$400,000 FUND FOR FIELD HOUSE IS APPROVED

UK May Construct Building In Parts, Donovan Says

The state legislative council this week approved an appropriation of $400,000 for the next two years to build a field house at the University of Kentucky, the amount to be included in the $300,000 a year increase in the total University budget.

Although this is less than half the $900,000 field house fund asked by President Herman L. Donovan at the beginning of the present school term, the University still plans to build the field house, President Donovan said yesterday.

"It may mean that we will have to build half now and half later and keep adding to it, but we will go ahead," Dr. Donovan said. "It is understood that the building plans now being drawn in the engineering college under the supervision of Dean James H. Graham allow for constructing the building under the step by step process.

There has yet been no announcement as to when the construction of the building will begin, possibly because of the present difficulty in obtaining building materials. One official in the University administration said that the field house would probably cost 50 per cent more than it would ordinarily because of the war emergency.

The additional $150,000 appropriation of the total annual increase of $300,000 is for maintenance.

These tentative appropriations will have to be passed by the state legislature which begins its session in January, before being official.

Disorder, Inefficiency Reported In Men's Halls By SGA Group; Credit Asked For Drafter

MERCER REPORTS ON DORM VISITS

Welfare Committee Suggests Remedies In Residences

Disorder, inefficiency, and lack of proper medical attention in the men's dormitories were reported by the Student Government association Welfare committee to the Student Legislature last night.

Jerry Mercer, chairman, in an informal report, gave the results of a "surprise visit" made by committee members to both men's and women's residence halls.

"On the whole," he said, "the committee found but few recommendations to make in regard to the women's dormitories."

The situation in the men's halls was considerably different, however, he reported.

After an unannounced inspection by the committee, composed of students and faculty members, the following conditions were found and remedies suggested:

PRESENT SYSTEMS FAIL

A general disorder and mismanagement was found in the halls, which was blamed on the lack of authority of the monitors rather than their inefficiency. The present system is not adequate to cope with the problems and a council will be set up in the same pattern followed in the women's dormitories.

B) The need of a lounge or recreational room was emphasized. At present there is no space for such a room unless a basement room in Bradley Hall is utilized for that purpose. At one time equipment was used as a basement room but the plan failed in practice.

C) A makeshift infirmary is the only medical service available to the residents. The committee suggested better facilities and regular hours of operation as a remedy for this.

TELEPHONES NEEDED

D) Installation of more telephones and a device for calling men from their rooms to see visitors or answer calls was recommended. Two of the halls are equipped for buzzer systems which have never been used. Under the present set-up residents have failed to receive important notices and cleaning men have not been notified when friends were at the dormitory offices to see them.

E) The maintenance and janitor systems were found lacking. Each janitor has approximately 100 beds to make each day. This duty is completely unmanageable. The committee recommended that general repairs be made promptly.

WINDOWS UNREPAIRED

Broken windows have been known to be left unrepaired for months, according to the report. The committee recommended that general repairs be made promptly.

F) Also recommended were the use of material to absorb noises and students should be notified when no supplies, and painting the rooms at regular intervals.

WOMEN'S HALLS

Unconfortable beds, the need for regular fire drills, and crowding of residents were undesirable conditions in the women's halls.

Because of the natural hysteria of women the committee offered the suggestion that regular fire drills be held in the halls as a safety measure.

In three cases in Patterson hall, three girls were found occupying a room with only one window.

The loan committee reported that three petitions have been received asking for a new University post office, not later than Friday, January 9.

Applications should be made in the form of a letter, in which is stated the qualifications of the writer, including a short history of his or her life.

The letters will be judged on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and financial need. The winner will be announced before the close of the first semester.

Lance members are not eligible to compete.

Men Of Draft Age Will Hear Selective Service Changes

All University male students 21 years of age or over as of July 1, 1941, are requested to attend a meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday in Memorial Hall to hear an explanation of the present situation in the Selective Service combination.

"They are expected to attend and it will be to their advantage to attend," President Herman L. Donovan said Monday.

Men already classified in the draft are asked to bring their cards for certain information desired by officials of the Selective Service organization who will be present at the meeting.

Dr. W. S. Webb, chairman of the University Defense council, said today that it was unlikely that any students, now serving deferment periods, would be called to duty immediately. He explained that the deferments are granted for a six-month period only, and that all such periods will be completed February 1. At that time, he said, it is reasonable to expect much rigidity in the granting of further deferments. Applications for deferments will be checked with ever increasing stiffness, he said, and the number granted will be considerably decreased.

When questioned as to the probability of the draft age being lowered, Doctor Webb said that at present he felt public sentiment was against such a measure but about the Japanese attack the coast of California, the incentive for a great-

ENROLLMENT TO BE ENCOURAGED

Credit Bill Passed Unanimously By Legislature

A request that degrees be granted to all graduating seniors called or volunteering for military service was made to the President of the University, the Board of Trustees and the University Faculty by the Student Legislature last night.

The resolution was introduced by Foster Ockerman, law representative, and passed unanimously after a short discussion. A similar bill was passed by the Student Bar association last week.

PATTERSON APPROVES

Russell Patterson, president of the students body, termed the resolution "an expression of the patriotic sentiment of the students."

"This will serve to encourage stability of their being called before degrees to enroll in spite of the prohibitive cost of the semester," Richard P. Adams, graduate school representative declared.

Copies of the resolution will be sent to the President, Herman L. Donovan, the Board of Trustees, and the University faculty along with a letter requesting immediate action.

THE RESOLUTION

The resolution as passed follows: Whereas, A state of war exists between the United States and other nations of the world; and Whereas, The great majority of the seniors of this University are subject to be called into the various branches of military service; and Whereas, Similar provisions were adopted during the first World War; therefore,

Resolved, That the University Faculty be authorized to grant degrees to all graduates of the University who are called or volunteering for military service during the semester at the end of which he would graduate, providing that he is doing passing work in all subjects as determined by the professors under which he is taking work at the time.

In event the legislature fails to pass the proposed amendment, it may be referred to the student body in a general election requiring a three-fourths majority of at least 20 percent of the students for approval.

HOME DEFENSE PROGRAM SET FOR WOMEN

Red Cross Unit, Classes, News Are Planned

Tentative plans are being made by the Committee on University Women in Defense to give the women students a part in the home defense program of the nation.

It is a University Red Cross unit which will form units of first aid, home nursing, and bandage rolling. There is already a knitting project on the campus under the sponsorship of the Red Cross.

Classes in specialized work that are in line with the training that students have already received were discussed and asked to be investigated.

In order to keep the students well and accurately informed and to gain a knowledge of the cause and effects of various phases of the war, a panel discussion by professors and students will be held Friday in the Union building.

The home defense council has called a meeting for a 4 p.m. Monday to discuss the advisability of doing away with open houses on Friday so that sorority and fraternally members may attend the forums.

All organized houses were requested by the House Presidents' council to conserve on electricity food, and all other items that might contribute to national defense.

Former University Students Are In Nation's Armed Forces

With news of the war dominating thought at present, it may be well to note the number of former University students already in active service with the nation's armed forces.

Following is a partial list of persons formerly connected with the University now in the war zone in the Pacific.

Lieut. James C. Snee, former member of the University military staff, is now on duty at Wheeler field, Hawaii.

Miss Katherine Roberts, head of the child-development center at the University is reported to be teaching in Hawaii.

PEARL HARBOR

Lieut. Archie L. Roberts of the United States air corps, Ft. Hays, Mo., is now on duty at Pearl Harbor.

Lieut. Albert W. Moffett, former president of Kappa Alpha social fraternity, was recently evacuated from Shanghai and is now on duty at Manila.

Lieut. Lynn Rhodemeyer, another former student is with the United States naval reserve at Hickam field.

The Alumni office has reported the names of the following students now in the Pacific war area: Lee Gardner Miles, Port McKinley, Philippine Islands; Port M. Covry, Port Moxie, Hawaii; Frank Oving Alexander, Port DeRussy, Hawaii; and Dr. Lawrence Carter Bell, Schofield barracks, Hawaii.

FLYING FIELDS

New a list of former University students in the army or navy air corps which is compiled from dispatches from the various service flying fields.

A major in commerce while at the University, Paul Blanche, 23 1/2, Springfield, Lexington, has started army aviation cadet training at Maxwell field, Ala. He graduated from Nicholasville high school.

Another cadet at Maxwell field is James W. Craig, well-known as a poet while at the University. Craig, whose home is in Henderson, was recognized in the world's fair anthology of poetry, published in 1939.

On December 4, William LeRoy Costel and Perry Dean were carried at Maxwell field, Costel is from Cronon-Hudson, New York; Dean is from Wichita.

TRAINING CENTER

The new air corps training center at Kelly field, Texas, has over 2,000 cadets in training—six of them

UK Choristers Will Present Annual Christmas Program

The University Choristers will present their annual program of Christmas carols under the direction of Miss Mildred Lewis at 8 and 8:30 p.m. Sunday in Memorial Hall.

R. D. McIntyre, director of the Universities' musical concerts said, "I am interested to see the effect of the war on concert attendance. The Guggen and the Balogh concert, reported smaller attendance Sunday and Monday, but this disinterest may be due to the President's speeches. I believe that people will eventually turn to music for relaxation as they did in the last war."

The carol programs were instituted 10 years ago. Their popularity grew so that by 1929, 1,000 people were turned away from the performance. Last year two performances were given to full houses.

Donald Alton, music instructor, will accompany the choristers. The audience will join in singing one group of songs.

Miss Lewis has selected the following program for this year's concert:

I. Professional—When the Sun Had Shone to Rest — Old English American Carols and Antems: A Christmas Folk Song — Bornstein Head News Red Year — Appalachian-Niles Start Lead Us Over — Spins Tribal-Gain of the Singing — Roads — Women's Chorus — Gloria to that New-Born King — Men's Chorus — There were Shepherds — Carl F. Mueller

II. Anglo from the — Best of Glory — Henry Smart First Step (with vocal) — Traditional O Little Town of Bethlehem — Lewis Redner Hark, the Herald Angels Sing — Mendelssohn (To be sung by the audience and choristers)

Organ—Noel Langridge and — Outburst

III. Hark to the — Christ is Born — British-Gael Lullaby on Christmas Eve — Christians The Shepherd's Story — Dickinson

Carl Sandburg Is 'Most Popular' With UK Students

Carl Sandburg is the most popular of living American poets, according to results of a survey taken by Prof. L. L. Dantzer, head of the English department, in the advanced University English classes.

Edna St. Vincent Millay was voted the second most popular of the 54 poets mentioned by the English students.

Those poets voted among the 10 most popular in the nation-wide collegiate poll will be asked to appear on "Between the Bookends" a National Broadcasting company program directed by Ted Malone. They will also be recognized in Good Housekeeping magazine.

The outcome of the poll here was enlightening as well as amusing. Professor Dantzer said, "The selections showed that students had a variety of tastes for poetry."

The University students did not prize Kentucky poets. Jesse Stewart, James Still and J. T. C. Noel polled only five votes among them.

Some "living" poets listed by the advanced English students were: Walt Whitman, Amy Lowell, and

LIGON TO HEAD ASSOCIATION

Prof. Moses E. Ligon of the University education college faculty, who was recently elected president of the Southeastern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, declared yesterday that the ten non-accredited schools in Georgia may not again be placed on the list of accredited schools until the state present school administration system is revised.

Prof. Ligon added that Georgia students were already campaigning to defeat Governor Talmadge in the gubernatorial primaries next September and thereby set up a new school administration system. At present, all state-owned schools in Georgia are controlled by a single board of regents.

Emily Dickinson. The University students' appreciation of the unique and symbolic types of poetry was demonstrated in their support of Gertrude Stein. Edgar Guest received one vote.

Prominent in the listing were Robinson Jeffers, Edgar Lee Masters, Stevens Vincent Benson, T. S. Eliot, Archibald MacLeish, Conrad Aiken, Dorothy Parker, and Ogden Nash.

Deke Moffitt's Band Will Play For Annual Christmas Dance

Deke Moffitt, his clarinet, and his orchestra will furnish music for the second annual Christmas dance from 9 to 12 Saturday night in the Rhegroom room of the Union building.

Tickets for the dance are 75 cents in the advanced sale and one dollar at the door. They may be purchased at the student information desk and may also be obtained from any member of the dance committee.

Hill Adams, chairman of the committee, announced.

Moffitt's band was organized in 1939 and has played an 18-week engagement at the Reynolds Hills Country club in Cincinnati and has served three seasons as stage band for RKO studios.

Moffitt has composed a variety for string quartet and the original swing number for brass bands which he has heard during his first appearance. Some of his latest compositions are "The Little Red Cocks" and "We Indians Threw Robes at"

SGA Amendment To Be Submitted To Administration Before Christmas

Several questions by sponsors of the bill. However, they have expressed no opinions as yet. Dean Hill stated yesterday that he will cooperate in every way in receiving the group and discussing the proposal.

The amendment received additional support when it was endorsed by the Independent association, the Constitutionalist party, and the Student Bar Association. Other factions expected to back the proposal are the Agriculture and Engineers' councils, according to supporters of the bill.

THEY DREW IT UP

This reconstruction of the SGA is the outgrowth of an amendment committee appointed last year by Russell Patterson, president of the student body, to draw up amendments they deemed necessary to improve the function of the government. Jim Collier, Richard P. Adams, Stanley Penna, and Bob Ammons are members of the committee.

Originally two amendments were planned by the committee, a judiciary establishing a body to interpret laws and acts of the SGA, and a legislative amendment abolishing the committee system, which has been termed "cumbersome and inefficient" by campus leaders. Both have been combined into a single proposal to facilitate enactment.

Lances Announce Annual Scholarship For Junior Men

Applications for the annual Junior men's scholarship for men to be presented by Lances, Junior men's honorary, must be sent to Bob Hill, chairman of the University post office, not later than Friday, January 9.

Applications should be made in the form of a letter, in which is stated the qualifications of the writer, including a short history of his or her life.

The letters will be judged on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and financial need. The winner will be announced before the close of the first semester.

Lance members are not eligible to compete.

Student-Faculty Group To Present Proposal

The proposed constitutional amendment, reconstructing the executive and judicial departments of the Student Government association, will be submitted to the University administration for approval before the Christmas holidays, it was decided at a meeting of faculty and students supporting the amendment Wednesday.

Jim Collier, one of the authors of the bill, called the meeting to discuss the proposal to the administration for discussion before further steps are taken toward enactment.

A committee composed of Scott Reed, president of the Independent association; Milton Rice, chairman of the Constitutionalist party; and John Long, commerce senior, was selected to confer with Dean Henry H. Hill to set a time when the administration can meet with a student-faculty group to be selected to present the proposal.

Dean Hill has appointed a committee of faculty members to investigate the amendment and deliver opinion and criticisms to him.

President Herman L. Donovan, and Dean Hill have been consulted

Vocational Guidance Tests To Be Given

One week remains for students to take advantage of the vocational guidance tests given by the Student Government Association, Mary Olive Davis, chairman of the student committee, announced yesterday.

The tests, which usually cost one dollar to take, are available at the University post office, 1000, any time before the Christmas holidays. Only charge made by the student committee is 10 cents.

Changes Effected In SGA set-up may be summarized as follows:

- (a) The finance committee, the social committee, the student welfare committee, and the liaison board will be abolished.
- The finance committee will be replaced by a student treasurer to be selected by the Student Legislature. The budget will be submitted to the legislature and to the President of the University as a general election requiring approval of the student body will be necessary before any expenditures can be made. This has been referred to as a "more specific check on SGA funds"

It's A Habit Now Hill's Shoes Get Filled Again

VICE OF THE PEOPLE By ROY STEINFORT

Fred Hill stroked the period lightly on the typewriter and then, without looking, jerked the copy from the battered machine. Hastily he scanned it, made several changes, and then he added the finishing touches to his collegiate journalistic career with a light touch from a soft black ebony pencil, marking "30" at the end of the story.

And with that "30" marking at the end of Hill's story of the Hillemevers, his latest Vice Of The People enterprise, goes down another "30" alongside Hill's name as a Kernel reporter, columnist and editor.

No longer can he be classified as a collegiate journalist. Mr. Hill has stepped from the ranks of amateurism smack into life—a working newspaperman—a member of the Lexington Herald news staff.

Three years—that's been a long time ago—Hill was promoted on his Kernel beat and Editor L. T. Iglehart began a search for a new reporter.

This Steinfort kid had been hanging around a long time always pestering Iglehart for a job so in a moment of desperation Steinfort was promoted to a reporter to replace Hill.

And so the story has been since. Every time that Fred Hill leaves a job, automatically, I happen along.

Later that year, Hill was made Kernel sports editor.

His column From The Hill was short lived, however, as Bernie Shively, UK Athletic Director, hired Hill as chief Wildcat drummer.

I had tinkered with sports writing several times when Hill was sports editor so I was nominated as the Kernel sports editor. Really I didn't know much about the job as you probably already know.

After the '30 season, Hill resigned to go to what he thought was the army. But he was rejected because he was still a youngster—just 20.

Bernie Shively had watched me follow around in Hill's footprints and like Iglehart and Caldwell he was in had need of a press agent.

I just happened along and you know the rest of the story. I'm the press agent and Hill is the ex-auditor of this column.

Kernel Editor, Bob Ammons couldn't upset precedent and tradition. It wouldn't be right. Editors Iglehart and Caldwell had placed me in Hill's footprints when he was promoted.

So here I am methodically taking up where Hill dropped off.

It's all very strange me being a columnist. But it was very strange me being a reporter after Hill, an editor after Hill, a drum-beater after Hill, and now a columnist after Hill.

Oh, let's call it quits—What the Hill!

Japan Gets Both Prizes

The potted skunk cabbage annually awarded for dumbest blunder of the year, and the silver plated walnut shells for slickest trick of 1941 will be given as a dual award this year.

The recipient, Japan. For, in the sudden attack on American possessions in the Pacific last Sunday, the "Scusi-Please Boys from the East" pulled off the best executed military coup seen around these parts in many a year; but in doing it they threw away their greatest hope for ultimate victory—the internal disunity of their enemy.

We don't know the Japanese term for it, but in English they were plain penny wise and pound foolish.

For years now the defense effort of the United States has been greatly hampered by the attitude of many people that "Well, now, we ought to be careful. We don't want to get into this war unless it is positively necessary." In addition—and even many "informed" military observers are certain that the United States would not be attacked and could not be invaded, kept taunting the people with suspicion that maybe after all this war was just another gigantic pump-priming. Americans were dubious about their position and hesitated to take any action until they had to.

Big Business and labor scrapped among themselves and slowed production more and more; the soldiers in the army fretted. In the production of war materials and the training of men, America, on the whole, was far from capacity and showed no signs of ever developing the spirit to reach it.

Then came the sudden, hammerlike blow. And that blow and succeeding ones have beaten the United States together, solidifying them, and making of the nation one unified machine of war and production.

Had Japan taken the conquest of the Pacific bit by bit, nipping off a piece here and there, as Germany did in Europe, America might never have reached the single-mindedness and single-heartedness which is now so apparent. John L. Lewis would still be haggard; Senators Wheeler and Nye and Charles A. Lindbergh would still be injecting the serum of suspicion into the American arm; there would be doubt and hesitancy.

But Japan, gaining it, must be admitted, the advantage of the first punch, and assuring, probably, a momentary superiority in the Pacific, blasted loose with such directness and such obvious intent that there is no longer any doubt in America.

And so Japan let a good thing get by her. Perhaps, through unfamiliarity with Western minds and the curious psychology of the United States, the Japanese leaders expected the blow to completely overturn American morale.

But they were mistaken. And it is that mistake which will ultimately cost them the war.

Kernel Shouldn't Wisecrack About Such Serious Things

To the Editor of The Kernel:

As one of your feature writers pointed out Tuesday, the full significance of America's entry into war has not yet dawned upon the campus of the University. In particular, the terrible implications which should be apparent in this crisis have not dawned upon the Kernel.

To substantiate this statement, we point with disgust to a piece on Tuesday's editorial page headed: "We Strike A Blow For Freedom of Thought."

Intended, we hope, as a grandiose and noble gesture of sophistication in the face of tragedy, this purile little editorial reaches the height of that sort of bad taste which comes only from ignorance. True humor has its time and place.

We agree heartily that "Any Bonds Today" is a corny song. We have said so ever since it came out last summer. But we are willing to concede our desire to be witty during this situation at least, to a more important task of contributing all we can to national unity.

Do you think the University should grant degrees to graduating seniors who have to leave for the army?

Bera Peery, Commerce sophomore—"Yes, if a boy is in his last semester and is called he should be allowed to leave immediately and be given his degree because he is doing a great thing for his country."

Ellis (Kong) Jones, Commerce senior—"Yes, it is the only way a lot of boys will ever get a degree." Jack J. Hinson, A & S sophomore—"Yes, I do because there isn't any reason that their year's work should go to waste because they're serving their country."

Questions from Dr. George Gallup's American Institute of Public Opinion are obtained prior to their public release and are used in the survey with wording unchanged. This makes certain that the questions are not unconsciously biased, and also which is most important, gives an accurate basis for comparison between the sentiments of the nation's students and that of general public opinion.

The results of the study are analyzed with the help of Professor Katz of the Princeton psychology department, an expert in the field of public opinion.

Kentucky Drier, More War-Conscious Than Average University, Poll Shows

By THE KENTUCKY KERNEL AND THE NASSAU SOVEREIGN

The University of Kentucky is much more war-conscious than the average American college, results of a nation-wide poll, taken last week show.

Although the results would probably be considerably changed by the Japanese declaration of war, the poll shows that last week 70 percent of America's college students considered it more important that America stay out of war than that Germany be defeated.

In UK, only 17 percent of the student body held this opinion.

On questions of religion and prohibition, University of Kentucky students more closely paralleled the national opinion.

COLLEGES SIMILAR Comparison of nation-wide student opinion with the results of the Gallup poll on the same questions showed a close correlation between undergraduates and the nation as a whole, apparently exploding the belief that college students are more isolationist than the rest of the

Insists That Japan Treachery Was Not All Unprovoked

To the Editor of The Kernel:

It seems that President Roosevelt, in his speech at noon last Monday, started a very popular phrase when he accused Japan of "unprovoked treachery." Following the President's opinion, many speakers used, with delight, that very accusatory term "unprovoked treachery."

Certainly the President or anyone with any sense of most responsibility can not say that Japan's actions against the United States were altogether unprovoked. It is a well known fact that every relationship between these two nations, diplomatic or otherwise, has been written in terms of "tit" and "tatt" with Japan always the titler.

On the question "Do you think it would be better for young people if we had national prohibition again?" the University of Kentucky was apparently the driest school polled, leading all others, with 41 percent for prohibition. The nation-wide college average was 22 percent for prohibition. On the whole Southern schools showed the strongest sentiment for liquor legislation.

It has been traditional to believe that in times of stress and national emergency people turn more and more to religion. If this is true, the war had not come very close to American college towns last week, because only a quarter of the nation's students said they had noticed any increase in religion during the past ten years. The University of Kentucky coincided almost exactly with the national results on this question.

STUDENTS DIVIDED American students were almost evenly divided on the question, "Should the question of American participation in the war be discussed from the pulpit of American churches?"

A Philadelphia woman who fired five shots at her fleeing husband now wants him to return. "She was a nut," explains the Arkansas Gazette.

K — a type of carrier telephone circuit — is now being built into many miles of Long Distance cable lines to increase their capacity.

Engineers at Bell Telephone Laboratories developed this circuit which enables two pairs of wires in parallel cables to carry as many as twelve separate conversations at the same time.

K carrier is one of the ways we have found of adding a lot of long circuits in a hurry to meet defense communication needs. Such problems constantly challenge Bell System men with pioneering minds.

Goodness gracious, the telephone is ringing so much it sounds like Santa Claus trying to get through the door!

Hi there, Miss Dawson. Lots happening this weekend. Guess everyone is getting in tune for a grand and glorious holiday. Well—any hoo—There are some open houses that I want to tell you about. The first on the list is the Alpha Delta Pi party for the Alpha Sigs. That was yesterday afternoon and then this afternoon the ADPs will entertain the Triangle members. After both of these parties the girls' organization were invited to buffet suppers given by the respective fraternities.

Other regular Friday afternoon open houses include the Kappa affair for the Delta Tau Delta members, the party at the Chi Omega house for the Sigma Nus, and the open house for the Kappa Sigmas which the Kappa Deltas will give. Most of these will be followed by buffet suppers at the fraternity houses. The Sigma Chi "come as you are" party at the house is being planned for the members of the active chapters. That's tonight. Dancing will be enjoyed by those present and during the evening original stunts will be given. Ben Sullivan and Cam Cantrill have charge of Betty likes to go on long camping trips and commutes with nature in the great outdoors. Horseback riding is her other outdoor diversion. Collecting records and lady-like bull sessions are her indoor pastimes. Betty has successfully combined two essential things, getting a college education and having a good time.

STEWART MAHURIN, a junior in the commerce college, is majoring in general business. After he graduates he plans to go into his father's business in Henderson.

Intramural sports are Stewart's primary interest. He has no particular preference, but likes to participate in all the various activities. Stewart's favorite indoor sports are the national pastimes of eating and sleeping. Along with his education and exercise, he likes plenty of relaxation.

ENERGETIC GABBY The human dynamo, Doris Reichenschach, is constantly seeking an outlet for her abundant store of energy, even in her major, physical education. This arts and sciences senior from Anchorage would like to get a scholarship and continue to do graduate work toward her master's degree after she gets her degree in June.

Gabby likes all the strenuous sports in which women engage, and some they don't. Jitterbugging is her favorite indoor form of mayhem. Her career is the important thing, until she is 29 years old, then she wants to get married—just so she beat the old maid deadline.

Board Approves Faculty Of Graduate School

Donovan Analyzes Enrollment Drop In Report

An analysis of the enrollment for the current school year and the recommendation of a Graduate school faculty were presented in the report of President Herman L. Donovan at a meeting of the Board of Trustees yesterday. The enrollment this year of 3,271 students show a loss of 12.7 per cent over the same period last year, the report said. Dr. Donovan attributed this loss largely to young men entering the armed forces and to both men and women taking positions in defense industries. A further decrease is expected, Dr. Donovan said.

The University has the fourth largest Graduate school east of the Mississippi river and south of the Ohio river, and is surpassed in the number of degrees granted only by Duke and Louisiana State Universities and George Peabody College for Teachers, the president reported. KERNEL SPORTS

Sporting Way

—BY JOHNNY CARRICO

One of the strangest metamorphoses of the year is that of Carl Staker. From a consistent, dependable ball-player, Staker has fallen into a seemingly lackadaisical attitude that has seriously affected his basketball play.

The unaccountable part of it is that Staker is not the kind of guy to take it easy because the situation appears sewed up. He left a summer job that was paying him $175 a month to come back and play basketball for Rupp. He knew there would be blood, sweat and tears in the offing, but Carl balanced the two propositions and chose the hard one.

After making the sacrifice, it's difficult to see why Carl should nullify its good effects. The team suffers when Carl is not putting out his best. It's the captain. The team is guided by what Carl thinks and does. His job is to put spirit into the team and to make the members work together.

LAST YEAR All last year Carl was one of Rupp's mainstays and hardest workers. His teammates respected his energy and industry so much they elected him as their leader for the next campaign. And Staker has all the qualifications of a good captain in addition to his cage ability.

After practice had gotten well under way, Staker appeared to be coasting. There wasn't the same drive or spirit that characterized the Staker of last year. A more or less haphazard attitude developed which hoded ill for the success of the team.

It became so marked that Ken England, who has improved rapidly, made a serious bid to displace Staker as starting guard. That possibility has not been entirely ruled out since so far Staker hasn't produced.

One person made the statement that the athletic department was having trouble finding a jersey that would go over Carl's head. I doubt that this is the reason for the transformation.

True, Carl's activities aren't confined to the hardwood and that he has won honors in other fields. He is a member of Tau Beta Pi, Sigma Pi, Sigma, and ODK. He and Pete Spare were recently elected most popular men. He has also served in the student legislature.

It's possible that his achievements have affected both him and his play. I haven't noted it in Carl while off the floor. "Modesty is the word for Staker" is associated with him, and I haven't noticed any difference.

THE ANSWER? But it's certain that Carl is not

"Colonel" of the Week

Carl Staker

This week's "Colonel of the Week" goes to Carl Staker, captain of the Wildcat cage men. Carl, a member of the Mayville Stakers, is a graduate student in Civil Engineering.

He was recently voted to be one of the two most popular men on the campus. He is a member of ODK, honorary men's leadership fraternity, and Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity. He was selected for "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges."

In appreciation of these achievements we invite you to come in and enjoy any two of our delicious dinners.

Cat Cagers To Meet Ohio State In Columbus Tomorrow Night

50-50 Chance Given Kentucky By McBrayer

Kentucky hopes to send one of the ten little Indians of the Western conference rolling when the Wildcat cagers meet Ohio State in the Columbus coliseum Saturday night.

Assistant coach Paul McBrayer, who scouted the Big Ten representative in their impressive win over the Great Lakes Naval Training station team Wednesday night, gives the Wildcats a 50-50 chance of defeating the Buckeyes.

"It will take a top-notch game to do it, but if the boys put out their best, we can beat them," McBrayer said. He pointed out that Ohio State has a strong offensive club which does a lot of shooting.

IN GOOD SHAPE
All the Wildcats are in good shape after their 35-21 victory over Miami University Saturday night. Marvin Akers' ankle has healed and the big fellow is expected to start against the Bucks.

The Ohio State offensive is featured by the point-guarding of Dick Fisher, who finished third in Big Ten scoring last year. Fisher coined 11 points against the training station team which defeated Notre Dame by 6 points.

Other stellar performers for the Bucks are Fred Miller, forward, and Jack Graf, guard. McClain, a six-foot-four guard, is another important cog in the Buck cage machine.

BUCKEYE LETTERMAN
Five lettermen returned to the Buckeye squad that set off the 20th year of Coach Harold G. Olson as director of the Ohio State cage fortunes. They are Graf, Fisher, Miller, Bill Goss, and Max Geowetz.

The Ohio Staters will be seeking revenge for a Sugar Bowl loss to Kentucky in 1929. Several of the men on the losing Buck squad are still wearing the Scarlet and Gray and Saturday's contest offers an opportunity to even the count.

Rupp will take six forwards, five guards, and three centers to the coliseum. The forwards are Mill Tico, Ernal Allen, Whizzer White, Lloyd Ramsey, Frank Elscorn, and Vince Spiane.

GUARDS, CENTERS
The guards are Carl Staker, Marvin Akers, Ken England, Bruce Boelher, and Adrian Beck. The centers will be Jim King, Mel Brewer, and Ed Lender.

Saturday's invasion marks the first real test of the Wildcats. After a low session with Miami's Redskins, the Wildcats have drilled in offensive tactics this week.

Ohio State shows a record of two wins and no losses. The Buckeyes

Sports Whirl

By WINDY
So many of the Wildcats are in advanced military that the general question around the campus now seems to be should we "Send the Team to Tokio."

We sorta suspect Coach Rupp of proffering on the emergency, especially when he told his basketball players during practice the other day that this was national defense week.

Marvin Akers is improving so fast that we expect the "Big Train" to be going like the "Chattanooga Choo Choo" before the season is over.

Also we can credit Coach Rupp with one of the best remarks of the week when he said, "Those Japs sure kicked the ball hard on the kickoff."

Language Clubs Will Give Benefit

SEC MEETING TO OPEN TODAY

Officers For 1942 Will Be Elected Tomorrow

The moguls of the Southeastern conference have gathered here for the tenth annual meeting of the Big 12 which opens at 10 a.m. today.

Coaches, athletic directors, and Mike Connor, commissioner of the officials of the loop will meet with Southeastern, to iron out troubles that have arisen in the past year.

Proselyting and subsidation, current topics of debate in the Big 12, will be investigated and discussed. A rotating system of playing conference games will probably be suggested. This proposal has received scant consideration at past meetings.

The first conference session is set for 1:30 p.m. in the Red room of the Lafayette hotel. Expected to attend are Governor Keen Johnson, Ward Havely, mayor of Lexington, and President Donovan.

At the banquet, which will be held at 6:30 p.m. today, Dr. Frank McVey will preside as toastmaster. Connor will address the guests.

The second conference session will be held at 10 a.m. tomorrow, at this meeting the officers for 1942 will be elected. The present officers are R. C. Foster of Alabama, president; R. C. Harris of Tulane, vice-president, and W. D. Funkhouser of Kentucky, secretary-treasurer.

NYA Meeting To Be Held Monday

There will be a meeting of all NYA students at 4 p.m. Monday in Memorial hall, as Dean Henry H. Hill announced.

Dean T. T. Jones, Dean Sarah B. Holmes, and Dean Hill will discuss the possible effect of a reduction in NYA funds and other matters which may affect the students' plans.

Duncan Leads Forum

Mrs. May K. Duncan, head of the elementary education department, led a forum discussion with the teachers of Williamstown and Grant county at Williamstown Wednesday.

Public school pupils in England now have classes in current affairs and are taught the Allies' national songs.

Outing Club To Give Bi-weekly Picnic

The outing club will have its bi-weekly meeting Saturday. The group will leave the campus entrance of the Union building at 1 p.m. and will hike across country to the reservoir, where they will cook supper over an open fire. Cost of the supper will be 25 cents.

Students interested in going on this hike are to contact Ben Johnson in room 122 of the Union building before 5 p.m. today.

PLEASE READ THIS LETTER FROM A DRAFTEE!

Dear Santa:

I must admit I feel a little silly writing you a letter. Of course I know all about you and the wonderful things the NEW YORK SUN said in that remarkable editorial. And I know that this Christmas, in particular, you're going to be practical and give gifts that are useful and worthwhile.

That's why I'm asking you to remember how wonderfully comfortable a pair of house slippers can be around a cold barracks.

And there's another point—too. Every time the "Sarge" comes down the line inspecting our shoes he stops and says something nice about my BAYNHAMS. That's the reason I'm hoping you'll bring me another pair, or a pair of House Slippers, this year.

Your friend,
Hoyce Wrather.

P.S. I think my father could use a pair of those house shoes—too.
P.P.S. Be sure and get them at BAYNHAM'S—so you'll get the best!
