CLR AWARDS

The Council on Library Resources has announced three awards to be granted for 1976-77.

Academic Library Management Intern Program - This is an internship for one year awarded to up to five mid-career librarians of outstanding leadership potential.

CLR Fellowship Program - Offers fellowship to mid-career librarians who have demonstrated a strong potential for leadership in the profession. The fellowships, like sabbaticals, enable recipients to pursue a self-developed study on research project aimed at improving their competence in the substantive, administrative, and/or technical aspects of librarianship.

Advanced Study Program for Librarians - Up to five well-qualified librarians will receive awards which will enable them to pursue a year of full-time graduate work in a scholarly discipline at a graduate school of distinction in their chosen field of study.

Further details on each of these awards are available in the Director's Office.
