(Father) Hans—Mrs. Claiborne Lida—Mary Dantler (her daughter).

Professors Webb And Funkhouser Issue New Book

Archaeology Instructors Are Co-Authors of Interesting 1000 Page Volume

Professors William S. Webb and W. D. Funkhouser, both well-known authorities on natural science in Kentucky and elsewhere, are the co-authors of a 1,000-page volume entitled "An Archaeological Survey of Kentucky," which recently came off the press.

The publication is one of the most comprehensive surveys of its kind ever to be published for any state in the union and is one of the most elaborate monographs ever published by the University. It is a result of more than 20 years of archaeological exploration throughout Kentucky.

The book gives the records of 1,232 excavations, including 667 earth mounds, 21 shell mounds, 39 earthenware and fortifications, 162 camps and village sites, 170 cemeteries, 108 rock shelters, 57 inhabited caves and 31 miscellaneous sites. Seventy-one of the mounds are of the Hopewell type, and 106 of the Adena type. The authors are other features of the volume. For each county an outline of the prehistoric development, followed by a list of the sites and mounds.

Based upon the county descriptions of the prehistoric sites, the authors conclude that representatives of the mound builders, cliff dwellers, Adena, and Hopewell cultures, all lived in the same area. The authors also conclude that the mound builders, Adena, and Hopewell cultures, all lived in the same area. The authors also conclude that the mound builders, Adena, and Hopewell cultures, all lived in the same area.

The wants of the layman as well as those of the scientist have been considered in the discussions and illustrations. The various artifacts and relics, including arrowheads, banner stones, hominy holes, beads, ancient jewelry, all come in for their share of discussion.

THE TUBERCULOSIS TESTS

An outstanding project—one which has proven to be of value to the students of the University and which will prove to be of even greater value in the ensuing months and years. Thus do we characterize the work of the Mantoux Tuberculosis Tests.

This movement is nation-wide in character, and all of the larger universities having taken up the project. However, the University of Kentucky has given more tests than any other university in the United States.

The survey was initiated in the interest of improving the general health of the student body through providing for them a check on themselves. Those who react positively are thus able to prevent further infection and to bring about a return to normal health, while those who react negatively are thus assured that they are not being preyed upon by that dread monster, tuberculosis.

Approximately 2,000 tests have been given and of this number 23 per cent have reacted positively. Such a percentage does show that there are a considerable number among the student body who have some form of infection. To go even further, six students have been found that were so seriously infected that it was necessary that they be sent to sanitariums.

Such statistics are illustrative of the value of these tests. Since tuberculosis is a highly contagious disease, those infected with it constitute a menace to other students. Then too, those students who have only secondary infections are given the opportunity of protecting themselves and society from the further spread of the disease.

Although considerable time and money is being expended in the perpetration of the scheme, the tests are not compulsory. The student is free to take advantage of the tests but is not compelled in any way to avail himself of the opportunity.

Therefore we must lead our fellow students to feel that they owe it to themselves and other students to take advantage of this opportunity. The health and safety of every student is at stake—those who are infected and those who are free from infection. The former should have thought for their own life while the latter should be concerned with the disparaging influence upon their own health caused by the proximity of those carrying infection.

About 600 students have not yet submitted themselves to the test. It would require very little time and effort for them to visit the dispensary and receive the benefits of the project. It is decidedly to their own interest and to that of other students that they expend this minimum of effort.

It is our sincere hope that those who have not cooperated will be constrained to cooperate in this project. Thus will they insure the prevention of the spread of the tuberculosis germ upon our campus.

ARE WE MISREPRESENTED?

There is little doubt in the minds of thinking people that America and the rest of the world is Communist-conscience. The mistake made by many, however, is in assuming that a large portion of American youth is Communist or at least in sympathy with that movement. What causes this misrepresentation—or is this idea really false?

There is, in truth, in every college and university in this country a group that is not satisfied with the present condition in society, but it is hard to say that these few persons are really Communists. They may be slightly more radical in their thought and expression than the rest of American youth, but does that prove they are confirmed Communists? NO! It only means that there are some thinking youth who are dissatisfied, who see flaws and possible remedy for these flaws, and want something done about it. It is the older, more mature and conservative people of our country who are so narrow that upon seeing someone who fails to believe as they do, brand them Communists, in nine cases out of ten not knowing what the term means.

Communism is not a myth, it exists even in America. There are some students who are confirmed Communists, but these are few. What America must learn is that Communism thrives on just such propaganda as was illustrated in the foregoing paragraph. The Communist party wants the world to believe that all youth is in sympathy with its ideas; believing that by that method it will grow. Let America learn a lesson then, and instead of preaching that our youth is Communist, shout it down. We have yelled, "depression" so long that long after we were on the road to prosperity, may still were in the dark. Such may be the case with Communism. Let America forget a needless danger that may be talked into existence.

EFFICIENCY

"Efficiency is the ratio of the energy of work that is got out of a machine to the energy put into it," according to the dictionary. The human body is itself a machine. The efficiency of the individual can be measured in terms of the time and energy expended in the accomplishment of a given task.

"You can double your efficiency after a little training," states Walter B. Pitkin in his book "More Power to You." This is pertinent to university life, since students only too frequently complain of having too much energy expended in the accomplishment of a given task. They can study, and engaging in more activities than they can handle. It would be a good thing for them to think over the matter of making the most of their time and energy. Some students, although possessing neither unusual mental nor physical ability, are able to do successfully more than other students better equipped by nature. Might this not be laid at the door of efficiency? Is it not true that these students have learned to do things more "easily"?

In play time, as well as in work time, one should accomplish as

Appreciation

We are not throwing any roses or gardenias this week, but we would like to drop a wreath of some kind of flowers, that denote appreciation shown by the student body, around the neck of Dean of Men T. T. Jones, because of his interest and work in promoting the Wednesday night dances. The wreath must, of course, be big enough to include Fiddler Bud Hunt and Sigalph Hank McCown, whose untiring efforts have helped to make these dances possible.

Love in Bloom

The mixup between Lee Miles, Katharine Combs, and one of Harard's favorite sons seems to be settled. Katharine is now the proud possessor of Lee's Fiddler pin, everything is hotzy-totzy. The enduring romance between Phisig Buck Ewing and Alphaxi Virginia Ferguson has finally brought out Buck's pin. They make a keen pair, don't you think? Leo "The Conqueror" Spence has placed his Sigalph pin on the frame of a gorgeous Smith girl from Louisville. She's a queen, Leo, and we offer congratulations.

That Triangle Again

While stragulas were braving in the air, a stooge from the Western front reports that Phisig Ray Lathren and Siggop Woody Fargo came to blows for the hand of Alphaxian Martha Shipp, in Martha's presence. Results: Martha sported a halo around one of her peepers for several days.

Between Us Girls

We thought that it was the last straw when some playful students much as possible with as little energy as possible. When one works he should do nothing but work; likewise, when one plays he should do nothing but play. Taking time to attend a show and thinking about all the term papers still to be written shows a lamentable lack of efficiency. After all, one supposedly goes to the show as a means of relaxation. Worrying about something that cannot at such a time be remedied entirely defeats the aims of relaxation and is thus a loss of time and energy.

When one works he should concentrate on what he is doing. There is nothing worse than trying to solve a math problem with wondering what show is on at the theater that day. Keeping at one's task and doing it alone, determines the individual's efficiency in studying.

As in most things in life, the efficiency of every person depends on his desire to be efficient. He may not call it this—he may merely think of it in terms of "getting a thing done" or "doing one thing at a time."

Moreover, the things one does not do today are more difficult tomorrow. One has worried over them and they have consequently loomed in one's mind as either difficult or unpleasant. All this tends to lower a person's efficiency. If students would realize that it lies within themselves to make the most of their time and energy and that they are probably only half as efficient as they are capable of being, such a realization would be a definite step toward greater accomplishments and personal satisfaction.—Reville, L. So This Is English

One of Mr. Bob "The Kansas City English Kid" Thaxton's English classes was interrupted when Chio Phoebe Turner called the attention of the class to a rather odd sentence that was on the blackboard. The sentence, as copied from the board, read, "The man whom she undressed, unceremoniously came toward her." It is our guess that Kay Kennedy had something to do with this.

And at the dance last Wednesday, you seem to be well fixed for women. Monger, so don't worry about Polly.

In "Dean" Averett's insurance class, a student told the class in his own words, "A woman tried to sue her fiancé who had $100 for $75,000, and they wouldn't handle it." Bill Smith popped up, "I will."

Kelly, the kop, has one statement to make to the press this week. He says, "I took your advice about the Guignol gardens, and during the good weather I wore out the bulbs and batteries in my new flashlight."

Yes, I Heard

IT WASN'T TOLD ME, I ONLY HEARD, that before Boo Houlihan and Harold Davidson received their Sigalph pins, Katharine Reid and Marie Vernon, respectively, planned these boys with their Chio pins. Something new and novel, don't you think?

Drippings from the Quill

Ed Wehle was the only man in step in the parade last week. Frances Reid is one of the best amateur actresses that we have ever seen. Moon Garling's heart seems to beat a few beats for "Sorry" Craft. Poots Dunton was the author of the "cat creeps" notes that Jeff Baynam received last semester. Sunny Day says to anyone who asks, "Bettie Brownworth, 'You'd better leave my girl alone.'"
Martha Cleveland doesn't like to be pinched. It looks like a real romance between Buck Bower and J. B. Croft. Sigalph Bill "Red" Dawson wants to meet Mary Groves. Algie Scott was really 'sopping' at the dance last Wednesday. Ida Greenleaf is the only member of the Tri-Beta organization, and she is proud of it.

It's creating more talk than any suit on earth!

The new Palm Beach is the nation's gossip... Some praise it for its remarkable comfort (its open, porous weave is patented). Some for the way it holds its smart lines and tosses off the wrinkles. Some for the thrifty way it cuts down laundry bills (it sheds the dust and dirt).

But everybody talks about its unbelievable value. There never was a suit that offered so much and cost so little.

Above all I'm your best friend I am your Lucky Strike Others may disappoint. I never do. I'm always mild, always fine to taste—because I'm made of fragrant, expensive center leaves, only. Turn your back on top leaves. They're raw, bitter, stinging. Turn your back on bottom leaves. They're coarse, sandy, grimy. Before I consider it worthy, every leaf must be a center leaf, mild, fine-tasting, fragrant. I do not irritate your throat. Above all—I'm your best friend.

While 18 Derby hopefuls were preparing for the parade to the post in Louisville last Saturday afternoon, the University of Kentucky track team was staging a losing battle against a highly regarded Tennessee team on Stoll field.

It was Kentucky's final dual meet, and the Wildcats, who had done without the services of a captain for the whole season, held an election before going out on the field and selected Joe Rupert, the erstwhile "Cattletsburg Cannonball," to lead them.

However, it was Ben Willis, the former Withrow high school flash, clinching his first season of varsity competition, who gave the small crowd the most satisfaction. Judging from comparative records, it seemed that Willis would be forced to trail Anderson in both dashes, his best events.

In the 100 yard dash, the most thrilling event of the afternoon, Willis and Anderson ran, what the judges declared a dead heat. In doing so, both men equalled the track record of 9.8, which is plenty fast time on any track. Then Willis came back to lead the way in the 220, but the time could not be properly checked because of the mixup that occurred at the finish line.

The judges and officials stationed themselves at the finish of the 100 yard course instead of placing themselves about 20 yards further along. As the finish lines were not clearly marked, the mistake was excusable.

Kentucky's mile relay team turned in a nice performance, running the distance in 3.31.3 to take this event. Jack Crain got off to a fine start and finished his quarter with about a 10 yard lead. Charlie Gates, running second, held his own until he came into the stretch and then added a few more yards. Paul Ledridge and Miller, regular in the anchor position, had little to do but run their regular quarter to keep Kentucky out in front and both of them added a little extra spurt so that the Cats had a 20 yard lead at the finish.

Although a few spectators took advantage of the opportunity to

WILDCATS WHIP VANDERBILT NETTERS

Despite the fact that they had lost the services of Warfield Donohue, number one ranking player, and winner of the Falls City championship last year, the University of Kentucky tennis team, coached by Professor H. H. Downing, defeated the Vanderbilt University netters, in a Southeastern Conference match on the University courts Saturday. Donohue has been declared physically unfit to compete in matches this spring.

The victory, besides being the first marker in the win column in one start for Kentucky in the Southeastern Conference, was also important because Vanderbilt is one of the strongest teams in the conference and is a top ranking team in the country.

The results of the matches are as follows: Singles—Moore (K) defeated Pittman (V) 7-5, 7-6; Jenkins defeated Jarrell (V) 7-5, 6-6, 6-3; Blair (K) defeated Martin (V); D. Randall (K) defeated Thompson (V) 8-6, 6-2; Benjovitz (V) defeated Brown (K) 6-3, 6-3; and Shanklin (V) defeated Tullock (K) 6-2, 6-4.

Doubles—Pittman and Shanklin (V) defeated Stahr and Moore (K) 6-1, 7-5, 6-1; D. Randall and Tullock (K) defeated Jarrell and Thompson (V) 6-1, 7-5, and Jenkins and C. Randall (K) defeated Benovitz and Martin (V) 6-4, 6-2.

The Wildcat squad left Sunday for a weekend tour of a week's duration which they will meet six Southeastern teams in year than ever before in the history of the school. The University netmen will play Sewanee, Monday, Tennessee, Tuesday; Tennessee, Tuesday, Alabama, Wednesday; Auburn, Thursday; Georgia, Friday; and Georgia Tech Saturday. On the return home to Lexington, the Kentucky team will meet the University of Indiana and will meet Berea in a return match. Tentative dates have been scheduled with the University of Louisville and with Xavier University.

Golf Team Loses To Eastern Normal

Meece Is Star of Visiting Team, Shooting First Nine Three Over Par

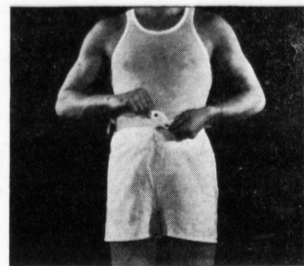

The University golf team failed to gain revenge on the Eastern Kentucky Teachers team yesterday afternoon at the Lexington Country club as they went down in defeat 12 1/2 to 5 1/2.

The game with Eastern was played in the rain and many poor shots resulted. Meece, number two man for Eastern shot the first nine in three over par and the back nine in a little more; to be the star of the day. All of the Kentucky boys tried to comeback on the back nine but they were down too many strokes.

Last Saturday they were beaten by the University of Tennessee team 17 1/2 to 4. The Tennessee boys had a far superior team to the Kentucky team. The players on the Vol team averaged 78 strokes for the eighteen holes. Jack Howard staved off a whitewash by tying the back nine and winning the 1/2 point. The Wildcats will play a return match with the University of Louisville this afternoon on the Lexington Country Club course. They beat the Falls City team in their first match several weeks ago.

Now that the shouts from the Derby have died away, it might be well to make a personal observation. Ever since the finish, when Omaha crossed the line in front of the field, we've had any number of customers tell us that they had the winner. Of course, none of them had any money on him but they all had confidence in his ability. We hope that someone will come forth in the near future and let us in on the fact that they picked one of the horses that finished out of the money. We had Soxthorn.

At these exercises, an acrobatic exhibition was given by Billy Bob Engle, Lexington, and Dan Wallace, also of Lexington. Mr. Wallace and Miss Mary Lou Stark also gave an adages dance.

Dean Evans Makes Talk Over Radio

Speaker Stresses Need for More Legally Trained Men and Women

"The political and economic events of the past few years have increased the demand for legally trained men and women," declared Dr. Alvin E. Evans, dean of the College of Law, when he was interviewed recently by Dr. Henri Beaumont over radio station WHAS.

New organizations like the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, Agricultural Adjustment Act, National Industrial Recovery Act, and others are, according to Dean Evans, creating an increasing number of lawyers. Almost all the expert advisers of the President of the United States are lawyers or economists, and most of them are both, Dean Evans stated.

Referring to the women who have become lawyers, Dean Evans said that they had made rapid strides during the last fifty years in the legal profession.

Everything that Science really knows about making cigarettes is used in making CHESTERFIELDS LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO. The cigarette industry could never have been what it is except for these modern cigarette machines... They make good cigarettes and smokers know each individual cigarette receives the most careful inspection. You'd hardly believe such attention to detail possible unless you could see it with your own eyes. When the Chesterfield tobacco comes to the cigarette making machines it has been blended and cross-blended. Then it is cut into long even shreds just the right size to smoke right and burn right. Every Chesterfield Cigarette has to be perfectly made to get by our inspectors. Until you open the package yourself the cigarettes are scarcely touched by human hands. Mild ripe tobaccos, skilled workers and the most modern up-to-date machinery all help to make Chesterfield the cigarette that's milder, the cigarette that tastes better.
