INTRODUCTION

The Kentucky Commercial Feed Law functions as a consumer protection law for the feed purchaser by insuring compliance with feed labeling and manufacturing standards. The law further creates a strong base for fair and equitable competition among feed manufacturers. Commercial feed, as defined, includes all materials which are offered for sale as feed or for mixing in feed, except unprocessed and unmixed seed and other exempt commodities such as: raw meat, hay, straw, stover, silage, cobs, husks and hulls when unground and not mixed. Presently, 6,404 commercial feeds are registered for distribution or sale by 468 feed companies. Products under the purview of the Kentucky Commercial Feed Law range from speciality pet foods to ingredients such as soybean meal.

The primary intent of the law is to ensure that commercial feeds are accurately labeled to advise the buyer of the composition of the feed and to provide adequate directions for safe and effective use. The requirement for registration of commercial feeds with the Division of Regulatory Services prior to distribution within the State provides an initial opportunity to review product labeling. During 1975 the labeling of approximately 2,500 commercial feeds was reviewed.

Regulatory inspectors made 3,641 calls on manufacturers and retailers of bagged, bulk and liquid feed. Official samples of 2,974 commercial feeds were collected for laboratory analysis to determine if product guarantees were being met. Laboratory analyses were made for 34 different feed components for a total of 9,332 laboratory determinations. This total includes 2,900 crude protein, 728 urea, 338 fat, 2,694 crude fiber, 383 calcium, 128 phosphorus, 355 salt, 88 invert sugar, 233 trace mineral and 1,142 drug and antibiotic determinations.

In a cooperative program with the Federal Food and Drug Administration, the division conducted 223 inspections of feed mills to determine compliance with Good Manufacturing Practice Regulations for Medicated Feeds. Kentucky has approximately 350 commercial mills which manufacture custom mix and/or registered medicated feed. The GMP Regulations require feed manufacturers to employ adequate production and control procedures in the manufacture and distribution of medicated feed. The GMP Program helps to ensure that medicated feeds are both safe and effective to the consuming animal and safe to the consumer of livestock products.

Information presented in this bulletin was compiled from data collected from analysis of official feed samples taken during 1975. This bulletin is intended to provide the feed purchaser with knowledge as to the manufacturing standards maintained by feed manufacturers distributing feed in Kentucky. The intent is not to indicate feed quality but to show the frequency a feed manufacturer failed to meet the guaranteed analysis for one or more feed components.
