Is It Adlai Or Ike? University To Vote In Mock Election

Real Voting Machines To Be Used In Polls

By JEAN GRANT

University students and faculty will have a chance today to vote for their choice of senatorial and national candidates in a campus-wide mock election sponsored by the new College Chamber of Commerce and the League of Women Voters.

Polls will be open for voting from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Student Union. Regulation voting machines loaned by the Fayette County Election Board will be used.

The Eisenhower for President Club and the Young Democrats Club are working with the two sponsoring groups in putting on the election. Members of each of the four groups will be on duty throughout the day to instruct voters in the use of the tabulating machines.

Four candidates will be listed on the ballot: Dwight Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson, presidential nominees; and John Sherman Cooper and Thomas Underwood, senatorial aspirants.

John Chandler, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said he believed the results of this mock election would show the political leanings of the state as a whole, because the students are representative of every section of Kentucky. He noted that the election will serve a two-fold purpose—to educate the student in the use of the voting machine and to find out the degree of student and faculty interest in the forthcoming election.

In previous mock elections held on campus, voting was restricted to students who were residents of the state. However, all students and faculty members will be eligible to vote in the election next Tuesday. Workers at the polls will have a list of all students and faculty on campus and will check off their names as they vote. In this way, there will be no duplication of votes.

Each voter will be considered a resident of the state. If the student is a "county" or "county" of Lexington, University "county," and the student "county." The last "straw vote" held in October, 1948, proved that the students were good at predicting national election results. The predicted winner Thomas E. Dewey. At that time a popular campus phrase was "as the University goes, so goes the nation."

Former UK Student Pictured On Stamp

Miss Mayrell Johnson, former UK graduate student and resident of Murray, is one of four women pictured on a postage stamp recently issued by the U. S. Post Office Department. The stamp honors the work of women in the armed forces. Now a wave of honor is being sent to Washington, Miss Johnson received her master's degree here in 1922 and was named first lieutenant and women's professor of political science at Murray State College. She returned to the campus in 1941 as 1942 for advanced graduate work before entering the Navy.

Dr. Clark Will Lecture In Asia On American Life And History

Dr. Thomas D. Clark, head of the Department of History, has been selected by the U. S. Department of State for a special 12-week educational assignment in India and Pakistan, it was announced this week.

Under the state department's Leaders and Specialists Service, the UK department head will speak before college and university students in India and Pakistan during part of October, November, December, and part of January.

Dr. Clark will leave Lexington next Monday night for New Delhi, India, where he will be attached to the U. S. Embassy during his stay. While working from New Delhi, the Kentucky historian will be associated with Chester Bowles, U. S. ambassador.

In addition to lecturing before student groups, Dr. Clark will engage in university seminars and speak to non-student groups in 1241 to his throughout India and Pakistan.

The state department selected the UK professor in an effort to help introduce workings of the United States in India and Pakistan. Dr. Clark will discuss "American life and American history" during his overseas stay.

"Students of India have been asking an enormous number of questions about our country and we will attempt to answer these questions," Dr. Clark explained.

Fraternities Vote To Have Informal Rush

The Inter-Fraternity Council voted this week to have an informal rush beginning Oct. 18 and lasting through Nov. 1.

The IFC plans to give each fraternity a list of the 129 students who registered for rush at the beginning of the semester but either dropped out of rush or were not pledged. Other persons interested in going out for rush may sign up in the Dean of Men's office between Oct. 13 and 17. A list of these new rushes will also be distributed to the fraternities.

Preference day will be Nov. 2. Fraternities are required to turn their preference lists in by 8 a.m. in Room 127 of the Student Union. Rushes will report between 9 and 11:30 a.m. to make their preference of four fraternities.

Informal rush will be similar to last year's rushing with only a few restrictions. Fraternities are asked not to speak dishonorably of other fraternities. No one can be pledged who has not registered before Oct. 17 and paid the $2 fee. There will be no more pledging this semester after Nov. 2. If a pledge breaks his pledge with a fraternity, he cannot pledge again until next year.

Generally, the IFC applauded the new rushing system for its leniency and workability. One member said that if the predictions of the faculty and Board of Trustees holds true, the University, not always known for large fraternities, can look forward to a much greater enrollment and student activity, especially along the proposed fraternity row.

John Murphy Added To Editorial Board Of UK Law Journal

John W. Murphy, second-year law student, has recently been added to the editorial board of the Kentucky Law Journal. Appointment to the editorial board is based upon high scholarship and the ability to do creditable professional writing.

Officers and members of the editorial board this year include Robert C. Moffit, editor-in-chief; William R. Rice, associate editor; Norman D. Boyler, note editor; William S. Tribell, Charles M. Carnes, and William R. Ramey.

Speech, Drama Clinic Held On UK Campus

Approximately 200 high school speech teachers, principals and superintendents throughout the state are expected to attend UK's annual Speech and Drama Clinic today and Saturday.

The two-day event will be sponsored by the UK Department of University Extension and the Department of English, and the Kentucky Speech Teachers Association. All business sessions will be held in the Guilford Theater in the Fine Arts Building.

Miss Chloe Gifford, assistant in the Department of University Extension, said coordinator for the clinic will be Dr. Paul Carmack, director of forensics at Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio. He will speak on "Debate and Discussion Questions."

Dr. Charles McGon, professor of speech at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, will also give a speech during the clinic. Students from Lexington high schools, Frankfort high school, and Male high school, Louisville, will appear on the clinic program to demonstrate various phases of public speaking. Several questions and answer periods have been planned with local and visiting speech and drama authorities presiding.

Others appearing on the program are Wallace Briggs, director of Guilford Theater; Keith Brooks, director of Little Theater, Eastern Kentucky State College; Louis Clifton, head of the Department of University Extension; Caville H. Nalvard, acting head of UK Radio Arts Department; Fred Miller, director of Little Theater, Western Kentucky State College; J. Reid Sterrett, associate professor of speech at UK; Keller Dunn, Ruby Hart, and Jean Marie McConnell, all assistants in the Department of Extension.

Journalism Director Speaks To Kiwanis

Journalists have freedom only as long as they maintain a responsibility to the welfare of the people they serve. Dr. Niel Plummer, director of the UK School of Journalism, told the Kiwanis Club at a luncheon meeting Tuesday at the Lafayette Hotel.

Dr. Plummer told the group that National Newspaper Week, held this year Oct. 1-8, is a time each year when newsmen account for the things they have done and reveal the trials they have had to overcome to get the news.

He added that reporters also ask that the readers put away their "smugness" and realize that individual freedoms are not so firmly rooted in common law that there can be no definite restrictions on the press.

Churches Of Christ Open Essay Contest

A nation-wide essay contest with prizes totaling $1,000 has been announced by the National Council of the Churches of Christ. The contest opens Nov. 1 and closes March 31, 1952.

Prizes will be awarded to two age groups, 13 to 18 and 19 to 22. Essays need not be in school to enter the contest. Winners will be announced about May 15, 1952.

The subject for the essays will be "The United States and the Underdeveloped Areas." Basic purpose of the contest, Ernest Lefevre, associate director of the National Council of the Churches of Christ, said, is to stimulate active interest of young Americans in the problem of the Point IV program and our relationship with the economically less developed countries of the world.

Movie Actor Dissatisfied In Hollywood

By Leslie Morris

A motion picture actor answered Hollywood's statement, "Movies Are Better Than Ever," in one concise reply: "I never bother to see any." John Carradine, Shakespearean actor and Hollywood and Broadway performer, is not satisfied with "Hollywood's way of making pictures."

"I've had enough of Hollywood's way of making pictures," he said adamantly. "I wouldn't mind making pictures in England, however," he added.

Carradine appeared Wednesday night before a capacity crowd in the Guilford Theater. His program, entitled "Great Scenes from Great Literature," included some of the best-known scenes from Shakespeare and selections from other English writers, as well as readings from Abraham Lincoln in address, women's suffrage and the Civil War.

He seemed very impressed with the Guilford Theater and the Fine Arts Building. "I have never seen quite as complete a plant as this at any other university," he said. He likened Carradine to the Fairmont Community Theater in California.

This was Carradine's third engagement on his current tour. He is speaking at various colleges, women's clubs, cultural organizations, and town halls. The actor is also fulfilling engagements dropped by Monty Woolley, another Hollywood character actor.

In 25 years, Carradine has appeared in over 100 plays and 225 motion pictures. His favorite roles were in "Winter," "Mary of Scotland" and "Captain's Courageous," and "Stage Coach." "Most of the rest were pretty bad," he added.

UK Librarian Accepts Post In Far East

Miss Norma B. Cass, head of the reference department at the Margaret I. King Library, has been granted a leave of absence for one year to accept a professorship at Keio-Gijuku University, Tokyo.

Announcement of Miss Cass' appointment to the post in Tokyo was made yesterday by Dr. Lawrence S. Thompson, director of the UK libraries. Miss Cass will teach library science at the Japanese University under a program sponsored by the Rockefeller Foundation, Dr. Thompson said.

The UK librarian will serve on the library science faculty in Japan along with specialists from the University of Washington and the University of California. Miss Cass was selected for the position because of her experience as a catalogue and classification expert, Dr. Thompson said.

Dr. Thompson described Miss Cass as "one of the leading reference librarians in the country." She holds a BA degree from Lawrence College, Appleton, Wis., a BS degree from Columbia University, and an MS degree in library science from the University of Michigan.

A native of Viroqua, Wis., Miss Cass became a member of the UK library staff in 1931 as librarian of the Graduate Division and was named reference librarian the following year.

Demonstration, Rally Are Scheduled Tonight In Front Of Coliseum

'53 Graduates Asked To File For Degrees

Seniors who expect to graduate the first or second semester of the summer term are requested to file for degrees on Oct. 17 and 18, Richard Tuthill, University registrar, announced this week. This applies also to graduate students who expect to complete their requirements for graduate degrees.

Dates on applications previously filed in the Registrar's Office must be brought up to date by the student. All applications should be filed in Room 16 of the Administration Building. As commencement lists are made from these cards, it is important to file an application at this time, Mr. Tuthill said.

Candidates for the bachelor's degree will be charged a graduation fee of $9. This will cover the rental of cap and gown, diploma fee, the Kentuckian, and other expenses. Candidates for advance degrees, other than the doctorate, will be charged $20. This covers the above except for the Kentuckian and includes the cost of the hood to be presented to the candidate. The fee for the doctorate is $25.

Graduate fees are payable not later than the fourth day preceding the commencement, the Registrar said.

Over 2500 Students Expected To Attend Giant 'Spirit Revival'

By LARRY MEYER

A campus-wide demonstration and pep rally will be held this evening at 6:45 in front of Memorial Coliseum.

Scheduled to appear at the rally are Coach "Beary" Bryant and the entire Whitekild squad along with LSU Coach Gaynell Tinsley and the two Tiger captains. The Marching One Hundred will furnish its jazz band for the event.

The program will begin at 6:30 when the jazz band begins a tour of the dormitories. The first stop will be the men dormitories. The parade will then go to Scott Street Barracks, and from the barracks, to the women's dorms.

The demonstration will move to the front of the Coliseum where the rest of the band and Greek organizations will join.

Members of the UK football team will be introduced by Coach Bryant. The band will play, and the new cheerleaders will lead several yells. A torch light parade will be held downtown after the rally at the Coliseum.

All sororities and fraternities have assured Sucky members that they will attend the rally. Over 2500 persons are expected to take part in the giant "spirit revival."

The card session sponsored by Sucky will be eliminated at this week's game in order that students

Civil Service SGA Student Directories To Be Issued Next Month

Student Directories will be out the first week of November, Jane Truitt, chairman of the Student Directory Committee, reported Monday night at the weekly meeting of the Student Government Association.

The Kernel Press has agreed to print 4,500 copies for $800, she said. George Lawson, president of SGA, noted that the idea of having a 10-cent charge for the books has been dropped.

Treasurer Henry Mauser reported that this year's budget has not been drawn up yet since he has been unable to discuss it with University Controller Frank D. Peters.

"Instead of the estimated revenue of $5,400 from the students' fees this semester," Mauser said, "We can count on only about $4,000. We will have to dip into our reserve to make our budget. With the anticipated enrollment increase, we ought to replenish the reserve early."

Kentuckian To Name 1953 Beauty Queen

Applicants for the 1953 Kentuckian Beauty Queen Contest will be accepted through Oct. 20 in the Kentuckian office, Journalism Building, Corky Glass, Lamp and Cross publicity chairman, announced this week.

The contest will be held at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 29, in Memorial Hall. The queen and her court of six attendants will be presented at the Kentuckian Dance Nov. 1, sponsored by Lamp and Cross.

Candidates for the contest must have been a student at the University for at least two semesters and must have at least a 1.9 overall standing. They will be judged on poise, beauty, and naturalness, the chairman added.

Students who expect to complete their courses by June 30 may apply. Full information, including instructions on how to apply, may be obtained at the placement office or from the head of the department where the appropriate courses are given.

Pete Carter, head of the Judiciary Committee, said that since the committee has been given more power than it has ever had, it should be divorced from the Assembly of SGA.

"As a member of the committee," Carter said, "I am impartial and do not represent the students. Therefore, the name of the committee should be changed to 'Judicial Council' and it should be divorced from the Assembly. I don't think its name is appropriate."

Carter also advocated that the number of members on Judiciary be increased from five to nine. The members should be appointed by the president of SGA and approved by a majority of the Assembly. In order to remove pressure from students, Carter said that the members should be removed only by a two-thirds vote of the Assembly. He said that he plans to draw up a motion to be presented to the Assembly later.

Annual KPA Meeting Set For Tomorrow

Victor R. Portmann, secretary-treasurer of the Kentucky Press Association, has announced that the annual K.P.A. executive meeting will be held at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at the Lafayette Hotel.

After the meeting, members of the K.P.A. will participate in laying the cornerstone to the Cardinal Hill Nursery School, a project of the K.P.A., valued at $10,000.

School Spirit, Sportsmanship Are Dead Issues At Kentucky

Students at Texas A & M put UK to shame last week even though the Wildcats came home with a win after fighting off the hard-driving Texas team right down to the last five seconds of the game.

We've nothing but praise for the football team—they racked up one of the finest performances of any UK team ever—but the school spirit and sportsmanship displayed by the host school certainly contrasted vividly with past performances by UK rooters here at home.

Down at Texas A & M, an all male school, the students march into the game in a body. If the boys have dates, the ladies sit in a separate section of the stadium and the couples meet after the game.

At the kick-off, the A & M students rise to their feet and stay there until the game is over. Then, win or lose, they sweep down on the field in a body and carry both teams off on their shoulders.

At Stoll Field the picture is somewhat different. Dressed to the teeth in their latest tea dresses and drapes suits, our docile rooters file in, accompanied by the inevitable bottles and the frame of mind that makes for frequent displays of poor sportsmanship. At the kick-off our would-be sophisticates look at one another and chew over the latest campus gossip. They rise to their feet only to boo a referee who has ruled against UK. Needless to say, the gentlemen in the striped shirt is almost always right.

When a time out is about over, they languorously get up and half-heartedly beg the student body to struggle through an out-dated, unexciting "cheer." In all fairness it should be pointed out that one lad does seem to want the students to give out with a little enthusiasm. His trouble, however, is that he has to insult people to get a rise out of them.

Of course Suky, the tightly-knit group that claims to be interested in school spirit, doesn't help the situation any either. The football players landed at Blue Grass airport last Sunday afternoon and were met—not by a cheering crowd of students that had been told when and where to meet the team to welcome them back—but by empty runways.

In our opinion no one group can be blamed for UK's shame—it falls equally on the lackadaisical members of Suky, the inept cheerleaders, and the preclude students.

So he took his books and went home.

Ad appearing in the Louisiana State Daily Reveille: "NED BETTS—The Only Leader in the South Playing Seven Instruments and His Orchestra."

The letters TNE stand for Tau Nu Epsilon, a group of pranksters and vandals who have been banned on many campuses, including the University of Kansas campus.

But last Saturday TNE was back in Kansas; they had burned their initials on the football field, and, were it not for some hasty patchwork, the initials would have been viewed by 20 million TV football fans that afternoon.

University officials, hopping mad, said the vandals will be punished—if they catch them.

The Readers Speak: Praise Given To Aggies

I was very much impressed with the spirit, enthusiasm, and sportsmanship shown by the Texas A & M students at the football game when we played there last week. I had heard much about their cheering section beforehand, it being referred to as the "12th man" on A & M's football team, but I actually had no conception of its true strength until I saw and heard with my own eyes and ears.

From a player's standpoint, I can vouch for the fact that such a cheering section has a very strong psychological effect on the visiting team.

At A & M, the entire student body (6,000 students) is required to be at the game an hour before game time, and the yelling starts before either team takes the field. Believe me, the yells are deafening and are at a perfection. They yell practices for the entire student body through the week, and they really take pride in their cheering.

As soon as the final whistle of the game is blown, their student body comes leaping out of the stadium and converges on the playing field. Not only do they carry the entire A & M team off the field on their shoulders, win or lose, but the visiting players also get a boost to their shoulders and are carried off.

The conduct of the A & M players was equally as sportsmanlike as the student body. In all my years of football, I don't think I have ever played in a cleaner ball game.

Shively Praises Too

The following letter was originally sent to the editor of the Battalion, the student newspaper of Texas A & M. It was submitted to the Kernel for publication of the feelings of various people connected with UK athletics toward the spirit and sportsmanship demonstrated last Saturday by the students of A & M.

I want to express to you the feeling of our football team, coaches, the Kentucky fans, and myself on the fine sportsmanship that was shown by your student body and the officials of your school when we played your football team in College Station last Saturday.

We were all impressed by the friendliness of your students on the campus when they greeted all visitors with a "Howdy." I understand that this is traditional and it certainly makes all outsiders feel welcome.

I have never seen anything like the demonstration of your student body after the game. The game was hard-fought and clean and was a heart-breaking loss for everyone from Texas A & M. When your students carried both teams off the field it was a wonderful display of good sportsmanship.

One of our players remarked after the game that the Aggie students carrying him seemed to be as proud of him as they were their own players.

In Coach Bryant's television program Sunday, he said that he had never seen such a display of school spirit as your students showed during and after the game.

All of us here at Kentucky marveled at your school spirit and appreciated your fine hospitality.

Housing Cry Heard

President Herman L. Donovan has stated recently that due to the critical housing shortage on the campus, new housing accommodations must be made. And what accommodations are to be made?

More decorated hell-halls for frat men to lounge in? I wish that one of our "Housing Administrators" would stroll thru the dark, well ventilated corridors of the poor man's sanctuary, namely Scott Street Barracks. If he should make it up the swaying stairs of "Sigma Sigma Beta" and step "thru" the door to these halls of learning, he would encounter signs of poverty not seen since the Dark Ages.

Provided he won the Battle of the Cockroaches and completed his inspection of the Fire Trap, he would surely do something for the common man.

A little carpenter work in the form of wall erection between cells would eliminate being awakened at night by crack-lights or whistle-blowing switch engines or the winding of watches in non-adjacent rooms. Studying is almost impossible in an atmosphere of confusion such as exists here. Since many of the upper-class men live here, shouldn't they be considered in campus housing plans?

A great state needs a great university, in the words of Dr. Donovan, but many a Bowman Hall bound freshman has been deported to the Scott Street Shambles upon receiving the dubious title,

"Sophomore." What! Students of a great university living in coal bins?

Will Dr. Donovan ignore the cries of the down-trodden and awaken to find the peasants have stormed the Bastille?

Or, will he awaken to find the Bastille has burned and taken the peasants with it?

Greeks Are Defended

This letter contains an answer directed at Indignant Independent.

When one stops to earnestly consider the sanity of the University's building plans for the fraternities, one can't help but see that it will in very great measure ease UK's housing shortage. As far as the University is concerned, this building plan means that 384 students who now live in below average housing will have a chance to live in decent quarters.

When you call members of Greek organizations snobs, you're making an irrational generalization. Most of the Greeks have very good friends among the Independents. In many organizations on campus, YM, YW, Newman Club, etc., honorary societies, and others, they work side by side to accomplish great results.

When you say they don't come to school to work, you should see the report on standings from the Dean of Men's office. It showed that the all-fraternity standing for the spring semester of '52 was higher than the all-men's average. There are also plenty of Greeks in honoraries, and they didn't buy their way in.

When you call the Greeks social butterflies, you're right. They're the social butterflies who support May Day, Homecoming, Lances Carnival (thus indirectly its scholarships), ODK (by sale of tags), etc., etc.

I grant you we're not perfect, but neither is anyone else. It takes both Greeks and Independents to have a well balanced campus. I'm sure that if you calm down enough, you'll agree.

Sincerely,
Norval Copeland

Decline Of Voters Reveals Disinterest In Nation's Future

Year by year, greater numbers of our people lose interest in freedom.

Recent statistics compiled by several research agencies show that although the number of eligible voters in the country has increased through population gains in the last half century, the actual number of those who go to the polls on any given election day has steadily declined.

Our country was founded on the premise that every man has the right—amounting to a moral obligation—to vote for the government of his choice. The decline of voters is an alarming indication of a general apathy that might well allow us to slip into a period of decline similar to that which preceded the fall of great civilizations in the past.

The nation is particularly dependent upon its college students. It is they, better educated and therefore more aware of current political, social, and economic problems and methods of dealing with them, who must take over when the elders lay down the reins of leadership.

Tuesday's campus-wide mock election can serve for many as an initiation to the responsibilities of an adult citizen in a democracy. It can, that is, if it actually is a campus-wide election . . . if all students make the effort that seems so impossible for many of our elders and walk to the polls to register their choice of candidates. True, such a mock election will accomplish little in a practical way, but it will serve to show what we can expect from the country's future citizens.

Voting, like the use of a muscle, is a function that atrophies if it isn't used regularly . . . and atrophy is listed far more often than conquest as the reason for the downfall of democracies in the past.

Arts Department. The loss this time was set at $50,000. The fourth major fire occurred in 1948 when firemen were called to the UK campus once more, this time to battle a $200,000 blaze in Woodward Hall, a geology and mineralogy storehouse.

One result of these four fires has been the strict University ruling about smoking in classroom buildings. Lexington Fire Chief Earl B. McDonald counts student cooperation an important factor in preventing future campus losses.

Try and remember then, when you're tempted to light that cigarette before you get to the door of a restricted building, fires have cost us, students and taxpayers of Kentucky, a little over $750,000 in the last 20 years. Let's not allow any more money to go up in smoke.

"Why should we yell at th' games . . . isn't that what we've got Suky for?"

Out of the Frying Pan Maintenance Boys Begin To Dig As Canasta Scores Over Bridge

It's a little late now, but anyone should have prepared an extra pamphlet on "What Every Young Freshman Should Know."

In addition to getting the K-book, which told them what the Student Union was and all about the dorm rules, the frosh should have been told that you don't need to buy a textbook for freshman hygiene and that etymology is no course to take for a snap elective. Someone should have advised them not to schedule subsequent classes in Funk-houser and in Fraze.

They should have been warned that one can't expect to understand much about first year psych. It would have helped to know which professors give pop quizzes and a road map of the Fine Arts building might have proved valuable.

Some frosh are lucky enough to have veterans of UK in their family or hometown who can pass on pertinent bits of information, but, sadly enough, most of them must learn about collegiate life the hard way.

If you freshmen don't get the hometown paper while you're here, you can keep up with who's married and murdered around the old homestead by checking in the Periodical Room of the library. There they have all the dailies and weeklies published in Kentucky—everything from the Louisville C-J to the Podunk Pizayune.

Believe it or not, the Maintenance and Operations boys haven't started digging up the campus this year. Those who were here last year remember painfully how easy it was to ruin white bucks and suede oxfords as one squished through the campus mud ponds. Like on the pavement down by White Hall where our shovel-happy diggers scooped out a trench big enough to hold half the Infantry ROTC and then left it there till the rainy season was over. A smaller enterprise behind Miller Hall, started about the same time, looked more like a bear trap, 'tough the mud wasn't as thick as at some of the other holes.

The M and O boys are around, though. We still dodge big yellow trucks while enroute to class and may get prime cases of hay fever from the dust raised by furious leaf raking.

The latest Maintenance undertaking is the digging of an extensive tunnel down by home base, the Service Building on Lime. Rumor has it that the boys are preparing a heating system for Scott Street Barracks. If true, that should get a rousing cheer from the inmates of UK's cream-colored fire-traps.

For those of you who like to get your state and national news right after it happens, we have the perfect solution. Come on over to the Journalism building and pick it up off our new AP teletype machine.

Last year students had quite a time getting the latest dope when the campus was buzzing about the basketball scandal. Why, by checking the teletype every day, you can get out of buying an afternoon paper—we get the same news they do.

Hoping to get a few juicy ones from some of you readers, we again run our Nest To Impossible Department during the record you selected on the grill jake box hearing the rush period.

Eating dormitory food. (This was a contribution.) Getting into McVey Hall through the northwest door between classes on a rainy day.

Here's a little one we picked up over the week-end:

He: "Please!"
She: "No."
He: "Oh, Please!"
She: "No!"
He: "Just this once!"
She: "I said no!"
He: "Aw, Mom, all the kids are going barefoot."

The sportsmanship displayed by Texas A & M cadets when they carried our Wildcats off the field on their shoulders after last Saturday's game was even more surprising than the final score. Wonder if anything like that could ever happen here?

From the Frying Pan Mailbag:
Dear Miss Fryer,

In regards to the enclosed and underlined clipping, it may ease your mind to know that there is someone on the UK campus who does play canasta instead of bridge.

I'm no expert, but I do play. Do you?
Yours for a fast game,

Jim Phillips
Bowman Hall
Sure do, Jim, but I'm a little out of practice. Know where we could dig up a third and a fourth and two packs of cards, jokers intact? With a little organization we could show those legions of UK bridge friends that there are other card games.

Campus Convention Time Finds Spirit United For LSU Debate

"Order in the convention." Yes, the 1952-53 convention on the UK campus is well under way by this time. The rules of order have been adopted and several major decisions have been made.

Similar to the many candidates who campaigned for both parties at the Republican and Democratic conventions, the troops for Tau Sigma, cheerleaders, and Blue Marlines have highlighted the week's activities.

Beginning the third major debate on the floor of this convention will be a contest Saturday afternoon with the major issue between LSU and the UK Wildcats. The time of the debate will be 2 p.m. at Stoll Field and will be limited to one hour. This time everyone will be voting "Yes" for the UK eleven.

What some thought might be an outbreak of disagreement on the floor of the last debate, which was held in Texas, turned out to be a wonderful example of unified spirit and good will. It would be great if the rest of the succeeding debates could be climaxed as well and met with similar feeling and good fellowship.

One faction of this convention has initiated five new members. Zeta Tau Alpha has announced the initiation of Nancy Campbell, Barbara Featherstone, Joyce Jenny, Martha May, and Mary Alice Phillips.

Last Friday one representative of the convention, Pat Vincent, was married to Calvin Short. The lovely wedding was held in the chapel of the College of the Bible. Many congratulations to them both and happens in the years to come.

This Sunday the residents of Boyd Hall are having open house from 3 to 5 p.m. for all the male representatives of the UK convention. The graduate students are also having a party on the lawn of Jewell Hall from 2 to 3:30 p.m. this Sunday.

The Sigma Nu officers for their faction of the 1952-53 UK convention will be John Proffitt, president; Joe Bill Howard, vice-president; Ray Jones, reporter; and Dave Cole, alumni-contact chairman.

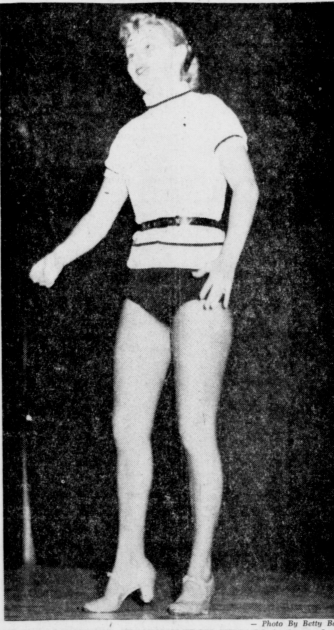

After the recent caucus of the Student Union Board, Stan Dickson was chosen president. The chairman of the committees of this convention are Pat Hervey, activities committee; Carol Milroy, house committee; Ruth Sandner, Coffee Chat; Joyce Miles, art and poster committee; Skippy Youman, Outing Club; Emma Belle Barnhill, public relations; and Carter Glass, sports committee.

On the religious side of the convention, the YW-YMCA held a retreat this past weekend at Trail's End and planned the program for the Y's activities this semester.

Lances Carnival Scheduled

Coming up on the agenda very soon, in fact next weekend is "time out" for Lances Carnival. Our statistics up to date are unofficial and incomplete, but according to the data here the candidates for Lances Queen so far are: SAE, Carmine Pique; KS, Marcus McDaniel; SN, Celia Gorman; DTD, Dolly Trimble; Lambda X, Betty Buckley; Phi Delta, Sue Wetherby; ZBT, Sonja Stone; XO, Donna Trieman; DDD, Betty Lou Garner; KKG, Jane Walker Tunder. The rest have not yet selected their candidates or could not be contacted. This year's carnival is going to be one of the best, with a campaigning good time for all concerned.

To turn the focus on the national political campaign, the Coffee Chat is sponsoring a discussion on "Ike or Adlai" at 4 p.m. Tuesday. Dr. John E. Reeves will be moderator, while Paul Holleman will tell the views of the Republican candidate and Barbara Green will speak for the Democratic platform. The important issues of the coming national election will be discussed and questioning of the speakers will be encouraged. Immediately following the debate refreshments will be served in the Music Room of the Student Union.

LYNN DRETELHOFF, FRESHMAN FROM CHICAGO, IS SHOWN ABOVE AS SHE DEMONSTRATES A SONG AND DANCE ROUTINE FOR TROUSERS. THE UK TALENT ORGANIZATION HELD TRYOUTS FOR MEMBERSHIP TUESDAY NIGHT IN THE THEATER LABORATORY OF THE FINE ARTS BUILDING.

Republican Club Changes Name
Also on the political front, the Young Republican's Club held its first meeting Monday afternoon and decided to change its name for this year to "Eisenhower for President" while Paul Holleman will tell the views of the Republican candidate and Barbara Green will speak for the Democratic platform. The important issues of the coming national election will be discussed and questioning of the speakers will be encouraged. Immediately following the debate refreshments will be served in the Music Room of the Student Union.

Boasting around for Ike.
Don't forget the pep rally on the intramural field tonight at 7. Let's have a large representation of this convention for the UK Wildcats and show them that they have our full support.

Yes, it is a great convention on the UK campus this year and will get even more exciting as time goes on. There will be many dark horses slipping in, many bitter battles to be fought in the library, but I predict that the favorite slogan for the entire convention will be "I Like UK" and "Let's Go Big Blue."

KAUFMAN'S

Player of the Week

Frank Fuller Chosen For Outstanding Play

By Stan Portmann

Kentucky's inexperienced defensive platoon has allowed the enemy a lot of total yardage, but has always come through in the clutch to prevent the touchdowns which spell win or lose.

Frank, who is 23 years old, 6 feet, 4 inches and 214 pounds, lent weight to the old adage that "experience is the best teacher" last Saturday night when he continually broke into the Texas Aggie backfield to break up plays before they started.

It was also Fuller who recovered a blocked punt in the Aggie backfield to set up what proved to be the winning field goal.

For leading the Cats in their outstanding defense against the Aggies to give Kentucky their first look in the win column, the Kernel names Fuller, "Player of the Week."

Frank has already been selected by the Los Angeles Rams in the pro football draft, but may turn to coaching wrestling. While in high school he was a junior AAU champion and has handled all the intramural wrestling for Bill McCubbin, UK intramural director.

Honorable mention goes to freshman Bob Bassitt, who kicked the 33-yard field goal Saturday night, which proved to be the winning margin.

Bassitt also handled the kick-off chores booting the ball into the Aggie safety zone twice. It is good to know that the Wildcats have a specialist who is capable of scoring for them from the outside distances with the popular pro football weapon, the field goal.

Steve Mellinger added to the Wildcat cause by punting the Aggies into a hole all evening. The booming boots off of Steve's toe traveled for 63 and 51 yards. Steve has punted 18 times this season for an average of 34.3 and his punts are proving to be a great defensive weapon for the Wildcats.

Allen "Bull" Felch, sophomore fullback from Marinette, Wisconsin, is second in rushing averages only to Harry Jones. He racked up 93 yards in 29 attempts for a 2.7 average.

His line running against the Aggies was a constant threat and helped to open up the enemy defenses for the passing attack which set up the "Big Blue" touchdown.

Once again it was the superb Kentucky defenses in the clutch that gave the Cats their first win of the season.

Leading the defense last Saturday evening were co-captains John Grazz and Bob Fry, guard Ray Correll, linebacker Tommy Adkins, and end Larry Hennessey, who blocked the decisive punt. Correll, Adkins, and Hennessey have all been named to "player of the week" this season.

Three game statistics bear out the fact that it is the Kentucky defenses in the clutch which have earned a record of one win one tie, and one defeat. The statistics show that Kentucky has been outgained in total offense by every team they have faced this year.

But, if you disregard the opener with Villanova which was not a true picture of the inexperienced Wildcat's strength, the Kentuckians have held two of the strongest offensive squads in the country, Mississippi with quarterback Jimmy Lewis and Texas A & M with quarterback Ray Graves, to a total of 20 points. This includes a great goal line stand against Mississippi, who had the ball on the Kentucky one, second down and goal to go, and against the Aggies, who failed to score with a first and six situation.

In total offense the Cats have been outgained 407 yards to date, being 91 yards behind in rushing and 256 in passing. The sum total is that Kentucky's clutch defense has prevented more enemy TD's to come from this debut in total offense.

Coach Rupp Will Start 23rd Year

Preparations for the 1952-53 Kentucky basketball season will begin Wednesday afternoon in Memorial Coliseum. Coach Adolph Rupp, beginning his twenty-third year as head coach mentor at UK, has issued a 3-15 p.m. call for varsity practice and a 4-30 call for the freshmen and others.

Those "others," Coach Rupp expects to be made up of students with basketball ability but not on scholarships who believe they can make the squad. Coach Rupp indicated that he expects to see some new faces during the practice session that were not on the squad last year, although the boys were enrolled at UK.

If any newcomer makes the Wildcat squad he will have to show plenty of ability. Returning from the 1951-52 team, which won 28 games while losing only three, will be such stalwarts as All-American Cliff Hagan, Lou (Plato) Tsiropoulos, Frank Ramsey, Bill Evans, and Clyde Rose. Only three men were lost from the 1952 SEC championship squad - Bobby Watson, Shelby Linville, and Skippy Whitaker.

Reliable reserves expected back from last year are Jim Flynn, Houston Nutt, George Cooke, Ronald Cooke, Ronald Clark, Dan Swartz, Woodrow Preston, Willie Rouse, Gene Neff, Brown Sharp, and Cliff Dwyer.

Coach Rupp indicated he does not expect to use any of Assistant Coach Harry Lancaster's freshmen during the coming hardwood campaign. He said this would be done to conserve their eligibility in the 1955-56 season, an Olympic year.

Coach Rupp has compiled an enviable record since arriving on the UK campus in 1931. His Wildcat basketball teams have amassed a total of 470 victories and only 81 defeats.

Trophies representing three NCAA, one NIT, three Sugar Bowl, and 14 SEC championships are stashed away in the bulging trophy cases in Memorial Coliseum.

Pi KA's Tumble Delt's In Football League Opener

Pi Kappa Alpha opened the UK intramural touch football season Tuesday afternoon with a 1-0 victory over Delta Tau Delta in a Division II game.

The game, a sudden death affair, was the first played on the intramural field after bad weather had caused Monday's scheduled Division I opener to be postponed. PIKA and DTD were in a scoresless deadlock at the end of the regulation playing time.

Under intramural rules an overtime is played in case of a tie and the team gaining the most yardage in a series of four downs is declared the winner. Pi Kappa Alpha picked the most yardage and its first victory of the season.

In another sudden death game Kappa Alpha defeated Kappa Sigma 1-0. KA gained the most yardage in four downs and the victory. Sigma Chi won on forfeit from Farm House when the latter failed to show up. The score was 1-0.

In another sudden death game Pi Kappa Alpha defeated Phi Kappa Tau 1-0. KA scored three safeties to defeat Alpha Gamma Rho 4-0. Up to this point, no team had racked up a touchdown all season.

Another forfeit game went into the books when ATO got the nod over ASP 1-0 in the last scheduled contest of the evening.

One of Monday's rained out games was played off Wednesday night when Phi Delta Tau clipped Sigma Nu 13-0. The game was highlighted by the season's first touchdown. Steiner of PDT intercepted a misplaced SN pass and returned it for the first touchdown. Buckner kicked the extra point. Shearer scored the last touchdown on a run from scrimmage.

Next week's schedule: Monday-SPE vs. AGR, TKE vs. ASP, and PKT vs. ATO. Tuesday-SAE vs. ZBT, PDT vs. LKA, and Triangle vs. SN. Wednesday-DTD vs. KA, SX vs. KE, FKA vs. Farm House. Thursday-SPE vs. ASP, AGR vs. ATO, and TKE vs. PKT.

The teams are divided into four divisions, three fraternities and one independent. They are: Fraternity Division I-Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Triangles, Phi Delta Theta, Zeta Beta Tau, Lambda Chi Alpha, and Sigma Nu.

Fraternity Division II-Delta Tau Delta, Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Chi, Kappa Alpha, Kappa Sigma, and Farm House.

Fraternity Division III-Sigma Phi Epsilon, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Alpha Gamma Rho, Alpha Sigma Phi, Alpha Tau Omega, and Phi Kappa Tau.

Independent Division-Baptist Student Union, The Rebels, Men's Dorm, Newman Club, Civil Engineers, and Scott Street Barracks.

At the end of the regular round robin schedule, the three top teams in each division qualify for a single elimination tournament to decide the intramural champion.

Match play has already begun in the intramural golf doubles tournament. Thirty golf teams are entered in the single elimination tourney that is to be finished by Nov. 3. Scores of matches will be printed when available.

Tennis The intramural tennis singles tournament has started with 76 hopefuls entered. The tourney, a single elimination affair, is to be completed by Nov. 12.

Snip, Snip "I just heard him say he was in close touch with the heads of several big organizations!" "Yes, he's a barber!"

Coach Seaton Has Vacancies For Runners

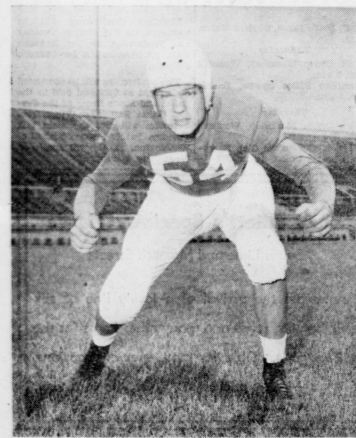

Coach Don Seaton, track coach, has issued a call to all students interested in track to report at their earliest convenience. Several positions on the track squad are still open and replacements are needed.

Men who have reported for the team are Dwight Price, Jay Wallace, Frank Scott, Al Nolan, Al Wiley, and a newcomer, Charlie Wells, a freshman from Mineola, Ky., who shows signs of promise.

Coach Seaton also announced an opening for a student manager for this year's team. Students interested in the manager's job are to report at 3 o'clock any afternoon or next week to the Coliseum.

Kentucky Meets LSU Tigers In Critical Game Saturday

Kentucky's Wildcats, fresh from their first triumph of the year, are to meet Texas A&M, return to Stoll Field Saturday to play the Louisiana State Tigers. LSU also won their first game of the season, last Saturday, by upsetting Rice, 27 to 7.

In the two game series the Wildcats have played LSU, the Blue & White have whitewashed the Louisiana State Tigers, once in 1949, 19 to 0, and in 1950, 14 to 0. It should not seem strange if the Bengals are not a little bitter next Saturday, as they attempt to score for the first time against Kentucky.

Previous LSU losses this season were to Texas, 35 to 14, and Alabama, 21 to 20. In beating Rice last Saturday, the Tigers were twelve point underdogs at game time, however, the Tigers dominated play completely, holding Rice to a net of 54 yards rushing. Pass defense was something else again as the Orlins completed 19 of 53 passes for a total of 268 yards.

Pass defense has been a glaring weakness of Kentucky this year, but opponents having completed 39 out of 65 passes for a total of 402 yards in three games. Texas A&M alone completed 20 out of 27 passes against the Cats.

LSU has a fine quarterback in Norman Stevens, whose field generalship sparked the Tigers to victory last Saturday. Their running attack is paced by hard running backs as Al Droggett, Jerry Marchand, and Sal Nioilo. Nioilo rumbled 94 yards for a TD against Rice for the record run in the SEC and the longest run from scrimmage by an LSU player since 1935.

Harry Jones has paced Kentucky's running attack this year as he has peed off a total yardage of 193 yards in 46 carries for an average of 4.8 yards per carry. IA Jones is the team specialist in the matter of punt returns, as he has averaged 20 yards per return in 29 punts received in 17 games played this season.

Big Steve Wellinger leads the squad in pass receiving with six catches for 127 yards. Larry Hennessy, the 165 pound "Dynamic Dan", turned in a sparkling job against the Aggies last week.

Bob Bassitt's field goal against Texas A&M was the first field goal by a Kentucky player since Harry Jones kicked a three-pointer in the Ole Miss game early last season. Bassitt has the promise to be an automatic point man after touchdowns with a little experience under his belt.

Both teams are looking for their first SEC win Saturday, last week's victories being over non-conference competition. The game is rated a toss-up with both teams in good physical shape. Kick-off time will be at 2 p.m.

Lawn Party Planned By Graduate Women

A lawn party for graduate students and graduate faculty will be given by graduate women from 2 to 3:30 p.m. Sunday on the lawn between Boyd and Jewell Hall. In case of rain the gathering will be in Jewell Hall lounge.

Jean Bronson, graduate counselor, added that plans for a graduate club will be discussed. If many respond to this favorably, the idea will be followed up later in the year, she said.

30 Swimmers Now Trying For Varsity

Algie Reece, University of Kentucky swimming coach, has just announced that there are now a total of thirty boys out for the swimming team. Of this total, he would like to keep fifteen, sixteen or possibly eighteen boys.

The first practice was a little late getting under way, as the unexpected cold wave caught the pool with no heat.

Mr. Reece has asked that all interested swimmers see him. He can use several backstrokers and underclassman divers.

Also pointed out by Mr. Reece is the fact that several of his better swimmers were found in swimming classes. A classic example of this is Jack McDonald, a versatile swimmer. Jack won several first places in the backstroke last year and is counted upon again this year.

Of the thirty aspirants to the swimming team, only the names of seventeen were available. They are: Johnny Burke, William Thornton, Bruce Kunkel, John Taylor, David Linkous, Richard Deelman, Glen Thompson, and Daniel Deane, all of Lexington, Ky.; Paul Kissel, George King, Jr., Kenneth Glass, and Gene Lewis, coming from Louisville, Ky.; David Lin, of Fochow, China; James McCabe, of Springfield; Watson M. Jack, of Frankfort, Ky.; and Robert Piercefield, of Covington, Ky.

The University of Kentucky will hold meets with Cincinnati, Miami of Ohio, Berea, Emory-Henry, Vanderbilt, Tennessee, and possibly Georgia, Georgia Tech, and Eastern. A complete schedule with dates will be announced in the Kernel in the near future.

Pistol Played Important Roll In First Game

By JIM HURT

"Yeah, sonny, they don't play football like they used to." That's putting it mildly, Pop. For our pleasure and education, let us consider the first football game played west of the Alleghenie Mountains. This epic contest was fought 72 years ago, on April 9, 1880, between Centre College and Kentucky University (now Transylvania). Scene of the encounter was Lexington's City Park, now the site of one Stoll Field. The game went off rippingly, except for one slight drawback; the two teams were so tired at halftime that they decided to postpone the second half for a week. The game was finished in due course on a field near Danville. Kentucky University was the proud victor; the score: KU, 13; Centre 0. In those days the point was awarded every time a team ran or kicked the ball over the opponent's goal line. The extra "p" point remains unexplained.

Coch of the winning squad was Mr. Charles Thurgood, a student from Melbourne, Australia, who had learned the game in England. He had the ball used in the game or game mentioned. It was a Rev. Sam McKee of Versailles Mo. Before the game he took the precaution of putting his squad through two practice sessions on a cow pasture near Danville. This was the team's only experience in the game.

One of the members of the Transylvania team was John Fox, Jr., later to become one of Kentucky's most famous authors. Captain of the Transy game was John L. Patterson, later chancellor of the University of Louisville.

The press was on the scene for the contest. The Lexington Daily Transcript commented: "It was pronounced that football had decidedly the advantage of baseball as a means of amusement for the spectators. The collision between players at various times... provoked much laughter."

Kentucky Agricultural and Mechanical College (now an obscure school called the University of Kentucky) started playing football, at least informally, the following fall. On December 5, 1880, the Lexington Daily Press told of an incident occurring on the Kentucky campus. It seemed that a man, who afterward gave the name White, became disturbed by the noise a group of Kentucky students was making while they played football.

Seeking a means of expressing this reasonable displeasure, White seized a pistol and commenced firing it at the athletes. The boys took cover and protected themselves from the shots for about an hour until a few brave souls ventured to approach White and knock the weapon from his hand. The whole group then proceeded to give Mr. White a sound drubbing.

"Yep, they sure don't play football like they used to... thank goodness!"

Members Selected By Legal Fraternity
The Order of the Culf, highest honorary legal scholarship fraternity, has elected Cecil D. Walden, Jr., Lexington; Myer S. Tulokoff, Ashland; and James D. Corrette, Greenville, to membership. Members are selected from the graduating classes of Aug. 31, Jan. 30, and June '52.

Sports Sidelights

By TOM EASTERLING

The display of school spirit demonstrated by the Texas A & M students calls to our attention the sad situation at UK. It would be next to impossible for a co-educational institution to put on a display as spectacular as that staged by the Cadets. From the opening kickoff the Cadets never sat down. As the clock ticked off the last 30 seconds the entire student body began to move toward the playing field. As the gong sounded ending the game the students grabbed the UK players and hoisted them to their shoulders and carried them to the dressing room.

The secret behind the well organized Cadet cheering section was the pep rally held Friday night. At 11 o'clock the entire student body and their dates along with a couple of thousand alumni and supporters assembled on the parade ground for a pep rally. With the band furnishing the music and 12,000 voices making the noise the Aggies practiced the yells that they used at the game.

Frank Fuller, who played one of his best games, said after the Wildcat victory. "The cheering by the students was so great that it inspired most of the UK players to play great football."

If the opposition's cheering section can have this effect on UK players, a large crowd at the pep rally Friday night could put the team "up" for the game.

Saturday's game with LSU will have a very important bearing on what position UK will occupy at the end of the season in the SEC. To show the players that the student body is behind them we suggest that every student attend the pep rally tonight on the intramural field. Elsewhere in the Kernel you will find a story on the rally.

The Texas Aggie game had more than the usual interest to an ardent Aggie booster. W. H. Corbusier, who operates a new agency in near-by Bryan, Texas, is the son of P. W. Corbusier, former military commandant at UK, who gave UK athletic terms their nickname—Wildcats.

Howddee! No place in Texas is this colloquial word more used than on the Texas A & M campus. All the freshmen are required to greet each person they meet with this salutation. After a year's practice the boys continue to use this greeting throughout their college life.

A close look at the 1952-53 UK basketball schedule shows that the Wildcats will have a more balanced schedule than SEC teams could ever hope to provide. Such teams as Wyoming, Minnesota, Temple, and St. Bonaventure are consistently ranked among the nation's best teams. The suspension of the UK cage team by the SEC is actually a blessing as far as the fan is concerned.

Wildcats Down Cadets For First Victory

Kentucky's Wildcats won their first game of the season Saturday night at Kyle Field, College Station, Texas as they handed the undefeated Texas Aggies a 10-7 loss, the winning margin coming on a third quarter field goal by freshman Bob Bassitt.

A crowd of 25,000 watched the Cadets seize a 7-0 lead in the second quarter on a 14 yard pass from quarterback Ray Graves to end Jerry Crossman. The Aggies stopped on the UK one-yard line in the first quarter, moved out in front in the scoring with three minutes left in the first half. The Graves to Crossman capped a 68 yard drive by the Cadets.

The Wildcats came back the second half to overtake the Aggies. With four minutes gone in the third quarter Duke Hennessy blocked an Aggie punt. Frank Fuller grabbed the ball and ran to the Aggie 28 yard line. Three running plays netted two yard gains, then Bassitt booted a 26 yard field goal to make the score read 7-3.

The second Kentucky score came with ten seconds left in the third quarter when Harry Jones ran 10 yards of tackle, to climax a 73 yard drive by the Wildcats. Jones then kicked the extra point.

The Aggies fought valiantly to try and get back into the ball game. Jack Little recovered a Kentucky fumble on his own 40 in the final minutes of play and the Cadets were Worship Services 11:00 A.M. and 7:30 P.M.

WEDNESDAY
Bible Study 7:30 P.M.

You are cordially invited to attend these services. We believe that the church today should have the same name, organization, terms of membership, worship and doctrine as the church you read about in the New Testament. That is our distinctive and undenominational plea. NOTE: This church does not believe or teach the premillennial theory.

Lances Carnival, Dance To Be Held Next Friday

The annual Lances Carnival will be held from 7 to 9:30 next Friday night on intramural field followed by a dance in the Student Union. One o'clock permission will be granted to all dormitory and sorority girls.

The carnival will be composed of booths and tent shows put up by sororities, fraternities, and other organizations. The displays will be judged this year on originality rather than on their total sales. Price of admission for each show will be 15 cents.

Neal Hetti-Francis Wayne and their orchestra will play for the dance. Price of advance tickets is $3, but tickets purchased at the door will be $4. Tickets will be distributed to fraternity and sorority houses and will be on sale in the Student Union next Friday.

"Everyone has a surprise coming," Jim Perry, president of Lances, said. "This orchestra is really great and will help to make it the best Lances dance yet."

The trophies for first and second place winners in both divisions will be presented at the dance. These trophies were won last year by Delta Gamma Delta and Chi Omega in the sorority division. A trophy will also be given to the 1952 carnival queen chosen from girls put up by each organization.

WE NEVER CLOSE

"Represents education that continues," says GEORGE GALLUP, Founder of the American Institute of Public Opinion, formerly Professor, Pulitzer School of Journalism, Columbia U.

"A serious weakness of the American educational system is the missing link between what we are taught in school and what we learn after leaving school. The Reader's Digest represents education that continues. It arouses and satisfies keen interest in the vital issues of the day and in varied fields of lasting knowledge."

Look at the wide range of subjects in any issue—The Reader's Digest is designed for the well-rounded individual who cultivates interests far wider than the confines of any particular field.

From the wealth of material that is published each month, the editors select those outstanding articles no thoughtful person would want to miss. Each article is condensed to present the essentials clearly, yet preserve the full content and flavor of the original.

The Reader's Digest offers a continuing liberal education for millions of men and women with alert, open minds.

In October Reader's Digest, you'll be interested in Cobalt 60—how an oddball of a bomb research is being used to fight cancer; Witch Hat for the Weather—how its changes affect your physical and mental behavior; 29-page book condensation: Windows for the Crown Prince—an American woman's president-shattering experience as tutor to Japan's future Kingmaker.

LUCKIES TASTE BETTER!

They're made better to taste cleaner, fresher, smoother!

Take a Lucky from a newly opened pack and carefully remove the paper by tearing down the seam from end to end. Be sure to start on the seam. In tearing don't crush or dig into the tobacco. Then, gently lift out the cylinder. See how few Luckies are from air spaces—"hot spots" that smoke hot, harsh and dry—from loose ends that spoil the taste. Note Luckies' long strands of fine, mild tobacco are packed firmly to draw smoothly and evenly—to give you a cleaner, fresher, smoother smoke. Yes, Luckies are made better—to taste better! So, Be Happy—Go Lucky! Get a carton today.

When you've a date and stay out late Her father may appear But offer him a Lucky Strike And you need have no fear.
