SGA TO HEAR
LOAN FUND BILL
IN REVISED FORM

Collier Will Give
Report On Probe
Of Eating Places

Final reading of the controversial student loan fund bill, which was referred to the rules committee for revision and amendment, will be given before the Student Legislature at 8 p. m. today, in Room 204 of the Union building, SGA president, Bob Allen, said yesterday.

The measure, presented jointly by Jack Lovell and Doniphon Burruss was rejected in November by a narrow 9-10 margin after approximately 1,000 students and 30 faculty members had petitioned for its passage.

The act received its major opposition from members who declared that a $2,000 loan fund was too large, but the rules committee has recommended certain amendments which may satisfy its opponents and effect its passage.

At tonight's meeting, James Collier, who was appointed chairman of a committee to investigate student living conditions, will report on student eating places. He investigated the women's dormitories, boarding houses, and restaurants. Later a report will be made on housing and working conditions.

A formal report of the treasurer, reports of all standing committees, and the awarding of the freshman cap contract also will be made at the meeting.

SENATE CREDITS
"DEAD COURSES"

Committee Okeys
New Curricula

Students who complete work in courses not approved by the University Senate will receive credit for their work, the Senate voted yesterday at its regular meeting in Lafayette Hall.

The recommendation was made by the curriculum committee in its annual report as an attempt to meet some difficulty which might arise from "dead" courses, the report said.

Under University rules, all courses taught must have the approval of the Senate before being added to the curriculum. Nearly every year, the report continued, the Senate approves various courses only for summer school instruction which are to be dropped at the fall term.

However, many courses escape the committee and are opened to registration and instruction. When the error is caught, the course will not be dropped until later, and credit given to the student.

The maximum number of credit hours that can be taught by the University has almost been attained, the committee said. The Senate also approved a petition for the organization of an Act club "to encourage creative work."

Graff Ballet To Feature
'Renaissance' Number

Dance Program To Be Presented At Henry Clay By JEAN WILLIAMS

"Renaissance," the famous dance of Graef and Kurt Graff, will be featured in the performance of the Graff Ballet Thursday at 8:15 p. m. in the Henry Clay high school auditorium, under the auspices of the University Women's Athletic Association.

This dance, which creates the atmosphere of Renaissance Italy, was first performed at the Great North, city theatre in Chicago, causing such a reaction that it was being requested in the Graff ballet performance at the Art Institute of Chicago.

The program will open with a dance of greeting to the audience called "Preface." The pattern of movement, like a progression, will carry the dancers' greeting to the audience.

The sound number on the program will introduce Graef and Kurt in "Can You" an abstract dance of introduction done in a light, gay manner to music by Domenico Scarlatti.

Following the Graff's second appearance on the program in "Romania," the group's newest ballet called "Ode of the Living" danced by the entire company, will be the third number.

Tickets for the ballet may be bought at the women's gymnasium, from Margaret Warren, faculty adviser, WAA contact member, and the modern dance group.

Profits From Wildcat
Will Be Turned Over To Legion For Defense

Funds To Be Used To Buy Uniforms For Local Militia

John Ed Pearce, editor of the Wildcat, campus humor publication, announced yesterday that in the future all profits from the magazine will be directed toward national defense, so that we can have the last laugh on Hitler.

The entire net income from advertising and circulation, Pearce said, will be turned over to the Stan O'War (Lexington) post of the American Legion to be used for whatever purpose the local commander deems most expedient.

"The staff and I have decided," he explained in an interview last night, "that such a move will not be out of place at present, since it will not only arouse support on the campus for the very vital defense program, but will combat the erroneous idea of traditional engineering fraternity, at an all-engineering assembly held at 10 a. m. Friday, in Memorial Hall."

Ernest Ratley, president, will preside and the principal address will be given by Coach Ab Kirkman. The pledges have no previous knowledge of the traditional ceremony of tapping the pledges with a wooden sledge hammer will be followed. The pledges have no previous knowledge of their selection. Initiation will be held the following week.

The Tau Beta Pi was inaugurated at the University in 1902, as the first honorary organization on campus. The fraternity now has 69 active chapters. It was founded at Lehigh university in 1885.

Requirements for membership in the fraternity are standing in the upper one-fourth of the junior class or the upper one-fourth of the senior class.

Besides Ratley, officers of the fraternity are Vernon Albert, secretary; Jack McNamee, secretary; and V. H. Florence, treasurer.

The Engineers Club, sponsored by Tau Beta Pi, will be held March 20 on campus, music provided by Frances Craig.

'RED' NICHOLS

FOR FIRST PROM

Nix On Queens, Lances Tapping, Committee Says

Red Nichols and his 14-piece orchestra will play for the annual junior prom, from 8 to 12 March 29. It was announced by the Union building director's office yesterday.

A date and a stage will be given to each junior, and either a date or stag kid will be given the seniors. Lita Stoll, led chairman, said.

"There will be no queens and no tapping ceremony by Lances this year," Ed Rankin, chairman of the prom committee announced yesterday.

Featuring vocals by Lorraine Barre, Nichols' band was called "The surprise sensation of 1940" by George Saxe, reviewer for Metromusic magazine. The band became famous 10 years ago when it introduced the "five pennies" group which is still part of the organization.

Band To Work And Play Over Weekend
By BETTY JANE PUGH
Work is played and play is work so far as musicians are concerned, and so the coming weekend brings work and play for the members of the "Best Band in Dixie."

Play precedes work in this case, but the "Horntops" will play their formal dance set for Saturday night at the Union, sponsored by the band. Sunday afternoon the boys will play again, but this time it's work—concert in Memorial Hall.

At the dance Saturday night the band will be formally presented by Brooks Cobb, law firm major, who made his first appearance with the band March 9 at the Southeastern basketball tournament in Louisville. Music will be furnished by the Troubadors, a Frankfort orchestra composed almost entirely of University bandmen.

Sunday's concert will feature a symphonic concert from Parkersburg, W. Va., Parley Rollins, C. V. Maguire, director of the band, conducting a series of scholarship auditions which will be conducted at the West Virginia high school before the first band sponsor. First

THE KENTUCKY KERNEL OFFICIAL NEWSPAPER OF THE STUDENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

A Proper Cause For Bewilderment

I would ask no one to defend a democracy which in turn would not defend everyone in the nation against want and privation.

'Ask Not For Whom The Bell Tolls ...

The initiation time on the campus again—"house week". The Greeks call it in their more guarded moments—and as usual the Interfraternity council is forced to emulate the old woman who lived in a shoe.

To many persons in this country, the campaign was doubtless a revelation. But to those who have travelled the back-roads of Florida, the Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana, the need for publicizing the condition of America's twentieth century peons is always highly evident.

Such travelers, having seen for themselves, are not surprised to learn there are 8,000,000 sharecroppers living below the Mason and Dixon Line. Or that in some sections annual incomes run as low as $68. Or that for 1,500,000 Southern families the yearly average is around the $200 mark.

But the greatest single thing, they know, is the poll tax. Because of the poll tax, only one out of every four share-croppers is able to vote. And in America the right to vote is closely correlated with the opportunity to secure one's economic well-being.

As a result of the tax, governors and state and national representatives in the South of today do not represent the people as a whole. They represent the apple growers of Virginia, the cotton planters of Alabama and Mississippi, the lumbermen of Georgia, the real estate agents of Florida. And these men have neither the time nor the inclination to bother themselves with trichina and hookworm and erosion and illiteracy.

And so it must have been a trifle bewildering to the sharecroppers of Dixie to hear the head of the government say that no one would be expected to "defend a democracy which would not defend everyone in the nation against want and privation."

It must bewilder any man to be able to recall that when he registered in the summer to vote for a President, he was asked to pay a tax; but that when he registered in the fall to get his draft number, they let him register for nothing.

'Ask Not For Whom The Bell Tolls ...

The initiation time on the campus again—"house week". The Greeks call it in their more guarded moments—and as usual the Interfraternity council is forced to emulate the old woman who lived in a shoe.

The council seems to be beating hard enough to enforce the "house week" rules adopted so straight-facedly by the fraternities and sororities last October, but it doesn't appear to be getting the cooperation it rightfully should.

The Greeks merely look pious when the council inspectors come around and wink at each other when the council's backs are turned, and get on with their hazing as per schedule when they leave.

We were afraid when the new code was adopted that this sort of thing would happen. It always does, in spite of the honest good intentions of the council.

Thus far, here are a few of the major "incidents" of the initiation period—some of which, we are informed, will be investigated by the council as soon as the prank season is over:

Four fraternities maintained its official "freshman uniform" of bowler, wing collar, ascot tie, monocle, spots, and walking stick—in spite of council warnings that such action would be in violation of the no-politic-exhibitionism clause of the new code.

Two sororities violated the same clause, having their pledges carry alarm clocks and other sundry equipment.

Four pledges of one fraternity spent Friday night in the city jail, having been picked up by police in Chicago Bottoms looking for four black cats to take back to the actives as tokens of their sincerity in wanting to become actives themselves.

The Kernel has been this sort of stuff going on for years now, and has realized that it is pretty silly and has therefore often expressed its opposition.

We have said time and again that publicizing injuries the reputation of the University and does more harm than good to the fraternities themselves.

We intend to keep on saying it, and to work with the Interfraternity council in whatever attempts it makes to do something about it.

School Of Minnows, No Doubt!

By J. HOWARD HENDERSON

(Editor's note: The following column by J. Howard Henderson, Frankfort political writer, appeared in yesterday's issue of the Courier-Journal. We thought it might be of interest to University students and faculty members—especially to those having Phi Beta Kappa keys.)

One day last week a small headline in the Courier-Journal read: "U. K. Offers Courses In Billiards, Fishing."

The item was only ten lines long. But in the work I do on learn pretty soon not to measure a story with a yardstick. The headline was a little, eight-point affair, down at the very bottom of the State news page. It told the whole story: "... billiards, fishing."

When I was younger and at U. K. I had a try at College Algebra and Greek (until I saw that Greek was not for me) and the conservative texts of the times. I even tried billiards at downtown poolrooms with the indifferent results of the self taught.

I vaguely sensed that what I wanted was not in textbooks on Greek and Algebra, as I junked the entire college enterprise. When I started all over again a year or two later at Bowling Green I would have nothing to do with mathematics, or Latin or French, to the great disgust of Dean Kennaman who wanted me to work for a degree.

Instead I pattered around with what subjects interested me, and quit after a while to take a political job. Always a feeling took me back to U. K. for a summer term of law, only to see again that this was not what I had missed.

Last week those who frame the scholastic courses taught up with me. To be taught to fish—ah! there is indeed the end of the rainbow, when fishing is best and where precious nuggets are to be had for the taking. Grand Old U. of K!

It's been many a year now since I touched a billiard cue. But fishing poles, man, if you ever want to stick your beams and I have quit fishing. I know where you can get plenty if my son is willing. But he'll not be.

He will be going to U. K. before he's through kindergarten. To be taught to fish before one's life is spent—that's education! I want to see there—my son and I—before the line breaks.

The trustee's don't know what they are in for. The Governor will have to spend his Emergency Fund. Kentucky's largest housing project will be required. From all over Kentucky they'll be coming for their education—old men who studied Greek and old men found their Greek in fishing. ... young men ... natives ... the naturalized ... black ... and white ... and women.

To be taught how to cast where they are, when they are ... to be taught how to thread a worm on a hook ... to drop a fly precisely ... to land them after they strike—that's education! It will be harder to learn than science, or arts, or engineering, or law. But it will be worth it.

SA I'm going back to school. The Commonwealth will furnish the instruction. The Commonwealth will protect the lakes and streams. Maybe the Commonwealth, (God bless her) will furnish the fish. After school I'm going fishing. I'm serious.

Student Approves Interfrat Council's Dance Decision

To the Editor of The Kernel:

Concerning letters or articles written about the Interfraternity council meeting in the issues of last week's Kernel...

Not a few false accusations have been made on the Interfraternity and Pan-Hellenic council case. I attended both the Sunday and Wednesday meetings of the Pan-Hellenic and Interfraternity councils.

These members requested the meeting because they had heard rumors that the University Social committee intended doing away with Fraternity formal and the rumor was strengthened due to the fact that this committee was holding a meeting the following day to discuss next year's social program.

It was the opinion of several members at the meeting that if the time she goes out with a certain Phi Tau.

Following the cancer lecture Thursday night, one bright student asked Dr. Retzor, "Will alcohol cause cancer if taken orally?" Which really threw the audience in the aisles.

Michler Florist and Corsages 417 E. Maxwell Phone 1419 fraternities and sororities gave up their formal voluntarily. It would be easier to deal with the social committee, and to replace the program with a larger Interfraternity or Pan-Hellenic dance and social program, than if they attempted to buck the committee.

The substitute social program (as accepted last Sunday by a 14 to 5 vote) would consist of one large council dance each semester with a "name" orchestra in addition to a dinner or tea dance to be given if desired, by each organization each semester. There would also be the usual "Union" dances, Military Ball, Junior Prom, Senior Prom, etc.

However, if the Social committee does not force the fraternities and sororities to give up their formal, this same group of members wanted the same social program in use at the present time. Conrad was of the same opinion as this group.

The reason that the various members did not confer with their Greek organizations before they voted was because action had to be taken before the meeting of the Social committee the following day.

In a letter in Tuesday's Kernel signed "A Fraternity Man," the writer said that many good nights were in store for the Greeks if the council's dance proposal went through.

and that the proposal was made because only a "few" fraternities have given dances in the last few years. That's putting it mild. It so happens that the Greeks have been in out of the cold only two nights during the past two years.

for the SAE dance last spring and the Phi Del dance this semester. The present proposal calls for two dances which would have its finances pooled by all the Greeks, and with this we could get out of the backwoods by having a couple of bands like Glenn Miller, Benny Goodman or Kay Kyser-Tommy Dorsey or any bands you wish to mention.

After all, why should all the big fraternities object to a plan where all the fraternities chip in on the cost, when those same few fraternities have been footing the bill for the benefit of the smaller Greek organizations?

Grave Diggers, AGRs Favorites For Championship BY HAROLD WINN

The 1941 intramural basketball tournament took its initial bow last night when 18 teams met in the opening round of the eliminations to decide the University cage championship and the supremacy of the B and C leagues.

A strong Grave Digger team and an unbeatn bunch of Alpha Gamma Rhoes were pre-tournament favorites to meet in the finals for the university championship.

The Alpha Gamma Rhoes were scheduled to meet the Phi Tau in the A league tournament and the winner of the Triangle-Sigma Nu struggle to all probability it will be the Sigma Nu's against the Alpha Gamma Rhoes when the referee's whistle starts tonight's game at 8:30 in the main gym.

The SAEs opened the A league tournament last night with the ATOs and the winners will play the survivor of the Pi Kappa Alpha-Delta tracas at 7 o'clock tonight in the main gym.

The Outlaws and the K club met last night in the only scheduled independent league game. The winner of this game meets the Grave Diggers at 8:40 tonight in the Alumni gym.

Only one winner will be selected as champ in the B and C leagues as these two divisions have been grouped into one tournament. Tonight the winner of the SAE-SN game plays the winner of the AGR-ATO battle at 7:30 in the B section of the gym annex.

Following this game, the winners of the Phi Tau-SAE and Delta-ATO games meet in the same place.

Phi Taus Sweep Handball Doubles; Singles Undecided

The singles will be decided today when Phi Tau John Samara meets "Link" Ellington, independent, in the finals. Ellington won over ATO Roger Thornton in the semi-finals.

DR. C. C. ROSS PUBLISHES BOOK

Work Will Serve As College Text "Measurement in Today's Schools," a new text book by Dr. C. C. Ross, professor of educational psychology, will come off the press this week.

Describing the book, which will be used as a text for education colleges, as the first functional approach to the intelligent use and interpretation of measurement, the Prentice-Hall publishing company states that Dr. Ross has written a complete guide to the entire field of educational measurements.

Since the publication of the first book on educational measurements, more than twenty-five years ago, most measurement texts have centered about subject matter. Dr. Ross has outlined the history and development of this comparatively young field, and has made available, for the first time, the wealth of experimental data brought forth in recent years.

"Measurement in Today's Schools" contains 608 pages and is listed at a college price of $3.25.

INSPIRATION

A SUNSET in all its glory, colors almost beyond man's concept, deep, rich-hued and mysterious on the deep, restless face of the water—an Inspiration to humanity since time began. Likewise, the smile of a little child, the shy glance of a maid and her man, the cheery glow of a fire on the hearth—the symbol of home, of love and America as we know it. These, too, have been the Inspiration which has made this a nation of homes. And, as the record of this store unfolds, year after year, we feel that we, too, have caught and shared with the people of our community this Inspiration of the American home for the generations to come.

Track Team Opens Practice; First Meet Set For April 12

Hanover Will Be First Opponent On Six-Meet Card

The University track team has been working out for the past three weeks preparing for their opening meet with Hanover April 12.

Coach Joe Rupert has been unable to supervise the practice sessions because of his football duties and Captain John Montgomery and Paul Durbin have been in charge of training activities.

Dozen Baseball Veterans Answer First Practice Call

Coach Frank Moseley has called his baseball lettermen out for the 1941 spring practice session. Men returning from last year's team are Joe Shephard, Billy Black, Charley Martin, Grover Cardwell, Eddie Fritz, Jim Mathewson, Nolan Navarre, Link Ellington, Ray Graves, Bill McCubbin, Carl Staker, Allen Rathburn, and Ike Willoughby.

Despite this handicap of insufficient practice, Moseley predicted a fair season for his team. "We are playing a tough seventeen-game schedule and may not win any more games than we did last year. But I will say that this will be a stronger team than last year's."

Running Wild

By JOHN CARRICO

Basketball Cleanups
The following figures, which include the alumni and tournament games, are unofficial—they would be official but we ran out of fingers and toes and had to use peanuts, which are very confounding.

Lee Huber, all-conference guard, and Jim King, all-conference center, tied for first place with 151 points each. Keith Farnley, another of Rupp's all-conference pupils, was runner up with 129 tallies. Mel Brewer finished third with 111, a whisker ahead of Marvin Akers, the final member of the all-conference quartet, who accumulated 110.

Milt Tico took fifth with 102 markers, barely staying off Walter White who collected 101. Seventh place went to Ermal Allen with 98 and Carl Staker ended in eighth with 93. Loyd Rameses capped ninth with 67 points and Ken England finished tenth with 37. Hoot Combs totaled 35 points.

The Courier-Journal's Jimmy Jones boqueting to Phil Cutchin to quote: "Now that his basketball coaching career is about over Murray Carlisle Cutchin will concentrate his athletic interest mainly in his son, Phil, who is one of Ab Kirwan's most promising halfbacks at the University of Kentucky. Phil is a clever passer and kicker and starred at a Nashville prep school . . ."

(We started to label this section, "Overhead in the Girl's Dressing-Room". That, however, sounds suspicious, and in order to please any puritan who might demand an inquiry, we hasten to explain that the following conversation is purely imaginary—so far as we know.)

Scene: the dressing room of the Glamor Cats after a tough basketball game with some rival femmes.

"Girls, did you see that rough forward give me a dirty look? Just know that the referee should have given me a free throw for it . . . And the way she wore her uniform . . . My dears, it was absolutely sloppy . . . Imagine wearing that kind of socks with those shoes; And her hair—! I've seen better straws wrapped around packages, I think she peroxides it, anyway, etc., etc., etc."

Although not related to sports, we think this story is funny enough to repeat.

Near Barcelona, Spain, a farmer driving a wagon with a coffin in it picked up another farmer hitch-hiking. It started to rain so the hitchhiker crawled into the coffin and lowered the lid over himself.

Meanwhile the driver picked up two more hitch-hikers who climbed in back alongside the coffin. The farmer in the casket suddenly raised the lid and remarked calmly, "It's stopped raining."

One farmer was killed and the other seriously injured in jumping off the wagon.

Our sincere thanks go to Eugene Mullins for his kind effort in compiling a composite box score of the tournament. We are sorry that space limitations prevented its use.

Breckinridge Wins
Scott D. Breckinridge, law student and former member of UK fencing team, won first place in saber competition in the Amateur Fencers meet in Columbus, O., Saturday.

Breckinridge, acting coach of the University fencing team, also took second place in the foil and epee divisions.

The University student fought against amateur fencers representing the various midwestern states.

Course To Be Given
A special non-credit course in Music Training Leadership is being offered by the Music department for students in the College of Agriculture.

The class will meet on Tuesday of each week from 5 until 6 and will last the rest of the semester. Agriculture students, desiring to take the course, should enroll with Donald Allison of the music department by the end of this week.

Catfish Drop Final Meets; Riddell Elected Captain

Relay Team Sets New Chicago Mark Against DePauw

Although Kentucky's Catfish lost to DePauw 26-49 and Loyola of Chicago 29-37, they gained a captain last weekend when team members elected Gene Riddell their leader before the DePauw meet.

The Loyola meet was the last regular season contest for seniors Laddie Stephenson, and Riddell. Riddell has completed four seasons with the poolless Catfish.

Stephenson finished the season with eight straight victories to practically assure him of a trip to the Southeastern Conference meet to be held at the University of Kentucky in March. Curtis and Riddell probably will round out the Kentucky team. Kentucky's record for the season was three wins and six lost. They started off the season by beating Murray handily, but they dropped single bouts to Tennessee and Georgia Tech, with a win over Tusculum sandwiched between. Their next loss was to Michigan State, followed by defeats at DePauw and Loyola.

Crack Pool Record
In the Loyola meet, the score was 30-29 in favor of the Chicagoans with only one more event in the meet to come up. Using intra-collegiate, the Kentuckians forced the Chicago swimmers to crack their own pool record to win from the Catfish by a narrow three inches.

The summary of the Loyola meet: 100-yard medley relay—Kentucky, 8:10.4; DePauw, 8:12.0; Loyola, 8:13.0. 200-yard free relay—Carroll (Ia.), 1:50.0; Kentucky, 1:51.0; Loyola, 1:52.0. 400-yard free relay—Carroll (Ia.), 4:10.0; Kentucky, 4:11.0; Loyola, 4:12.0. 800-yard free relay—Carroll (Ia.), 8:20.0; Kentucky, 8:21.0; Loyola, 8:22.0. 1600-yard free relay—Carroll (Ia.), 16:40.0; Kentucky, 16:41.0; Loyola, 16:42.0. 3200-yard free relay—Carroll (Ia.), 33:20.0; Kentucky, 33:21.0; Loyola, 33:22.0. 6400-yard free relay—Carroll (Ia.), 66:40.0; Kentucky, 66:41.0; Loyola, 66:42.0. 12800-yard free relay—Carroll (Ia.), 133:20.0; Kentucky, 133:21.0; Loyola, 133:22.0.
