U. K. Rifle Teams Victors Over Five Schools in Match

Total Scores of 1796, 1790 Exceed Those of Last Year

The University ROTC and Varsity rifle teams, under the direction of Major Austin Triplett, won a match last week between West Virginia University, the Rhode Island State College, New Mexico Military Institute, Indiana University, and Washington University. The total score for the ROTC team was 1796 and for the varsity team 1790.

The scores made were exceptionally good, according to Major Triplett, who said that he thought that with a few weeks more practice the teams should be able to surpass all previous records. The total score of the varsity team exceeded last year's total high score by one point, while the ROTC score exceeded their last year's total by 43 points.

Those shooting for the varsity and their ranking scores were: F. McGoldrick, 371; A. M. Thompson, 356; G. H. Benson, 355; S. S. Botta, 354; and F. James, 353. The last score, sixth highest, is used only in case of a tie. Others who fired were Guy Pendleton, 332, and Wilgus Broffitt, 344.

The ROTC scores were as follows: F. McGoldrick, 371; A. M. Thompson, 356; G. H. Benson, 355; S. S. Botta, 354; and F. James, 353. Others in the ROTC match were Guy Pendleton, 332; Wilgus Broffitt, 344; and J. Farber, 328.

The University team's opponents include various universities, colleges, and military schools over the nation. The teams have 25 to fire seven matches, including University of Michigan, University of Tennessee, and Johns Hopkins University.

TEACHERS WILL MEET The High School Home Economics teachers of this section of the state will meet at the University Saturday morning, January 25, to study a special problem in curriculum construction. Rumored That Walker May Start In Lewis' Place At Pivot Post

By MAX LANCASTER Coach Adolph Rupp's Kentucky Wildcats will face one of their toughest assignments of the season when they take the floor of Alumni gymnasium tonight at 8 o'clock to battle the Michigan State Spartans, a team that handed the Cats one of their two defeats of last year.

The Michigan team will invade Lexington in a somewhat of a hazardous season behind them, but unless the Wildcats show a great deal of improvement over the form they displayed against Tulane Saturday night, the Spartans will hand the Big Blue team their second loss of this season.

The Michigan coach lost two flashy guards by graduation last year, and has shifted one of his 1935 forwards to a guard position. This led to Ron Garlock. WALL DECORATIONS

Despite numerous protests, both officially and editorially, petty thievery has continued and appears to be definitely on the increase at the University. The most recent pilfering of these "souvenir hunters" has been the removal of two bronze building name plates from their places of prominence.

These plates were placed on the various buildings only last year at considerable expense to the University. They were the result of a long standing movement to suitably mark the various campus edifices.

"WHEN EARTH'S LAST PICTURE IS PAINTED"

The tragedy of a man who died at the wrong time is seen in the death of Rudyard Kipling. Had he died forty years ago, as the Victorian era was grasping on its death bed, he would have probably been acclaimed the greatest of the late Victorian poets.

CONFIDENCE BUILDS

Confidence builds and improves a community, lack of it destroys communities. Distrust is a destructive element that eats into the very vitals of community life, whereas trust in one another is the only foundation on which towns and cities can build for the future.

Confidence is but one element of cooperation. Of course, no co-operation would be possible without the utmost confidence in one another.

"Trust men and they will be true to you; treat them greatly and they will show themselves great."

This wrote Emerson, the great essayist, many years ago, and the life hasn't changed much since then. No community can build for a greater and larger future if distrust is the ruling element in the community.

If you find evidence of something that shakes your confidence, don't conclude that this is the predominating spirit of the community. Just look about you and you will be able to find ample reason for your confidence to be strengthened and restored.

SKILLED LABOR WANTED

Men seeking jobs and jobs seeking men, and the two can't get together. The men aren't prepared to fit in the jobs.

It is a pathetic condition of everything being out of joint. There are plenty of "educated" and "trained" men, but they are not properly educated and trained for the specific jobs that need men.

It is a serious situation and the remedy cannot be applied immediately. Mistakes of long standing will have to be corrected.

Certainly the whole system of education needs careful inspection and readjustment. Conditions change rapidly. Employment managers complain that even those trained in vocational schools are unsuitable because they are taught "tricks of the trade" that now are obsolete.

Evidently there are problems on which the industrialists and the educators should work together.

CRIME CIRCUS—BETWEEN BRUNO AND DEEP BLUE MYSTERY

The Hauptmann case jumps into the headlines again with Governor Hoffman's investigation, carried on through the chief of detectives of Burlington County, New Jersey, creating grave doubts about the justice of the settlement.

For all of the favorable comments concerning the late continued story, started last week, which was written using as many student names as possible.

The kidnaping story has never been explained to the satisfaction of the American people. We have had plenty of circumstantial evidence.

Regardless of the degree to which Hauptmann was involved in the crime, the American people want a more complete explanation. They feel that until the case has been more satisfactorily explained the death sentence should not be imposed.

Barrels of ink were used during and after the Hauptmann trial in the newspapers of the country criticizing the manner in which the trial was conducted.

STUDENT UNION

Activities at Oklahoma: The Oklahoma Union, squarely in the middle of the University of Oklahoma campus, has truly become the hub around which the student body and faculty gravitate.

That the Oklahoma Union is filling its purpose as the center of campus activities was proved recently when student counters sat at the Union entrances for a day and tabulated the number of persons entering the building.

The count showed that 6,563 persons entered the building between 7 a. m. and 8 p. m., an average of some 500 persons an hour.

The Union popularity has grown steadily, since the building was constructed six years ago for a number of reasons.

Veristy of Oklahoma. The WNAD, the University's radio station, which has its modernly equipped studios in the Union, doubted its power this year in becoming WNAD's main station.

The recreation department recently drew a Saturday afternoon crowd of almost 1,000 students and faculty members when Charles O. Peterson, for 15 years recognized as the world's greatest trick shot billiard artist, gave a demonstration of his shots.

A popular feature has been added to the University Book Exchange in the Union. A "Book Nook" stocked with scholarly volumes, plays, biographies, classics and popular current fiction has been started.

After two lackadaisical performances against Tulane in the first of their conference games, Coach Adolph Rupp's Wildcats will face Michigan State here tonight. The Spartans from Michigan were the only team other than New York University to hand the 'Cats a setback last season. To date, however, Michigan State's record is not quite as imposing as it might be. However, the Spartans are known as slow starters who always improve as the season wears on. Last year they defeated three times before the middle of January but lost only one game in seventeen, thereafter.

The State team is in much the same position that Kentucky is in, boasting of four veterans and a sophomore in its first lineup. Kraft, their sophomore forward, is hailed as one of the best shot-makers that has ever performed at the East Lansing school. He crowded a letterman out of his forward position to give an indication of his value to the team.

The Wildcats will have to show a definite offensive improvement if they are to win tonight. Although they spotted Tulane a lead and beat them to the finish handily, they probably cannot do the same thing against the Spartans, who scored their most recent win over Marquette in an overtime period.

J. Rice Walker, who made good in his first real opportunity, against Tulane, probably will get another chance tonight to show his stuff. Walker was impressive both offensively and on the defense last Saturday night, which warrants another trial for him in the regular lineup.

"Smoky Joe" Hagan showed a partial return to form against Tulane and is about due to turn in another good performance against the Spartans. He missed a shot on both nights but played a nice floor game and will probably start at one of the forward posts tonight.

Herb Tade, University of Tennessee football center, who was seriously injured in the Kentucky game, finally has recovered sufficiently to allow him to be moved to the University hospital in Knoxville.

Dr. Brashear, who has been Tade's attending physician, believes that the removal to Knoxville will be of great benefit to Tade, who will be thus in the midst of his friends and schoolmates in a hospital which should hasten his complete recovery.

The doctor said that he believed that Herbie should be completely himself a year after his injury and that he should suffer no permanent disability. Tade has been unable to speak distinctly since his accident but Dr. Brashear was confident that this condition would disappear with a little time.

Herbie's mother publicly thanked all who had in any way aided him during his stay in the Good Samaritan hospital and carried away with her a grateful memory toward Lexington.

The scheduled benefit basketball game to be played by the University of Kentucky and University of Tennessee freshmen was held in Alumni gym on February 6. Proceeds of the game will, of course, be given to Tade and family.

Appointment of Ted Twomey to the football coaching staff of the University of Texas was officially confirmed last Saturday night by Texas authorities. He will take up his new duties shortly when the Longhorns begin their spring training drills.

Twomey came to the University along with Coach Wynne in 1934 and has been first assistant to Wynne during the past two years, acting as head line coach. In his two-year term, he has done a great deal to strengthen the Wildcat forward wall, developing a number of fine linemen.

Notre Dame men regard Twomey as one of the greatest linemen developed under Knute Rockne. Before coming to Kentucky, Twomey served as line assistant to Harry Mehre another Notre Dame product, head coach at Georgia. He will now work under Jack Chevigny, still another Notre Dame star, who is head coach at the University of Texas.

There has been no definite steps taken by the athletic department to secure anyone to take Coach Twomey's place. When questioned, Athletic Director Wynne said that he had not had enough time to consider a successor as yet.

drinks; he deals with many theories, some of which will probably revolutionize future life; in fact, there is hardly a phase of modern life that he does not touch. With this in mind, it is easy to see that the responsibilities of Dr. Maxon and the Chemistry department, which has been increased this year with an estimated enrollment of 400. This number includes 50 nurses from the Good Samaritan hospital. In addition to instructing this large group, two members of the faculty are engaged in research. They are Dr. Charles Barkenbus, professor of Organic Chemistry, and Dr. O. S. Stewart, associate professor of Chemistry. Messrs. Collier, Holton, and Fritch, student instructors, set up equipment for the next day's work in lecture classes of about 80 students.

WILDCATS DOWN TULANE IN TWO WEEK-END TILTS

Carlisle Leads Scorers In Both Engagements As Cats Beat First Conference Foe

KENTUCKY PLAYS SLUGGISH GAME

Entire Squad Sees Action In Games Won 49-24; 39-21

With Ralph Carlisle pacing the scorers on both occasions, the Kentucky Wildcats emerged victorious in their first two Southeastern encounters beating Tulane 49-24 on Friday night and 39-21 on Saturday night.

The Tulane team, rated as one of the weaker teams in the conference, caused the 'Cats plenty of trouble during their stay here and it was only last-half superiority which gave the Kentuckians their victories. The Wildcats played a sloppy brand of ball both nights, with little teamwork in evidence, and it was only individual brilliance which turned the tide in their favor.

Meeting with little more stubborn opposition than they had anticipated in the first game, the 'Cats put on a strong offensive which carried them through with plenty to spare and consequently took things too easily in the next night's fray, giving a haphazard exhibition. In the first game, Kentucky got away to a slow start but once under way was never in danger. After McCloskey and Neyland had made foul tries, Donohoe connected with a short shot which Carriere matched with a crisp. After Lewis made a foul throw, Red Hagan sank a long heave to give the 'Cats a lead which they increased throughout.

Coach Rupp used his entire squad in an effort to give the team some experience, but the second and third stringers continued to pile up points with even greater efficiency than the regular five. Ralph Carlisle, with ten points and Red Hagan and Garland Lewis with nine apiece, were high men for the evening. Locket, lanky forward of the visitors, while scoring only a single field goal, registered with six straight foul tries to lead his team.

On Saturday night the Greenies piled up an early lead and protected it through the entire first half to command at the intermission, 17-13. Carriere, Locket and Neyland combined their efforts to score from in close and at long range to offset the one-man scoring attempt of Carlisle, whose four field goals and two free throws kept the Wildcats in the ball game during the opening period.

Coming back into the second half, Kentucky put on an entirely different show and with Hagan, Carlisle and J. Rice Walker supplying the offensive punch, jumped into a five-point lead in the first five minutes. From this point on, although the 'Cats slowed down somewhat, the Kentuckians had command of the situation. Although Coach Rupp failed to substitute as freely as on the previous night, yet the game ended with an entirely different team representing Kentucky than that which had started the battle. Carlisle's fifteen markers again gave him the point leadership, while Walker, with nine, was second high man. During his stay in the game, Walker gave a fine performance, scoring at opportune times and showing up well on the defense. Carriere, captain of the visitors, was their leading scorer with eight points, while Locket chalked up six before he was banished from his position.
