Job Opportunities Worry Prospective June Graduates

Among hundreds of releases and news items received by the Kernel during the last few weeks have been several pertaining to decreased job opportunities for June graduates. We have printed some of them, showing the approximate demand in various fields. To date, however, we've made no suggestions as to how the shortage can be overcome.

"The Daily Reville" of LSU seems to have done some research on the subject, and recently came up with the cartoon on this page and the following editorial:

"Graduating seniors of this year's vintage are going through some spectacular extremes to sell their wares as potential employees, a recent newspaper article tells us.

"One student advertised his abilities on a billboard near East Lansing, Mich. Another dreamed up a miniature newspaper, with headlines screaming that 'Ed English hits labor market,' with which to flood prospective employers. Still another student is sending out brochures attached to real dollar bills, carrying out the theme that it would be profitable to hire the applicant, who would bring dollars to the company.

"Perhaps the most rash of all these promises was that of a California student who wrote prospective employers that he was 'ready to leave the city, state, country or planet for a whack at regular employment.'

"From all reports, though, it's going to take tactics such as these and a lot more to crash the labor market this year.

"CIO President Philip Murray recently said that the country is only '316,000 unemployed away from the danger mark of 5,000,000,' which doesn't exactly paint a bright picture for the millions whom colleges will shortly let loose to flood the market even more.

"Furthermore, according to the secretary of labor, the number of potential workers, which includes this year's graduating class, is exceeding by 300,000 to 400,000 each year the number of job openings.

"To relieve the congested situation around the entrance to good jobs, some suggestions have been made which apply to the college student. These include simply keeping male college students where they are, putting them in the army for two years, and reviving the CCC camps.

"The first of these, of course, would indeed delight the nation's colleges, most of which are just now recovering from the weight of the war's influx of students. The second would please the student who has been chafing toward an independent life of his own, only to find himself stuck into Uncle Sam's army for a couple of years. The third, of course, would be a pleasure to the national budget, already out of what thanks to the man in the White House who doesn't seem to know red ink from black.

"Any way the college student looks at it, his is not going to be a happy lot come June. But even at that he will probably have the edge over fellow job-seekers who don't have a college education behind them."

Some of the methods which have already been tried are quite ingenious, and the suggested methods may have some value. Most of us would rather take our chances in the cold, cruel world (where many have been for four or more years already, contrary to commencement speakers' beliefs) when the day comes to doff cap and gown.

All is not lost, however, so long as prospective graduates retain their senses of humor, such as at Long Island University, where the attention of June graduates was brought to the following poem:

A young theologian named Fiddle
Refused to accept his degree.
"For," said he, "It's enough to be Fiddle,
Without being Fiddle, D.D."

Two Important Bills And An Advertising Drive

The Student Government Association passed two measures this week which should be of benefit to the student body. Certainly, approval of funds to help with the lighting of the intramural field will gain support from campus athletes and spectators alike.

Omicron Delta Kappa, working with the Intramural Department, has been considering the lighting project all this year. It is, however, too expensive for one organization to sponsor. Even with funds from other sources, the amount which could be raised was not sufficient to pay for the project if, as is desirable, wires for the lights were buried underground. The SGA appropriation, if approved, would be of great benefit to a large segment of the student body.

The other decision made at the meeting, to provide for student ratings for professors, could be of great help in improving relations between the two groups, and in improving classroom learning. All too many instructors deliver dry, uninformative lectures without ever knowing they are not suitable to the members of their classes. We believe the professors will welcome the innovation as much as will the students.

Finally, concerning SGA discussions about "advertising" the organization, we'd like to make a couple of suggestions. In the first place, the Kernel will not act as a sort of Congressional Record and print all that happens at SGA meetings. We do not have space to devote to the less important of them. Our readers would not be interested, either. And a political column would be of little interest or worth except during campaigns. After that, there is little public politicking. If there were, the Kernel could not fairly print it because of the constant danger of becoming biased, or seemingly so, in reporting party goings-on.

The Kernel is very much interested in anything done by SGA which has a direct and important effect on the UK student. It will print all it believes of importance. It is SGA's responsibility to continue to do important work—otherwise the Kernel and the majority of students will ignore any advertising concerning it.

but also for the harassed faculty of the University. Why can't the grass around the campus be cut late in the afternoon when most of the classes are out? As things stand now, the power lawnmowers, which sound very much like a combination motor boat and B-28, greatly disturb many morning classes as they putt, putt, putt by the open windows.

We students are here for an education and nothing should enter into our path which might cause us to miss even a sentence of a lecture. It seems that most of the putting is done in the morning. Do these operators of the machines pick out where most students are congregated and open the throttle wide?

A University decree should be made immediately which will prohibit any lawn cutting before 3 p.m., or better still 4 p.m. Now that daylight saving time is here, these grass barbers could work between 3 and 7. This would benefit them, for the temperature would be lower and the weather nice and cool.

Anyhow, let's hope that something will be done about this.

This is the story of the rough and rugged Oregon Trail and the hundreds of thousands of individuals who rendezvoused at Independence, Missouri with the intent of conquering the trail and establishing their homes in Oregon—for their sake and America's, too. The trail was harder than most of them had dared believe it could be. It crossed sandy deserts, swift streams, and rocky mountains with trails so narrow they were underbrush that the wagons could hardly go through. Worst of all, though, was deleted, the request will be honored. There must be at least two student letters used in the "Letters to the Editor" column before the Chesterfield cigarettes can be awarded.

Theater Will Give Passes For Roses If In Song Title

The Kentucky Theater, in a most magnanimous mood, is offering 40 free passes this week to the theater. So if you have a good memory for songs, here's your chance to see a free movie. To the 20 persons sending in the largest list of songs with the word "ROSE" in it, will go two passes each to the Kentucky Theater. The contest is in conjunction with this week's showing of "The Daughter Of Rosie O'Grady".

"Sweet Rosie O'Grady" and "Rose Of Tralee" You take it from there, and hope you like the show.

"The Daughter Of Rosie O'Grady" stars June Haver and Gordon MacRae in another of these technicolor musical comedy extravaganzas that make for an enjoyable hour and 45 minutes of fun and music. June is as easy to gaze upon, and Gordon is as easy to listen to as they were in "Silver Lining"; the last picture they co-starred in. June is the daughter whose father, portrayed by James Barton, opposes anything theatrical. Gordon is the famous Tony Pastor, who succeeds in luring her into a stage career and winning her heart. There are dozens of memorable tunes presented and you might say they are all O-Grady-type Opens today at the Kentucky.

"Comanche Territory" Another immortal American is glorified on the screen when "Comanche Territory" opens Sunday at the Ben All Theater. Jim Bowie, the man who introduced the famous Bowie knife, is the hero of this one and he is ably portrayed by Macdonald Carey. Maureen O'Hara plays the female lead as the treacherous girl who betrays her outlaw brother for the love of Bowie. A couple hundred Navajos do a good job of imitating Comanches and add to the color of the technicolor secrecy. It's a good western with a slightly different angle.

Double Feature
 Offered as a big time thrill program, "Back To Batavia" and "Marine Raiders", opening Saturday at the State Theater, deal with World War II heroism in the Pacific, and feature star casts and vivid action in a popular twin bill revival.

"Back To Batavia" co-stars John Wayne and Anthony Quinn, and describes the American's role in the underground Filipino resistance to Japanese occupation of Luzon. The picture's feature is the remounting of the infamous "Death March" and the rescue of the prisoners by the Rangers.

Pat O'Brien, Robert Ryan, and Ruth Hussey are top-flight in the production "Marine Raiders". It, too, concerns the battle for the Philippines and includes a good portion on the training of paratroopers in a California training base.

The two shows take a little over three hours and are well worth the time for they are two of the best movies of the war era.

Phi Sig's Initiate Ten

Revelations Come To Light As Bleidt Band Dis-bands

By Joe Crole

Robert Anthony "Bob" Bleidt and his young, talented aggregation are landmarks hereabouts. From the callow girl, class, of '33, fresh from the province and who danced deejayed to their music at her first college dance, to the old grad of '45 who got his college kicks listening to the Bleidt crew, few are the UK boys and girls who have not danced to the cooing and blushing, jazz riffs and pop riffs, big moans and sweet plangings of this outfit.

Therefore it came with somewhat of a shock last week when the word got around that Bob and his boys were disbanding. To most campus "cats" who heard the news it brought a twinge of regret that the order passed, and many of them began recalling with appropriate nostalgia the first time they had heard Bleidt, where it was, who they had been with, and "how was Mack Shimo loaded that night?" But how many of them know anything about this self-effacing young man and the musicians who have made the Blue and White orchestra one of the best college dance bands in the country?

To Get Masters Degree

With this in mind, the Kernel went out and dug up some information on them, much of which will be surprising even to the "cats" who should know about such things. For instance, how many of us know that Bob is an industrial chemistry major? In fact, probably the biggest reason for the dissolution of the band is that Bob will receive his master's degree in August and depart for the cozier horizons of chemistry where electrons and neutrons will occupy more of his time than bass clefs.

A little more prying into the background of the maestro brought out the fact that he is a veteran of service with the Naval Air Corps, 25 years old, and plays a mean sax and clarinet himself. The list of campus organizations to which he has belonged is staggering. The most impressive of these is, naturally, Phi Mu Alpha, Lambda, Omicron Delta Kappa, Student Union Board, Alpha Chi Sigma, and Sigma XI, just to mention a few.

Began At Henry Clay

Bleidt has had a band since his early days at Henry Clay High School in Lexington. He reorganized this band at UK in 1945, and has kept it practically intact since then. In that year Bleidt's bunch received immediate recognition on the campus when President H. L. Donovan

Airline Group To Close Year With Poe Play

The Blue and White orchestra which announced to practically official status as the orchestra at UK.

The band has not confined itself to playing only local engagements. They have ranged about the Midwest playing important spots such as Castle Farm in Cincinnati, the Club Madrid in Louisville, and Buckeye Lake's Crystal Ballroom—engagements that many an older band might envy.

Has 500 Arrangements

Since 1945 the band has had a library of over 500 arrangements made by Jim Tyler, Bill McKrell, Jim Eversoe, and Chu Curtis. The arrangements have set the style of the band; they are characterized by slow, dreamy vocals and jump arrangements with exceptionally high ranged brass parts. In the words of one of the bandmen (not a brass man) "It takes three damn good trumpet men to handle the book because it's written so high. Jazz Kreil was a ten-pot and spent all his time polishing himself, the woman who thought she was a donkey and behaved exactly like one, allegedly speaking, of course, and finally the man who ran around with his hair between two slices of bread trying to get someone to take a bite. He thought his leg was Swiss cheese."

The Poe short-story was adapted for radio by Elton Drake of the College of Education.

Heard in the cast will be Gene Arkie, Mac Larkin, Louise Hill, George Stone, Bill Gordon, Bert Harter, Martin Get, and Wally Reddy.

LIZABETH SCOTT dropped into the Kernel office this week to display her new bathing suit and say "hello" to old friends among the staff. Various comments and reactions occurred. Nell Blair just didn't seem to notice the intruder. Bob Cox is still sitting at the copy desk in a daze. Bill Mansfield is still sitting on the chandelier, refusing to come down. Joan Cook offered to rattle Liz two out of three falls, and Betty Boggs tried to roll up in her typewriter. Bob Fain said "gee" and joined Mansfield on the chandelier. George Reynolds, a married man, was heard to exclaim, "Gosh, she has pretty eyes!" Whereupon, Miss Scott disappeared. It is the consensus of opinion that the whole incident was nothing but a mirage caused by the extreme heat in the office and the hard work (?) of the staff. However, Staff Photographer Ben Williams, alert as ever, and keeping his mind on his business, got the above shot before Miss Scott disappeared.

KALFEMAN'S

THE Blue PRINT

By Bob Gorman

The two major league scouts who saw the Kentucky-Georgia games last week were treated to some good—and some bad—baseball.

Several boys on both teams sparked both in the field and at bat. The best play of the series was turned in by Johnny Stough, who made a diving stop of a hard hit ground ball in the hole between second and first and threw the runner out from a sitting position. That play, which came in that 13-inning game, couldn't have been executed better by a major leaguer.

Another great play came in that same contest when Don Pucci made a catch of a fly ball in right field and delivered a beautiful throw to the plate that made the Georgia runner on third stay right on his perch. Any other type of throw would have let the runner score what would have proved to be the winning run.

For the Georgians, Capt. Billy Henderson and third-sacker Hobeey Jackson stood out. They both hit and fielded well and showed that they are the type of material the scouts were looking for.

But on the bad side, there were 16 errors in the two games—16 by the Bulldogs and 6 by the Wildcats. Very few of the 21 runs scored in the two games were earned, and questionable strategy was employed by both teams.

In the first game, Kentucky passed up an opportunity to win in the regulation nine innings by their refusal to employ the sacrifice bunt. Three times in the straight and crucial game, the Wildcats had their lead-off hitter get on base safely, but each time they chose to hit away rather than play for one run.

The strategy backfired in the fourth. After Moseley had led off with a single, Cummins followed with a double, but in between these two hits, Hirsch struck out and Parfitt grounded out. Had Hirsch sacrificed Moseley to second, he could have scored on the double, and the Wildcats could probably have won 1-0, as Newton was in great form and didn't weaken until the 13th inning.

Georgia's lead-off man of the inning got on base five different times, and each time the sacrifice sign was flashed to the batter and executed perfectly. Their strategy didn't pay off, but it was because Newton was hurling superb ball and never allowed more than one hit in any inning.

In the second game, with the score tied 7-7 in the last half of the ninth, it's this writer's opinion that both teams erred.

For Kentucky, Stough, the lead-off hitter in the line-up, started the inning with a routine single to left, which the leftfielder let go through him for an error, allowing Stough to advance to second.

With a man on second, nose out, and the heart of the batting order coming up, it is our opinion that the second man—who is supposed to be hitting in this spot for his ability to advance a runner—should have been instructed to bunt down the first base line, which would let Stough come to third.

From there he could have scored on a fly ball, a hard hit grounder, a passed ball, an error, or a hit. It seems probable that the third and fourth men in the lineup could have come on for something from this combination of possibilities.

This would have been playing "percentage" ball, and "going by the book."

An identical example of this situation occurred in the Boston Red Sox-Cleveland Indians game played the same day. With the score tied 4-4 in the 9th, Hegon of the Indians doubled to start the inning, and was immediately sacrificed to third from where he scored the winning run on a fly ball.

Instead, for Kentucky, Zaranka was allowed to swing away and lined a long hit to right field that allowed Stough to score the winning run. On the Georgia side of the same situation—with a man on second representing the winning run, we believe that the second Kentucky batter should have been intentionally walked, putting runners on first and second and setting up a possible double play. Putting another man on base would not have hurt the Bulldogs as the winning tally was already on.

Had the team-killing error occurred, putting runners on first and second, and setting up a possible double play. Putting another man on base would not have hurt the Bulldogs as the winning tally was already on.

Of course, this is all hypothetical, but it is playing the percentage and is straight baseball. That's what wins pennants. If you have read this far, what do you think—what strategy would you have used?

These pesky Tennessee Volunteers, currently riding a six-game winning streak, furnish the opposition for Kentucky this afternoon in the first of four games this week and next that probably will decide the SEC Eastern Division championship.

The Wildcats, themselves the owners of ten probable chain of victories, need to cool off the steaming Vols in at least three of the four games if they want to assure themselves of the flag.

Georgia, second to Kentucky in the division with a 9-4 record, begins a four-game series with their cross-state rival, Georgia Tech, at the same time, and the title hinges on the outcome of these two series.

Here are some of the possibilities:

If Georgia and Kentucky win all four games, the final standings would be like this:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Kentucky	2	2	.500
Georgia	13	4	.764

In case the Bulldogs win all four games, and Kentucky wins three and loses one, here is how they will finish:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Kentucky	10	3	.769
Georgia	12	5	.705

If the Bulldogs and Wildcats each win three and lose one, the result would be this way:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Kentucky	10	3	.769
Georgia	12	5	.705

On the other hand, if the two leaders split with their opponents, the race would wind up like this:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Kentucky	9	4	.692
Georgia	11	6	.647

Any more than two losses would just about eliminate the Wildcats from the race, unless both teams lost all four games, in which case Tennessee would be a definite contender.

The Vols will be tough, as they have come on to win their last six games by huge margins after a dismal start. They started their string by routing out Georgia Tech, 4-3. They slaughtered the Engineers, 17-8, the next day, and then blasted Vanderbilt, 11-2 and 12-4—the last one in five innings. Their last wins came at the expense of the touring Georgia Bulldogs, 8-4 and 6-2.

That means the Vols have hustled home 58 runs in these six games while allowing their opponents 22.

Kentucky probably will find them troublesome, as they do in every other sport, but should win the necessary games to cop the title, as they will have Bob Hatchett and C. M. Newton rested and ready for starting roles both at home and away, and the other hurlers—Guy Strong, Ray Wiseman, Al MacLeod, and Walt Hirsch—will be ready for relief duty.

Wildcats, Vols Clash Today

Series Crucial For Kentucky In SEC Race

Big C. M. Newton will probably open on the hill this afternoon in the first of a two-game series against the Tennessee Volunteers. Game time is 3 o'clock.

The Wildcats will be going after their eleventh straight victory and their first over the Vols. Kentucky has only four games left in the conference and all will be against Tennessee. They play here today and tomorrow, and two more in Knoxville next weekend.

Last year the Volunteers almost upset the Kentucky applicant in the last game of the season when they defeated the Cats 10-8, to leave them only a few percentage points ahead of Cummins in the final standings.

Catcher Jay Cummins is currently leading the Kentucky batters who have appeared in most of the games. Cummins is hitting at a .333 clip, with nine hits in 27 times at bat. Close behind is Capt. Johnny Stough with a .315 average on 12 hits in 38 trips to the plate.

The best average on the team is being set by Benny Zaranka who is raling along at a .466 pace, but Zaranka has been to the plate only 15 times. He has 7 hits, including a pair of home runs and two triples.

Guy Strong, a pitcher who sometimes sees duty at first base, is batting .429 with six singles in 14 tries, and has driven in seven runs. The leader in the runs-batted-in department is Stough, who has sent eight runners across the plate.

The overall team batting average is .274 on 169 hits in 397 times at bat, according to statistics released Thursday.

Faced by Big Benny Zaranka's two home runs over the left field wall, the Wildcats mauled the Cincinnati Bearcats, 12-1, in notching their tenth consecutive triumph Tuesday.

Capt. Frank Moseley let all five of his pitchers share the hurling duties, working them in two-inning stretches. The win went to Guy Strong, who came on in the third and allowed the two Bearcat runs.

Before he went out, however, the Cats were leading 6-2, and Strong had accounted for part of the big lead with a run-producing single.

Cincinnati scored first, singles by Jim Holstein, Joe Barbieri, and Jim Kelly, a long fly, and an error producing two runs in the fourth inning.

The Wildcats came right back in the home half of the same frame to take a big 6-2 lead on six singles by Zaranka, Allen Hamilton, Don Pucci, Doug Moseley, Jay Cummins, and Johnny Stough, and an intentional pass to Walt Hirsch.

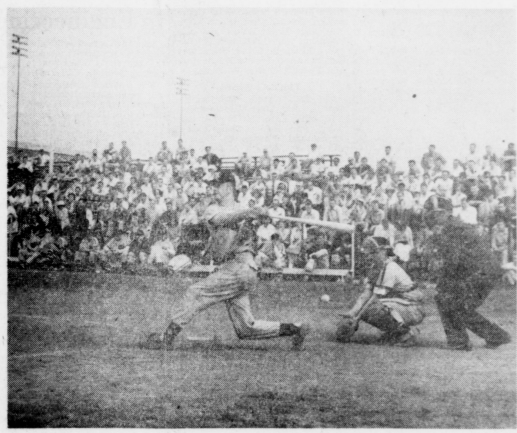

They added three more runs in the sixth on Cummins' second single, Ray Wiseman's triple, Stough's long fly, and Zaranka's first homer.

Pucci walked, stole second, and came home on Wiseman's triple in the seventh. Punch-hitter, Buddy Clegg's triple, followed by Zaranka's second round-robin homer gave the Cats their final runs in the eighth.

Score by innings: R H E Cincinnati—000 200 000—7 2 Kentucky—000 603 128—12 14 1 Batters: Wiseman, Heise (4) and Brill, Radtke (7); Newton, Strong (3), Wiseman (5), MacLeod (7), Hatchett (9), and Cummins, Pucci (7).

With most of the regulars sitting on the bench at the start of the game, the Wildcats came from behind in the ninth inning to edge out the Vanderbilt Commodores, 8-7, last Friday.

Guy Strong's second hit of the game drove in Johnny Stough and

A swing and a miss—this time—for BENNY ZARANKA, hard hitting centerfielder on the Wildcat baseball team. But he didn't miss two other times and on both occasions, he sent the apple over the left field wall for home runs as Kentucky walloped the Cincinnati Bearcats, 12-2. Zaranka is currently pounding the pellet at a healthy clip, and his timely hitting is a big reason why Kentucky is on top of the SEC's Eastern Division. The catcher shown is Radtke of Cincinnati, and the umpire is "Beef" Shewalter.

Doug Moseley with the tying and winning runs after Vandy had held a 7-6 advantage since the fifth inning.

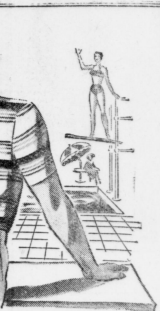

The Commodores led off the scoring with three runs in the first inning before Picher Walt Hirsch could stem their attack. Kentucky whittled away part of that lead in their half of the inning when Hamilton brought home two runs with a double.

Vanderbilt added a run in the third, two in the fourth, and one in the fifth, while Kentucky was picking up one in the second, two in the third, and one in the fourth to set the stage for Strong's pay-off blow.

For Kentucky, Moseley, Strong, and Hamilton had two hits each and accounted for six Wildcat runs. For Vandy, Bob Smith had three hits, including a double and a home run.

Breck Hall Tops Tavern In Independent Finals

By Lewis Donohew

Staging a four-run uprising with two men out in the last of the sixth, Breck Hall came through with a 7-6 win over Tavern Boys Wednesday to win the finals of the independent winners' division of the I-M softball tournament.

The winner of the Lambda Chi-Delta game yesterday afternoon determined the undefeated finalist in the fraternity division. Breck Hall will meet the winner of yesterday's Tavern Boys-Scott Street Barracks game for the overall championship. Breck will have to outdo two losers to get out of the running, while their once-defeated opponent may lose only one.

Fred Lawson, Breck hurler, retired the first nine men in order and cranked into the fourth inning with a 3-0 lead. Then the Tavern team kicked him for four runs in the fourth inning and two more in the fifth to wrest away the lead.

Several upsets were common as an umpire's "eye out" in the speeded-up tournament this week.

Lambda Chi continued their surprise win streak by handing SAE, tourney favorite, their first loss, 12-7. The fourth-seeded Delta held the second-seeded Sig Eps to two hits while handing them a 4-0 thumping.

Cat Linksmen Meet Tech Today, Tomorrow; Vols, Miami, And Cincinnati Are UK Victims

By Fred Lawson

Kentucky's golfers will be going after their 11th and 12th wins of the season when they meet the Georgia Tech linksmen today and tomorrow at the Lexington Country Club course.

The second match is to make up the match that was called off in Atlanta because of the death of Tech's Athletic Director William A. Alexander.

Returning from the Southeastern Conference tourney, the Wildcats linksmen picked up where they left off by taking three matches in the past week.

Kentucky rang up its second win of the season over Miami University Tuesday, by the score of 16 to 10, at Oxford, Ohio. It was the Wildcats' tenth win of the season.

Miami's Gary Carl shot a 65, one-under-par, to lead the scoring. Craig Wright led the Kentucky scoring as he shot a par 69 for the short course.

The scores: John Owens (K) 69, Art Stone (M) 72, Gary Carl (M) 65, Bud Lewis (K) 68, Sam Ingerson (M) 72, John Colton (K) 74, Craig Wright (K) 66, George Zomers (M) 68, Marvin Lear (K) 68, Maurice Miller (M) 75, Bill Baker (K) 77.

Cat Cindermen Beaten By Vols

By Anne Boyd

The University of Kentucky lost both varsity and freshman matches to Tennessee last Saturday in a double track meet held in Knoxville.

The Vol varsity outfit beat UK's first stringers, 33-41. UT's frosh team trampled the Kittens, 71-39. Tony Dallas wins in the 120-yard high hurdles and 220-yard low hurdles were the only triumphs of Coach Don Seaton's Wildcats could manage in the meet.

Herbie Neff, Tennessee, set a new high jump record for his school, clearing the bar at 6 feet, 3 1/2 inches. The Vols won 12 finals in varsity competition to two for the Wildcats.

Tennessee's Alf Hohnberger, touted freshman runner from Stockholm, Sweden, and the Vols' Tom Scott, varsity man, were absent at the tape in the feature "match mile" event.

Varsity rundown: Shot put—Messersoll (T), Imanrski (K), Lyons (T), 42 ft., 10 1/2 in. High jump—Neff (T), Dallas (K), Whitaker (K), 6 ft., 3 1/2 in.

Second Foursome: Bud Lewis (K) 70, defeated Tom France (C) 75. Jim Eilers (C) 76, defeated Ray Colton (K) 78.

Third Foursome: Bill Dudley Baker (K) 72, defeated Paul Krummel (C) 78. Dick Wolfe (C) 72, defeated Craig Wright (K) 72.

Beat Vols, 14-4: The Wildcats trounced Tennessee last Friday, 14-4, at the Lexington Country Club.

The Wildcats made a great showing as they averaged 72 strokes per man in the four individual matches. This was even par.

John Owens led the Kentucky scoring as he shot a four-over-par 69 to defeat Gene Grant of Tennessee, who shot a 78.

Marvin Lear beat Tennessee's No. 1, Dick Dunbrook (M) 72.

Gene Grant (T) 78, 3-8. Marvin Lear (K) 75, defeated John Renuau (T) 78, 2 1/2-5. Kentucky won low ball, 3-0.

Second Foursome: Bud Lewis (K) 74, tied Jim Smith (T) 74, 1 1/2-2 1/2. Craig Wright (K) 71, defeated Bud Keener (T) 74, 2-1. Kentucky won low ball 2-1.

Summary: Kentucky 14, Tennessee 4.

John Owens (K) 66, defeated Gene Grant (T) 78, 3-8. Marvin Lear (K) 75, defeated John Renuau (T) 78, 2 1/2-5. Kentucky won low ball, 3-0.

WAA News

By Anne Boyd

When the dust cleared this past Tuesday, Kappa Alpha Theta had another cup for their mantle, for they are the 1959 softball champions.

They won over Chi Omega to the tune of 13-18. The same went five innings, with the strong pitching of Ruth Halverson for Chi Omega and the fine control of Joyce Reynolds, Theta.

Other Theta players that turned in a good game both in the field and at the plate, were Martha Durham, Betty Bryant, and Mary Ellen Price.

Chi Omega put up a good fight, but it was not good enough to back the strong Theta team. Some of the Chi Omega players who were active in their valiant try were Ruth McCracken, Bonnie Shoop, and Elma Kirtpatrick. The trophy will be presented at the WAA banquet. That's an important time to keep in mind—the WAA banquet. Keep Tuesday, May 16, open for that big affair.

WAA elections are now complete— all the votes are in and the tabulations are being made. Announcement as to the results will be made at the WAA banquet. The slate, as set up by the nominating committee, and approved by the WAA council was as follows:

President: Dot Honsaker, Chris Morris, vice president, Eula West, Anne Boyd; treasurer, Louise Horne, Wanda Myers; and secretary, Bonnie Sharp, Marilyn McDonald.

Tennis matrons are trying fast and furious by now. Tournament play is in full swing. The second round was to be played by Friday, May 12, with the third round deadline set for next week.

Golf and archery tourneys are going full blast now also. Approximately twenty girls have entered the golf tourney and almost twice that many are showing in the archery tourney.

These promises to be a great deal of stress competition and great fun to be found in these last tourneys of the WAA intramural year.

DisKintucky Sports Review

By Tom Diskin, Sports Editor

Eleven Kentucky Wildcat basketballs will be employed this summer at four swanky resorts deep in the heart of New York's Catskill Mountains.

The players, as arrangements stand now, will include six members of last season's varsity aggregation plus the starting quintet of the 1949-50 freshmen team.

They will be working as waiters, lifeguards, bellhops, bus boys and horseshoe-riding instructors from July 1st until Labor Day.

Bobby Watson, Cliff Hagan and Frank Ramsey are slated for the pretentious Kutcher's Hotel and Country Club, located near Monticello, N. Y.

Bill Spivey, Whitey Pearson and Richard (Hern) Pike will form another contingent at another nearby resort. Lindle Castle, Lou Tsiropoulos and Roger Layne will make up another, while Captain Walt Hirsch and Lucian "Skip" Whitaker are expected to be sent to a fourth summer resort in the Catskills, approximately 100 miles northward of New York City.

In past years, many outstanding collegiate basketball players, particularly in the East, have worked in the Catskills at these resorts including George Mikan, Bob Cousy and Easy Ed Macauley.

These jobs, which have been approved by the NCAA, affords the players an opportunity to help pay his way through college.

Largely for the entertainment of the well-to-do vacationers, each of these palatial inns form basketball teams and have a regular league during the summer months.

Because of the numerous college players on the various squads, a pretty sharp rivalry has developed among the resorts. Some of the chateaus have even secured well-known coaches to lead their teams.

Red Auerbach, former mentor of the Washington Capitols team, will be in charge of one of the resort quintets.

Two games will be played each week, one Friday and the other Sunday. All the inns have outside courts, complete with night lights, and as a result the games are held in the cool, exhilarating evenings.

It should be a very enjoyable summer for these Wildcat basketballers, who will not only be earning some spending money as a result of their jobs, but will also be able to pick up a few basketball tips from the older collegiate players who will be playing on their teams.

As far as the other varsity players are concerned, Shelby Linville, of Middletown, Ohio, has decided to work in a paper mill in his hometown.

Read Morgan, of Milwaukee, Wis., is planning to spend the summer working on a farm. C. M. Newton, UK's ace pitcher from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., expects to be playing a lot of baseball around Florida during the coming months.

Netters Meet Cincy Bearcats

Kentucky's tennis team, rained out of its match with Cincinnati last Saturday, will travel to the Queen City tomorrow to take on the Bearcats in a return match. The Wildcats have a season record of one win and four losses. The win was from Berea, 10-0, and the losses were to Indiana, Vanderbilt, Western Kentucky, and Tennessee.

The chances of the Wildcats in future matches received a jolt recently when Moss Labbers was declared ineligible. A ruling was made that Exchange Students would be ineligible. Lubbers, a student from Holland, has been a consistent player on the tennis team. The next home game for the netters will be Georgia Tech, who will be here May 20 for a single engagement.
