DR. D. C. ELLIOTT GIVES ADDRESS

President of Purdue University Sets Forth Faults Common to Schools of America

Relates Bromidioms

Mental laziness upon the part of university students, a lack of originality and an absence of purpose are faults common to universities of America, Dr. D. C. Elliott, president of the University of Purdue, said in an address at the last convocation on October 4.

The Purdue educator stated that the fundamental aim of an educational institution is intellectually and scholarship, not social activities and conviviality.

Whether the universities and higher educational institutions of America are meeting their purpose is a question beyond debate the speaker asserted. Leaders in the business world of America are, with few exceptions, college trained men, he pointed out, and although they may deny it, their records show that they were good students while in the universities.

Dr. Elliott related to the students attending convocation several maxims which, he said, he was pleased to call "student bromidioms." The first of these was: that a college student receives greater benefit out of the atmosphere of college life than from books. It is upon books that the schools rely for their basis of learning, he said. Quoting Sir Francis Bacon's comment on reading, Dr. Elliott ridiculed the contention that a constant reader imperiled his originality. "Stimulate your minds with the contact of another mind," he said.

The second "bromidium" given by the speaker was: that the college students represent the best native ability in America. Dr. Elliott said that he personally knew a large number of students that should exchange places with blacksmith's apprentices, firemen and other youths in the labor world.

"O Football, what crimes are committed in thy name," Dr. Elliott declared, referring to the mistaken idea that a winning football team is necessary to a university. This idea is "another popular student bromidium," he said.

That students working their way through school are always the best students is another "bromidium" that is almost universal, Dr. Elliott asserted. "That a student's father is supporting him while he attends school does not necessarily mean that the student is worthless," he said.

Perhaps the most popular "bromidium," particularly among the alumni colleges, is that students achieving high scholastic records in college seldom amount to much afterwards. Dr. Elliott related an anecdote of a group of alumni, all successful, who were boasting of the fact that they "never cracked a book" during their university careers. Dr. Elliott stated that, as a matter of curiosity he looked up their records and found that they were all excellent students.

The Purdue executive closed with an appeal to the students to think for themselves and "defy the barriers of dissolute tradition that have been placed in your path by a people whose thinking seldom raises above the level of bromides, think independently and equip yourself that you may leave something for a nation destined to immortality."

Dr. Frank L. McVey, president of the university, presided at the meeting and introduced the speaker. Dr. McVey announced that Armistice Day would be appropriately observed by the university, with Major Gen-

DIPHTHERIA IS NOT PREVALENT

Students Attention Called to Many Needed Changes in Method of Procedure and in Dispensary

Medical Exam Difficult

The false rumor of a diphtheria epidemic on the campus was "nailed" by Dr. Rush, head of the department of hygiene and public health. He said he did not know of a single case in school. There had been, he said, one doubtful case of throat infection, but subsequent bacteriological examinations showed that it was not diphtheria.

Dr. Rush said that there have been several changes in the method of procedure in handling cases at the dispensary that are of interest to the students.

1. Dispensary is open continuously from 8:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m., except on Saturdays, when it closes at 12:00. This allows students to come in for treatment or examination during the lunch hour.

2. The patient who has not been registered reports first to Mrs. Bourne, who has him or her to fill out a card which will bear the date, complaining cause, diagnosis, treatment, and name of administering physician. This will enable either of the other physicians in the dispensary to take the case up intelligently and without waste of time on a return call.

3. Mrs. Bourne is the court of last resort for all excuses for absence.

Many Changes Are Made

The data on freshman examinations has almost been completed. A specially revised form of the army physical regulation sheet is being used this year, and the examination is at least twelve times as difficult as any ever before used on the campus. Follow-up work has already been started with the cases that need treatment. Parents, guardians, and students are being advised as to the proper course to take. This is by far the fastest work ever done by the department of hygiene and public health.

Several improvements in equipment and quarters for the health department have been made recently, all in keeping with the forward-moving plan of the university. There is more room, freshly painted walls, and a smoother working organization.

Dr. Henry T. Allen as the speaker of the occasion.

The invocation was pronounced by Rev. Hayes Farris and Dr. W. T. Rainey delivered the benediction.

The university quartet, composed of Frank Brown, Story Turner, Karl Cutlip and Hank Moore, gave several numbers.

Mrs. Cecilia P. Deubig, a member of the life-saving service of the American Red Cross, spoke briefly to the students and urged them to join or renew their membership in the Red Cross when the annual roll call was held on November 11.

Clemson Runs Second To Kentucky After Courageous Battle

GREAT DEFENSE ENABLES 'CATS TO BEAT TIGERS

Spectacular Work of Len Tracy Is Heralded as Best Seen on Stalled Field for Past Five Years

Made 80-Yard March

Clemson Score Comes in Third Quarter Against Coach Murphy's Subs

In the exhilarating coolness of last Saturday's autumn afternoon, the Wildcats of the University of Kentucky pounced upon the Clemson Tigers in the first half and wrenched from them the 19 to 0 victory, only to have these Tigers, bereft of their leadership, come back in the last half and attempt, in the most successful manner, a recovery. That scalp rests by the side of Marvill's on the Wildcats' belt and Kentucky, by winning that first conference game, has strengthened her bid for the championship of Dixie.

In the presence of 5,500 hilarious and shouting spectators, Kentucky defeated Clemson. And, as the gates of Stoll Field opened to admit the crowd, there was not a Wildcat rooster who failed to compliment Kentucky's offensive play. Compliments of such an offense were only just, because Coach Murphy's charges uncovered a most brilliant open attack. That style of attack carried them from their own 20-yard line over 80 yards of Bluegrass and through eleven fighting Clemson warriors to a touchdown. Frank Smith was the principle means of conveyance. However, Mohney, Hughes and Ross were little less active in assisting the pigskin on its journey over the goal line for the first score of the game.

The Blue and White machine scored again in the first minutes of the second quarter when a poor punt by Clemson gave Kentucky the ball on the Tigers' 20-yard line. Tracy's brilliant run around the visitors' left end and dived over a knot of tacklers to place the ball on the two-yard line from where Ross bucked it over. Again late in the second period, Tracy figured prominently when he received a bullet-like pass from Evans and raced 25 yards for the Wildcats' third touchdown. Clemson's score came early in the third period when Kentucky's great defense gave way. With the ball in midfield, Clemson punted and recovered after the ball had been touched by Evans on his own 20-yard line.

SEEN FROM THE PRESS BOX by HOOVER

THAT SLASHING WHIP!

Kentucky's backfield whip lashed the Clemson line unmercifully and proved decisively to Wildcat supporters that Coach Fred Murphy has achieved his one desire—to develop an offense equal to his defense.

The work of Len Tracy was nothing short of coruscating, as he dashed with some of the cunning of "Red" Grange around the Tiger ends and through their line to amass a grand total of 155 yards, although 30 of these did not count as Kentucky was offside and the ball was returned to its former position. He made runs of 12 and 18 yards in succession and a few minutes before the second quarter terminated, went 35 yards on a scintillating run for a touchdown to make the score 19 to 0. His next run was for 20 yards, the next for 13 and then pulled up fresh with the annulled 30 yard run.

LITTLE JOHNNY JUMPS

Little Johnny Evans came through with his part of the yardage, garnering 52 for his total. He made runs of 28 and 20 yards and was thrown once for a three yard loss. His jumping tactics surprised some fans and he was given a loud ovation when he was injured and brought off the field.

ALL SHARE VICTORY SPOILS

Every Wildcat in the fray contributed his share to the victory, but to Tracy we must give the palm. He was more consistent and reminded one of the Tracy who played against Georgia Tech two years ago.

PENCE'S PLAYING COMMENDABLE

Pence handled himself like a veteran at the pivot, cutting down many a runner behind the line of scrimmage at critical times. We don't know how he DONE it but he shored did and all the press box hounds will tell you the same. And Vossmeier tackled men once or twice behind the line of demarcation, as did Ross. And if I'm not mistaken the latter man nipped a Clemson runner barely by the bunion in the first quarter after a Clemson runner had reeled off 12 yards for a first down.

THE CAMERA MAN

The little boy that parades up and down the sidelines and gets in the referee's way with his ungainly camera didn't create any disturbances in the grand stand with his red box either. Guess he's just got one pain anyway. "There's a reason."

THESE BRAVED ALL THE GALE

Only three Kentucky men played the entire game—Cammack, Pence and "Caveman" Rice. Cammack gave Georgia Tech fits when the Golden Tornado was tied by the Wildcats and the likable fellow still has some of that fit-giving stuff left in his "Jewish" bones.

Old honest "Caveman" was knocked down in the last half but he got up, shook himself like a dog, remarked casually with a half growl: "Aw, he just hit me a solid lick in the jaw" and jumped back into position. And that's plenty of nerve—the kind of spunk Kentucky likes to see, her sons show.

SMITH, ELLIS GAIN MANY YARDS

Frank Smith, a member of our staff, ran second to Tracy in yard getting with 76. Feature runs made by him were for 15 and 18 yards. Mohney, the quarterback who suffered concussion of the brain in the Chicago contest, was there with all his skill and accounted for 50 yards. Ellis, another Sophomore, got 52, Evans 48, Hughes 41, Phipps 11, Jenkins 5, Ross 4 and Kentucky made five yards through a penalty.

Clemson netted 27 yards from the line of scrimmage in the first half. They really got 37 yards but when "Moco" Edwards threw a Tiger for a 10-yard loss late in the first half, we just naturally had to deduct 10. Counting return of kickoffs, punts and penalties they gained a net total of 62 yards.

However, their playing improved in the second half while playing against a new team and garnered 10 first downs and gained 114 yards, including penalties, while Kentucky got 119 yards.

ABOUT THE CHEERING FRESHMEN

The freshman cheering section was a reverse of things on the opening day. They really made some fuss this time, aided by the Engineers—guess that was the reason why. And then white pants—they reminded me so much of the audience who takes a swim in the Ohio river at Louisville every Christmas day.

WHO'D A THOUGHT IT?

And speaking of water, that reminds me of the joke I heard at the theater "bootiful" the other night. Some fellow, trying to be dumb, was telling a joke about his mother developing a case of lockjaw just as she became sea sick.

Hardly knew what he meant for a while.

"3-8-5-3 WHOA!
Johnny got all excited in the second quarter while calling signals, and blubbered "3-8-5-2 WHOA! and—and—Everybody laughed!"

TIME OUT, SEWANEE

An then Lambert, the referee, also lost his balance just a little bit about the same time and yelled "Time Out, Sewanee" when Clemson had taken time out. According to our guess, Sewanee will take time out more than once next Saturday.

HUNTING THE SUNLIGHT

Football fans, like migrating birds, search for the place where the sun shines brightest and warmest and so at the end of the first half virtually half of the people in the south stands picked themselves up and hid to the north stands where feeble rays of sunshine kept them from freezing stiff.

HAIL THE KING!

Saw Red Roberts down on Kentucky's line. And he was just as much interested in the game as Coach Murphy. You know Red used to play on Centre's team—but that's when they won ball games. Also sat by more scouts—one from Washington & Lee and another from Sewanee. Guess they got an eyefull too.

POOR CLEMSON BACKERS!

Heard there was just a little wagering among those who felt speculatively inclined. And the gab was also passed to me that Clemson was offering 7 to 5 on their team. And just think what the Wildcats did to these poor fish!
Oh, Doctor! Come quick!

FROSH VICTORY DISASTROUS TO COACH EKLUND

All of His Punters and Passers Are Knocked Out by Eastern Heavies in Game Marred by Roughness

Two Shoulders Broken

Kittens Make 11 First Downs to Eastern's One—Will Play Georgetown Next

By KENNETH GREGORY

Kentucky's standard was upheld in every way last Saturday, when Coach Eklund and his powerful Kittens eleven trampled over the Eastern Normal at Richmond, 14 to 0, while the elders supported the Blue and White on home grounds. Many penalties were inflicted upon the Green and White eleven and no score at the end of the contest should have been twice as much, if not more.

From the beginning of the contest until the last whistle, Kentucky was continually being penalized, either for offside, holding, clipping or rough playing. On the first kick-off, when Pich kicked to Gentry on the Teachers' 15 yard line, the Kittens were penalized 25 yards for clipping, putting the ball on Eastern's 40-yard line. But Eklund's fighting aggression did not let this worry them and with the Kitten mentor's word of, "Fight, or out you come" on their minds, the spirited eleven held their opponents.

Pich, Kittens' fleet halfback from Wisconsin, one of the best broken field runners on the team, received a fractured collar bone in the third quarter and had to retire in favor of Sylvia. Clifton, of Paducah, greatest ground gainer in the first half, also received a broken collar bone and a fractured shoulder. Waddell, steady fullback, who has been showing up nicely against the varsity, went into the game and showed some real football ability, by making some neat runs. Knudler, Eklund's star drop-kicker, received a twisted ankle in the last quarter and was carried from the field. It is thought that these men may be out of the Kitten lineup for a month or more.

The Teachers played an eleven that was heavier than Kentucky's, but with the Kittens' perfect interference and line work, the fleet halfbacks could gain almost at will. Eastern

Meeting of Methodist Students at Pat Hall

Miss Lillian Lenhoff Welcomes Girls to the Churches of Lexington

At a meeting of the Methodist girls of the University of Kentucky, held at Pat hall Monday night, Oct. 5, at 7:30 o'clock, Miss Lillian Lenhoff, student secretary of the M. F. Church South, spoke, extending a welcome from the Methodist churches of Lexington to the university women. Miss Lenhoff outlined the program of the churches as planned for the coming year by the student pastor, Mr. Perkins, and stressed particularly their need for the help which the young people can give by participating in the various church activities. Plans were discussed for the Methodist Union Conference to be held at Memphis, December 21 to January 8, and also the International Methodist Conference at Evanston, Illinois, December 29-January 1. The university is entitled to send delegates to each of these.

On Tuesday afternoon, October 6, Miss Lenhoff had private interviews with the girls who are interested in Christian service, helping them to plan their work so as to get the necessary church training.

Don't Rush Theaters

Has Become Shoddy Method of Rejoicing Victory

Rushing the theaters after a football victory has become a rather shoddy method of rejoicing. The people in the audience do not understand it and the manager never knows what the results are going to be. But of the theater rushers, the cheapest sport is the fellow who stays in the theater after he has rushed the door. His enthusiasm can be measured by the 30 cents required for the admission. "Nuf said!" The students of the University of Kentucky can celebrate without injuring people's business and inconveniencing patrons who have bought seats in the theater. If we must do it let's do it like gentlemen and not try to get something for nothing.

STUDENTS JINXED, SAYS JOURNAL

Engineering Education Publication States That Only 40 Out of Every 100 College Men Are Graduated

Reasons Enumerated

JINX GETS STUDENTS, SAYS ENGINEERING JOURNAL

The Journal of Engineering Education has an interesting article about the Jinx that gets college students. While this article is limited to the individuals who think engineering is all in all, the facts are probably close to what happens wherever students come up for college work.

It appears that only 40 graduate out of 100 students who enter. The other 60 drop out in the following numbers:

- Scholastic failure 32
- Change of Course 2
- Financial Difficulty 6
- Unknown Causes 6
- Health 3
- Dismissal 2
- Family Reasons 1
- Other Reasons 1

This enterprising Journal after telling the causes of disaster takes up the causes of scholastic failure. Out of every 100 students who enter in their studies, there are 69.4 who, on account of poor preparation, lack of ability or lack of interest have to walk the plank. Health eliminates 7.2, self support 5.3, fraternal and social activities 1.8, entrance conditions 1.5. Other causes 2.8 and unknown reasons 9.5.

The Kernel feels it is doing a real service to its readers in warning them about the Jinx and his disastrous work. May he never get us in our wish, but the inevitable will get some of us, we fear.

Many Aspirants Try For Men's Glee Club

Unique Feature, A Stringed Section, Is Announced by Professor Lampert

A large and very promising number of candidates for the Men's Glee club were on hand at the first try-out of the year, which was held in White hall Tuesday October 5. A unique feature of this year's club, in the addition of a stringed section, composed mainly of tenor banjos, was announced by Professor Lampert, head of the department of music, who presided at the try-out. A few former members of the club were present as associate judges with Professor Lampert. The tour which the club makes each year has not been mapped out yet, but according to Guthrie Bright, manager, plans are under way, and will be announced later.

Interesting Program at Y. W. C. A. Meeting

Various Phases of the Blue Ridge Conference Discussed

At the weekly vesper service of the Y. W. C. A., held Sunday evening at 6:30 in the recreation room of Patterson Hall, a very interesting program was given on the various phases of the Blue Ridge Conference.

Corinth Taylor presided at the service and led the opening exercises, after which she introduced the various speakers who were delegates to the conference last June.

Elizabeth Hoffman told of the recreation participated in at the conference, Mary Stuart Newman discussed the spiritual side, while Georgia Rouse told of the discussion groups. Beth Huddleston spoke on personnel and Eleanor Smith described how the note was taken when Frances Lee was elected a member of the southern division of the Y. W. C. A. Conference.

Large Crowd Attends Annual Poultry Day

Approximately 500 Persons Spend Entire Day at Experiment Station Farm

In spite of the threatening weather, the fourth annual poultry field day meeting at the Experiment Station farm, October 7, was well attended, approximately five-hundred persons from the Bluegrass and neighboring counties bringing their luncches remaining throughout the day.

The program, which began at 10 o'clock, was divided into two parts. The morning was given over to an inspection tour of the farm, the visitors being divided into groups of 50 persons each and shown through the plant where they viewed the breeding pens, layers, cockrels, and pullets; and to discussions on breeding, feeding, marketing and various other subjects of interest. The afternoon program consisted of the following talks of special interest: "The Agricultural Outlook," by Dean Thomas P. Cooper; "Extension Work in Kentucky," by Asst. Director E. R. Bryant; and "Farm Poultry Opportunities," by Prof. E. L. Dakan, head of the poultry department of Ohio State University.

Every-one brought his own lunch; coffee was furnished by the Experiment Station; and at 12 o'clock lunched together at the judging pavilion. There were 140 automobiles on the grounds.

Speaks to Frosh

Dr. Miner Speaker at First Matriculation Lecture

Dr. J. B. Miner, head of the department of psychology at the University of Kentucky, spoke Thursday morning at the fourth hour to the freshmen students of the Arts and Sciences College at their first matriculation lecture. He particularly discussed in his address notes taking on "preparing for class."

Dr. Miner also called attention to reference work which he said was a vital point in preparing for class. All freshmen students were required to attend this meeting for which they receive some credit. Dr. Miner is to make another address and will be followed by other speakers in the series of lectures.

Last Saturday Dr. Miner made a matriculation address to the freshman class of the College of Agriculture, speaking on the same subject.

Harry McChesney, from Frankfort, is registered in the Arts and Sciences College in the class of '28. He is a member of the Kappa Alpha social fraternity and the Keys, honorary sophomore society.

Covington sent to the university in 1924 John Bullock. He registered in the Arts and Sciences college, secured a position among the ranks of Delta Tau Delta and started to work as an active member of the student body. He has been on the staff of The Kernel for a year, and is chairman of the publicity committee of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet.

Katherine Dishman, a Chi Omega from Barbourville, is another sophomore to make Su-Ky. Although she has been here only a short time, she has convinced every one on the campus that she "sure can tickle the ivories." She is registered in the Arts and Sciences college.

Caroline Bascom, of Sharpsburg, is a junior in the College of Arts and Sciences. She is a member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority, and will be quite a "neppy" asset to the Su-Ky Circle.

The Alpha Alphas gave one of their juniors to this group of "pepmakers." LaVergne Lester, from Princeton, has always been one of the "peppy" girls on the campus. When she was a freshman, she was put in charge of the freshman float on May Day and everyone remembers how well she "put it over."

Only a freshman, but full of fun, is Mary Giles Thum. She hails from Lexington high school and is a second semester freshman in the College of Arts and Sciences. "Sticky" is a member of the Delta Zeta sorority.

Since her first appearance at the university in 1922 she has made her mark in the journalism department, having been an able member of the Kernel staff. This year, by controlling the news staff of the Kernel, she has proved that there is nothing in the world too difficult for a woman.

KENTUCKY DEFRATS CLEMSON 19-6 IN EXCITING GAME

Only the recovery of a Clemson fumble by Evans saved a touchdown at that stage. Evans punted to the 25-yard line. Then, aided by a Wildcat penalty and the great line plunging of Chandler, Clemson crossed the goal line for a touchdown. That terminated the day's scoring. The South Carolinian warriors were no longer able to gain consistently and Kentucky, with its second string backfield in the lineup, failed in its attempts, although Tracy intercepted a Clemson pass and, true to the brilliant form already displayed by him, nearly scored.

The stars of the game were Chandler, Clemson halfback, Reynolds, Clemson fullback, Captain Jenkins, Clemson end, and the eleven men who played for Kentucky. The backs were running splendid interference and the linemen were opening large holes in the Clemson line, one of the most outstanding teams in the South. To bolster the team further, "Rabbi" Jenkins and "Kenny" King returned to health and form Saturday.

The all-around playing of Frank Smith and John Ross stamped them as two of the best players that ever represented a Kentucky team. Also "Moco" Edwards and Pence merited much praise due to the fact that they squashed many of Coach "Bud" Sanders' puzzling plays on and behind the line of scrimmage. Captain Ab Kirwan's splendid playing was marred by another injury to his knee but he should be in shape to play again by tomorrow.

could only account for one earned first down, another being given them by Kentucky penalties while the Green and White team ran their string to eleven.

Neither eleven was able to get closer to the goal than the 30-yard line in the opening quarter, but the green-shirted warriors, with a stronger vim in the second period, came back strong and worked the ball to the one-yard line on off-tackle and line plunges where Clifton took it over for the first score of the game. Pish added the extra point with a kick from placement.

In the third quarter, both teams played on even terms for a short while, until the Kittens got the advantage of an exchange of punts and it was their ball on Eastern's 24-yard line. From here Portwood, on a delayed end run went for 20 yards to the four-yard strip, but was called back for a Kentucky penalty. The Kittens, fighting against penalty after penalty, made it much harder and after Pish, feet Kentucky halfback, made 17 yards around left end, the longest run of the game up to this time, placing the ball on the Teachers' 22-yard line. Waddell added another neat run of 10 yards on successive line plunges by Knadler and Portwood, the latter took the oval for the second touchdown of the game. Knadler added the extra point with a nice dropkick.

Five seconds before the game ended, Nielander, Kittens halfback, nearly got away for another touchdown, when he ran 35 yards on a wide end run, eluding four tacklers, but was stopped by Jones, of Eastern, on the 10-yard line.

The game last Saturday left the Kittens mentor confronted with a hard task, a job of finding some new men who can pass, punt and dropkick, for Eklund. The next contest is with The three men who were injured during the Georgetown College freshmen on were the ones that took care of this October 30.
