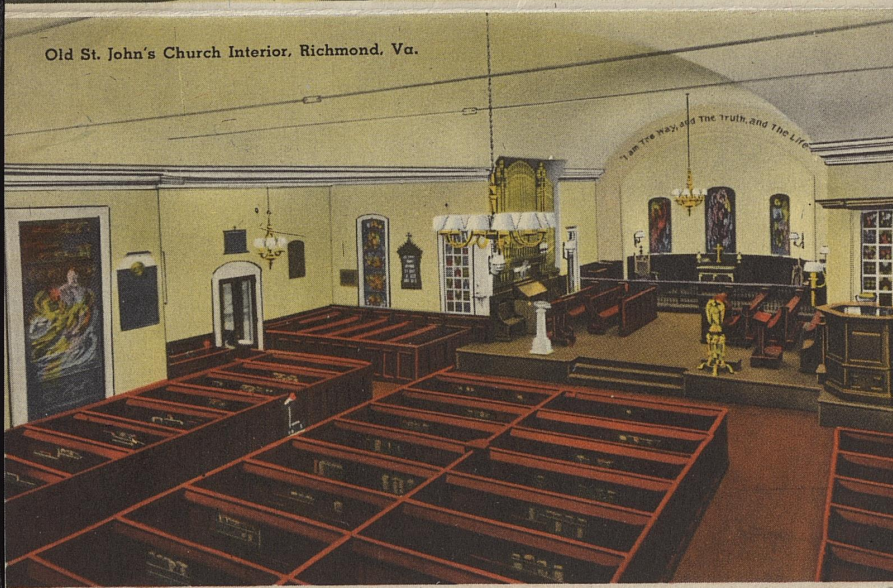

JACKSON MONUMENT, presenting Gen. Thomas J. ("Stonewall") Jackson in his typical attitude, was unveiled October 11, 1919, the address being delivered by Col. R. E. Lee, a grandson of General Robert E. Lee.

THE MOSQUE — Richmond's Civic Center is located at Laurel and Main Streets facing beautiful Monroe Park. The Mosque has one of the most beautiful theatre auditoriums in America with a seating capacity of 5,000, one of the largest banquet and exhibition halls in the South, a regular swimming pool, roof garden, luxurious dining and lounge rooms, bowling alley, hotel accommodations and dormitory for discriminating young men.

LEE MONUMENT — Designed by Mercier, this splendid equestrian statue of Gen. Robert E. Lee is located on Monument Avenue and is a tribute to the "Idol of the South". Unveiled May 30th, 1890, by Gen. Joseph E. Johnson, and was the occasion of the greatest reunion of Confederate veterans ever held.

How are the close friends? How about the shopping district?
Did get into your house? How about the shopping district?

House

Mother told me that you + the family had moved out there. Am so glad you are safe. I have talked to mother + brother from Sunday through Thur. They say they are all right. But please call them anyway. Tell mother to let me know when I can come home.

Mrs. Davis cannot hear anything from Mrs. Harris or Evette drop me a card if you know where they are please I will phone her. Where is Ruth Harmon? I hope all of my friends are all right. If you feel like it write me a letter. Be sure to call mother for me. Say do you remember B. Fraser - big fat who use to go with me? Well he called me from Macau, Sa. yesterday. Just haven't heard anything of him in about 15 years. Got any news about me - Aunt I something? I think I better put this in an envelope.

Love to you mother + Dad. We are quite block of our house - the water came

Dear friend

Thelma asked me to tell you that she can sit up and walk around like anybody now. She had Pott's disease and the doctor at the children's free hospital took a piece of her spine and stuck it in her back-bone and it fixed her. Thelma says thank you for the gift you made to the Welfare League.
