Beaten Blue Team To Meet Alabama Tide In Louisville

19,000 Expected To Witness Game

By Don B. Towles

The weakened Kentucky football squad will leave tomorrow to play the undefeated Crimson Tide of Alabama at Louisville. The game will be the seventh of the season for the Wildcats, and the sixth for the opponents.

Alabama will be led by Harry Gilmer, passing halfback, who has been one of the outstanding players of the season for the Crimson Tide. Tew, right halfback, will do the majority of the running with ends Steiner and Cain on the receiving end of Gilmer's passes, although most of them will be taken by backs Hodges, Grant, and Morrow. The strong man in the Bama line will be Mancha at center. Some of the teams defeated by the Crimson Tide are L.S.U. by a score of 26-7; South Carolina, 55-0; Tennessee, 25-7; and Georgia, 29-14. Last year they went to the Sugar Bowl but were defeated 29-26 by Duke. Their seasonal standing last year was five wins one loss and two ties. This year they have scored 156 points whereas their opponents have scored 28.

Kentucky will be weakened by the loss of Hugh Shannon, who was injured in the Cincinnati game last week. If the Wildcats expect to make a showing against the Crimson Tide, they will have to check the advances of Gilmer. Coach Shively has not yet announced the starting lineup for Kentucky but the backfield will probably consist of Tunstall or Ray, Barnett, Blanda, and Beal. Grant and Phillips will also share the backfield. The ends will probably be Jones and Hensley, with English, Haas, McDonald, Paul and Serini filling in the line. The Wildcats standing is now five losses and one victory. They have scored 45 points whereas their opponents have marked up 119. Last year Kentucky won three games and lost six. Game time will be 2:00 p.m.

The Alabama Crimson Tide, prospective Rose Bowl team, will probably hold the Wildcats from the University of Kentucky under foot at the Post Manual stadium in their meeting Saturday afternoon at Louisville.

'The Lowe-Down'

By Dick Lowe

"The best laid plans of mice and men come to naught when they fail to win." These famous lines might help explain the last defeat, Saturday night in the Queen City. The Wildcats practiced all week on a new formation, the single wing, in order to break their present losing streak and make a lot of prognosticators eat their copy. But from the way most of the game went, the new formation was more of a surprise to the Cats than it was to the Cincinnati team. They again fumbled the ball with all of the grace and ease of a first nighter. The fundamentals of the game seemed to be forgotten in the bright lights of the big city. Several plays that cost the game were attributed to sudden lapses of memory. Kentucky had its back to the wall too many times because of negligence on the part of someone when he failed to do his part of the job.

What is going to happen to the weakened Cats this weekend when they meet the mighty Crimson Tide with Mr. Gilmer tossing the ball all around them? It will be about as bad as leading a cat to slaughter. As for myself, I am going to watch the game from the stand with two adding machines in order to compute the score as fast as the Bama team tallies it up. One good factor about the game in Louisville will be the privilege of seeing the Rose Bowl team of the South play a fair scrimmage game.

Of course, if the Cats go into the game to see how low they can keep the score, Alabama may score only 55 points. It statistics determine future scores—since Georgia defeated Kentucky 48-6 and then Alabama defeated Georgia 28-14—the outcome looks bad for Kentucky.

The line played a good game at Cincinnati last week—most of the time—and may be able to hold the strong Tide's score down somewhat, but the game from one phase looks like a scoreless event for the boys from the Bluegrasses.

If upsets were in order, there might be a possibility that this game could be one of them. Look what Northwestern did to Purdue, even with the services of the great Bob DeMoss, and Ohio State rallied back into the win column to upset Minnesota. But anyway, call upon your school spirit and let's all travel to Louisville to see the track meet. Maybe the change in scenery will take your minds off the record so far.

Introducing Wildcat Center

By O. C. Halcyon

Louis McDonald, the Wildcat's 210 pound hard smashing center.

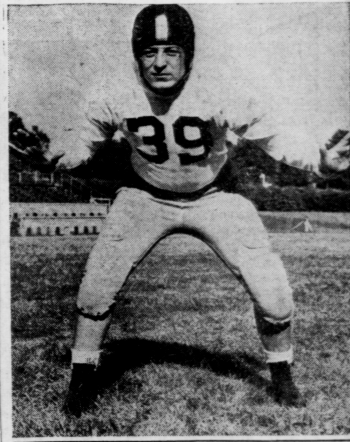

This is McDonald's second year to play college ball and the records show that the going for the opposing backs via the center of the line has been plenty tough.

Playing outstanding ball on the 1944 squad, he got the job of regular starting center. Most scribers are in agreement that this year he has been doing an even better job of handling the ball on the offense, and at the same time helping to hold out the on-rushing forward wall of the opponents. On the defense he can be found doing his usual job of backing up the line, or charging the opposition's back field men from a guard position.

McDonald is also a 60-minute man who plays as hard at the end of the game as at the beginning. It seems that the going never gets too tough for him. He helped prove this fact when he played the entire game against Cincinnati last Saturday night wearing a nose guard to protect a broken nose received the week before in the tilt with Vanderbilt.

Louis McDonald is a quiet but friendly fellow from Paducah Kentucky. He is 22 years old and stands five-eleven. His draft status is 4-F.

The big Kentucky center received his high school training at Paducah high school under the direction of Coach Ralph McRight and Rice Mounjoy.

IN THE MIDDLE—Kentucky's line once again will spread out from Louis McDonald, 22-year-old center who handled the pugnas for the Wildcats in '44. The sophomore is from Paducah, and battles the scales at 210.

George Blanda Punts

When George Blanda entered the University of Kentucky, he was heralded as the best punter to wear a Kentucky uniform since the days of Ralph Kerchival. With the exception of the Michigan game, which was played in a downpour of rain, he has averaged 42 yards on his punts. This is a better record than Kerchival compiled during his first season. The record for intercollegiate competition is 42.25 set by Auburn in 1939.

Blanda averaged better than 42 yards against Ole Miss, 42 against Cincinnati in the first of the two games, 44 against Georgia, when he was at his best, 41 against Vanderbilt and 40 against the Cincinnati.

Bearsart in the second game. In the game with Alabama Saturday the punts of Blanda will be the spectacular for Kentucky to match the passes of Harry Gilmer, who throws with extreme accuracy and speed.

ings of the philosopher, William James. "The physical hardness and mental alertness developed by military life must be used in education and peace to accomplish unflinchingly the hardest tasks before us and not to substitute the 'second best we can do,'" he said.

Sacrifice Ahead "Obedience to authority has taught us to live under the rule of the finest orders of our own souls, the best standards of our own judgments," Dr. Gaines stated. As we have learned to sacrifice ourselves for a cause we deemed worthy, the American way of life, so also must we learn to sacrifice our own interests of our own hearts to accomplish the immense job of learning to live together, he concluded.

Wildcats Lose To Cincy 16-7

By Don B. Towles

The University of Kentucky Wildcats lost their fifth game in six starts last Saturday night at Nippert Stadium in Cincinnati, when they were defeated 16-7 by the Cincinnati Bearcats.

Kentucky opened the game by kicking off to the opponents, which started the Cincy squad on their drive. The ball was passed and run to the Kentucky 40 yard line before Hal Schneider, threw a pass to Hall Drake, who sprinted over the goal line for the first score. This all happened in the first five minutes of the game, before Kentucky had control of the ball.

With only a few minutes left in the first quarter, Granite and Ray carried the ball up the field on five verse plays, and when the frame ended Kentucky was on the Cincinnati six-yard line. In the first minute of the second quarter, Blanda went through the center of the line to score for the Wildcats. Serini converted to tie the score 7-7.

Later in the quarter, Granite intercepted a Cincy pass and was tackled behind his own goal line, giving Cincy an automatic safety.

The remaining minutes of the half were rough and filled with fumbles and numerous penalties. Neither team threatened to score for the rest of the period and the half ended with Cincy leading 9-7.

After the intermission, the Bearcats kicked to Kentucky and Ray let the ball roll dead on the three-yard line. A Cincy player fell on the ball but let it get away from him. Serini started to run with the pigskin but fumbled and the Bearcat men fell on the ball. With three yards to go for a score, Klusman went over for the marker. Cincinnati converted to make the final score 16-7.

The game got rather rough at times with 241 yards lost by penalties. The final frame slowed down as both teams were worn out and no spectacular plays were run.

Kuhn Back In '46

The University of Kentucky Wildcats' 1946 squad will be strengthened by the addition of Charlie Kuhn, outstanding back at Kentucky until he entered the service in 1942. Charlie has been discharged and expects to return to school next quarter.

On a visit to his old alma mater last week, he donned football gear and went through a brief work out with the squad. He said that he would be back in regular uniform next year.

The former Kentucky back played ball at Louisville Male high school for three years and then came to the University of Kentucky in 1941 to play on the freshman team. He played varsity ball in '42 for the Cats, until he was called to the army.
