A QUARTERLY MAGAZINE DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF THE ALUMNI AND STUDENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

New Head of Vassar

The election of Miss Sara Gibson Blanding as the first woman president of Vassar College since its founding in 1861 is a high tribute to a woman who made an outstanding record at the University of Kentucky both as a student and as dean of women and who has become one of the nation's foremost educators. As dean of the New York State College of Home Economics and also at Cornell, Miss Blanding made an outstanding record. She was the head of one of the most important boards in New York State dealing with food problems and was a member of the joint Army-Navy Committee on Wartime Recreation.

As dean of women of the University of Kentucky, Miss Blanding was closely associated with the late Mrs. Frank L. McVey, one of the leading graduates of Vassar College.

Vassar, having had men presidents up to now, takes a forward step in electing Miss Blanding as president of this great institution of learning for girls.

—Lexington-Herald.

More to Come

Miss Blanding continues to be the subject of interesting news and the August Alumnus will contain an account of her address to the Honors Day Assembly; presentation of Mrs. McVey's portrait to the University and additional academic honors which have been conferred upon her in recognition of her accomplishments.

VASSAR PRESIDENT-ELECT WITH MOTHER—Pictured here in their home at 362 South Broadway are Miss Sarah G. Blanding, president-elect of Vassar College, and her 89-year-old mother, Mrs. William D. Blanding. Miss Blanding, now dean of the Cornell University College of Home Economics, made her first visit home since her election Feb. 20 as first woman president of Vassar. She returned to Lexington May 14 as speaker at a convocation at the University of Kentucky, where she formerly was dean of women.

for the Endowment Funds, for Campus Markers and in a less costly way for the Association through memberships, sending in news items and important stories to the Alumnus editor and in putting the editor in touch with interesting data and opportunities.

The Kentucky Alumnus

Woman of the Year

Sarah Gibson Blanding of Lexington, who is Vassar's choice for its next president, will take up her new duties July 1. A sizable scrap-book could be made of clippings of news stories and feature stories that have been written about her interesting career since her election. Editorials, magazine articles, news features, interviews with Miss Blanding and many other outstanding personalities have been published and many and terrible were the pictures shown with these articles. But all of this is to be expected when one breaks all traditions and lands on both feet, standing upright, in the middle of a situation hardly dreamed of. It is the unusual which makes the best news and the selection of a woman for the presidency of Vassar is a new and novel selection.

Miss Blanding's home town went in for general rejoicing and any and everyone was asking; "Aren't you proud of Sarah?" Of course we are proud and happy too because the whole world knows what we knew all the time, that Sarah played the game and won on her own Alma Mater's Campus and that she can do it anywhere.

Writers have told how the president-elect of Vassar was born on a farm in the Bluegrass country and was reared in an atmosphere that makes its celebrated women charming with grace and character, understanding and courage. Miss Blanding has all of these and she has faith in her fellows and especially in the youth of the land and in their possibilities.

The narrators have told of Sarah's determination to study and to reach certain goals and they referred to the independence of her attitude, to her "crooked smile," her hair-do and her reassuring manner and then they went into elaborate expressions in regard to her intellectuality and ability. She deserves every line of it. We knew all those things about our distinguished colleague when she was assistant and later Dean of Women on the Campus of the University of Kentucky and we agree with everything that was written about her in these complimentary ways.

This scribe has known Sarah Blanding since she was just a mere lass, even when she had to make that decision to study in the morning and teach in the afternoon, and so on. To my mind the secret of her success lies in the characteristic of meeting each issue as it came and thereby making the step that followed shorter, easier and consequently firmer. She was the youngest of her family and was always very near to her mother. One's mother has a way of guiding and that was one of Mrs. Blanding's ways. She was a South Carolinian and she has a classical mind and a heart attuned to choicest music and she passed that idealism along to Sarah. Sarah at the same time was taking life in its stride. She played when it was time to play and worked when that was the requirement and always she was building within herself quality and stamina that has reached a near culmination and men and women whose opinion's are priceless have said "we did not look for a woman for president of Vassar, we looked for the best."

Miss Nisbet Awarded National Fellowship

Miss Louise Nisbet, University of Kentucky graduate now working on her doctor-of-philosophy degree at Columbia University, has been awarded the $1,000 annual national fellowship award of the Delta Delta Delta sorority, Mrs. J. H. Cowgill, chairman of the Lexington Alliance chapter, announced.

Miss Nisbet is the daughter of Mrs. Helen Lafferty Nisbet, 324 Hampton court, and the granddaughter of Mrs. W. T. Lafferty and the late Judge W. T. Lafferty.

While at the University, where she obtained her bachelor and master-of-arts degrees, Miss Nisbet was a member of Delta Delta Delta, social sorority, and of Mortar Board, Cwens, Phi Beta and Chi Delta Phi, honorary organizations. She now is president of Johnson hall at Columbia. Before matriculating there, she taught at Fairfax Hall, girls' school at Fairfax, Va. and at Casemont school, Ormond Beech, Fla. She is a graduate of Henry Clay high school.

Appropriation For University Budget

Under terms of the state budget bill signed at Frankfort Thursday, March 28 by Gov. Simeon Willis, the University will receive $5,322,500 for the next two years. During the past year, the state appropriation was only $2,951,000.

Included in the 1946-48 biennial appropriation of the University was $1,050,000 for capital outlay, which is believed to be more than the state has allowed for buildings at the school since it was founded.

Dr. Donovan has indicated that the money allotted for capital outlay during the next two years will be spent mostly for additional residence and dining halls for men and women students. Bids for a men's residence hall are to be opened at the next meeting of the board of trustees.

In addition to $1,050,000 for capital outlay, Governor Willis has indicated that he will allot $600,000 to the University for an athletic field house from an earmarked appropriation of $5,300,000 provided in the 1944-46 state budget for buildings at state institutions.

Under the 1946-48 state budget signed by the governor Thursday, the University was allotted funds for each year as follows:

The Sunday afternoon musicales have come to fill an important place in the program of the University and they are enjoyed by the townsfolk as well. Mr. Scott was really given an ovation in his home town.

At a reception in the music room of the Union Building, following the concert, the artist's many friends had another opportunity to express their appreciation. Mrs. J. Since arriving there she is serving with the Allied Translators and Interpreters Service. This division of the service was started in Australia, later moved to Manila, and now stationed permanently in Tokyo. Included in this are the records of all the Jap War Criminals. This office is only two blocks from the Palace grounds being in sight of it.

Miss Wilson lives in a hotel with other civilians, where the meals are served by Japanese girls in full kimono. Their rooms are kept by these girls also. She says the Japanese women seem to be glad to be out from under enslavement, yet some can not yet take it in, for they carry their babies on their back, heavy loads in their hands and walk a few steps behind their husbands.

Miss Wilson has been enjoying the wonderful cherry blossoms and says the odor is so much at times it almost knocks one out. She has visited several shrines, recently went to Kamakura to see the world famous Buddha. The statue is 42 ft. high and weighs 210,000 lbs. the shrine to which pilgrimages are made continuously. A tidal wave in 1495 washed over the shrine building but did not destroy this Buddha. This seems very strange as it is 2 miles from the Bay and situated on a hill.

The Easter service Miss Wilson attended was beautiful and impressive, held out in the Merji Bowl with people of various nationalities attending. After the Chaplain had delivered his sermon, the Japanese wife of the choir director translated it into Japanese. The same day she had the pleasure of seeing Tokyo from the air, sometimes flying at 65 degree angle, which gave a perfect view of the city, and rice patties, as well as other interesting things. She attended a buffet lunch in the home of Mrs. Gibbens, who lives in the American Embassy and who is private tutor of young Arthur McArthur. She says Mrs.

Gibbens is a very charming English woman, who has lived 20 years in the Orient and was a prisoner of the Japs for three years.

Miss Wilson expects to see all of Japan, as well as Shanghai and many other noted places.

A few days before joining the Waves Miss Wilson was graduated from the University of Kentucky, where she was President of Alpha Chi Chapter of Zeta Tau Alpha Fraternity and a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron Fraternity. Before attending the University of Ky. Miss Wilson attended Bryant and Stratton Business College of Louisville for one year and the University of Louisville one and a half years.

Kercheval Joins Maine Chance Farm

Ralph Kercheval, a graduate of the University in 1935 who attained the rank of Lt. Colonel in the service, during World War II, has recently been appointed stable agent for the Maine Chance Farm racing stable. He took up his duties April 17. Since his release from the service he has resided in Paris, Ky.

The former University of Kentucky football star, who after graduation played several seasons of professional ball with the Brooklyn gridiron Dodgers, during his playing days was recognized as one of the greatest kickers in the nation. His training and ability showed in his accomplishments while in the Army and he served for more than four years in the remount branch. For a time he was in charge of the remount depot at Fort Robinson, Neb. Before going into the Army he was associated with Greentree Farm and Coldstream Stud.

Legion Of Merit To Roscoe Cross

Col. Roscoe Cross of Boston has been awarded the Legion of Merit for outstanding service with the personnel division of the War Department General Staff from March, 1944, to October, 1945, and chief of the department's legislative branch since January, 1945.

Colonel Cross is a native of Kentucky but has practiced law in Boston, Mass., for several years. He was a distinguished student on the Campus and received his B.A. with history as a major, in 1923 and added the master's degree two years later. He was the last student to represent the University as a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford, England, and received the famed Oxon degree from there at the conclusion of his work.

Salary To Be Paid To Dean Graham

The Court of Appeals has given its approval to the payment to Dean James H. Graham of $5,000 a year by the University of Kentucky while he was being paid for war work in Washington.

Demand that he return to the University the salary totaling $14,374.93 paid to him during his stay in the nation's capital was made in a suit by two University alumni. They said he was a $1-a-year man there from April 16, 1941, to March 15, 1943, and an $8,000-a-year man from then until Feb. 29, 1944, as a War Department adviser.

The state's highest court, however, upheld Franklin Circuit Court's ruling that proof was given that in Graham's absence his work in the University's engineering college was carried on satisfactorily by his assistant under his direction and supervision.

To Testify At German Trial

Former Lt. Virgil Penn Lary of Winchester, a student in the College of Commerce at the University of Kentucky, is in Germany to testify at the trial of 75 German S. S. Troops accused of the killing of more than 100 American War prisoners.

Lary, who was the only officer to escape death in the massacre, returned with five other survivors to the field where the Nazis on Dec. 17, 1944, machine-gunned helpless captives taken in the Battle of the Bulge.

Stars and Stripes quoted war crimes prosecutors as saying that the visit to Malmedy had filled in many valuable details of the massacre which was unfolded when the trial opened at Dachau in May.

Three S. S. generals are among the defendants who are to be served with indictments. Six of the defendants were returned from the United States where they were prisoners of war.

Stars and Stripes quoted the 24-year-old University student as declaring upon his return to Frankfurt that he would have made the trip to testify "on hands and knees if necessary. If they need a hangman, they don't need to look for volunteers."

The young officer was a member of the Field Artillery Observation Battery which was caught by a surprise attack of a German panzer unit on the road to Bastogne. Lary yanked off his officer's insignia and smeared mud over his helmet after he had been fired upon by a German officer.

Americans were rounded up into a small area about 50 feet square, disarmed, pockets emptied and forced to stand in the snow.

President Donovan And Board Endorsed By House

A vote of "complete confidence" was given to President H. L. Donovan and the Board of Trustees of the University by the House of Representatives in session on March 21.

The House adopted on voice vote a resolution expressing confidence in the University administration following receipt of a report from a special committee which investigated charges leveled against the institution.

The committee, of which Rep. Roy Arnold (D.-Danville) was chairman, said it had the "greatest confidence" in Dr. Donovan. The inquiry came after four World War II veterans, who are University students, circulated among legislators a letter making charges against the U. K. setup.

The resolution, introduced by Rep. E. F. Prichard, Sr. (D.-Paris), suggested that students and faculty dissatisfied with the present administration "promptly disassociate themselves" from the school and "seek benefits of higher education elsewhere."

Declaring that "dissident factions have freely aired their views," the resolution declared they had "failed to give any reasonable substantiation for such attitudes."

Dr. Donovan and the trustees, the resolution continued, "have sustained a dignified and tolerant attitude toward their attackers." The resolution endorsed the position taken by the president and trustees and concluded with its suggestion to dissatisfied students and faculty to leave.

The committee related that for three days it heard testimony in support of charges and allegations of "unfairness, inefficiency, and favoritism at the University, and the "vehement denial of same."

The group said it recognized the past five years have been "crucial ones" at the University and that it found "some dissension and discord among the faculty members and student body" which had its origin in the administration preceding Donovan's.

But the committee said that in a student body of more than 3,500 and a faculty of more than 800 "it is not to be expected that everyone would be of one mind and entirely harmonious."

The committee said it believed that "low morale, dissension and discord" were not so deep as to require "drastic corrective measures" and that in time steps would be taken "to the end that all parties will be happily reconciled and student morale increased."

It cited harmony between Donovan and the trustees and his ability to work with students and faculty. The committee also expressed belief the latter "has had a helpful effect" in that all at the University will "more diligently apply themselves in harmonizing that which is out of accord."

Appropriations allowed for the biennium amounted to $506,790 less than had been requested by the University. The biggest cut was for agricultural extension work, for which $753,190 had been requested for the two-year period for extension work and for matching Bankhead-Flanagan funds. The General Assembly combined the two requests, allowing a total of $500,000.

Huguelet Heads Greyhound Lines

Directors of the Southeastern Greyhound Lines in an annual meeting in Lexington, May 3, re-elected Guy A. Huguelet president. Mr. Huguelet who is a graduate of the University of Kentucky, with the class of 1914, is an active member of the Association and has been a main spring in the organization of the Athletic Association in its effort to create a fund sufficient to procure and maintain athletic standing worthy of the University. Mr. Huguelet was one of the board members who signed the contract with head football coach Paul Bryant.

Ted McDowell Is Now Lieutenant Colonel

Fort Knox public relations officer, Ted G. McDowell, has been advanced to a Lt. Colonelcy and placed on leave. Colonel McDowell was graduated from the University in 1926 and while reporting on the Lexington Herald he did graduate work in the University. He was made editor of the Beckley Post Herald, Beckley, W. Va. in 1934 and continued there until he entered the service in 1942. He will return to his home in Beckley.

On Terminal Leave

Major James E. Henry, research engineer in the mapping and charting branch photographic laboratory at Wright Field, Dayton, O., is now on terminal leave. He was in the Philippines when Japan surrendered. Major Henry invented an instrument for contouring the 'Burma Hump' from oblique photographs. For the past year he has been applying electronics to mapping and charting. Major Henry was graduated from the University in 1937.

Col. Scudder Resumes Duty

Col. Irvine C. Scudder, former member of the military staff at the University of Kentucky and a prisoner of the Japanese for almost four years during World War II, together with Mrs. Scudder and their two children, left March 21 for Fort Benning, Ga., where Colonel Scudder will take special orientation training. At the completion of the course, the family will move to Colonel Scudder's new permanent post.

Colonel Scudder and 99 other colonels and generals who were prisoners of war began the orientation course at the Armored school at Fort Knox, March 7. After two weeks of training at the Infantry school at Fort Benning, they were to receive similar instruction at the Field Artillery school, Fort Sill, Okla., the Anti-Aircraft school, Fort Bliss, Texas, and Cavalry school, Fort Riley, Kan.

At the end of the training, Colonel Scudder, who has been on recuperative leave since last October, will receive a permanent assignment.

Colonel Scudder was stationed at the University of Kentucky for six years before going into active duty in World War II. Captured in April, 1942, at the fall of Cebu, one of the Philippine islands, he was held prisoner on Cebu, Luzon and Formosa and on the Manchurian mainland until his release in August, 1945. He returned to Lexington Oct. 11, 1945.

Colonel Scudder received the Silver Star for gallantry in action during the Japanese invasion of Cebu. The citation accompanying the medal stated that when a leading tank operated by the enemy was only 60 yards from the Visayan Force command post, Colonel Scudder, in charge of the post, remained on a hillside a few yards away to maintain contact with a patrol sent out from the post and to await orders. After receiving orders to move his headquarters, the colonel returned through fire to the command-post hut and recovered a vital map. His action, the citation set forth, greatly facilitated continuation of defensive operations in the Philippines.

U. K. Chemist On Lecture Tour

Dr. Lyle R. Dawson, head of the Department of Chemistry, University of Kentucky, left Lexington April 28 for Orlando, Fla., where he began a series of lectures throughout the southeast States. His subject is "Atomic Energy."

The tour is under the sponsorship of the National Office of the American Chemical Society. Dr. Dawson was research chemist and group leader on the atomic bomb project at the University of Chicago before coming to Kentucky to the University.

Ligon To Aid In Japanese Soil Survey

W. S. Ligon, associate professor of soils at University of Kentucky Experiment Station, will head a group of scientists selected by the War Department to make a soil survey of the Japanese islands, it was announced April 11.

The scientists went to Japan by air early in May and are expected to be on the assignment for 10 months.

Professor Ligon also is assistant inspector in the soil-survey division of the Federal Bureau of Plant Industry.

Dr. Grandison McLean Resumes Practice Here

Lt. Col. C. Grandison McLean, a graduate of the University in 1925, has resumed his general practice here in Lexington after four years of military duty. His office is in the Stopover Station building on the Esplanade.

Dr. McLean served a year in the South Pacific theater and two years as chief of the surgical service at the Station hospital, Camp Van Dorn, Miss. He had practiced in Lexington 10 years when he entered service in June, 1942.

Leaders Give Approval To Miss Blanding's Election

Vassar College's announcement of the election of Miss Sarah Gibson Blanding as its new president brought from all parts of the country a stream of congratulatory telegrams from leading educators and other prominent individuals.

Ex-Governor Herbert Lehman, of New York, who has worked closely with Miss Blanding wired: "I am delighted to learn of the selection of Sarah Gibson Blanding as president of Vassar. During the years she was dean at Cornell, I had the privilege of working closely with her and formed a high regard for her ability both as an educator and an administrator. Her outstanding integrity of mind, her vision and her tireless energy make her a particularly happy choice and give assurance of her full success as president of a great college. I am delighted, too, that Vassar has chosen a woman as its head. Her selection is splendid recognition of the high place that women hold in the field of education."

President Mildred McAfee Horton of Wellesley College stated: "I have known Sarah Blanding for nearly 20 years and am sure you could have made no better choice for the presidency. The willingness of the trustees and faculty to appoint a woman is in itself evidence of the sincerity of your belief in higher education for women. Miss Blanding's experience in a state university (University of Kentucky) and a great private university (Cornell) give her a variety of experience which will be invaluable in a college like Vassar, which is training women to meet a variety of demands on educated people."

Messages from other persons included:

President Clarence Dykstra, University of California: "I think Sarah Blanding one of the most competent women in education in America. She has been a tremendous success in her varied assignments. Believe she will make a great president and have wide acceptance."

Dean Virginia C. Gildersleeve, Barnard College: "I am delighted. During the war I served on several Washington committees with Dean Blanding and have high admiration for her ability and penetration of mind."

K. G. Rogers Resumes Law Practice

Kelley G. Rogers, Lexington attorney, who served three years as a naval officer and recently was placed on inactive duty with the rank of lieutenant (j.g.), has resumed his law practice here and occupies his former offices in the Central Bank building.

Mr. Rogers was in command of a Navy armed-guard detachment that served aboard various merchant vessels in the Atlantic and Pacific, the Mediterranean sea and the Indian ocean. At the war's end, he was at Okinawa, aboard a tanker loaded with 100-octane aviation gasoline—a favorite target of enemy planes.

He was graduated from the University of Kentucky law school in 1939 and practiced here four years before he was called to active duty.

"Jack" Wild New Director Of Public Relations

He will assume his duties here on July 1.

They Were Bred, Suh, In Old Kentucky

So basketball is master, in Kentucky. The boys are getting faster, in Kentucky. The horse's prestige hoary and the fabled blue grass story now must share with Wildcats glory, in Kentucky.

We mean we are proud and grateful for the opportunity to suspend our concern over the grave pass to which things seem always to be headed in this vale of tears and join the felicitations to the University of Kentucky and its championship basketball squad: for some time the accredited champions of the South and now also of the hinterlands—in short, suh, of points North—by reason of its victory in the Madison Square Garden tournament finals over Rhode Island.

There is a certain something about those boys in the blue scanties that enhances the pride of Kentucky and gives it an exceptionally genuine quality. This is the fact of the squad's being authentically Kentuckian. To those cynics who are wont to scoff at home town pride in athletic prowess ("What do you mean, home town?" they ask), we feel impelled to point out that of the starting five and their dependable relief, all but one or two were born and bred in the old heath, and that even the latter came from within shouting range across the river. "Kentucky" belongs by the best of right in the white letters embossed on their blue chests, and here goes another shout for them.—Courier-Journal.

Jaycees Donate $600 To U. K. Athletic Fund

The Lexington Junior Chamber of Commerce, at a dinner-meeting February 25 at the Phoenix hotel, voted to contribute $100 to the University of Kentucky athletic fund. In addition, individual members of the board contributed nearly $500 to the fund.

The Jaycees also adopted a resolution approving the new University athletic program.

Speaker at Monday night's meeting was R. E. Scofield, president of the City Salesmen's Club, which is in charge of the athletic-fund campaign. The Jaycees have accepted the responsibility of securing donations in the northern half of Lexington under the chairmanship of Richard Bush.

Coaching School To Hear Rupp

Adolph Rupp, basketball coach at the University, will be the head-liner at the eighteenth annual coaches school to be held at Logansport, Indiana. Cliff Wells, former mentor at Tulane University, has completed plans for the school which will be conducted at Logansport August 22, 23 and 24. It is expected that the attendance of coaches will be the largest in the history of the school.

Alpha Xi Delta Gives Money To U. K. Fund

The University of Kentucky athletic fund was larger today by a little more than $2,000 as the result of a spring carnival March 23-30 of which the alumnae chapter of Alpha Xi Delta sorority was the sponsor, according to an announcement by Mrs. Robert F. Watts, carnival committee chairman. Half the profit of $4,177.90 netted by the affair was donated to the fund, Mrs. Watts said.

RALPH BEARD

Jones and Beard Kentucky's Greatest Freshman Combination

BY CARL HOOT COMBS

Never before in the history of the University of Kentucky and seldom in the history of any institution have two outstanding freshman athletes like Wallace Jones and Ralph Beard come along in the same year. They were great athletes from the moment they tied on a pair of UK shoes.

Jones has more hustle than most big men have. He was always trying, whether it was a good team or bad, no matter how far behind or ahead the Wildcats happened to be. Jones did not show up well in the first three or four games of the basketball season for he had just hung up his football moleskins following the annual turkey day game with Tennessee. Oddly enough many fans argue that he plays football better than basketball. The truth of the matter is that he is good in just about any sport, as those who have seen him work around first base will tell you. Possessed of a great fighting heart and a strong well-coordinated body the young giant is sure to reach great athletic heights as a Wildcat in the next three years.

Beard ended the basketball season in a blaze of glory. He toed the line to throw in a free throw in the last seconds of play to give the Wildcats a one-point victory over Rhode Island State for the National Invitational Basketball Tournament Championship. It was particularly sweet to Beard for he had the assignment of guarding Ernie Calverly, the tournaments most valuable man, in this final game and he smothered him in typical Beard fashion. In one stretch of five games his man made a total of eight points.

Beard is the ideal athlete. He never lets up and he never breaks training. No coach has to light in on him for no one can make him feel as badly as he makes himself feel if he is not going well. If he misses a free-throw attempt he wants to butt his head against the end of the gymnasium.

One time during the season he got too tight, as all athletes are likely to do who train as rigorously as he does. Coach Rupp, a great psychologist, noted his condition and told him to break training. He got over his slump all right but curious team mates wanted to know what he had done to break training. "Why I ate a piece of pie and drank a glass of milk between meals," he replied.

Spring Sports

BY CARL HOOT COMBS

A full spring sports program has been launched by the University for the first time since war time shortages forced the abandonment of spring sports. Basketball, track, tennis and golf teams have turned in creditable performances mainly against state teams.

Track men will have to be given letters according to a merit system made up by Athletic Director Bernie A. Shively since all meets but the one with Tennessee Tech, which the Wildcats won easily, have been cancelled. Frank Dean, dash man, and Jim Webber, hurdler, shot putter and discus thrower participated in the Southeastern Conference track meet May 18.

Due to inclement weather the baseball team has been able to complete only one scheduled and one practice game. Georgetown was clubbed 19-0 in the season opener and the Lexington Man O'War American Legion Post team was beaten 7-1. Jim Powell and Vernon Jones are starting pitchers who have looked good in the preps. The basketball squad is well represented with Wallace Jones playing first base, Ralph Beard, second base, Humsey Yesen, team manager, shortstop and Darrell Lorange, outfielder.

The tennis team has won over Georgetown, Berea and Tennessee Tech but lost to Michigan State, Cincinnati and Vanderbilt. Captain Al Reynolds leads the netter's attack.

The golf team of Malcolm McMullen, Robert Weaver, Richard Hicks and Buck Weaver has lost one game while winning three and tying one.

Lexington Mayor Proclaims "Rupp" Day In Honor Of Genial Kentucky Coach

BY CARL HOOT COMBS

"All good citizens are urged to dedicate their efforts on this day to the paying of proper tribute to Coach Adolph Rupp," Mayor Mack R. Oldham was saying, "and it is deemed proper for the city of Lexington to give official recognition to Coach Rupp for his great record. Therefore, by the authority vested in me as mayor of Lexington, I do hereby proclaim Tuesday, April 9, 1946, to be Rupp Day in the city." So a great city paid tribute to a great coach, the greatest in the history of basketball.

Climax of the day's activities was a dinner held in Coach Rupp's honor at which the genial baron of the hardwoods was presented with a 1946 automobile by the members of the Lexington Junior Chamber of Commerce, Ned Irish, basketball promoter for Madison Square Garden in New York City, was the principal speaker. Guests included Baseball Commissioner "Happy Chandler" and Deacon Bill McKechnie, manager of the Cincinnati Reds baseball team.

Coach Rupp guided the Wildcats through the most successful season in all his years at the university this past year. The 'Cats won 28 of 30 games ending the year with the Southeastern Conference and National Invitational Tournament championship. Losses were to Notre Dame and Temple. The Temple loss was avenged in a return game in the Jefferson county armory in Louisville.

In fifteen years of competition Coach Rupp has led the Wildcats to eight conference championships. Once the 'Cats won 24 games in a row and in one stretch won 45 consecutive conference games. He is one of the few coaches in the basketball Hall of Fame.

Ermal Allen Sure To Give Wildcat Victory Chances A Boost

BY CARL HOOT COMBS

Coach Paul Bryant's chances for a successful season in his first year as pilot of Kentucky's Football Wildcats were greatly enhanced when Ermal Allen, rubber armed passing wizard, reported to him for another season of play. Allen, who graduated in 1942, did not play in a game during his freshman year. Southeastern Conference rules provide for four years of eligibility regardless of classification so Ermal will be in there throwing with the best of them next year.

Ermal was working on a professional football contract when it occurred to him he might be eligible. When Allen suggested the possibility coaches went running to the record book to confirm his eligibility.

Ermal did not play in a freshman game because the coaches did not think he was good enough to make the Wildcat Squad. They did not want to ruin his chances to go to another school if he chose to do so. Allen, a great competitor and at his best when the odds are against him, proved to be the best passer the Wildcats have ever had and, in addition is a good kicker and runner.

Allen impressed some other coaches too before he left UK. General Robert Neyland, Tennessee Coach chose Ermal on his Army All-Star Team that played three professional teams in eight days. Ermal also played on the 300th. Infantry Team at Fort Benning and received All-American Service Team mention.

Allen also made three letters in golf and three in basketball, being chosen on the All-Conference team in the latter sport in his senior year. The Wildcat Golf Teams he played on were never beaten.

Just after his graduation Ermal married the former Allie Garnett Kendall from Cynthiana, where they now make their home. They have two children.

Boles and Mann Out of Athletics

Two figures prominent in the memories of University of Kentucky graduates have been moved to new positions on the University staff. They are S. A. (Daddy) Boles, who has been connected with the ticket office for 30 years, and Frank (Skipper) Mann, athletic trainer of the Wildcats since 1923.

Mr. Boles has been made project manager of Cooperstown, the school's prefabricated house colony. He was made assistant football coach in 1916. Mann's new position has not been disclosed.

Replacing Boles will be Coleman R. Smith, who was moved from the University's Experiment Station. A graduate of the class of 1933, Smith is married to the former Dorothy Clements of Lexington.

Phil Hudson, 30 year old native of Cleburn, Texas is the new trainer. A graduate of Appalachian State Teacher's College at Boone, N. C., Hudson was associated with Coach Bear Bryant when he was at North Carolina Naval pre-flight school.

1946 Tennis Men Open Season's Schedule

Dr. H. H. Downing, coach of the Wildcat Tennis Team, announced on March 28 that a record turnout of 30 boys, including four members of last year's Varsity, made the season's prospects pretty good. Matches with Notre Dame and Michigan State highlight the schedule which opened on April 20 was a victory over Georgetown and this was followed two days later with a win over Berea.

Al Reynolds of East Orange, N. J., last year's top man has returned to the team and selected as Captain for the season. Last year Reynolds was placed sixth in men's doubles and 13th in men's singles by the Eastern Lawn Tennis Association matches last summer.

Also returning from last year's squad are Bill Sturgill, of Prestonsburg, Bill Long of Mayfield and Tommy Asbury of Lexington. Among the other candidates are two war veterans who played tennis at Kentucky before entering service—Roy Cunningham of Ludlow, member of the 1943 varsity, and Robert Carrier of Schenectady, N. Y., who wielded a racquet on the 1942 freshman outfit.

Several veteran racqueteers are included in the list of newcomers to Coach Downing's squad. Tommy McKinley of Lexington, who distinguished himself in Europe by leading in the capture of Count Ernst von Papen, starred at Kentucky Military Institute before his war service. Others include William Sullivan of Harrodsburg, who played at Centre; Juan Balzola of Napoles, Mexico, who went to the quarter finals in the Mexican national junior singles in 1943; David Martin, a Georgetown College tennis man last year; James Dance of Middlesboro, who starred in high school competition, and Robert F. Harris of Paducah, who captured the singles tourney at St. Mary's College in Paducah three years in a row.

Other squad members include Carroll Fears, Louisville; Dick Meadors, Lexington; Harry Carl, Erlanger; Waco Bays, Ewing, Va.; James Hodgetts, Covington; Conrad Richardson, Mt. Sterling; Thomas Rogers, Mt. Sterling; Raymond Preece, Buffalo, N. Y.; O. C. Halyard and Stewart Cohen, Louisville; Franklin Cole, Ewing, Va.; Phillip Feigel, Louisville; Robert Kaiser, Owensboro, and Caswell Logan, Winchester.

The new season marked the 25th that Downing-coached outfits have taken the court for Kentucky. During that period the Cats have run up a winning percentage mark of 63.3.

The schedule and scores follow:

April 20—Georgetown, here—7-0.

April 22—Berea, here—9-0.

April 24—Cincinnati, there—R. O.

April 27—Michigan State, here—3-6.

Wildcat Party

A dinner-dance in honor of University of Kentucky varsity cagers, arranged by the U. K. Alumni Association in place of the usual basketball banquet, was enjoyed in the Bluegrass room of the Student Union building on the campus Saturday night, March 30.

H. C. Robinson, alumni president presided for the brief dinner program, which included an address by Coach Adolph Rupp and the awarding of basketball letters by Athletic Director Bernie Shively.

Members of the 1945 football squad at the University were also guests of the alumni association for the period of dancing following the dinner.

Coach Rupp and the basketball squad members received copies of a resolution adopted by the Board of City Commissioners at its meeting Thursday night in recognition of the squad's having brought "undying fame and great glory" to the University, the state and the city by its accomplishments during the past season. The commissioners directed that the resolution "be spread at large upon the official records of the City of Lexington and preserved forever as a lasting and eternal tribute," and that a copy, under the official seal of the city, be presented to the coach and each of the squad members.

Congratulations To Wildcats

Congratulations are extended to the University of Kentucky Wildcats on their triumph in the Invitational basketball tournament in Madison Square Garden. The boys who flew up to Gotham after some loss of sleep and brought home the bacon in the form of a national championship would have been welcomed at the train in a real celebration if they had all come back together. Surely if Adolph Rupp and Company play the N. C. A. A. champions, all Kentuckians will expect a victory.

The basketball team that has been developed at the University of Kentucky is one that has been able to stand up against the hard assaults of Rhode Island's razzle dazzle and speed stars, West Virginia and Arizona and meet the challenge. The whistle came at a very good time in the Rhode Island game but no Kentuckian has any question but that the farther the game progressed the larger would have been the margin Wildcat victory.

Ralph Beard, who heaved in the winning point; Jones, Campbell, Parker, Parkinson, Schu, Holland and Tingle all deserve a great big hand because they started the season with difficulty and finished up going strong, the best evidence of gameness. In their two setbacks early in the season the Wildcats showed what type of a team they had in accepting them without alibis and going ahead to defeat Temple and win the National Invitational tournament.

A word about the Baron! Rupp kept basketball going when it was impossible to have football during wartime, has always had clean, hard-fighting teams that figured high in national competition. This has done more than anything else to keep the real spirit of athletics alive in Lexington and at the University.

This is a great team of the fightingest of the Wildcats as even Arizona's boys, called Wildcats too, must admit.

South Eastern Basketball Champions Welcomed Home

Cheers of several thousand students and townspeople and music by the "Best Band in Dixie" greeted University of Kentucky's Wildcat cage champions as they arrived at Union station March 3 from Louisville after annexing the Southeastern Conference basketball title for the third consecutive year.

The 10 members of the tournament squad, Coach Adolph Rupp and Assistant Coach Elmer (Baldy) Gilb were "all smiles" as they stepped from the train and attempted to make their way through the crowd to the street.

Before they had advanced many steps, Cornell Clarke, president of Suky Circle, made his way through the throng and hung a horseshoe of white carnations around "The Baron's" neck, explaining that the flowers were being presented on behalf of the pep organization and the student body generally.

"Thank you. Thank you very much," responded the Kentucky mentor. "We certainly appreciate that."

Then, after he had caught his breath for a minute, Coach Rupp added, "It's always great to win a championship, but one of the greatest pleasures in winning is to come back to Lexington and find that you have so many loyal supporters among the University student body and the townspeople."

"The boys did a great job in Louisville. They really operated and I don't think there is a team in the country that could have beaten them down there."

To say that Coach Rupp was pleased with the performances of his boys in the tournament, and with the reception they received upon their return to Lexington, would be putting it mildly. Even with the Temple game facing him and the Metropolitan Invitational tournament the following week in New York—he was still as happy as a lark.

En route back home, Capt. Jack Parkinson asked the coach if there would be any practice today. "No," Rupp told him. "We are in better condition than any team in the country now and all we need is a little light work from now on out."

Schu Plays in All-Star Tilt; Receives Gifts of Appreciation

By CARL HOOT COMBS

Wilbur Schu, only senior on the University of Kentucky basketball squad this past season, played as a member of the eastern team in the East-West All-Star game at Madison Square Garden March 30. The Eastern team was handled by Harold Olsen, veteran Ohio State coach. Proceeds of the game went to the American Red Cross.

Wilbur was not without honors at home. The Versailles Rotary Club gave a dinner in honor of the popular home-town boy at which Coach Adolph Rupp was the principal speaker. The Lexington Junior Chamber of Commerce also held a dinner at which Schu was showered with gifts of clothing and merchandise by appreciative merchants.

Wilbur was a great team player who turned in some of his best performances when the going was the toughest. He was particularly effective in Madison Square Garden where it is very hard for a small town boy to look good.

Away From The Bright Lights, Kimbrough Thinks It Over

By BABE KIMBROUGH
Sports Editor, The Herald.

This season's University of Kentucky basketball team has broken so many records that a new Wildcat record book will have to be compiled.

In the first place the team has set a new all-time scoring record for a Kentucky quintet with a total of 1,585 points which includes 636 field goals and 313 free throws. Secondly, it is the first team—Kentucky or otherwise—to win the Southeastern Conference crown three years in succession. Thirdly, it is the first Wildcat team to win as many as 24 games in a single season. And further, it's the first team to place four men on the first all-tournament team—at least that's what I hear by the grapevine.

Including the regular-season and tournament games, the Wildcats averaged 61 points a game. However, in the four tourney bat-ties they tallied 256 points for an average of 64 a tilt.

Leading in scoring for the Kentuckians is Capt. Jack Parkinson with 319 points, 56 of them tallied in the tournament games. In second place is Wallace (Wah Wah) Jones, freshman center, with a total of 244 and 29 in the tourney.

Scoring records of other players on the 10-man traveling squad in the order in which they rank—giving the total for the season first and the total for the tournament second—follow: Jack Tingle, 238 and 35; Ralph Beard, 233 and 27; Wilbur Schu, 160 and 40; Joe Holland, 116 and 13; Dutch Campbell, 74 and 14; Buddy Parker, 52 and 13; Muff Davis, 40 and 22, and Bill Sturgill, 38 and seven.

When it came to scoring field goals in the tournament at Louisville, the Wildcats were pretty consistent in their four engagements. Against Auburn, Florida and Alabama they tallied 24 fielders in each tilt. In the finals against Louisiana State they dropped down to 21.

During the entire season—tournament and all—their opponents have tallied 1,001 points for an average of 38.5 a game.

None of the Kentuckians' tournament opponents scored more than 11 fielders against them. Louisiana and Alabama accounted for 11 each, while the Florida Gators got 10 and the Auburn Plainsmen got nine.

Mrs. Wilbur Schu, wife of the Cats' senior forward, was the only person to receive a trophy after the Kentucky quintet had won the championship. Capt. Jack Parkinson gave her the ball which was

U. K. Veterans' Club Offers Plan To Relieve Housing Shortage

Nation-wide support is being sought for a program advanced by the emergency education committee of the University of Kentucky Veterans' Club to relieve a "national education emergency caused by a shortage of living quarters, class-room facilities and teachers," Howard Bowles, president of the club, said.

The committee's program calls for:

1. Use of nearby military camps or other government facilities to house students who now are being turned away from colleges and universities because of lack of housing.

2. Extension of educational facilities by operating off-campus class-rooms and laboratories.

3. A federal program, which would include subsidies, to encourage the procurement of additional teachers and to retain those now teaching.

Copies of the committee's program were sent yesterday to veterans' clubs of 47 state universities and to Senators Barkley and Stanfill, Congressman Virgil Chapman, Housing Administrator Wilson Wyatt, Gen. Omar Bradley, veterans' administrator, and to John W. Studebaker, commissioner of the U. S. Office of Education.

Spurgeon DeWitt, chairman of the emergency education committee, pointed out in letters sent to clubs of other universities that General Bradley had estimated that 750,000 ex-servicemen would want to enroll in college this fall, which is more than treble the number now enrolled.

"The emergency education committee foresaw this crisis last winter and since that time has been making an extensive survey of the situation, DeWitt said. "Our study revealed that veterans will not suffer alone. The high school graduate will find it extremely difficult to secure entrance. The nation itself will suffer tremendously from a less-educated youth."

In its recommendations for relieving the housing shortage, the committee suggested the immediate acquisition of all types of housing suitable for housing single and married students, including trailers, prefabricated houses, Quonset huts, Davis huts, barracks and other buildings that might be used.

It was suggested that "Congress immediately give consideration and passage to an emergency bill" embodying the proposals of the committee.
