It's A 100-1 Shot That You'll Finish By A "Dirty Nose"

Students Get Out the Old Cloth and Begin Polishing Apples

By ODIS LEE HARRIS Spring fever is here and the vacation over. Now is the time when temperatures go up and grades go down.

You are entering the home stretch of the semester. The next six weeks will determine whether you will place, or show, whether you are just an also ran, whether you are a 100 to 1 shot, or whether you win by a nose—a usually "dirty nose."

Now is the time when the best girl will seem to have a boyfriend more handsome, and both will wonder if professors are born old or if they are just immune to spring fever.

These are the "daisy days." Class attendance will drop to a record low and those that do attend will be in a haze. The scent of the fresh lawn grass drifting in through the window increases the intoxication, and as the professor endeavors vainly to impress the importance of cranberries as a food or how the correlation between the number of hot dogs consumed in the United States and the number of dots in a bottle of red ink, the student highly inspired, and though incapable, attempts to pour out his soul in poetry.

If the discovery proves as valuable as is expected, excavations will be continued all summer and on regular field trips.

KEA COMMENCES ANNUAL SESSION

Sixty Members of UK Faculty in Attendance; President McEv. Dean Taylor to Make Addresses

Approximately sixty members of the University of Kentucky faculty, including President Frank L. McEvoy, are in Louisville attending the sixtieth annual convention of the Kentucky Educational Association, which opened Wednesday and continuing through Saturday.

The largest attendance in the history of the association was predicted for the convention by W. P. King, convention secretary. He estimated the attendance would exceed 7,000, one thousand above last year.

President McEvoy and Dean W. S. Taylor will address sectional meetings to be held during the convention. Other speakers at the general sessions will include Gov. A. B. Chandler and United States Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Carolina.

WEBB ELECTED PRESIDENT
Prof. W. S. Webb, head of the Departments of Physics, Anthropology and Archaeology at the University, was elected president of the central section, American Anthropological association, at its annual meeting held recently at Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill. U. K. GEOLOGIST HEADS NEW SCIENCE GROUP
Dr. J. S. McHargue, head of the Department of Chemistry at the University of Kentucky Experiment station, and president of the Kentucky Academy of Science, has requested David M. Young, curator of the University of Kentucky museum of Geology, to form a division of Geology and Geography and arrange for a special meeting of that division at the meeting of the Kentucky Academy of Science in Bowling Green, May 8.

This new division will be formed at the request of President McHargue, because the physical science division, in which section the geologists and geographers took part, has a large number of papers scheduled and the president thought it better to separate this group from the general physical science division.

Honorary Will Initiate Player

"Virgin Mary" of Obermergau Passion Play to Be Honored

Miss Amy Rutz, the "Virgin Mary" of the Obermergau Passion Play in 1930 and again in 1934, when the play was given in honor of its 300th anniversary, will be initiated as an associate member into Phi Beta, honorary dramatic and music fraternity, on Saturday, April 18, in the Woman's building.

Miss Rutz, who was an exchange student at Rollins College, Winterpark, Fla., and who was pledged to Phi Beta while in school there, has been on a speaking tour of the United States the past two months.

A formal reception will be given from 9 to 12 o'clock tonight by Phi Beta at the University Woman's building. Invitations have been issued to friends and patrons of the fraternity. A point luncheon of the alumnae and actives will be given in honor of Miss Rutz Saturday at 12:30 p. m. in the Rose room of the Phoenix hotel.

Saturday night, Miss Rutz will give an illustrated lecture on "The Passion Play," at 8 p. m. in the University Training School auditorium.

Tickets for the lecture may be obtained today and tomorrow in the lobby of the Phoenix hotel.

Prof. T. H. Hildebrandt, head of the Mathematics department at the University of Michigan, spoke to the staff and majors of the mathematics department in McVey hall Tuesday afternoon.

night and day

How many of you listen to Bing Crosby's hour every Thursday night?... I have to work but I hear he has a new program, and that Bob Burns is generally the cause of the hour getting over with a big bang. Here are two of his best ones that were related to me. It seems that Arkansas razorbacks are about the toughest things under the sun. Illustrating his point on this matter, Burns said that once when his father was blowing up some tamps, he came to an extra big one which needed twice the quantity of dynamite necessary to budge it. A long fuse was employed as a detonator so as to allow everyone to get to the next county before this prodigious amount of explosive would have a chance to go off, but a minute before the explosion, the toughest of the razorbacks of the vicinity gobbled the whole conglomeration, cap fuse, and dynamite down in one gulp. Everyone scattered, trying to get out of the way before the catastrophe occurred. In Burns's own nasal twang—here's what happened. "That loch come a-runnin' right straight at us. We all scattered right fast like, but he told us he was right on it. It shored was a terrible explosion. They heard it over in Oklahoma.... And I'll tell you one thing, we had a mighty sick hawg there for a couple days!"

He also tells one about his granddaddy, who "wuz allus experimentin' around like." The old gentleman worked for a couple of days on the mountain behind the town diggin' at the base of a huge boulder for what purpose no one could discern. His Nibs, one day, got the public disgusted, and rolled it down the hill through the town. It went through the city hall, the bank and the general store as if they were made of papier mache.... There was great consternation, naturally, at the damage done. The old gentleman patiently waited till he hobbled down the hill, traced the course of the boulder minutely and arriving where the stone had burst itself halfway into a cypress-bank, after walking around it, probing its surface microscopically, and paying no attention to the mystified crowd attending him in his search, said "Yep. That's right, no moss!" If you have never heard him, listen some night. I think it will be well worth your while.

The weather—"If you don't like our Kentucky weather, just wait a minute!... true enough.... Did anybody get caught in light clothes as I did,.... For sake of your health, I hope not. Might I solicit the cooperation of the student body in going to their knees every Tuesday night to ask in humble prayer that we be spared the agony of another rainy spring such as we had last year? I grew fine and a waterproof back from paddling around in the sush and sleet last May, or was it April? I am not sure, because I had decided to wear a leithary and stupor by the first of May last year.... due to the inclement atmosphere.... And going home this weekend to buy a spring suit.... Oh death, where is thy sting...."

An amusing little note.... The eds of the Kernel grew quite proud of the press record they established one day, getting the paper "put to bed" at the early hour of 4:35 p. m. November 8.... They swelled visibly with pride for a few days until one lamentable night when they "busted" the record on the other end; they were later, perhaps, in "getting the paper to bed" than any of their predecessors had ever been.... I see no big placard posted up for that one, such as the one they had printed when they got away early.

Mr. Portmann of the Minneapolis Tribune fame ("Now when I worked on the Minneapolis 'Tribune!') has had a little trouble with his teeth. One of them had to be extracted. The result is unacceptably funny. Before the yank he had a hard time saying "statistics" with the missing molar, the effect has now descended from something "bad" to a thing truly horrible to bear.... Sounds more like a hissing of an escape valve on a river boat. Hope I am not exposing a skeleton in the family closet. We don't even have a closet any more.

to unlock his office door.... He now has a glass eye.... and a new door. When reminds me, he now courts heavily in several sorority houses, playing the field I understand. I want to be around when he finds the one and only. Will I give him the raz, his kind always hit hard when they take the fatal step. Keep your eyes open, folks. The dance this year seem to be much more crowded than last year. That is a good sign, but not for guys like me who need a half acre to themselves when they cavort on the floor.... Maybe they seemed more jammed this year because I have had to change my shoe size, from a 11 to a 12, little room left for the chaperones.

Here is a good one on Joe Quinn, editor of the Kernel in sports.... He has had a bitter feud of long standing with the business office of the sheet.... regarding advertising on the back page.... where Mr. Quinn is wont to place his inextinguishable sports stories.... He was eloquent over the failures of said office.... in using his page for filling up with all sorts of nondescript advertising.... generally occupying better than half the page.... He claims it has ruined his disposition arguing for more space.... At the KIFA convention, an address on "Sports Page Makeup".... With tears in his eyes, he fervently assured us he had to have a firm grip on his temper and iron control to keep from breaking down and bawling like a baby.... and "putting those poor fellows wise to what they were going up against".... His gesticulations and Yankee epithets are rich to watch and bear in mind. When Difford shows him the ad layout after a good week-end.... having eight inches of the one hundred forty inches on the page used for advertising....

But Joe got even.... Toher day he walked in and blantly informed Jimmy Shropshire he couldn't send the Kernel through the mails.... Mouth agape, Shrop asked why.... To which Joe replied, with bitter sarcasm that "a straight advertising sheet is barred from the mails by government regulations" spun on his heel and walked out to sit in a corner all afternoon and gloat over his "victory".... but they are scowly in that office, I told the news staff the day of publication once that an eight page paper was scheduled for the next day.... Caught them with the well known pantaloons....

There will be no meeting of the W. S. G. A. Council Monday, according to an announcement by Frances Kerr, retiring president of the association.

Applications Ready For "Big Sisters"

Women Interested in WSGA Movement Should File Cards

All women students interested in acting as "Big Sisters" for next year's freshmen, are asked to get application cards from the office of the Dean of Women in the Administration building so that they may be filed for the summer.

The "Big Sister" movement was started by the Women's Self Government association this year in order to help freshmen on the campus become acquainted with upperclassmen and faculty and to help them orient themselves to new surroundings and college life.

During the summer freshmen will be assigned "Big Sisters" who will correspond with them, meet them in September and help them during freshman week. In this way there will be less confusion about registration, since upperclassmen will help those girls who are new to the process.

Any woman student may apply as a "Big Sister" and will be assigned "Little Sisters" who have as much in common with them as possible. Further information may be gotten from the office of the Dean of Women or from members of the W. S. G. A. Council.

OHIO CONDEMSN FUTURE VETS

The Ohio House of Representatives has voted overwhelmingly to condemn the Veterans of Future Wars organization on the Ohio State campus. The Pershing Rifles post was frankly pleased with their action and met Friday to map a plan of showing their disapproval of the movement.

For Digestion's sake ... smoke CAMELS

MENTAL ACTIVITY tends to slow up the flow of the natural digestive secretions. Camels with meals and between meals help to restore normal activity. Camels set you right!

Good digestion makes life more cheerful and enjoyable. Noise, worry, hurry, strain, and mental effort slow down the digestive process—the flow of essential digestive fluids is retarded.

Camels are a positive aid in relieving the effects of high-pressure living. Science and common experience are in accord that smoking a Camel is a pleasant and effective way to assist digestion. For Camels increase the flow of digestive fluids. And Camels are so mild that you can smoke all you want and they never get on your nerves.

AT THE MAYFAIR ROOM of the Book-Cadillac Hotel in Detroit, Camels are outstandingly popular. The fine tobaccos of Camels, their delightful flavor and "lift," are a natural complement to perfect dining. Paul Fischer, who adds a pleasing personal welcome to this smart and exclusive setting, has observed that Camels are the favorite here. "A glance around our tables," he says, "proves that those who appreciate quality have made Camels their choice."

MANILA BAY AGAIN?

A recent news story told of a German liner which passed too close to one of the United States' secret islands near Manila. The purpose of this island is to help fortify Manila harbor, and the equipment and defense mechanism is not open to inspection of the public.

The United States authorities in Manila have "cited" the Germans for their action, and have opened the topic to discussion. Acts similar to this are responsible for a great deal of hard feeling between nations.

It is a deplorable fact that nations, such as Germany, are continually warring or preparing to war, and that they will not cease annoying non-belligerent powers.

One of the outstanding difficulties in Europe today is the lack of trust between the countries. Greece recently desired to reopen the subject of repudiated war debts.

The proposed American peace plan for North and South America is taking shape. Such a plan is a healthy one, and should be successful. It is a strange procedure for the United States to get into an "American Court," after refusing to enter the World Court.

If European countries get too inquisitive, as in the case of Germany's liner, 'Reliance' last week, we may build up such a sentiment that war cannot be avoided.

THERE MAY BE SOMETHING IN THE IDEA

Just 100 years ago the first organized attempt to prevent the recurrence of a foreign war was made by a group of men in this country.

The recent formation by college students of Veterans of Future Wars, Gold Star Mothers of Future Wars and later the International Order of Diplomats, Creators of Future Wars, while they may in their very aim, offend other respectable and worthwhile organizations, are striking at the problem from a new angle and with a new kind of weapon.

The newest of these organizations based upon ridicule, the I. O. D., C. of F. W. has a slightly different purpose. It purports to devote itself to "making the next war as devastating as possible," omitting any mention of collecting bonuses and the like.

One thing that the V. F. W. and the other organizations may have or have not intended to do is now becoming apparent and may prove to be the best premise in the entire symposium.

When the storm which has greeted the appearances of these new clubs clears away, it may be found that they are contributing some worthwhile ideas to the cause of world peace.

Guignol Is Busy Scene After Week's Performance Says Writer

By LYDIA TUCKER. A time of real confusion is the Monday after the week of the play at Guignol. The sets are being moved out, those lovely plush looking curtains turned into an immense piece of old cloth which five girls are struggling to fold, cars are parked out in front with people rushing in and out of the theatre carrying lamps, tables, pictures and what have you.

Now in struts the competent freshman "Hello, Frank. You surely were a hit in the play. I heard everyone say so. I just stopped in to see about my grade. They aren't posted. Not until after Thursday. Now Frank, you know I worked so hard—why I was over here every afternoon. I— I— I— So I'm confident that I'll get an A. (Silence) Won't I Frank?"

"Hello! Guignol Theatre. Yes, Martha. No the grades haven't been made yet. Not until Thursday. You know your part in working on the play isn't over, we still have a lot of work to be done. Yes, yes I know how hard you worked. No not until Thursday. Yes, come over this afternoon.

"Mr. Fowler. (In comes a bashful little girl) "I came in to ask you my grade."

Mr. Fowler loudly: "I don't have the grades." Looking up he sees space, only space. Then comes a "voice from the hall whispering "I was afraid to go in there anyway, you see how terrible he is."

Kernel Editorial Writer Honored

Notice was received this week by the Kernel editorial board that a member of the staff, Dick Boyd, Louisville, a senior in the College of Arts and Sciences, has had an editorial written by him which appeared in the March 27 issue of the Kernel, entitled "A School of Public Affairs," selected as one of the outstanding articles appearing in collegiate newspapers of the country by the Intercollegiate Digest published in New York.

This is the second straight month that Boyd has been so honored, another editorial of his having been chosen for its merit in February by the same publication.

Hoi Pollui

"Work, ah, how I love it. I can sit and gaze at it for hours and hours." These two sentences by Jerome K. Jerome have become the dominating force on the campus from all indications. Sweethearts gabbling on the green, the whirr of the lawn mowers, the cadets marching up and down the drill field all form a part of what is known as Spring in Kentucky, and what a fever! And I hereby go on record as being strongly against Spring vacations. It hurts more to come back to school after it than all the other vacations put together.

Marrriages and Engagements

This stuff about Kentucky hospitality must be right if we can judge by the glowing phrases uttered by The Good Morning column in The Herald, praising the manner in which Tridell Marjorie Fleber greeted the ODK delegates to the convention a couple of weeks ago. Wonder where "G. M." has been all these years to not have known about her before? We could have told him that.

One minute we hear that KD Billie Holliday is pinned to Fugazzi and the next it's somebody else. Wish she would let us know the truth of the matter. She must be one of those kind you dream about but seldom ever see.

And why do KA Frank Caywood's frat brothers keep asking me to run down his interest in a certain green coupe as of late?

...but the squirrels were disgusted

TELEPHONE engineers had to find a way to stop gray squirrels gnawing holes in the lead sheath of telephone cables. Even a tiny hole may let in moisture—short circuit the wires—and put a number of telephones out of service temporarily.

Many ideas were tried, but the squirrels gnawed on. Finally the cables were painted with black asphaltum and sprinkled with sand. The gnawing stopped.

Not a major engineering problem, to be sure. But thousands of strange little problems, too, have been solved to assure you the world's most reliable telephone service.

As all good baseball fans and even some of those who make no pretension at being good, know, the annual major league race broke from the barrier Tuesday afternoon in one of the most prosperous starts of recent years. In practically all eight cities, the big-time show got underway with large audiences looking on, which possibly foreshadows another revival of interest in the somewhat abandoned national pastime.

The first day of the campaign brought together two of the National loop favorites in the Cubs and Cardinals. It may have had some significance for followers of the game to have the Chicagoans fall on Jerome "Dizzy" Dean with much gusto, belaboring his offerings to various parts of the lot and generally treating him with the utmost contempt. A lot of the customers seem to figure that Charley Grimm's club will be able to pluck back the ears of the Cardinals in like manner at any time during the campaign and therefore be a cinch to end the National League flag for the second year running.

In the American League, Schoolboy Rowe's shutout victory, coupled with the general swatting of the rest of the Tiger team, gave Detroit fans, who have been toutling the merits of the world champions, a chance to say "I told you so" to any who would listen. In Washington, after President Roosevelt had hurled the first ball, the not-so-hot Senators managed to turn back Colonel Ruppert's Yankees, 1 to 0, in one of the best-played of the day's contests.

The usual pre-season talk which consists mostly of pitching "ifs" went on as scheduled this spring; the Boston Red Sox will be right up in there "if" they get some pitching from Ferrell, Grove and company; the Cubs are a cinch "if" Warnke can get right; "if" Earnshaw returns to form and the new acquisitions Brandt and Frankhouse produce, Brooklyn may do some good for a change; so the talk went on. Now the season is underway and the clubs can get out there and bash the pill around and the "if" pitchers will be able to show whether or not they have the stuff left in them.

In keeping with our established policy of complete coverage we have interviewed a number of University fans, knowing that their opinion on the situation would clarify the whole matter and allow you to rush right out and get down a wager before the books close.

It was a rather difficult matter to get Captain Stanley Nevers to make a statement, since the New Britain "mid leader" is extremely diffident about publicity. After considerable persuasion, however, Nevers finally broke down and confessed that he thought Casey Stengel's Brooklyn would take the pennant in the National loop, with Cleveland coping in the American.

That really was a confession as it doesn't seem as though anyone would come right out and declare that the Dodgers would win, without considerable coercion.

Colonel Will Donovan, of the Millington, Tenn., Donovans, was the first selector to choose New York as the probable National League winner. Under pressure he admitted that his choice was partly due to the fact that he was an admirer of Manager Bill Terry who lives in Memphis, a suburb of Millington, Detroit is his choice in the American League race.

Joe Orr, who was very cordial in granting us the interview, immediately selected Detroit to repeat its last year's win but was a little uncertain about his selection for the National League crown. According to Joe, the Cubs will be in, if their pitching can hold up in the stretch

U.K. THINLIES VIE WITH VANDY TOMORROW

By MAX LANCASTER

Coach Bernie Shively and his 1936 track squad left here this morning for Nashville, Tenn., where they will engage the Vanderbilt thinlies tomorrow in the first meet of the season for the Wildcats. Nineteen men made the trip.

The Wildcats have been hampered by the weather this Spring and have failed to get in much practice out of doors. Besides the weather they have been held back by the fact that the Kentucky track is being rebuilt and they have to work out on the football practice lot.

Vanderbilt will have the edge in tomorrow's meet because they have engaged in and won three meets already this season. Their last two victories were scored over Sewanee, by an 89 to 28 score, and over Lincoln Memorial university, by 101 to 30.

Vanderbilt has two fine tracksters in Williams, a dash and hurdle man, and Ray, who heaves the weights. These two men have been showing up well in all the Commodore meets this year, and will give Kentucky plenty of trouble tomorrow.

The Wildcats who made the trip and the events in which they will participate are:

- 100 yard dash—Willis and Heineman
- 220 yard dash—Willis and Heineman
- 440 yard dash—Miller and Gates
- 880 yard run—Hellard and Sieckmeier
- 1 mile run—Rogan and Moore
- Two mile run—Rogan and Moore
- High hurdles—Willis and Forden
- Pole vault—Hay and Yandala
- High jump—Rogan and Raynor
- Broad jump—Rogan and Leonard
- Shot put—Nevers
- Discus throw—Nevers, Simpson or Olah
- Javelin—Simpson and Combs
- Relay—Miller, Gates, Crain, Veal or Curry.

'CAT NET TEAM WILL FACE WAYNE

Coach H. H. Downing's varsity tennis team will make its debut tomorrow, meeting the Wayne College netters of Detroit at 2 p. m. on the University courts. This match will bring to a climax more than two months of practice, both indoor and outdoor.

Wayne College will bring a five man team to oppose the Kentucky group. There will be five singles and two doubles matches during the meet. The five probable singles players representing the Wildcats are Co-captains Stahr and Moore, Tulloch, Evans, and Leach. Coach Downing has not as yet determined the positions these various players will occupy in the seeding in the

SPRING DRILLS BEGIN FOR NETTERS

Spring basketball drills will get underway for all candidates, at 3 p. m. Monday in Alumni gym, according to an announcement made yesterday afternoon by Coach Rupp. Members of the varsity squad as well as freshmen and any other aspirants who wish to workout are asked to report the first day.

It is an annual practice of Kentucky basketball teams to hold spring drills which enable Coach Rupp to work the varsity and freshman candidates together and get an idea of the material he will have available for service next season. The sessions will last approximately three weeks.

Although the schedule for next season has not yet been completed, 15 games have already been arranged, some of which are tentative. The games scheduled thus far include:

- Dec. 18—Oklahoma A&M, Oklahoma City.
- Dec. 19—Oklahoma U., Oklahoma City.
- Jan. 1—Michigan State, here.
- Jan. 6—Notre Dame, Louisville.
- Jan. 9—Xavier, Cincinnati.
- Jan. 14—Michigan State, here.
- Jan. 23—Tennessee, here.
- Jan. 30—Vanderbilt, there.

INTRAMURAL

Final drawings for all spring sports have been completed by the intramural department. They are now posted on the intramural board in the basement of the Alumni gym.

All first round tennis and horse-shoe, singles and doubles, are due on Friday, April 24. The golf, singles and doubles, first round matches, are due by Wednesday, April 22. It has been requested by the department, in order to speed up the tournament, that all persons participating in the tourney complete their matches as soon as possible.

Complete schedules of the baseball teams can be obtained today from the intramural office. The (Continued on Page Six)

W.A.A. News
By HELEN JONES
Now that the basketball and rifle season has come to a successful close, W. A. A. present a new sport—tumbling. Every day at 4 p. m. in the Women's gymnasium, the interested visitor may see girls standing on their heads (after methods quite their own), girls turning somersaults (a trifle dizzily, we'll confess), and girls wavering about on their hands. Tumbling this year will be particularly interesting to the participants since a group of the best tumblers will perform at the Spring party of entire W. A. A. girls.

group. This party, by the way, may be expected in the near future. Watch the Kernel for the date, girls.
Everyone interested in natural dancing is asked to be at the Women's gym at 4 p. m. on Monday. Clara Hughes, the manager of this sport, will discuss possible days for the meeting of the Dance club.
Do you have your tennis shoes polished and your rackets ready? Now that the courts are definitely open (with intervals, we lament, for rain) it's time to practice up on your curves and volleys, and get ready for the W. A. A. tennis tournament which is to come early in May. W. A. A. hopes to offer regular instruction in tennis this Spring, so if you can't play, but would like to learn, watch the bulletin board in the gym, for announcements.

Sulzer's Work Is Recognized
A sketch of Elmer G. Sulzer, director of the University Department of Publicity, who made a collection of the works of Stephen Collins Foster, is wanted by Josiah K. Lilly for his collection of a series of sketches of persons who have taken an important part in the recent revival of interest in the life and work of Foster.
His sketch will be placed with several others in Foster Hall at Indianapolis. They will be made by Joseph Muller of New Jersey, who is a prominent collector for Americans and is an authority on American music.

FELLOWSHIP AWARDED
Mary Wharton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Wharton, Lexington, and a member of the 1935 graduating class here at the University, has been awarded the Angeline Bradford Whittier fellowship in botany for the year 1936-1937. The award was made through the University of Michigan where Miss Wharton is a student.

VANDENBOSCH TO SPEAK
Dr. Amry Vandebosch, head of the Department of Political Science, will make his appearance at the thirtieth annual meeting of the American Society of International Law, at the Carlton hotel in Washington, D.
