

Fall, 1972 is approximately March 1, 1972. He also pointed out that all but about 1500 students had already registered for the 1972 spring semester; that in order to give academic areas time to review and determine what their requirements are going to be he did not see how it could possibly be implemented before the 1972 Fall Semester.

Motion was made and seconded to adjourn. Motion was then made and seconded for a roll call vote. The motion for a roll call vote was disapproved.

Motion was made for a quorum call. It was determined that a quorum was present.

The Chairman then ruled that the motion to adjourn be voted on. The Senate approved that motion.

Adjournment occurred at 5:30 p.m.

The Chairman thanked the Recording Secretary for circulating the minutes of the regular meeting of December 13, 1971 so that they would be in the hands of the Senators by this meeting. These minutes were approved as circulated.

The Chairman referred the Senators to the summary sheet which had been handed to them as they entered the meeting which contained the action taken at the December 13th meeting, namely, amendment of the General Studies Component as follows:

". . . The General Studies Component in every baccalaureate degree program shall consist of five (5) areas of study chosen by the student from the following eight (8) areas:

(1) through (8) Area listings"

He stated that the following sentence which was a part of that amendment, remained to be acted on by the Senate:

"The Rules shall be waived only to the extent that they are inconsistent with certification or accreditation requirements."

Following discussion from the floor, Dr. Daniel Reedy presented the following amendment to the waiver amendment being considered:

"The Rules shall be waived only to the extent that they are inconsistent with certification, accreditation, or college requirements for degrees."

This motion was seconded.

Following extensive discussion of the amendment, call for the question was made and approved. The Senate then voted on the amendment as presented by Dr. Reedy, and disapproved it by a hand count of 59 to 45.

Dr. John Rea then proposed an amendment to prefix the following sentence to the amendment on the floor:

A student whose major falls in one of the eight (8) General Studies areas may not use that area to fulfill the General Studies requirements.

This amendment was seconded. At this point the Parliamentarian raised the question of his intended meaning of the word "requirements" in his motion; that the main motion on the floor concerned accreditation requirements. On determination that Dr. Rea's amendment was not pertinent to accreditation requirements, he ruled the motion out of order.

Dr. McEllistrem presented the following amendment which was seconded:

The Rules shall be waived if they are inconsistent with certification or accreditation requirements.

Following some further discussion, call for the question was made and approved. The Senate then voted to approve Dr. McEllistrem's amendment to the amendment under consideration.

The Senate returned to discussion of the original amendment as amended. Suggestion was made that the word "The" be changed to "These" in the amendment just passed and the Senators agreed to this editorial change.

Call for the question was made and approved and the Senate approved the amendment as amended by a hand count of 60 to 53. The amendment, as amended, and approved, reads:

These Rules shall be waived if they are inconsistent with certification or accreditation requirements.

The total action taken by the University Senate at its meetings of December 13 and December 20, 1971 to be incorporated into the Rules of the University Senate at its next updating, will read as follows:

"To be eligible for any degree, a student must have completed the requirements as approved by the University Senate, except that curriculum substitutions may be made by the college affected if not inconsistent with these Rules. Curriculum requirements must include, in addition to specified credits, a specified grade point average which shall in no case be less than 2.0.

"Every baccalaureate degree program shall include four divisions or components:

- (1) General Studies
- (2) Pre-major or Pre-professional
- (3) Major or Professional
- (4) Free Electives

"Two semesters of English Composition (6 credits) are required of all students unless they can demonstrate proficiency. The above requirement will be reduced to three (3) credits for University students who receive a grade of B or above in English 105, Advanced Freshman Composition. (See patterns available in catalog). Full-time students must enroll in English Composition each semester they are in attendance until the requirement is satisfied. Postponement of this requirement or withdrawal from English Composition is rarely permissible and must be approved by the Dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

"The General Studies Component in every baccalaureate degree program shall consist of five (5) areas of study chosen by the student from the following eight (8) areas:

- (1) Mathematics - Philosophy
- (2) Physical Sciences
- (3) Biological Sciences
- (4) Foreign Languages
- (5) Humanities: Literature, Art and Music
- (6) History
- (7) Social Sciences
- (8) Behavioral Sciences

"These Rules shall be waived if they are inconsistent with certification or accreditation requirements."

The Chairman called on Professor Flickinger who read the following proposal from the Senate Council on implementation for the approved change in the General Studies Component.

The Senate Council recommends that the implementation for the action taken relative to changing the Rules on Requirements for Graduation be the Fall, 1972 with a proviso that colleges and departments be advised that if they have recommendations for changes in their academic programs as a result of this Senate action, these must be submitted, in accordance with prescribed University procedures, by March 1, 1972.

Dr. Flickinger stated that the Senate Council's recommendation is aimed toward the best interests of the entire University, particularly in respect to advance registration to be held in the spring of 1972 for the 1972 Fall Semester.

Dr. Stanford Smith presented a motion to amend the section of the Senate Council's recommendation dealing with the implementation date to make it effective for those students graduating at the end of the 1973 Spring Semester and thereafter. The motion was seconded.

Following some discussion of implementation channels, question was called and the Senate voted for cloture.

The Senate then defeated Dr. Smith's amendment to the Senate Council proposal.

The Senate again voted for cloture on the original proposal and approved the original proposal as presented by Dr. Flickinger. This proposal, as approved, reads:

The implementation for the action taken relative to changing the Rules on Requirements for Graduation shall be the Fall, 1972 and colleges and departments are advised that if they have recommendations for changes in their academic programs as a result of this Senate action, these must be submitted, in accordance with prescribed University procedures, by March 1, 1972.

Motion was made to adjourn.

The Chairman recognized Dr. Singletary who extended pleasant Holiday wishes to the faculty, students, and staff of the University.

Dr. Rovin acknowledged the efforts of the Recording Secretary for her work for the Senate during the past year. In addition, he asked Mrs. Parton, secretary to the Senate Council, to stand and be recognized for her unselfish efforts on behalf of the University Senate and the University. The Senate accorded Mrs. Parton a round of applause for her work.

Dr. James Ogletree presented a recommendation on behalf of the University Senate that the Senate rise and acknowledge Chairman Sheldon Rovin for a job well done. Dr. Rovin was accorded enthusiastic applause for his work as Chairman over the past year.

The motion to adjourn was approved at 5:30 p.m.

The Chairman reminded the Senators of the ROTC proposal which was on the floor of the Senate as a result of action taken at the May 10, 1971 meeting to table the proposal to the regular November meeting of the Senate in the fall and, that due to the press of other business had been delayed further to the present meeting. He then presented Mr. Howell Hopson, secretary of the Senate Council, who recommended adoption of the Arts and Sciences proposal on reconstituting the ROTC departments as academic programs, with the following changes and additions by the Senate Council. The Arts and Sciences proposal had been circulated to the faculty under date of December 3, 1971 and the Senate Council substitute proposal had been circulated under date of December 9, 1971:

1. that under item (2) of the A & S report, the Senate establish a University Senate standing committee on ROTC programs comprising ten (10) members to be appointed as follows: one administrator and one staff representative from each of the ROTC programs to be appointed by the President; three faculty members to be appointed by the Senate Council; and four students comprising one cadet from each of the ROTC programs and two non-ROTC students to be appointed by Student Government.
