Radio Station W 9 J L Offers Modern Service to Students

The entire station, to one unacquainted with radio, is a very unpretentious affair. It consists of a 25 watt transmitter, a 25 watt meter wave receiver, and a motor generator set, placed in a tiny room, and operated by a student. Those students who are interested in radio, a list of dials, the clicking of a message, and another station, thousands of miles away, receives the message, records it, and sends it to its destination. It's hard to realize that such things actually are happening!

FIRST STEP MADE FOR REUNIONS

Doctor Buckner, President of Association, Writes Letter Urging Members of Classes to Return This Spring.

In the first column on this page will be found a letter written to the members of thirteen classes of the University of Kentucky by Dr. G. Davis Buckner, president of the Alumni Association. The letter which is self explanatory is the first move in getting together these classes for their first real reunion.

There are more than 1,000 members in these classes and each and every one of them is being urged to return to the campus of the University in May for the annual homecoming of Alumni and the Commencement exercises. Heretofore the homecoming Alumni held no specified reunions but met in one body and attended the exercises and programs. Alumni and nothing special was done by way of class reunions.

Last year the class of 1908, of which Dr. Buckner is a member, decided to hold its twentieth reunion. Some of the interested and active members began to work on the plan and when the time for the reunion came more than 80 per cent of the members returned for the event. Letters coming to the Alumni office from the members of the class of 1908, who attended the reunion, are a most interesting and all expressed pleasure in the reunion and an avowal of intention to return to the next reunion which will be held in 1933.

The plan of reunions has been fully explained in previous issues of The Kernel and is now being thoroughly understood by all the members of the Alumni Association. Next year the classes whose year of graduation ends in 5 or 0 will be the ones to hold reunions and so on, causing each class reunion to fall every five years.

The complete arrangements have not been made as yet but will be announced within a few weeks. It is already planned to have each exercise in a body and sit together. There will be events planned for all the homecoming Alumni as well as special events for the members of the different classes. is 425 Virginia avenue. Jack Stubblefield Johnson, A. ## IT'S A HARD JOB

The editors of the Kernel take pleasure in reprinting the following editorial taken from the U. of L. News, weekly newspaper of the University of Louisville. It is reproduced word for word.

HELP WANTED

The phenomenal financial and journalistic success of The Kentucky Kernel of the University of Kentucky is a thing which has set many members of the staff of the U. of L. News thinking. The News, of course, is younger than The Kernel, and it cannot be expected that it should have accomplished as much. It is to be hoped that when The News is fifteen years old it will also be as prosperous and widely known as The Kernel. But the U. of L. News does not enjoy the advantages which unquestionably contributed greatly to the success of The Kernel. Soon after publication of the first Kernel the English department and the administration of the University took an active interest in the paper and gave the students who were working on it their valuable assistance. Courses in journalism were offered and a department of journalism was opened. Instruction was most valuable. Credit was given for work on the paper, and in this way more students and more talent became interested in the work. The University itself took means to secure subscriptions from the students and thus made the paper a financial success. The finances were all handled with advice and supervision of the trained faculty members of the journalism department. It has been a handicap to the student staff of the U. of L. News not to have the aid of the faculty and the administration to the extent which the U. of L. News has had at the University of Kentucky.

The Cardinal News, the first school paper published in the University, was entirely the work of one man who was vitally interested in the welfare of the school and who recognized the lethargy of the faculty in the matter of organizing literary effort. He took it upon himself after graduation at great personal financial loss to provide a school paper. At the end of a year he naturally felt that he had done his share and turned to other work, hoping that somebody would carry on his work. For a semester no attempt was made to start publication again although there was much agitation among the students for a paper. Finally a group of students took it upon themselves to move the authorities and a paper was organized, edited, managed and published entirely by students. The only connection which the faculty had with the paper was to appoint an original board of directors, and it must be said that the work of Dean Brigham was most valuable in starting the new paper, the U. of L. News. But Dean Brigham's function is not to aid in the expression of literary effort and he could afford to devote only so much time to the paper. Those who did have the function of aiding literary effort, with the exception of Mrs. Hill, have not in the year of existence of the paper given an active or unselfish aid to the student staff. No credit has been given for work on the paper, and no encouragement has been given to induce talented newcomers to work on The News. No official action has been taken.

Last year's editor-in-chief and his first assistant, the sports editor, after working without any reward and with no prospects for reward, found that they would have to give up their positions on the staff because they could not devote the customary eighteen hour a week which their work required without getting any credit. This year's editor has informed the staff that she will give up her position at the end of this year because she wants to transfer to a school where she may study journalism.

It is time for action. The English department and the administration should make arrangements for courses in journalism to be given next fall. Eventually a department of journalism can be provided, for there is no question about there being a field here for such a department. One, three or five semester hours credit should be given for work on the school paper. Grades should be given according to the amount of a student's work which is published by the paper.

of the amount of managerial work. The administration should take a certain part of each student's fee and in return give him a subscription book to The News and also to the Satyr and The Thoroughbred, and the money accruing from these required fees should be used to finance the paper. In this way the University could have a larger and better paper, for the financial success would be assured and a variety and quantity of talent would be secured for the staff.

Of course, there has always been and always will be in any school opposition to censoring by the faculty of the printed matter in any of the publications. But the organization of the proposed journalism classes does not have to mean censorship. It will simply mean advice and encouragement for students to do more work.

Students can do only so much. They have done that. They have published unaided and without credit a newspaper which has been a credit to the school for a year. But growth and expansion is impossible without the inauguration of these proposals. G. T. R. Jr.

DR. AMRY VANDENBOSCH

The Kernel, on behalf of the students of the political science department and the University at large, wishes to congratulate Dr. Amry Vandebosch for having won a $4,000 traveling fellowship offered by the Social Science Research Council of New York. Dr. Vandebosch will make a detailed study of the Dutch colonial policy and administration and a comparative study of governmental policies of other European nations.

It is indeed gratifying in this case to note recognition of earnest effort and ability. When the announcement came, it was not infrequent that we heard students express their sincere approval of Dr. Vandebosch winning the fellowship. A more popular instructor with the student body would be hard to find. This is shown by the large number of students taking his courses of study in the University.

The Kernel congratulates you, Dr. Vandebosch.

SLEEP WILL HELP

An essential element to scholastic success is sleep. A survey of the grades of college students will afford ample proof that the value of the grades is in direct ratio to the amount of sleep the students receive. The more sleep, the better the grades. Even the college students themselves will admit that most of them spend too many hours before midnight—and sometimes after—seeking to satisfy their appetites for "whoopie," rather than in earnest application for educational progress. Strenuous "night before" result in "cuts" of the morning classes.

One of the greatest problems which youth must solve is how and when to sleep. It must be learned that one hour of sleep before midnight is worth three hours after. Scientists assure us that the most restful sleep is obtained before the midnight hour. Regularity, sincerity and stability are the keywords to the solution of when and how to sleep. Benjamin Franklin said, "Early to bed, early to rise, makes one healthy, wealthy and wise."

COLLEGE COMMENT

The Theta Chis at Oregon are to have a new $48,000 house, and excavation is now under way. Let's hope that the Chi Omegas won't dig that deep.

Senator W. E. Thompson, of the Texas state legislature, recently introduced a bill for the abolition of fraternities and sororities at the University of Texas.

It can't be long now, before it is time for the University of New York students to start purchasing tail lights. That is, if the New York legislature approves a bill introduced by assemblyman Edwin C. Nutt. If the bill passes, pedestrians out after dark must be equipped with a light "clearly visible to persons approaching from the rear."—Auburn Plainsman.

If some of the students at the University had more brains and less "it," there would not be so many flunks.

The fraternities at Williamette college recently resorted to a forcible means of extracting fraternity debts from their brothers. Officers of the fraternities made a plea to the college faculty and those members in debt were not allowed to take their final examinations.

A mysterious prowler in sorority houses at the University of Oregon spread terror among the co-eds on the campus for several months. A senior then confessed that he was the guilty party and after a mental examination was sent to the state insane asylum.

Three hoboes arrested for taking a free ride on a freight train later proved to be girls from Randolph Macon College.

Duke University student council ruled that those freshmen who do not wear their caps this semester, if they have any unexcused cuts will be dropped from the course with an E. A second offense means expulsion. This might serve as a warning for some Kentucky freshmen we know.

A freshman in civil engineering at North Carolina State was suspended in January, 1929, for five years on charges of bootlegging, bringing discredit on the college, and ungentlemanly conduct. He returned to the college and registered for the second semester but the officials soon discovered his identity and immediately handed him his hat.

The absolute inaccuracy of the "blindfold test" as advertised by many cigarette manufacturers has been established by the psychology department of Reed College, Portland, Oregon. The boys couldn't tell the difference between the ones they would "walk a mile for" and the ones that "satisfied."

By a vote of the student body held recently at the University of North Carolina, the Tar Heel will be converted into a daily paper instead of the weekly now being published.

Music, Stage and Screen

By Thomas L. Riley

Lexington motion picture houses are in possession of a wealth of good screen material at the present time and have some worthy openings set for Sunday. Next week we will see and hear Richard Barthelme in his first talking venture and will also see the screen plot of many Ramon Novarro, in his latest attempt.

"Weary River" at Kentucky Sunday Richard Barthelme has held forth as screen highlight for a great number of years. From "Tollable David" in 1921 and "Humoresque" about the same time, he has stood up remarkably well both at the box office and in the opinion of fans. There was only one period in his career that has been marked with a decline and that included such pictures as "The Amateur Gentleman" and "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come." Now in his latest picture, "Weary River," which will open at the Kentucky theater Sunday, we have the star regaining much of his wavering fame, according to all advance reports.

This first National picture tells the story of a convict in a federal prison, his career and his love. It is a tale of touching romance done in a highly commendable manner. Frank Lloyd, whose fame started with "The Sea Hawk" directed "Weary River" which is synchronized on Vitaphone and includes splendid sequences of the underworld woman and from past performances we know that she is thoroughly capable in that sort of part.

"The Flying Fleet," Strand Sunday It seems that an iron-bound rule in the movie industry is that each company must produce at least one airplane picture. Paramount's "Wings," First National's "Lilac Time," and Fox's "Air Circus" are only a few and even FBO crashed through with "The Air Legion."

Now Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has offered "The Flying Fleet" which will open Sunday at the Strand theater and which stars Ramon Novarro, who will always be remembered for "Ben Hur" and several other roles. "The Flying Fleet" tells of the adventures of the U. S. Naval Flying Corps and is said to be a most thrilling as well as informative motion picture. The piece was directed by George Hill who did such a splendid job on "Tell It to the Marines" some time ago. A splendid supporting cast is offered in Anita Page, Ralph Graves, Edward Nugent, Carroll Kyo, and Gardner James. The last mentioned gentleman will always be remembered for his sterling performance in Warner Brothers' poor pictureization of Six Young's play, "Hell Bent For Heaven." Spectacular photography and exciting moments are some of the highlights of "The Flying Fleet" which is augmented with a synchronized music score with all the sound effects thrown in.

The Ben All Program

The Ben All theater will open Sunday with one of the most popular programs ever presented.

delicious programs ever presented in Lexington. Two stage shows and a good picture program will be offered. One stage company is well known in Lexington by this time. It is the Seeman Players. The other stage presentation is one of the highest rating. Hawaiian organizations on the road today. They offer native music and dancing and are said to have some of the best performers in that sort of work of any company of that nature. Another feature of their program is a magic act and that sort of thing has always had a particular interest for us. The screen feature is "Phyllis of the Polies" which boasts of a very clever story and an excellent cast. Alice Day and Matt Moore are co-featured with Lillian Tushman and Edmund Burns offering the support. The picture was directed by Ernest Laemmle for Universal. With this imposing battery of entertainment features we cannot see how the Ben All program can be anything other than pleasing.

Brief Reviews of Current Attractions

"Red Hot Speed," Strand University picture. A highly amusing farce with Reginald Denny doing excellent work and with some good talking sequences. You'll enjoy it.

"The Canary Murder Case," Kentucky, Paramount picture. The best mystery picture in years done in an effective manner with a splendid cast and good direction from Malcolm St. Clair. See it.

Letters to The Editor

Editor of the Kernel
McVey Hall.
I wish to express my appreciation for your editorial in The Kernel on February 22, on the following subject: "Keep the Campus Beautiful." It is a source of real gratification to read articles such as this when one knows it represents the sentiment of the student body at large. The campus at the present time is an unholy sight, we admit it. But, one must take in consideration the fact that with the construction of seven buildings now in progress, the matter of keeping everything spick and span is an utter impossibility unless there is available for this purpose unlimited amount of money to employ labor and material.

It is our purpose at all times to cooperate with every agency on the campus interested in the general scheme of producing the "campus beautiful" and a better University. To this end, if at any time, the agencies of this office can be used for the benefit of The Kernel in the way of news of construction, plans and so on, please feel at liberty to use them.

We welcome The Kernel reporter, and will do everything that is within our power to make his road easy and will see to it personally that he gets the correct information of whatever is necessary to fill out the columns specified in current issues.

Very truly yours,
M. J. CRITCHER,
Supt. Buildings and Grounds.

The sweet young thing turned to a polite young man who was showing her through the factory, and said: "What is that big thing over there?"

"That is a locomotive boiler."
"Why do they boil locomotives?"
"To make the locomotive tender."
And the polite young man continued to look straight ahead.—McGill Daily.

Ever sigh for a little real action?

The hard-looking stranger only yawned at the pay-day activities of Red Gulch.

Piqued at his indifference, several citizens asked why, if Red Gulch wasn't tough enough to interest him, he didn't go back where he came from.

"I can't," the stranger drawled. "That place is so all-fired hard, they kicked all us sissies out!"

A clear case of relativity. If you've smoked

For mild as they are, they satisfy. You know you're smoking them—and you're right glad of it. They're rich with taste, tobacco taste. They... there's no other word, and no other cigarette that fits it... they satisfy.

Recently an article on "World Labor Relations," written by Professor Troxell, was published in the February issue of "The Kentucky Club Woman." Two other articles, one in the August edition of "Public Utilities Report" and another entitled "Public Utility Courses in the College Curriculum," are numbered among his most recent works.

Professor Troxell is instructing a workers' class in economics and parliamentary law at the Central Labor Union hall in Lexington every other Monday night. The class is composed of about 20 members who are organized for this particular field of study.

MISS KATHERINE OWENS RETURNS TO UNIVERSITY

Miss Katherine Owens, who was formerly connected with the University, has returned after several years' absence, to become secretary to the Department of Hygiene.

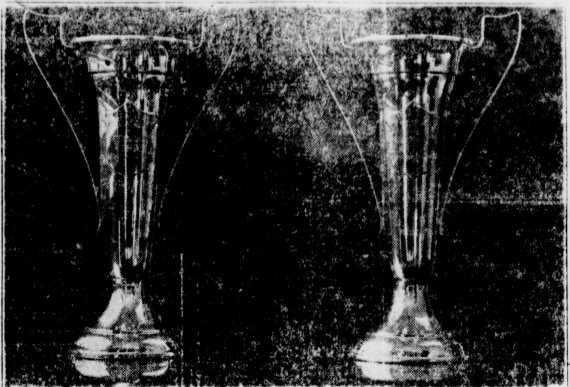

Miss Owens was at first secretary to Dean Anderson, and later became secretary to President Barker at the time of his administration, and she was then transferred to the office of the registrar. In 1919 she left the University to become head bookkeeper at the Denton, Ross, Todd Company, with whom she has been connected until her recent return.

Many friends of Miss Owens who are on the campus are delighted to hear of her return.

Kentucky Wins, Loses in Debates

Centre, Berea and University Squads Engage in Dual Forensic Meets

Each member of the Triangular Debating League, Berea, Centre, and Kentucky, was defeated and was victorious in debates held last Friday afternoon and night in Berea, Danville, and Lexington.

Debating the subject, "Resolved, That a Substitute for the Present Jury System Be Found," Berea won over the University in the debate held in Lexington. Dr. E. A. Wise, of Centre College, the judge, rendered a technical negative decision to Berea. Kentucky's representatives were James S. Porter, Jr., of Lexington; William H. Dyard, of Ashland; and William R. Pearce, of Mott. N. D. Berea's team was composed of Paris Hallion, Rector Harding, and Jesse Coop.

At Danville, Clifford Amys and Sidney Schell, Jr., represented the University on the negative side of the same question and received an unqualified victory from Dr. A. G. Weidler, of Berea College, the critic judge. Centre's debaters were C. L. Smith and Mack Swain.

At Berea Centre won a technical decision rendered by Prof. William R. Sutherland, of the University of Kentucky. The judge gave the verdict because Berea, although establishing the need for a substitute, did not offer its substitute in a manner sufficiently effective. Berea defended the affirmative.

Harvard Dean Is Still Noncommittal

Alfred Hanford Is Silent on George Washington University Questionnaire

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Is Harvard collegiate in its own opinion, or is it not? The answer, apparently, will remain unknown for Dean Alfred C. Hanford of Harvard, after authorizing the quoting of a paragraph stating his views in a letter to Dean H. Grattan Doyle, of George Washington University, who is conducting a nation-wide survey of the opinions of the deans of leading colleges on the question of whether or not the "collegiate" of the humorous press and the stage is typical of the American college student, suddenly changed his mind, and let the Harvard Crimmon and Boston papers to believe that he did not think it worth while to answer Dean Doyle's question.

The Harvard Crimmon, backing up Dean Hanford in declining to answer the questionnaire, held that "the collegiate person cares little for the opinion or feelings of others," although further on in the editorial, the Crimmon is guilty of this very fault in saying: "The present questionnaire can do little more than magnify the collegiate characteristics and further imprint upon the public mind a conception which has unfortunately become synonymous with higher education. In this respect, it is as pernicious an influence as the subject it drags into the limelight."

Columbia Student Dies at Age of 78

NEW YORK — (By New Student Service) — William Cullen Bryant Kemp, "perpetual student" at Columbia University, is dead. At the age of 78 this learner who spent over twenty years at the feet of the professors, became an alumnus of a world that was, for him, mainly campus. After his freshman year, 1868, there was an interlude in his education during which he acceded to his father's wishes and went into business, but on his father's death he returned to his beloved studies. He repeated the degrees of LL. B., B. A., M. A., LL. M., and B. S. If he had taken the trouble to write a thesis, he might have added a Ph. D. to this list. His last registration was for the winter session of 1922 and but for "unpleasant newspaper notoriety" he would have registered for the spring session of that year.

Of course the newspapers continually plagued him, and set all sorts of stories afloat concerning the reasons for his perpetual study. One was to the effect that he would be provided with an income of $2,500 each year if he registered. It is very likely, as Columbia Alumni News observes, that the secret died with him.

HIGHLIGHTS IN CAMPUS HISTORY, NO. 5

Wendell S. Warnock, staid senior, was a lowly freshman in those days. Like other laboring engineers he was afflicted with an English course. The instructor was disgusted with the class.

"Get," he said—or maybe he used the word "wager"—"that there isn't a man in this class who likes English!"

There came no protests from the victims, except from Mr. Warnock. Mr. Warnock began waving his fist violently, and the instructor beamed. "Ah, there is one who likes English. And why, Mr. Warnock, do you like English?"

In solemn tones Mr. Warnock blurted: "Sir, I like English because it is the only language I can speak."

There was silence in great gobs.

Do You Remember When

Several years ago, even before the class of 1929 was enrolled, there was an illicit dealer in the city who catered only to the college trade. Once a young college "willing" appeared on the scene and demanded service.

"Aw, go on away. You ain't no college boy. We just have college boy trade."

The young man was taken aback. "Why, sure I'm a college boy!" he proclaimed irefully.

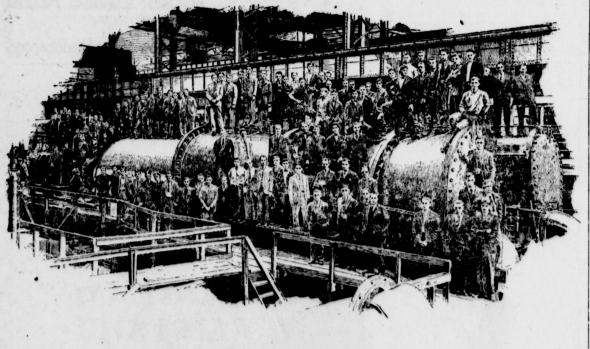

"Yeah," drawled the proprietor, sarcastically. "Well, where's your snake pin?"

A gawky freshman from the hintermost parts of the state had just arrived in town, and he stood at the corner of Main and Limestone for the first time. "They sure is a lot of people that's behind in their hauling," he drawled.

Speaking of rough basketball and sassing the referee, Kentucky once had an annual fee in the net game who habitually roughed up the game. For that game each year it was almost impossible to procure a referee, because he always suffered a sad fate after the game at the hands of irate students.

One year it was but a day before the game a referee had been procured. Then one clever fellow

BATTERIES HOLD FIRST WORKOUTS

Few Pitchers Report to Coach Devereaux for Initial Practice: Are Outnumbered by Catchers.

Under the direction of Coach Pat Devereaux, the would-be pitchers and catchers for the 1929 Cat baseball team held their initial workout in the Men's gymnasium last Monday afternoon.

For one of the few times in history, a baseball coach was greeted by more catchers than pitchers. As a rule, when the first practice is called there are always more men out for the pitching position than any other place on the team. But times have changed. The 'Cat team is going to be sadly lacking for twirlers this season and Coach Devereaux is going to have a job on his hands to develop a pitching staff that will be able to stand the "gaff" of the schedule of hard games on hand.

At the present time Coach Devereaux has issued a call for the battery men only. So far there have been just ten or twelve men to report to him, three being pitchers and the remainder catchers. Material for the battery staff is scarce and the coach would like to have quite a few more men out for the team.

This is a wonderful opportunity for some of the baseball aspirants in school and it would be a good thing if more men would turn out for practice. The men who do come out will be assured every chance possible to make good and Coach Devereaux will devote his time to the developing of any likely pitching prospect.

Practice is being held every day at 4 o'clock in the Men's gymnasium and will continue there until the weather becomes suitable for practice outside. Any man in school that has ever pitched baseball or any man who would care to learn, is urged to come out and try.

The first practice for the entire squad is scheduled for next Monday at 4:00 o'clock. At this time every man who intends to be a candidate for the team is expected to be present. It is improbable that the diamond will be ready for use before two weeks or more, but the men will work the kinks out of their rusty "wings" in the gym and be in shape for the strenuous outside drill. Manager Jack McQuirk also sends out a call for all sophomores and freshmen who wish to try out for manager to report to him in the gymnasium.

COACH BERNIE SHIVELY

Bird in flight. Here is a man to write home about.

Bernie Shively is very busy these traitorous spring days. Dividing his activity between the gridiron and the cinder path he is as bad as an old hen with two broods to mother. Shiv being spring football practice a few weeks ago and he was occupied with the development of another line which could replace the now famous organization whose record last season was a monument to his efforts. Now he has just taken complete charge of the track team and with some of the most promising material ever reported at Kentucky he is expected to turn out a better team than last season when he lost only one mee—that with Tennessee, the Wildcats' old rival. Activities keep Shiv occupied the entire year. Beginning the first of September with football he coaches through the season and then takes charge of the team again in boxing and wrestling classes until spring football is begun. Then comes the track season which lasts until the end of school. But Shiv has well prepared himself for this strenuous career. At Illinois he played with Red Grange and also made the official All-American football team. He was heavyweight wrestling champion of the Big Ten and one of the best hammer-throwers and weight men in the conference. Shiv weighs over 225 pounds but he can outstrip any football player on the varsity squad in a hundred yard dash. He is over 6 feet, 2 inches tall and he is a better pole vaulter than a lot of the candidates who are out for his track team. Imagine Coach Shively, the man mountain, sailing over the cross bar at 9 feet with the ease of a bird in flight. Here is a man to write home about.

THE TOURNAMENT RACKET

Last week I summarized the conditions surrounding the Southern Basketball Tournament in Atlanta, stating that the tournament was under the auspices of the Atlanta Athletic Club and managed solely for profit, predicting that Kentucky could better sponsor the tournament in Lexington. The soundness of the scheme has just been approved by Ed Wilder, secretary of the Lexington Board of Commerce, as he directed an invitation to the Southern Conference to hold the tournament in Lexington in 1930. That would be a boon for Kentucky in consideration of the fact that the Wildcats should have the best team that ever wore the Blue and White next season. The Mauer system is firmly established and the entire team returns intact. There can be little doubt concerning the ability of the promoters in financing the tournament. Thus, the answer to the situation will rest in the completion of the new Transylvania gym which will seat about 3,600 people. The tournament will have to be played on a neutral floor.

CENTRE'S WHITE HOPE

A few years ago Centre had a great football team. It's hard to believe but it's true just the same. Coach Kubale then played with the Fraying Colonels and after a sojourn in Texas he has returned to the scene of his early triumphs to rejuvenate the waning hopes of the Gold and White after several barren seasons on the gridiron. He has earnestly entered into his project and it will probably interest you to know that other athletics have been suspended at Danville until he has finished with spring football practice. This action denotes intense zeal and it will not be hard for you to fathom to whom it is directed. Nevertheless Coach Gamage is still drilling his Wildcats on Stoll field and he will still have a team in the field next fall.

Golf Tournament Planned for South

Lexington May Bid for First Meet of Southern Conference Schools

The executive committee of the Southern Conference, in a recent meeting, appointed a golf committee composed of Dr. J. B. Crenshaw, Georgia Tech; Dr. S. V. Sanford, University of Georgia, and Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, University of Kentucky, to arrange a golf tournament for Southern Conference schools to take place some time this spring.

No definite arrangements have been made as yet, but S. A. Boles, athletic director at the University of Kentucky, has expressed a desire to hold the tourney in Lexington if weather and financial conditions permit. This is the first year an official golf committee has been named and is a step in the right direction towards popularizing a sport that has found favor in the major colleges and universities throughout the country. Lexington is at a disadvantage in bidding for the tournament as the courses here are not in good shape until late in the school year.

The athletic department has taken no steps toward organizing a team but in the event that the tournament is held the University will probably be represented either by a team or individual entries.

Night Football Is Becoming Popular

Night football will come into national prominence in 1929, according to an article in the March College Humor. Several schools have played football at night in the past as an experiment, and so satisfactory were the results that it is believed that night football has come to stay. At least it will be brought into the national spotlight next November when Coach Knute K. Rockne's Notre Dame eleven meets Coach O. M. Solem's Drake University, Missouri Valley, eleven at Soldiers' Field in Chicago, which all of us remember as being the scene of the Dempsey-Tunney fight.

It will be Chicago's first night game of football. There will be brilliant pyrotechnics. There will be spectacular devices never before thought of in connection with a gridiron contest. Just imagine the team on defense trying to solve the mysteries of the hidden ball at night. It is hard enough to follow the ball in bright daylight, so Chicago is expected to turn out to the tune of one hundred thousand spectators to view this battle.

Two other Missouri Valley conference schools are considering nocturnal equipment for the 1929 season, and it won't be long before night football will become popular. —The Reflector.

INDIAN VS. AUTO

A young Indian, suddenly oil rich, bought a $5,000 automobile and drove away. The next day he was back at the sales agency, footsore, walking with a limp, and his head bandaged. This was his explanation: "Drive out big car; buy gallon of moonshine; take big drink; step on gas. Trees and fences heap fast. See big bridge coming down road. Turn out to let bridge go by. Bang! Car gone. Gimme 'nother one." —The Reflector.

MANY PROSPECTS REPORT FOR TRACK

A long line of candidates awaited Manager Tom Stevens last Monday afternoon when he opened the cage in the training room of the Men's gymnasium for the purpose of distributing track uniforms to those who might apply for them.

The track was in poor condition but will be repaired and rolled as soon as the weather permits. The men who signed up for the track events were able to get a slight workout Monday by plodding around the oval on loose cinders that rendered the footing uncertain. Work in the field with the shot, discus, and javelin was practically impossible, due to the water-soaked condition of the ground.

The heavy snow which blanketed the campus Tuesday drove the cinders to the gym where they dotted their spikes and donned basketball shoes to dash around the floor in an effort to get sufficiently

"hot and bothered" to call the day's workout a success.

Although there is a large number of men out for practice, the field is quite open for newcomers since none of the events are considered cinched by the members of the present squad. Anyone having the ability to develop along any line will find ample opportunity to display their wares on Stoll field this spring. The team will probably be built around the returning lettermen: Captain Kavanaugh, Thomasson, West and Owens.

CLUB PRESENTS CANTATA

The Georgetown College Club, an organization whose personnel includes students of the college and members of the church choir of the city, will present the popular cantata "Jon of Arc" in the college chapel on Thursday evening, March 7.

The cantata which is one of Saul's musical triumphs, has been presented with unparalleled success in the colleges and universities of the South, and comes to Georgetown lauded as a masterpiece in melody.

North Carolina State Surprises by Winning Southern Net Title

TOURNAMENT IS DARK HORSE MECCA

(By Vernon Rooks)
The gallant Redshifts of North Carolina State were the bruised and battered Southern Conference basketball crown. The Wolfpack from Raleigh received the inauguration ceremonies into southern conference royalty Tuesday night when the Blue Devils of Duke University paid homage, 44 to 35, in the Atlanta finals.

Three teams, generally favored as possible winners, failed to reach the semi-finals in one of the most "cock-eyed" tournaments in the history of the South. The Georgia Bulldogs, conquerors of Kentucky, and the last team heralded with championship "T" of the Georgia picture, 43 to 37, in the semi-final round with Duke.

The defending champion, the University of Mississippi, eliminated by North Carolina State, 34 to 32, in a heart-breaking semi-final game. Ole Miss upset pre-tournament prophecies by defeating Washington and Lee on Saturday.

The crimson-clad fishes led by a lanky center, Goodwin by name, won their way into the finals by defeating Tennessee, Clemson, and Ole Miss, with a comfortable margin.

Pipe Smoker Has a "Kick" All His Own

St. Paul, Minn., June 1, 1927
Larus & Bro. Co., Richmond, Va.

About five years ago, after trying out many different styles of pipes from the Missouri mercantile to the evening meerschaum, including the up-side-down style made popular by Vice-President Dukes University, I was convinced that just about all the tobacco then on the market except Edgeworth, I finally decided that pipe-smoking was not for me.

For the last year or so I noticed the boys around the pipe-smoking, Edgeworth to the exclusion of all other tobaccos and evidently getting real pleasure from their pipe.

In April of this year I was in Canada on a business trip and decided to take another whirl at pipe-smoking. So I invested a good share of my savings in a pipe and a few cents additional for a can of Edgeworth.

From then on I have been frantically kicking myself around the block about once each day when I think of the five year years I put in trying to get along without a pipe. I am now trying to make up for lost time and am succeeding quite well. Why I failed to try Edgeworth long ago will have to go down in history as an unsolved question. But now that I have found it, the years ahead look rosy to me.

Very truly yours,
Ben Bayer

Michigan Students Celebrate Victory

Michigan's basketball victory over Wisconsin was celebrated Monday night by 4,000 students who attempted to storm their way into the Michigan theater.

The appearance of Dr. Clarence Cook Little, president of the university, finally dispersed the crowd after three attacks had been repelled by police tear bombs.

The throwing of bottles, eggs, stones and vegetables by the crowd resulted in the breaking of a large window, six ornamental doors and damage to a giant electric sign.

Six students were arrested but only one was being held by police for investigation.

In the first two, The Tarheels offered no opposition to the Wolfpack but the dribbling demons could not be denied.

In the second game, the Wolfpack took the trophy to a state that has held it five times in nine years of competition. The University of North Carolina representatives have won the title for four seasons. The record of conference basketball champions since the tournament's inauguration follows:

- 1921—University of Kentucky.
- 1922—University of North Carolina.
- 1923—Mississippi A. and M.
- 1924—University of North Carolina.
- 1925—University of North Carolina.
- 1926—University of North Carolina.
- 1927—Vanderbilt University.
- 1928—University of Mississippi.
- 1929—North Carolina State.

Annual Pow-Wow to Be Held Wednesday

The Kentucky pow-wow, which immediately precedes the annual state high school net meet at the University, will be held Wednesday night, March 13, at the Phoenix Hotel. This affair is sponsored by the Lexington Alumni Club and will be in honor of the sixteen visiting teams and their coaches who are here to participate in the tourney.

This entertainment was inaugurated last year by Cecil Coach Harro Gannage and proved such a success that it was decided to make it an annual affair. Its purpose is to bring together the potential stars still in high school and the many University athletes.

All athletes who attend are expected to wear their "K" sweaters. Approximately 128 players and 16 coaches will be guests at the banquet. Definite arrangements have not been made about the postmaster, speakers, and other forms of entertainment but it is certain that Elmer G. Sulzer and his 80-piece musical organization. The best band in Dixie, will be on hand to furnish the music.

IN THE SPORTLIGHT

TRACK

Snow or sleet, rain or shine, the annual spring (?) intra-mural track meet will take place on Saturday, March 23, two weeks from tomorrow. This date has been definitely set and it will take more than the wrath of the weather gods to prevent the cream of the University cinder stars from having their semi-annual frolic on that day.

Although it may be necessary to use snow plows and issue a call for volunteers to search for snow-covered javelins and discuses, the meet will go on just the same. The snow and rain which fell the first part of the week have greatly hindered the athletes in their workouts and made it impossible to work on the track. Many of the prospective speedsters, however, have been training daily inside the gym.

The schedule of the meet calls for fourteen events, including all of the runs from a mile down to a hundred yards, two hurdle events, the regular field sports, and a mile relay. The team cup contest year was won by the Sigma Chi fraternity, with Pi Kappa Alpha a close second. The Phi Kaps had a very good year on the meet for two successive years.

The time of the meet is somewhat earlier this spring than it was last year and will probably catch the number of competitors out of condition. However, the company is guaranteed to be exceedingly fast since every student in the University, except the pacifist business, is eligible to participate in these contests. The entry lists must be made in the intramural office by noon on Friday, March 23.

Noted Football Coach Comments On Ability of Howard Harpster

We have often wondered just what "Wally" Steffen, master of deceptive football, head of many an brilliant gridiron aggressor, and developer of two all-Americans, thinks of his latest masterpiece, Howard Harpster. In a little discussion on football in general and quarter backs in particular, the judge had a few interesting observations to make. He considers Harpster the best defensive quarterback he has ever seen, although a good look into a mirror would undoubtedly disclose a likeness of one who, in his college days, was more than equal to the cagy Carnegie's captain in all respects. "Harp" was as smart as they make them in running his ball club and according to the Judge he had no equal in collegiate circles as a "spot passer."
"I mean passing the ball to a certain player in a particular section of the field or to one of two men in certain previously-defined area. Harpster could shoot that ball with unerring accuracy and speed straight into the arms of the man who was supposed to receive it and it was just impossible to intercept such a pass. Those who saw the Scotch-Irish tangle should be able to get the point. Remember the very down play of the game after Notre Dame kicked off to us? We faked a line play, "Harp" stepped back a few feet, shot the ball squarely into Rosemberg's arms as "Ted" was on the dead run, and the Irishmen didn't bring him down until he had galloped to their 11-yard line, for a 40-yard gain. That play to upset Rocke's men on the very next play Letzelter walked straight through their line for a touchdown with nary a man laying hands on him. But it was that "spot pass" which had been so accurately thrown by "Harp" which brought about the following touchdown and many of the others which followed in the game.
To illustrate again, in the same game. Remember our fast touchdown? "Harp" so completely out-

WILDCATS SUNK BY GEORGIA FIVE

The Georgia Bulldogs certainly got sweet revenge by defeating the Kentucky Wildcats in the Southern Conference basketball tournament. The Wildcats won the championship of the South in 1921 from the Bulldogs by a one-point margin and the Georgians have never forgotten it, wrecking the Kentucky hopes in the second round of the 1925 meet.
The Wildcats were far off form in the tournament. Against Tulane they showed much of an offense until the power that they displayed in the games played during the season. The first half of this game was possibly the worst exhibition of basketball seen in the southern tournament.
Tulane, as usual, tried their football tactics and the Wildcats tried to play basketball, but it looked more like a fumbling match. The Kentuckians trailed at the half, 11 to 8. However, in the second half the boys hit their stride although missing many shots and won by the safe margin of 29 to 15.
Combs was the star of the Tulane game, scoring six field goals the short time he was in the game. Against Georgia, Kentucky had little to offer except a wonderful fighting spirit. The Wildcats played an endless game at times and never showed much of an offense until the last two minutes of the game. With the score 26 to 16 in favor of the Bulldogs, Kentucky showed a wonderful comeback and the only thing that saved Georgia was the gun ending the game. It was a heartbreaking game to lose but the Wildcats played below their form and the Bulldogs deserved the victory.
The elimination from the tournament of Kentucky was a sore disappointment to the members of the team and to the myriads of loyal supporters in the Blue Grass. Many of the fans still maintain that Kentucky has the best material in the South and some believe that their team is the best regardless of the score. With the squad expected to return in its entirety next year, the Wildcats should present another formidable outfit to southern basketball fans.
The following is a summary of the two games that Kentucky played during the tournament.
Kentucky (28) Pos. (15) Tulane Spicer (3).....(14) Savoy Little McGinnis (6) F.....(2) Walsh Milward (3).....(5) Roberts McBrayer.....(3).....(5) Marjunn Big Mc

On the Way Out to Versailles McGREGOR'S Filling Station

McGREGOR'S Filling Station
The same paper made the following comment in praise of Little Louis McGinnis and his first performance against their team: "McGinnis was the best visitor had to offer. He was enough. He was in and starting everything that happened and every thing that happened. The entire Kentucky offense seemed to hang around this little bit of dynamite and they couldn't have done better one to build around."
And again after the second contest The Reflector had this much to say for the fighting little Kentucky forward:
"McGinnis, diminutive forward for the Wildcats, was the Bulldogs' worst friend again. He worked the ball through the defense like it was easy and then proceeded to take off the scoring honors. His slashing crisp shot and flashing floor work was the greatest threat in the Maroon's side and his little varsity and explosive deserves most of the credit for the Bulldogs' defeat."
From Annapolis comes the information that Louis A. Bryan, of Lexington, a former student at the University, has been elected captain of the freshman crew at the Naval Academy. The report also says in part that Bryan was captain and tackle on the plebe football team last fall and is following exactly in the trace of Midshipman Albert D. Gray, of Philadelphia, who was captain and tackle of the plebe eleven last year and then was named as captain of the plebe crew.
"Bryan is splendidly built and gives great promise as an athlete. He weighs 185 pounds and is about six feet in height. He takes naturally to athletics and has an excellent chance of making the varsity in both football and rowing next year. Attending the University of Kentucky before entering the Naval Academy, Bryan played on the freshman eleven there."

EASTERN TRIES CONTEST

The department of music at Eastern Kentucky State Teachers' College will soon inaugurate a music memory contest at the school. The finals will be held during music week in May of this year. The individual prizes will consist of three medals, gold, silver and bronze; the latter two are donated by the National Bureau for the Advancement of Music. A total of 50 records will be used in the preliminary hearings and a total of 20 will be selected for use in the final test. The contest will be held under the direction of John Orr Stewart, head of the department of music at Eastern, assisted by Misses Campbell and Telford of the music faculty and students from the department.

All of the leads and most of the persons who have parts have either had parts in some other productions of the club or have had important roles in other plays.

Four No-Decision Debates Are Held

A series of four debates were held this week between the University of North Carolina and the University of Kentucky, on the question, "Should the Government Own and Operate Hydro-Electric Power Plants?" They were all no-decision meets.

Members of the Kentucky team took the negative side of the subject, declaring that the government should not own and operate hydro-electric plants, while the North Carolina men produced evidence to show that government ownership is for the best interests.

E. W. Whitley and J. C. Williams of North Carolina, formed one team, and Richard M. Weaver and Raymond Auxier, of the University, the other.

Following the debate, Dr. Forrest R. Black, of the College of Law, held an open forum discussion of the subject. Members of the audience asked questions and argued many points the speakers presented.

The four men also appeared in Nicholasville Monday morning. Cynthia Monday night, and Mt. Sterling Tuesday night, debating the same subject.

SIGMA DELTA CHI WILL ELECT ASSOCIATE MEMBERS

Kentucky chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional journalism fraternity at the University, has announced that a number of outstanding newspaper men of the state will be selected as associate members of the fraternity at its next meeting.

This custom of the fraternity has been kept by the other chapters of Sigma Delta Chi, and they have made a policy to select one or two of the practicing journalists of their respective sections of the country as honorary members. This is the first time the Kentucky chapter has selected men that are not students, and it is believed that about ten or twelve of the leading journalists of the state will be asked to become members of the fraternity.

RIFLE TEAM VICTORIOUS

The University rifle team was the winner in five out of six interscholastic rifle matches fired last week. They were defeated only by the Ohio State University team, which amassed a score of 3638 while Kentucky scored 3536. The rifle team of Culver Military Academy is endeavoring to make arrangements for a man-to-man match here April 13.

TAYLOR SURVEY SHOWS PROGRESS

Reorganization of Arkansas Educational Program to Be Result of Year's Research; Plans Near Completion.

Dean William S. Taylor, of the College of Education, returned to his office last Saturday from an extended trip in Arkansas where he has been making a survey of the secondary school situation in view of a complete reorganization of the program of studies of that state.

This survey was undertaken by Dean Taylor at the invitation of I. P. Womack, state superintendent of public instruction of Arkansas. After the programs of studies have been set up for the schools of various sizes in the state and teaching combinations have been outlined, the teacher-training programs in the higher institutions of learning in Arkansas will be reorganized to fit into the programs of the secondary schools. It is so arranged that when a teacher has been trained in any institution in Arkansas, he may find the teaching combinations in the higher schools of the state for which he has received training.

This educational survey, which has been under way since May, 1928, according to Dean Taylor, is practically completed. The State Department of Education in Arkansas is assisting in the compilation of all data and Dean Taylor states that one more trip to Arkansas to finish working out the details with the teacher-training institutions will probably result in the final programs for both the secondary schools and for the teacher-training institutions.

PAUL McBRAYER IS ELECTED 'CAT LEADER'

The past two seasons he has played on the varsity team.

At the Southern Conference tournament held at Atlanta last week he was regarded as one of the best offensive and defensive guards in the tourney. His height and agility enabled him to take the ball off the backboard with great ease.

McBrayer's outstanding performance this year, however, was chalked up in the Washington and Lee game when his accurate shooting at long range greatly helped the 'Cats trim one of the best teams in the South.

Letters and numerals were awarded the members of the varsity and freshman teams. Those receiving letters were Lawrence McClintock, Louis McGinnis, Carey Spicer, Stanley Milward, Hayes Owens, Cecil Conner, Paul McBrayer, Elmer Gih, Claire Dees and Manager Bill Griffin.

Members of the championship freshman team who were awarded numerals at the meeting were Little, Kendall, Kleiser, Roberts, Kistner, Truery, Bradley, Thorn, Townsend, Phillips, Walker Yates, Bell, Benson, Smoot and Wade.

Leonard Wealey was selected as basketball manager for next year by the members of the varsity squad. He will succeed Manager Bill Griffin.

UNIVERSITY RADIO TO SERVE STUDENTS

The boys think it great fun to get in touch with operators at other college stations, and thus far have communicated with Penn State, Ohio State, Minnesota, Iowa and Mississippi.

The University station has received signals from Japan, Australia, England, Canada, every part of the United States and its possessions, and virtually every continent. The Lexington public does not seem to take kindly to the idea of transmitting messages by radio, but several members of the engineering faculty have taken advantage of the opportunity to send messages to South America, Belgium, Germany and Holland.

The present transmitter was designed by Fred J. Friel and Robert Kern, freshmen in the University. They expect to increase the power and remodel the station soon, so that it will indeed be able to reach all parts of the world.

The whole idea of a radio station was and is a hobby of Mr. Watkins and he devotes most of his spare time to it. Mr. Watkins is trying out a new system of code teaching—that of learning by sound only. Thus far, it has proven very satisfactory, and is a much less complicated method of learning.

When asked whether there were any girls interested in radio, Mr. Watkins shook his head regretfully. "I wish they were interested," he laughed. "They would make things interesting."

COLLEGE EDITOR GETS DISMISSAL

Senior at Toronto University Held This Afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Recreation Room of Patterson Hall

TORONTO, ONT.—(By New Student Service.)—Another college editor has been dismissed for writing candid editorials and another campus has been split apart over the question of censorship. The epidemic of editorial dismissals has visited Canada and deprived Mr. L. J. Ryan, a senior at the University of Toronto, of his job.

As usual, differing interpretations of the duties of the college editor lie at the bottom of the trouble. Because he capped a series of outspoken editorials with a frank discussion of what one student newspaper called the "ubiquitous practice of peering," Mr. Ryan was deposed by a student government, which, it seems, was driven to the action by the governing body of the university. Thereupon, Mr. Ryan who appears to be a very militant young man, raised the issue of a genuine student government in conjunction with that of a free newspaper. His case was championed by the Toronto Evening Telegram which gave over a section to the deposed editor and his staff.

The student senate elected a new editor and a new staff. The students signified their distaste for the "strikebreaking" sheet by making a bonfire of it on the campus. And after a period of deadlock, Caput, a body composed of several deans and the university president, stepped into the controversy and promised to make a thorough investigation of the entire question of student government.

The subject of his discussion was "Investigation of the Teacher's Method." Due to his previous inspection tour of the colleges of Missouri and Illinois, he was able to give some very interesting information.

GYM EXITS ARE ENLARGED

Four sets of double doors are being installed on the Euclid avenue side of the Men's gymnasium to afford better facilities for entering and leaving the building during basketball games. When the construction is finished there will be an exit of 24 additional feet. If the new exits do not empty the building in a suitable time, like improvements will be made on the other side of the building.

CHEMISTS WILL MEET

darvation of war-torn Europe. His campaign carried on for this purpose unquestionably established him as a philanthropic humanitarian. And now, after ten years, Herbert Hoover should feel repaid.
