Concert Band To Make Bow On Sunday Vespers Program

Mary Louise McKenna, Sam Rainey To Be Featured As Soloists On Program
Making its first local appearance of the current season, the University concert band, under the direction of John Lewis, will present a program of nine contrasting compositions at the Sunday Vespers service at 4 p. m., Sunday, January 23, in Memorial hall.
Two local soloists who will be featured on the program are Louise McKenna, soprano, who will sing "A Heart That's Free," by Robyn, and Sam Rainey, who will play a cornet solo entitled "La Coquette" by Belsted. Rainey was formerly a student of Frank Simon, noted instrumentalist of Cincinnati, Ohio.
Composed of 60 students, many of whom were awarded the rating of "superior" in the Kentucky high school Music Festival during their high school days, the band is considered one of the best in the south. It is made up of musicians taken from the famous "First Band in Dixie," which played for Wildcat football games and several R. O. T. parades during the Fall of last year.

Student Cooperation Necessary

Students of the rank of junior can recall when, during the process of registration, they had to wait in line for hours and then risk life and limb battling the mob that struggled to sign up for classes.

Exams And Grief

A MID-YEAR EXAMINATION 10 o'clock closer and closer, students frequently leaf through their semester's work and find it wanting.

Advance Faculty Salaries

HIGHER education in America has become a big business. High finance has waved its magic wand over every phase of the university's activity.

THE BAND AT THE UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS

The band at the University of Illinois owns nine tons of tunes arranged by Sousa. At least 2,889 band arrangements, formerly belonging to John Phillip Sousa, are in the possession of the band.

THE ORGANIZATION OF PRESENT-DAY UNIVERSITIES

The organization of present-day universities has followed the lead of big business, but administrators of the educational machine should incorporate completely into their business-like methods the rule which pays good men in proportion to their talents.

Opticians declare that tennis is the best sport for spectators because of the constant eye exercise it requires.

Scrap Irony

By HARRY WILLIAMS

WITH FINAL examinations in the immediate offing, we feel it our duty to bring you a little advice on how to pass them.

This advice first appeared in "Poor Richard's Almanack," and there ought to be something apropos in the Constitution of the United States which, we would say, is still pretty good (in spite of what other people are muttering):

1. HOW TO MAKE A FINAL EXAM: Enter the room armed with a pencil, a set of encyclopedias and a slate for figuring.

2. Grab a handful of quiz pads; pick a back seat that squeaks; and sample the questions.

3. Flip a coin to decide true and false answers. Throw dice to determine multiple choices.

4. Write a flattering character sketch of your professor. (Dale Carnegie says this can't fail, but did you read what Sinclair Lewis said about Carnegie?)

5. Rip out a couple of hundred quiz pad pages, make gliders out of them, and quietly shoot them across the room. (This kills time.)

6. Bring a drinking glass so the prof will be lying you when you ask to get a drink.

7. Write answers illegibly so you can argue later that the answers were correct.

8. Read Niel Plummer's article entitled, "Is Cribbing Necessary?" in last July's College Humor. It contains some really grand schemes for outwitting the prof; especially the ones that were employed by the young ladies. They were fiendishly clever.

That quaint little building that stands so majestically between the College of Engineering and that other building north of McVey Hall, (We really did try to find out its name, but no one seemed to know what we were talking about) had its door open yesterday. We have often wondered about that building, and yesterday our patience was rewarded. We present herewith a list of its contents:

Five transformers that make a buzzing noise. Innumerable fuses (of the cartridge type, the man said).

Several automatic "Cut-out switches." A man with a wrench.

Dr. R. S. Allen, of the department of physiology, said the other day that he didn't think students were as conscientious as they used to be.

What we have here is a masterpiece of understatement, for in the bright lexicon of youth there is no such word as conscientious. The modern student, if we may use the term, is concerned only with passing the course in which he is enrolled. He becomes conscientious when he sees that "E" though.

SIMILE OF THE WEEK

(Dropped in conversation by Miss Ellen Schoene)

Her hankerchiefs were as flamboyant as Indian diapers.

One day this past week we saw an old friend of ours in the Cottage. It happens that this friend of ours is also an old friend of Professor George White Fithian; went to school with him and all that. We know Professor Fithian won't mind if we print her description of him. She said, "George White reminds me of a baby robin."

"The educational spoon in America is handled over by competent and understanding teachers but the students should do the feeding themselves." Dr. Alexis Carrel, ranking scientist, is interviewed by the Dartmouth student newspaper.

The band at the University of Illinois owns nine tons of tunes arranged by Sousa. At least 2,889 band arrangements, formerly belonging to John Phillip Sousa, are in the possession of the band. They weigh more than 18,000 pounds.

"There is little to be attained in thumbing a ride in the rumble seat of a college curriculum," warns Dean Guy Stanton Ford, acting president of the University of Minnesota. "It is not the business of a university to educate its students against their will. What you get out of college and out of life will be a measure of what you put in it."

Last week-end at Purdue males could not attend the free union tea dance unless they wore a flower presented to them by some coed. Each girl had two flowers to bestow. It was all part of the arrangement by which, for the space of three days, the men became the "weaker sex" as far as dating was concerned.

A break for the men at Ohio Wesleyan-coeds there are all in favor of limiting the number of coasages they expect to receive during the year. But, they want fewer flowers "so that the money can be spent attending more dances."

SIDESHOW

By DON IRVINE

TODAY the last classes of a waning semester meet in nervous, worried, worried by the cumbersome prospect of an ordeal to come. There is not time for retrospection, though this passage of a definite part of life would merit it. Since last September one-eighth of the average college course has rippled away, full of events and emotions that are forever gone; lustrous with memories of happiness and discouragement. The weeks and months have brushed by and already we find ourselves in what was once a remote future. Time is like that. It omnivorously gobbles up the hours that lie ahead, and one day we shall suddenly find ourselves old, the future drained into the past, and naught but sternal night confronting us.

Recollections... the hazardous start of a new school term, with its hopeless complications and entanglements... "misterpieces of delicate brutality" that rainy, sodden day at the Delt house when they bade Bob Freiburg farewell... remember reading the band to Boston... splendidly enjoyable was the Saturday when the Wildcats downed Washington and Lehigh... those amusing campus elections which were so deadly serious... the marriage of campus queens: Jane Potter, Jean Jackson, Mildred Croft, Leigh Brown et al.

Homecoming fests... the Kentuckian dance... intramural wrestling and boxing, two ring circuses of the athletic department... the shock of "Uncle" Enoch Grehan's death... life made more difficult and yet more cheery by the long hilarity and relaxation of Christmas vacation; its froth and glitter; the familiar faces; home... the terrific let-down of school routine in early January.

Thus did the incidents stream by as the semester's scene flowed out and day followed day in measured single file... Revising the last few months must bring to your mind memories of both happiness and unhappiness... Perhaps the impending semester will do the same. And yet, there is no necessity ever to be unhappy. Preposterous, you say. No, it is not. The first requisite to happiness is belief that, no matter what happens, life is good. The simple fact of being alive is compensation for the darkest depth despair can reveal. For, even when you are at your most miserable, can you not sense the infinite majesty of living, the awesome wonder of the gift of awareness? At its grimmest, life is its best beyond estimation.

Another aid to happiness is detachment from your discouragements and worries. Think of them, Dr. Johnson said, as you would think of them a year hence. Then you will realize how unimportant they actually are, and perhaps, even chuckle over them. What does it matter, anyhow?

FSA HOLDS TRAINING SCHOOL FOR TENANTS

Held under the auspices of the Farm Security Administration, a training school for tenant loan advisory committees from five counties opened on January 18 to be held two days with headquarters in the Livestock pavilion. Leaders of the training school were S. Landress and J. B. Slack, both of Raleigh, N. C. The counties represented by three men each were Johnson, Fleming, Pendleton, Shelby, Madison and Pulaski.

PITKIN CLUB HEARS HALL

Dr. Warner Hall, leader of the Pitkin club, continued his discussion on "The Works of Jesus" at the weekly meeting of the club at noon, Wednesday, at the Maxwell Street Presbyterian church. Bob Evans presided.

The Campus Gossip

By CHARLIE GARY

Billy Young evidently doesn't believe that "two's company and three's a crowd" for Monday he escorted both Virginia Richey and Martha Hume to the SAR house for lunch, looking very unamused about the whole affair.

The new song favorite of Di Di Castle is called the "Besesmer Blues". It is to the tune of "Veni Veni" and goes "Diddi, Diddi, Diddi, longing for you," as played by Jamie Thompson.

Phi Tau Guy Watkins was very badly jilted last year by Kay Dee Jane Mitchell, and although he has called exactly ten times in the past two weeks, he has yet to get a date.

Charles Williams, better known as Dickey Eyd, left his wallet at home the night of the Delt Formal, and when his date, Billie Dyer, wanted a sandwich after the treat, he told her to forget it and "just drink a coke."

Delta Chi's Fred McLean and Bill Beatty, the latter a boxer deluxe, attended a house party in Newport last week-end and started showing their pugilistic powers to their hostess. They both received the worst end of the deal, however, especially Beatty who was teaching said hostess how to box and great was his horror when she flattened him with one blow.

The three gadabouts of Patterson Hall, namely Billie Vance, Marian Cardhouse, and Louise Watts, have done it again. Tired of straw colored hair they dazzled the campus Monday with a trio of reddish colored heads. They made one bottle of coloring do for the three of them, however, so the job wasn't very successful.

Emily Post's book on etiquette is very much in demand now, especially by the girls in the "coverts" on Euclid and Lane. Reason—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will dine at the Hall on Wednesday. The nuts have even been instructed to remove all signs of red nail polish for the event, and also not to wear sunflowers.

Alfa six Leroy Holtzclaw was getting over with quite a large number of co-eds, by handing them all the same line, until he made the mistake of dating roommates. His line went something like this, trade hi-school class rings with the girl, dinner dates at the frat house, and then ask them to go steady with him. When the roommates got together on the line, they called in some other Leroy's attractions, and did the fire burn!

Things to Wonder About: 1. Why a Sigma Chi frosh was seen the other day with a text book under his arm.

2. If the Alpha Sigis will ever cut the noise to their neighbors, the honorable Pi Kaps can get some studying done.

3. If anyone has seen the new styled Phi Delt pledge pins which are being vendied by the pram! machine at Brumfield's.

4. If White Hall will still be standing in June.

5. Why a certain Sigma Nu was unable to keep his Sunday dinner date with Tri-Delt Betsy Covington.

6. If Johnny West can ever make a comeback with the fair sex. However, the Frogs want to know when did he ever make a hit with them.

7. If the Alpha Gamma Rho's are competing with the new Students Union building in regards to ground coverage.

8. Why "Speed" Foster bought a pair of eyebrow tweezers with a magnifying glass on the end of it.

9. Why Ann Trent blushes every time a swimming party is mentioned.

10. Why Vert Fraser takes a pole along with him every time he goes skating. (Look up Fraser's first name in the dictionary.)

11. Why did Tom Watkins cut class the morning after Delta Sigma Chi meeting.

12. Last but not least, why do we have exams.

Magazine Editor Describes World Economic Status

Speaking on world developments in agriculture and other industries, Wheeler McMillen, of New York, editorial director of the Country Home magazine, addressed a gathering of agriculture and home economics students and faculty, Thursday morning in Memorial hall.

Mr. McMillen pointed out the differences between the productive levels in the United States and Europe. He attributed our leadership in the field to the superior productive means facilitated by the successful application of steam and electric power. European nations are handicapped, he said, because of the necessity to import much of their raw wealth; the United States gathers all its raw materials from the soil, the forests, or the mines, as a result of our advantage, the annual American income stands at $500 per capita, in sharp contrast to a $30 income in Europe.

The perfect facilities of transportation in this country, he added, affords us the opportunity to gain the greatest returns for our investments. Development of steam and electric energy in Europe, together with transportation, has been relatively slow, and thus the large difference in returns, said Mr. McMillen.

The program, under the direction of Prof. L. J. Harlecher, of the agriculture school, also included a music recital by Miss Margaret Schneck, Emma Callahan, and Bettie Wyatt.

In the afternoon, McMillen and several members of the faculty were the luncheon guests of Dr. and Mrs. Frank L. McVey.

INTRAMURAL

By JOE CREASON
 With each man successfully finding the net for an average of 18.1 times in each 25 attempts, Delta Chi grabbed the victors' trophy in the free throw tourney contested Monday and Tuesday nights in the Gym Annex. Paced by Stokes, who found the hoop range with 23 flings out of a possible 25, Alpha Gamma Rho finished in the second niche by posting a group percentage of 17.9 good tosses per 25 tries.

As the free throw tournament is a team sport, Delta Chi, by amassing the winners points plus a number of markers added in the recent boxing and wrestling carnivals, retained a chance of finishing high in the money for the year in total points. For Alpha Gamma Rho, the runner-up laurels more firmly entrenched them in the third position of the league standings. SAE tops the loop with Sigma Chi following in second place.

Phi Om Phi Taus
 Passing into the semi-final stage, the single doubles competition more resembles Wednesday night at the Phi Kappa Tau abode than a team match. As three combines—Evans-Wainwright, Thiel-Montgomery and Terrell-Jacobs, represent that lodge in the semi-finals. Another Phi Tau team, Hickey and Tuberville, will tangle with the surviving SAE cohorts. Baker and Terrell, to determine who will occupy the remaining pre-final berth.

In the singles, Evans of Phi Tau, is as yet the only contestant to reach the semi-finals. Incidentally the win necessary to advance him to this position was at the expense of Terrell, a lodge brother. All quarter final matches are due to be re-recorded by January 21, with remaining engagement on docket for the advent of the new semester.

Handball doubles also likewise in the semi-final rounds, with the SAE team of Hopson-McConnell, Independent, Hartscomb and the Sigma Chi combinations of Sims-Hatcher and Brinardner-Sullivan constituting the field. Competition in the singles finds only Independent Combs and Brinardner, for Sigma Chi, in semi-final slots.

Frats In Net Preps
 Meanwhile both City annex basketball courts are nightly scenes of much perspiring and neglected muscle straining, as preparations for the hard-wood activity, due for February 14 inauguration, are being pushed to completion. Fraternally managers are reminded to stop at the intramural office soon to check on file there—to see that no ineligible men are being used and to add the names of any new players to the team roster. Managers desiring squads, either in the Fraternity or Independent Leagues, are invited to do so but the names of the ten men allotted to each club personnel must be turned in to the Intramural Dept. before Feb. 4.

Bluefish Fivade
 Southeastern Pools

Kentucky's poolless swimming team, accompanied by Manager-Trainer Felix Murray, journeys on an ambitious five meet tour immediately after the completion of mid-term exams.

The Cats' natadors, last season's Kentucky champions, encounter many of the finest outfits in the South. Arranged by Coach Sherman Hinkelstein, the schedule includes the following foes: Maryville, January 29; Tennessee, January 31; Georgia Tech, February 2; Auburn, February 3, and Georgia, February 4. The Georgia tilt was added to the card at the request of the Dixie school.

Making use of Eastern State Teacher college's pool at Richmond, the Wildcat swimmers have finally obtained recognition by the University Athletic Department. The 11 man squad athletes will make the tour in two automobiles.

SPEECH ON FAMILY COMPLETES SERIES
 In "Planning Your Family," the last of a series of six lectures on marriage, held Wednesday afternoon in McVey hall, Dr. Carolyn Scott, Lexington physician, emphasized the desirability of planning the family so that each child would have equal chances for economic stability, health, and normal recreation.

It was indicated, at the meeting in Dean Blumstein's office, Wednesday afternoon, by the committee which planned this year's series, that there is desire on the part of the students to have these lectures constitute a course with University credit.

After all payments were made on the Gene Tunney-Tom Heeney heavyweight bout June 6, 1928, Madison Square Garden officials admitted a loss of "about two million dollars."

HE SELLS TOBACCO TO THEM ALL

But Branch Bobbitt, like so many other independent experts, prefers Luckies...

AT AUCTIONS in my warehouse in Farmville, North Carolina," says Mr. Branch Bobbitt, "the higher the tobacco sells for, the better my profits. So I'm always glad to see Lucky Strike buyers in there bidding. They know what they want and they'll keep bidding right up until they get it.

"Well—in a cigarette—it's the tobacco that counts. I know tobacco and I know what tobacco is in what cigarettes. So that's one reason I've smoked Luckies for 5 or 6 years."

Mr. Bobbitt represents the "aristocracy" of tobacco experts. He judges the tobacco that the growers grow. He's impartial, not connected with any cigarette manufacturer.

Many other experts agree with Mr. Bobbitt. Sworn records show that, among independent tobacco experts, Luckies have twice as many exclusive smokers as have all the other cigarettes combined.

Most peculiar putout in a baseball game happened once in Washington, D. C. Babe Ruth lined a drive that ricocheted off first baseman Art Shires' shin, bounced over to Oesie Blunge on third who threw Ruth out at first base, Buddy Myer, second baseman, running over to make the putout. Shires merely laid on the ground and shrieked. Cincinnati Red Stockings of 1868 was the first all-salaried baseball team.

BULL PEN

By GEORGE H. KERLER

VAN LINGLE MUNGO is always meat for a pre-slumber discussion. There is something about the Flatbush firebrand that provokes talk and speculation. For whom will he pitch this season? What will Brooklyn get for him? Could the Reds use him? Is his arm in shape? Let's see if we can answer some of the questions.

That Mungo is respected, as a pitcher, in the National league is proved by the fact that the Giants, Cubs, Pirates, and Cardinals have been dickering with the Brooks all winter in effort to nab him. The Cards are merely interested and have yet to extend an offer. If the Giants want Van, Grimes expects in return Mel Ott and Hank Danning. Such a swap would leave the Gotham without a consistently long hitter and catches destined to become famous. Besides Danning is a Jew and in New York such a character fattens the coffers. But across the river Ott and Danning would give the Ploks a total of four professional players. Manush and Hasset are already in the Brooklyn fold. Terry pooh-poohs such a demand and offers Hank Leiber and a pitcher. Brooklyn is wary about Leiber because the Arizona outfielder never has been the same since Bob Feller beamed him last April in an exhibition game. Evidently, then, the Giants won't get Mungo.

Most active toward Van Lingle are the Chicago Cubs. Recently, they sent an envoy to Brooklyn, wanted Frank Demaree and cash. Doubtless, Grimes could have turned Collins into an outfielder again and profited on his long range hits. But Frey gives Flatbush fans the headache. Shoun has a seven-month record, and Joe Marty was a sensational flop all last year. How strong is Collins' angle. Maybe that's why the Chis wanted to dump him off on someone. About the only humane part of the deal was the 75 Cs.

Pittsburgh offered Brooklyn Paul Waner for Mungo in a straight cashless deal. Waner is 35 years old and Mungo is 28. The Pirate star has been hitting over 200 for the last eleven years. He has led the National league three times. But age might creep up and weaken his will. Mungo should be at the summit of his strength. Besides, Ebbets Field needs a home run hitter and Waner never specialized in hitting the pill into the bleachers.

So it seems the eccentric speeder will wear the Brooklyn toga this spring. The front office has mailed him a contract for $15,000 but he'll probably hold out for back pay. He received the same amount last year but lost most of his coin in paying fines. Mungo has the habit of publicly making fun of his infielders, going on private excursions, and hitting in the month of the mountains. One night last summer $1,354 was clipped from his salary for insubordination on the field, disorderly conduct, fist fighting with his second baseman, and breaking $24 worth of hotel furniture. You get the idea.

However, Flatbush should keep her only famous pitcher. When Mungo is right no club can club him. All he needs are three runs and average support. There is no better picture to imagine than Mungo in form on the mess slamming the ball over the plate with invisible speed. When strike-outs are counted Mungo is always near the top. But like all fast ballers, he also stands high in the base on balls item.

Exactly why other teams are trying to land him with fancy bait is a source of perplexity. His arm indicated weakness just before the All-star game. He should have been resting then but went down in the Capitol and faced the American barrage. After that whenever he pitched it seemed like he threw the first seven innings with his arm and the last two with his heart. I can never forget one afternoon in Washington picking up a paper and reading a headline, "Mungo, Arm Dead, Sees End of Career."

It seems that the right process to follow, if these other clubs want him, is to watch Mungo pitch until May 15 when the trading deadline arrives. By then he will have pitched about five games and the world will know how he feels. Maybe he's through and doesn't know it and maybe his fin is right. Anyway it's a hard problem to decide. Oh yes, could the Reds use him. Cincinnati could use anybody who can play ball. Brooklyn wants players for Mungo, not money. And who, outside of Eval Goodman and Ernie Lombardi, could the Reds offer. The Honer Eusebyard (Ebbets Field) has enough awkwardness behind the plate in Babe Phelps.

Since June 1, 1925, when he pitched for Poe Wee Wanninger, Lou Gehrig has played in every Yankee game to date. His consecutive game streak now stands at 1,565.

PROFESSOR BENNY GOODMAN REPEATS HIS COURSE IN SWING-OLGY FOR THE SECOND SEMESTER!

"GIVE!" signals Goodman. And Drummer Gene Krupa "takes it." The famed quartette, which steams out "killer-dillers" on the Camel Caravan, consists of Goodman on the "agony pipe" (clarinet)—Gene Krupa on the "suitcase" (drums)—Teddy Wilson on the "moth box" (piano), and Lionel Hampton on the vibraphone.

BENNY'S "IN THE GROOVE!" Here's the "King of Swing"—Professor Benny Goodman—"kicking out." They "go to town" every Tuesday night. First on the double-feature Camel Caravan comes "Jack Oakie College." Then Benny Goodman's "Swing School." Time—9:30 pm to 10:30 pm E.S.T., over WABC-CBS.

"PUSHERS!" getting in a few "licks" (short, original improvisations) on their "gobble-pipes" (saxophones). Benny Goodman and his Swing Band won the title of the most popular band in the country. You just haven't heard "SWING" until you hear Camel's Professor of Swing-ology—Benny Goodman—burn up the ether.

EVERY TUESDAY NIGHT

Radio's big double-feature program, the Camel Caravan—60 fast minutes of fun, frolic, and fanfare. 9:30 pm E.S.T., 8:30 pm C.S.T., 7:30 pm M.S.T., 6:30 pm P.S.T.—WABC-CBS.

"JACK OAKIE COLLEGE"—
The big Camel Caravan leads off with Jack Oakie and his goofy collegians, broadcast direct from Hollywood. All-star cast includes funny-man "Stu" Erwin. Hear "Honest Jack" Oakie—"The Prez"—running a college. You'll never forget it!
