A Tribute to the Late Professor Edwin Stanton Good

Professor Edwin Stanton Good was called to his reward on April 15, 1957 at the age of eighty-six years. He was born on March 16, 1871 at Clarence Center, New York; he grew to young manhood in Michigan. He received the Bachelor's degree from Michigan State Agricultural College in 1903, and was awarded the Master's degree by the University of Illinois in 1906. He served as Secretary to the President of the Michigan State Agricultural College 1897-1899. He was an Instructor and Investigator in Animal Husbandry, University of Illinois 1903-1906. He joined the Animal Husbandry staff at the University of Kentucky in 1906 and was identified with Resident Teaching, the Agricultural Experiment Station and Agricultural Extension. He was Head of Animal Husbandry and Chairman of the Animal Industry group. He relinquished his administrative duties in 1941 with the change in Work Status, but he continued to render valuable service in Extension and Resident Teaching.

Professor Good was a man of scholarly interests and he established an enviable reputation in both teaching and research. Perhaps, his greatest scientific contribution was the isolation of and the preparation of a vaccine against a bacillus causing abortion in mares. He made other contributions in the field of Animal Nutrition. High professional recognition came to Professor Good in 1940 when the American Society of Animal Production hung his portrait in the Gallery of the Saddle and Sirloin Club in Chicago.

Professor Good travelled in Europe in 1905 during which time he studied livestock conditions in England, Scotland, Holland, France, and Belgium. He served as a member of the Kentucky Livestock Sanitary Board. He was a charter member of the American Society of Animal Production and also of the Association of Southern Agricultural Workers. Other professional memberships included American Association for the Advancement of Science, American Association of University Professors, Kentucky Academy of Science, Research Club, Alpha Zeta and Sigma Xi. He was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Kiwanis Club and the Second Presbyterian Church of which he was an Elder.

*Absence Explained.

Minutes of the University Faculty, May 13, 1957

He married Miss Louise A. Millikin on June 24, 1908; she preceded him in death some four years ago. Their two sons are graduates of this University.

The long and distinguished professional career of the late Professor Good was consistent with the highest academic traditions. A richly endowed mind, high professional ideals, good judgment and true gentility endeared him to students, faculty and others privileged to know him.

Dean Slone announced that there would be a brief cornerstone-laying at the new College of Pharmacy building on Friday afternoon, May 17, at 2:00 p.m., and an invitation to attend was extended to the Faculty members.

Dean Spivey presented a recommendation from the Graduate Council for approval of graduate credit for two courses previously approved by the Faculty for undergraduate credit; also a recommendation for revision of Education 116 in title and credit. These three recommendations were approved by the Faculty.

1. The Graduate Council recommends approval of graduate credit for the following courses, previously approved by the University Faculty for undergraduate credit.

Economics 150. Advanced Business and Economic Statistics (3)
Advanced time series analysis, multiple and partial correlation, elementary analysis of variance and experimental design. Prerequisite: Economics 107, Statistical Method, or Consent of Instructor.

Economics 186. Economic Research (3)
The sources, uses and application of statistical information to the analysis of economic problems. Prerequisite: Economics 52 and 107.

2. The Graduate Council recommends revision of Education 116 as expanded in title and raised 1 hour in total credit.

Change Education 116 (3 credits), Problems of the Coordinator in Distributive Education, to Education 116a, b (2 credits each), Problems of the Coordinator in Industrial and Distributive Education.

Richard Lehman, President of the Student Government Association, presented to the Faculty the new President for the 1957-58 year, Mr. David Ravencraft. Mr. Ravencraft expressed his appreciation of the privilege to work with the Faculty and a warm welcome was extended to him by Dean Mills.

Dr. Scherago announced that an error had been made in the Staff Bulletin which listed the Sigma Xi dinner for Friday evening, May 10. This dinner is scheduled for Friday evening, May 17, in the Bluegrass Room of the Student Union Building. Dr. E. V. Cowdry will speak on "New Approaches to the Study of Malignant Tumors" and tickets are available from Dr. Sears at $1.75 each.

Minutes of the University Faculty, May 13, 1957

The presiding officer stated that the sheet entitled "Calendar of Important Commencement Dates", which had been circularized by the Registrar's Office, stated that the University Faculty would meet on Thursday, May 23, at 9:00 a.m. for the purpose of approving degree candidates for recommendation to the Board of Trustees; however, it had been found that there is a conflict in the use of the Assembly Room at that hour and that a written notice would be sent to the Faculty of change in the hour to 3:00 p.m., May 23.

A brief discussion was held as to whether May 27, Commencement Day, was a holiday. Dr. Mills stated that a notice would be circularized to all members of the faculty prior to Commencement Day clarifying this question.

Meeting adjourned.
